Delay Predicted In City Square Roadway Reconstruction Project

by Chris Nicastro

The building of a temporary detour structure from the Tobin Bridge to Route 93 will be the only major construction on the North Area/Central Artery Project during 1987.

The design and eventual construction of section one (west of Rutherford Avenue) and section two (the tunnel and the Tobin Bridge approach viaduct) will be delayed at least three months because of stringent licensing conditions ordered by the Department of Environmental Quality and Engineering (DEQE). Also, the Central Artery task force will have to remove contaminated soil from the area under the proposed advanced viaduct structure and find 72 new parking spaces for the National Park Service before any start-up construction can begin. Demolition of the YMCA building in City Square is slated for June.

Scheduled to begin in late March, the construction of the temporary detour running from the Tobin Bridge to the Central Artery high-level bridge should take one year to complete. Deputy Project Manager Glenn Sadulsky said it will be in operation from April 1988 through 1991 when the entire project is expected to be completed. DeMatteo Construction Company made the lowest bid for the $13.5 million temporary detour structure. The contract will be awarded in February.

Designed to accommodate north- and south-bound traffic as well as local traffic, the detour will consist of both new and existing roads. The present Route 1 northbound viaduct will be widened to three lanes — two north and one south — and a new viaduct will be built to carry the southbound traffic to I-93

Congressman Joseph P. Kennedy Guest At Charlestown Coffee Hour

Congressman Joseph P. Kennedy II returned to Charlestown this past Monday evening for the first time since he was seated as the Representative in the United States Congress from the Eighth Congressional District.

Despite the day's snow-storm, some forty Charlestown residents, many of whom worked on the campaign to elect Kennedy to Congress, gathered at the home of Jerry and Kathi Benoit on Sackville Street to greet the Congressman.

Kennedy spoke to each guest individually, sharing an anecdote with many who had been the backbone of his election campaign here in Charlestown. His manner was friendly and he projected a confidence and sincerity in this informal setting.

Standing before the Benoit's fireplace, Congressman Kennedy stated, "I want to thank each and every one of you for coming out in weather such as this." He noted the number of hours many of those present had devoted to his campaign. He singled out a number of guests by name, cautioning himself on the danger of overlooking persons by relating such a list, and then offered an all-inclusive "Thank You."

Kennedy went on to say that "as somebody who is representing you in Washington, D.C., I am here to listen."

He told the gathering, with a smile, "I found out after a few weeks in Washington that I'm not the Speaker of the House." This brought roars of laughter. Kennedy commended former Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill for "all the wonderful things he did" and his national stature. Kennedy pointed out that he has the ability to work with people on the local level in getting somebody to listen.

Two prime concerns expressed by Kennedy were health care and the cut-backs in aid to education. He stated, "This administration has been ignoring

MAKING AN OFFER

Have you found the perfect home at a less than perfect price? If so, consider making an offer. Some sellers set a price at their bottom line, but other include a little cushion to allow room to negotiate with buyers.

When your offer is presented, the sellers will have three options. They may accept it, or, if it is too low for them to take seriously, they may reject it outright. If the offer is below their bottom line, they may be willing to make a counter offer, higher than yours, but there are some risks. If you bid far below market value, you may offend the sellers to the point that they don't want to do business with you. While you and the sellers are trading offers and counter offers, another buyer may come in with a more attractive competing bid. Even with these risks, however, it's better to go ahead and make that offer than to pass up a house you love simply because it costs a little more than you want to spend.

The professionals at Century 21, Silva Realty Associates can guide you through each step of the home buying or selling process. Please visit our offices at 142 Main Street, Charlestown, or give us a call at 242-7470.

It Doesn't Have To Be

In response to the article entitled "How To Know You're Growing Older" contributed by Marion Burr and printed in the January 15 edition of the Patriot, I suggest that she suggest answers to all the thoughts expressed in that article.

The majority of these ailments can be counteracted with some common sense, good nutrition and exercise.

