2.Mineplex

Thanks to its large player base, it is easier to find matches when playing the hunger games game mode on the Mineplex network. Players on this server receive kits upon entering the game, which they can unlock by playing other minigames on Mineplex.

While some players may be attracted to the concept of acquiring a purchasable kit, such as having a noticeable advantage over other players in-game because they will have better gear and accessories than other members without such kits, mineplex users without gems can be deterred from joining due to their lack of gems, which is appealing to some.

3.MC Prison

Like other Minecraft Hunger Game Servers, This server is not dedicated to hunger games. Even so, it deserves a serious mention as an honorable mention due to the frequent and fantastic hunger games running on the server.

If you don't want a boring, run-of-the-mill dedicated hunger games server that doesn't have any consequences if you lose or win, then MC prison is for you. Because hunger games in MC prison are special events, their results carry a lot more weight, with prizes that bring real value to the primary prison game mode.

This server's main prison game mode is the only non-dedicated hunger games server on this list. Still, it exhibits a high level of quality and is suitable for players who want to combine hunger games fun with a longer-term and lasting game mode. It should also be noted that PewDiePie has joined the server as well.

4.Hypixel

At present, Hypixel is one of the biggest Minecraft servers in existence, several times as big as any of its competitors. With this server, you can play the classic hunger games using the "blitz survival games" mode.

Blitz survival games follow many of the same principles that make the classic hunger games so popular with users. Nevertheless, these blitz survival games also sought to improve on many less adored and tedious aspects of classic survival games.

The "blitz star" is a unique item introduced by Hypixel to the standard hunger games game mode. Blitz stars spawn randomly in chests throughout the game and give players access to special "blitz attacks." This gameplay mechanic has since spawned some of the most unique, thrilling, and epic end-game battles in gaming history.

5.MC Central

The Minecraft hunger games have been added to MC Central, a Minecraft server network, somewhat recently. For several years, there has been a server network that has become one of the most popular places for Minecraft PvP fans. The server offers a diverse set of custom Hunger Games maps and an enchant system that is unique. The fact that teams can play in MC Central attracts many players.

As players now work together to win, the Hunger Games experience takes on a new twist as there is no longer only one last man standing as the winner as there was previously. Thus, Solo players will find MC Central less friendly, as it is difficult to compete against large teams.