Sincerely,
An Interested Patriot Reader

A Tribute To Bill McCabe

Thank you, Billy, for making us very proud of you. So many of us try to defend our town if the need exists. You and the many, many successful "Townies" facilitate our efforts.

Your installation ceremony was one of the most moving events I have ever attended.

Congratulations to you and your family. I am proud to say I'm

"Your Friend"

We Must Park Somewhere

To Ronan FitzPatrick;

In reference to your column "Life Behind The Wall" in the January 22 edition of the Patriot, I find your endorsement of the parking boots that were affixed to several vehicles in the Navy Yard particularly offensive and insensitive to the needs of the ordinary working person who must park somewhere, not having access to a condo garage.

Your words "injected revenue into the city coffers" strikes a sour chord. Surely the multitude of excess city employees will survive without this windfall. Whose payroll are you on?

Quote, "let's hear it for the Traffic and Parking Commissioner Dimino." Sure — if and when unnecessary "No Parking" signs are removed and a fair and equitable parking policy is applied to businesses and residents alike.

No, my car was not among those booted.

George G. Peters

Neighborhood Council Responds To Proposal On Nancy Sales Building

Mr. Jeffrey F. Stonberg, President
Property Resources, Inc.
1 Faneuil Hall Marketplace
Boston, Massachusetts 02109

RE: Proposed development of former Nancy Sales Property
Medford and Terminal Streets, Charlestown, MA

Dear Mr. Stonberg:

This is in reference to your presentation of a proposal to redevelop the referenced property for apartment use at the public hearing held on December 18, 1986 at Charlestown High School by the Development Committee of this Council.

The Council has been advised by the committee that your proposal met with considerable community opposition at the hearing. While a number of points were raised, opposition seemed to focus on two major issues. The first of these related to impacts on the adjoining neighborhood of a development of unprecedented size and density, particularly with respect to the traffic, noise and parking problems that such a development might generate. It was specifically noted that your project appeared to provide only a portion of the parking spaces that the city requires for residential projects in Charlestown. When pressed for details of your intentions on this point as well as on the exact number of units to be built and the proposed height of the building, you chose to provide vague responses and to avoid making commitments, although your plans appeared to be well advanced. Several committee members expressed disappointment that the proceedings of their informational meetings with you held prior to the hearing were inaccurately ly summarized by your architect, Mr. Mintz, during the course of the hearing, however inadvertently.

The second major objection to your proposal was directed at an issue larger than your particular project; that is, the maintenance of the Mystic River waterfront as a commercial/industrial area supporting maritime uses. It is apparent to even a casual observer that throughout Greater Boston the supply of industrial land suitable for port-related use is steadily diminishing in favor of new residential and office developments. For Charlestown particularly, the waterfront has historically represented jobs for community residents, and such jobs are as desperately needed now as ever. To permit a single property to undergo such a dramatic change of use from what current zoning permits would be to establish a precedent for the erosion of what is rapidly emerging as a revived community resource of great importance.

While the first objection cited above persuades us that your project is ill-conceived, it is the second argument for the retention of an industrial waterfront that convinces us that this Council cannot support your proposal and must oppose it if you persist with it. It is not our intent to impede your efforts to profit from an investment nor to impose requirements that would not apply to other potential developers as well. We would be pleased to review any future proposals you may choose to present for the development of your property in support of marine industrial uses which comply with the city's zoning objectives for the Charlestown waterfront and which respect the interests of abutters and the Charlestown community. We plan to undertake discussions with Massport, whose extensive waterfront holdings have been expanded by its recent Revere Sugar purchase, to discuss how it and other potential developers can most effectively work toward a bright future for our port. Your involvement would be welcomed.

Very truly yours,
Charlestown Neighborhood Council
John L. Tobin, Chairperson

The Council's donation of labor has been estimated by project architect, Todd Andersen of Eisenburg Haven Associates, to be valued in excess of a quarter of a million dollars. The Family Inn was founded by Charles and Marilyn Fiske whose daughter, Jamie, underwent a successful liver transplant four years ago. Through the help of Mrs. Jean Yawkey, part owner of the Boston Red Sox, the Fiskes purchased a large Brookline home that will be renovated to accommodate Walsh, Business Manager for the Sheetmetal Workers, along with other labor leaders, described the Building Trades' holiday gift for The Family Inn as "a contribution that best exemplifies our members' concern for families — a gift of hope, a gift of love and a gift of labor. Gloria Conway referred to the North Area/Central Artery roadway project planned for the City Square area, explaining the concerns of some residents that construction period. She noted that there are federal monies involved in this project and suggested that the Congressman could possibly act as a catalyst to see that these concerns were addressed. Kennedy, noting that this is essentially a local issue, offered the assistance of his office and suggested that the representative in his Boston office, Charlestown resident Jim Walsh, look into this matter.

Kevin Roche stated that David Dow, who was one of the coordinators of Kennedy's election campaign in Charlestown, has worked hard in the union obtaining apprenticeships for local youth. Roche asked about federal support for such training programs. Kennedy related the problems of federal funding for education in general, stating, "Two and a half million students going to college next fall are not going to be able to get federal money." Regarding training programs, Kennedy said that although the federal government expends millions of dollars annually for students to obtain a college

He said, "The future of our country is going to be the young people, not the immigrants, and we have to invest in the future of our country." He continued, "We must spend money now to educate our young people for if we make the investment now, it will take us into the 21st century."

The Congressman was asked by Katherine Downing if he was planning to march in the Bunker Hill Day Parade, to which he responded he would be here.

Kennedy concluded the evening by telling the residents that the people are "going to get straight talk from me and I need to hear back from you what you want me to do." He said, "Please keep talking and working together to bring about a good and decent future for us and our children."

DAVID DOW (left) of Charlestown, one of the coordinators of the Charlestown Field Campaign for Kennedy, was commended publicly by Congressman Joe Kennedy (right) for his work on the campaign and for his efforts in securing union apprenticeships for local youth.

Kennedy spoke on his three Congressional committee assignments. He said that when his assignment to the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs was announced, he said, "Oh no, a Kennedy on the Banking Committee." He did note that he felt he could be effective on this committee and emphasized the Urban Affairs aspect. He said that the Urban Affairs portion of the committee controls many of the housing-related issues and one of his priorities was to try to make more affordable mortgages available.

His other two committee assignments include the Select Committee on Aging, which deals with the problems of our senior citizens, and also the Committee on Veterans Affairs. Kennedy expressed pleasure at having been named to these two committees, stating, "These are two committees I asked for" adding that he felt these two groups of people, the senior citizens and the veterans, had not been given the priority they deserve by this administration.

Kennedy stated, "If you have a problem that you think I should be working on, I'll be there to back you up."

Mary Walsh related to the Congressman her experiences in the real estate market where it is difficult to get mortgages processed. She noted in particular the considerable amount of money that people must spend in order to obtain a mortgage and the adverse impact it is having, especially on young people. Kennedy responded that "one third of all savings banks are on the verge of going bankrupt." He said that it should be a priority of the

Charlestown Family Hosts British Exchange Student

by Gretchen Wass
 Director of Public Information
 Bunker Hill Community College

Alison Rowland of Charlestown can answer any question about fine cuisine and the Hotel/Restaurant industry, but ask her what a zucchini is, what to do with linguini, or where to get a sub and a frappe and she'd probably send you to the Navy Yard to get a glimpse of a submarine.

Alison is an exchange student from England studying Culinary Arts and Hotel/Restaurant Management at Bunker Hill Community College. While she finds many similarities in American and British life, there are some peculiarities, particularly with American English vocabulary. She's learning phrases never taught at her native school, the Blackpool & Fylde College of Further and Higher Education.

And she's learning how to adjust to American life. Alison shines an energetic enthusiasm to all she meets, flashing a perky grin and a warmth that destroys any notions that the Brits are cold and reserved. Within three days of her arrival in Charlestown last September, she'd been accepted as a new member of the Melanson family on 12 Chappie Street, was hired as a waitress at the Front Page, climbed to the top of the Bunker Hill Monument, and discovered the food she'll make famous in her native England — Tollhouse Chocolate Chip Cookies.

"There's just so much to see and do," muses Alison. "I've got to cram it all in." Some folks live in Charlestown their entire lives and have never made it to the top of the Monument.

Bubbling energy seems to spill from Alison in a contagious manner. Her "American" family has welcomed her as a fourth daughter. The eldest, Ginny, is also a student at BHCC in the Office Education Program, followed by Patrice, age 16, and Suzanne, age 12. Living with lots of girls is nothing new to Alison. She comes from a family of five brothers and sisters. Of her new family Alison says they are "wonderful!" "They are a laugh a minute." Family life is quite similar between the two countries, however the older generation of British are much more set in their ways, still accustomed to life during the war. Older Brits would be appalled by the way Americans waste food; they still instinctively conserve food as they did in times of food rationing.

As a student of Culinary Arts, Alison sees great cultural differences in eating. Americans seem to "pop out" for dinners frequently where the British eat out on special occasions and dress up. The varieties of food served in the United States are far more extensive than England, but Alison will laughingly defend that the British do eat more than steak and kidney pies and tea.

As a waitress at the Front Page, Alison has found that Americans drink some weird drinks; Fuzzy Navels, Pearl Harbors, B-52's all seem rather bizarre to someone familiar with basic stouts and lagers. Her first day at work a customer asked if zucchini was served. Alison had to ask the chef to show her what zucchini was. She recognized it immediately, a large congette - of course!

She finds it rather funny that we all speak English and yet there are words Americans use daily that she's never heard of. If she asks, is there a queue (a line), she'd probably be sent to a pool hall to find a cue ball. A familiar sight at Bostonians, a rotary, is a roundabout to Alison which does seem to make more sense.

Education has differences also. She has received the Higher National Diploma in Hotel Catering and Institutional Management, a three year program that provides training in all aspects of restaurants and institutions, in addition to two twenty-week sessions actually working in the industry, similar to the American Cooperative Education.

Though she's spent three years in the industry, she found her Hotel/Restaurant Management courses at Bunker Hill completely new. "The whole industry is so different here, right down to which side you serve a person."

College courses in the United States are more informal in the sense you may teach in jeans instead of a suit and tie. Alison also notes that lectures allow students to speak, not just the professor. In England, she finds the hospitality field to have more women than men. Women seem to have much greater job freedom and assertiveness in the United States, though attitudes are slowly changing in the United Kingdom and women are moving into the work force more.

Alison returned home to England for Christmas, stopping first to visit relatives in Canada. While her family was delighted she was coming home, she left another family, the Melanson's who will dearly miss the vivacious young woman. She hopes to return to the United States, and possibly work here. Until then, Cheerio!

Delay Predicted In City Square Roadway Reconstruction Project

(continued from page one) and downtown Boston. Chelsea Street will be modified to carry two-way local traffic and the north-bound highway traffic, which will flow into the lower level of the Tobin Bridge.

While the construction of the detour seems to be going along as planned, the question now remains whether or not the rest of the project can keep pace. Stringent construction conditions handed down by DEQE took planners by surprise and could delay design and construction of some sections of the project for at least three months. Speaking at last Tuesday's North Area Community meeting, Sadulsky said that the conditions, pertaining primarily to landscaping and the heavy construction areas, must be met before the DEQE will grant the required Chapter 91 license. "What we are now concerned about is that we might get the temporary detour structure built and ready to operate and might still have hang-ups with the advanced viaduct and the tunnel," said Sadulsky.

As it now stands, section one design activity should be completed in June with the contract being ready for advertising by August. Construction is scheduled to begin in late 1987. Design activity on the tunnel will be completed in September and bid advertising is set for October 1. Construction should begin in Spring 1988. Finally, the Tobin Bridge approach viaduct should be designed by the end of the year with advertising being slated for early next year. Construction should begin in Spring 1988.

According to Mario Tocci, the Director of the Central Artery and Third Harbor Tunnel, these delays shouldn't affect the project's overall completion date. "The orders of conditions were more than we initially anticipated. We don't think its going to adversely affect our schedule because we had a sufficient cushion in there to prevent slippage," said Tocci. The delays, however, will require negotiating a new contract with the project's consultants which could take several months to process.

The removal of contaminants and the institution of 72 new parking spaces for use by the National Park Service in the City Square area are also seen as potential stumbling blocks for the traffic improvement project. Although the exact nature and extent of soil contamination is not now known, Tocci said environmental consultants were studying the area and taking soil samples all last week. Preliminary studies indicate that the material is oil-soaked, primarily as a result of the heavy railroad activity in the area. Lab results should be made available within five weeks. "If the material is found to be contaminated, we have a responsibility to remove it," said Tocci. "We're not sure what that entails but it could be very expensive... it might have to be moved out of the state of Massachusetts." The Federal Highway Administration (FHA) has said that if this is the case, new designs for the advanced viaduct and the loop viaduct will have to be considered.

The search for 72 new parking spaces in the city square area was easily the most controversial subject discussed at Tuesday's meeting. Before federal funds are granted for the project, the FHA has stipulated that this public parking area must be included in the final designs.

Where this new parking lot is to be located, however, has become a major sticking point. Presently two sites are being considered: a location on Parcel One, opposite Gate One of the Navy Yard and a location opposite Gate Four under the Tobin

THE ABOVE PLAN shows the proposed detour roadways to be built as part of the North Area/Central Artery project. Beginning in 1987, new ramps connecting the existing Route 1 north to the Tobin Bridge will be built. Route 1 north will become two-way and when the new connecting ramps are completed, traffic will be removed from the existing Route 1 south, the ramps will be removed and the tunnels under City Square will be constructed.

Bridge. Neither is seen as desirable by neighboring residents. However, a disagreement between Massport and the National Parks Service (NPS) makes the designation of the Gate Four site unlikely. Specifically, Massport, which owns the site, has set a number of conditions for use of the property that the NPS said it cannot meet.

"It's not over till it's over, but it looks to us like it's simply not likely that we'll reach an agreement," said Jon Debo of the NPS.

Some residents at last Tuesday's meeting suggested using area in the Charlestown Navy Yard for the parking. Representatives of the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) dismissed the proposal for geographical and financial reasons. According to Larry Brophy, senior planner for the BRA, the newest potential location at the Navy Yard is at least a half-mile from the National Park site. "We really don't have any parcels left that can fit 72 parking spaces. That's at least half an acre of very valuable land," said Brophy.

Children's Films

The Film Program for Children will be presented at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, on Tuesday, February 3rd at 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The features will be "The Tale of the Groundhog's Shadow," in which a raccoon asks his animal friends if spring is on the way; Peanut's life from birth to five months is the story in "Peanut The Pinto Horse;" and in "The Velveteen Rabbit," a fairy helps a toy bunny become real.

Shown only at 3:30 p.m. will be "Revenge of the Nerd," in which Bertram uses his computer to take some not-so-sweet revenge on his classmates.

The suggested readings, in conjunction with these films, are: The Willow Flute by D. William Johnson, Flip by Wesley Dennis, The Velveteen Rabbit by Margery Williams, and The Great Brain by John Fitzgerald.

The Bunker Hill Health Center — “Charlestown’s Other Monument”

by Chris Nicastro

There are really two monuments on Breed’s Hill in Charlestown. The first, more famous one stands 221 feet tall and is visited by 200,000 people (mostly tourists) annually. The second one is an aging three-story brick building visited by 50,000 people (mostly townies) annually. It’s the Bunker Hill Health Center, of course, and in terms of the care and service it provides to the community, it is every bit as important to Charlestown as its taller, more prestigious neighbor.

now underway:

- The secretaries’ booth in the first floor lobby will be removed. (The secretaries will have their own office on the first floor where doctors and patients can consult them in private.)
- The Adult Medicine program will be consolidated and expanded with newly renovated office space in the basement.
- Adult specialties will be housed in the same area.
- The accounting and registration office, currently in the basement, will be moved upstairs adjacent to yellowing, chipped paint in most of the offices and examining rooms belie the professional, quality care administered in them, according to Doctor Roger Sweet, the director of MGH’s Community Health Center Group. “These renovations really should have been done years ago,” said Sweet.

Still, despite the dire need for the improvements, Health Center officials are taking great pains not to mar the historic and artistic aspects of the building. In particular, the great brass care facility for the rest of Charlestown, the Center quickly expanded its outreach to all segments of the community. These efforts have taken a multitude of forms, including home visits, free public screening community presentations, and intense cooperation with local groups. Identifying problem areas and reaching isolated groups are among the Center’s primary goals, said Sweet.

Doctor Thomas Panowitz of the Center’s Mental Health Department is one staff member who has taken these goals to heart. In an effort to reach out to and communicate with some of Charlestown’s disadvantaged children, he regularly visits the town’s projects and talks with them in their own environment. A clinical psychologist and former Paulist priest, Panowitz also founded a summer day camp for children with behavioral difficulties. Located in Westwood, about 15 miles from Charlestown, the eight-week summer camp accommodates about 80 children from Charlestown and Chelsea. By reinforcing positive behavior and encouraging interaction with their peers, Panowitz and the camp counselors seek to relieve many of the youngsters’ aggressions and frustrations. “We needed a different kind of approach to the youngsters rather than strictly one-on-one. It’s basically an attempt to provide a beneficial supportive setting in which any kind of therapy or support would be most likely to be helpful.”

Despite the successes of Dr. Panowitz and the Center’s other personnel who have been able to visit Charlestown residents in ly routine procedures, are now being curtailed. Even Panowitz’ trips to the projects have been affected by the lack of federal funds. “Initially there was a blanket grant that permitted a lot more community activity. Now, we are more and more confined to the building,” said Panowitz.

A New Image

Increasingly, Sweet said, the Center has been placed in the position of having to compete with other clinics for patients who can afford to pay full rate for their medical care. These funds can be used to offset the Center’s subsidization of those patients less able to afford full medical care. “Having patients that have insurance and patients that can pay for the services enables us to continue to underwrite some of the services that are not covered — for the poor people,” said Carolan.

Although the present renovations are not specifically designed with these wealthier patients in mind, Carolan hopes that the improvements will help dis-half of the services it has to offer.

Among the Center’s various services: community mental health, adult medicine, pediatrics, emergency treatment, walk-in services, nutrition, and speech and language are the primary programs. There are also a number of specialty services such as allergy and dermatology that are usually scheduled once or twice a week depending on need.

The nature and scope of these programs are changing to meet the different needs of a changing community. One of the new services presently in the works is a Women’s Health program. According to Sweet, more and more attention is being paid to Women’s Health service at other area centers and Bunker Hill plans to keep pace. Staffed by personnel “particularly sensitive to women’s needs” this new program will include pre-natal, obstetrics, and gynecological care for its patients. Complete breast examinations will also be offered.

CENTRAL RECEPTION AREA will be moved to office space that will allow for privacy. The chandelier and the marble walls in the waiting area will be retained. Receptionists shown are Pat Fitzgerald and Peggy Sindoris.

Renovations

If you have visited the Health Center recently, you surely noticed that it is a little busier and a lot noisier than usual. The Center is undergoing some renovations, renovations that the Center’s manager, Margaret Carolan, hopes will improve its ability to meet the changing needs of the Charlestown community. “The main goals of the project are to consolidate like services, improve patient flow and modernize and upgrade the physical plant,” said Carolan.

The following renovations and improvements are the waiting room.

- Adult medicine and physicians’ offices will be modernized.
- Air conditioning will be installed.

In all, the Center plans to spend $500,000 on the five-month improvement project.

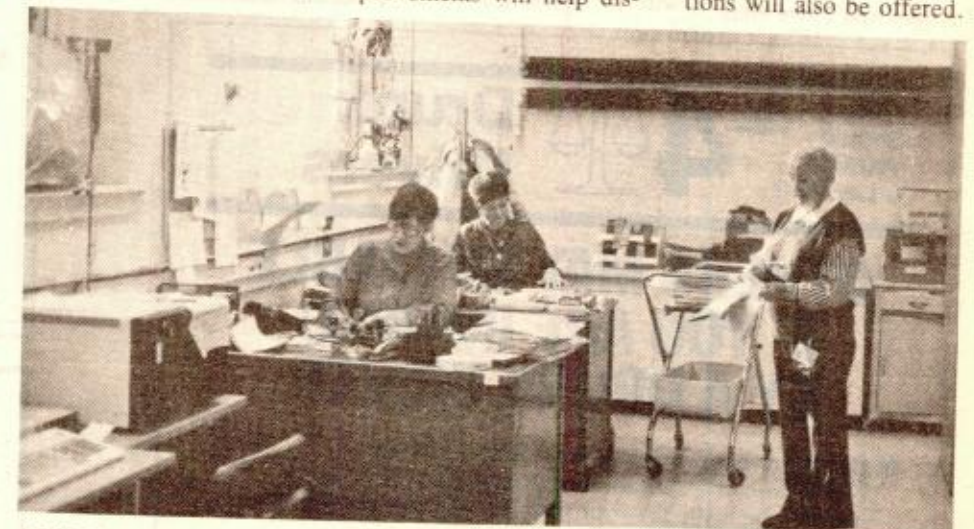

A quick tour of the Center affirmed what all of the unit’s personnel and many of its patients have known all too well — many of these renovations were long overdue. After sixty years of heavy use, 73 High Street is beginning to show its age. Exposed pipes and chandeliers that hang majestically from many of the building’s high ceilings are “hands off” to the developers and construction workers. “Because the building has a historic presence, a lot of people were concerned with what we are going to do with the marble and what we are going to do with the chandeliers,” said Carolan. “Those are the kinds of things we want to leave intact and work around. We want to use them to their fullest advantage to maintain the character of the building but still have an upgraded, modern facility.”

Reaching Out

This concern and respect for the community’s wishes and needs has been a guiding philosophy for the Center since its creation in 1968. According to Dr. Sweet, the Bunker Hill Health Center and its three sister clinics in Revere, Chelsea and Logan Airport, were founded on this principle. Unlike major hospitals such as Massachusetts General that seek to solve or cure individual patients unique problems, the community health centers attempt to get at and eradicate the problems at their root source — in the community itself.

In 1968, with a $400,000 federal grant and matching local funds, the Bunker Hill Health Center was originally charged with addressing the medical needs of the Charlestown youth. Immediately recognizing the need for a primary health their own homes, both Dr. Sweet and Dr. Panowitz acknowledged that federal cutbacks have diminished the Center’s ability to reach out to the surrounding community. According to Sweet, the lack of federal support for community programs, especially the loss of a number of “blanket grants” have caused the Center to decrease its non-billable outreach efforts. Free public screening for high blood-pressure or cholesterol levels, former-pell the Center’s image as a “health clinic.” “Clinic to a lot of people means long waits and free care and a number of other negative connotations,” said Carolan. “We’ve been trying to change that. We’re a Health Center; we offer a variety of different services under one roof for the convenience of the patients,” said Carolan. As Dr. Sweet points out, even Charlestown residents who have used the Center for eighteen years aren’t aware of Carolan hopes that the newer, more modern facility will enable the Center to reach out to the many people who have just recently moved to Charlestown. However, both Carolan and Sweet emphasize that these efforts will always remain secondary to the Center’s primary obligation to longtime Charlestown residents. “These people have supported us for eighteen years,” said Sweet. “We’re not going to abandon them now.”

- Complaints . . . Complaints . . . Complaints !!! We've received calls and visits this past week from many residents to protest the over-all conditions of the streets and sidewalks of our fair town after the snowstorm.
A constant complaint stems from residents shoveling out their cars and throwing the snow back onto the streets after the plows have completed their job. One resident told us he was told that it was "legal" to put a barrel out in his parking space because the Patriot said it was! To set the record straight, we never said that. We did say that the general consensus of residents stated that they felt it was permissible — BUT — if you had read the Police Line in last week's edition, that column stated that it was a "no-no!"
Many complained of the deplorable bus service during and after the storm, some waiting as long as 45 minutes at City Square for ANY bus to take them to Haymarket! (Too cold to walk over the bridge in this weather.)
And, last but certainly not least, quite a few complaints about residents putting out trash days before trash pick-up is scheduled for their area. These residents have been advised that a fine can be levied on the offenders and claim that they will report the next such incident to the proper City department!
- Speaking of SNOW and COMPLAINTS . . . Things could be better! If you lived in Winchester for instance, you wouldn't have to shovel your driveway or walkway. Would you believe, the town actually takes care of that unpleasant task for it's residents!
But, things could also be worse! If you lived in Revere and you didn't shovel your walkway, or did and happened to throw "your" snow into the street, you could expect to receive a whopping $25 ticket compliments of the City.
In my next life, I think I'll come back as a Winchester resident — definitely not as a Revere one!!

Should be interesting to get Ronan's comments upon his return. (Should be more interesting when the publisher reads this and thinks she has to pay for the trip! Ha! Ha!)

Eagles Exasperate Crusaders . . . 12 - 6! Terriers Clamor, Huskies Hammer . . . 15 - 8!

by Bernie "Scoop" Kelly

Kudos to Bill Hart, the Charlestown M.D.C. Rink Manager, for his unselfish action last Monday night. When the weather forecast indicated a true Northeaster was about to arrive and most M.D.C. Rinks were closing to allow their workers a chance to get home safely, Bill chose to stay and allow the Senior Hockey League game to go on as scheduled.

Head Referee Steve "Solitary" Sullivan was on standby (beeper) hoping to get both games in before his beeper went off for him to report to work. Meanwhile, Johnny Fitz, our dependable scorekeeper, made it to the rink, figuring somehow the games would go on as planned and that his expertise at the clock would be needed.

So, like great showmen, the show went on!

EAGLES DEFEAT CRUSADERS 12-6

The Eagles wasted no time going after the disorganized Crusaders, scoring five unanswered goals by the Eagles in the first period!

Eagle Captain, Joe "Dynamo" Doherty, scored at 13:37, with an assist from Jackie Sullivan, for the Eagles' first score.

Chris "Blue Grass" Thornton lit the light at 10:47, unassisted, for a 2-0 Eagle lead.

The Captain, "Dynamo" Doherty, hit for his second goal, with an assist from Jackie Sullivan at 6:13, for a 3-0 lead.

Darryl "Zip" Locke went unassisted and found paydirt at 2:58 for a 4-0 Eagle score.

With just two seconds on the clock, "Blue Grass" Thornton made it 5-0 at 0:02, as the first period ended.

At 13:14, the Crusaders' Tom Mahoney (Moe's boy) hit Wes Taylor, who in turn hit the upper corner to give the Crusaders their first goal and a 5-1 Eagle edge.

Then at 8:02, Danny "Boomer" Considine scored with an assist from Scott Geezil, making it 5-2 Eagles.

Richie "Hunso" Doherty, the phantom, took a neat pass from Paul Wrenn at 4:15 for a 6-2 Eagle lead.

Jackie Sullivan did a solo at 1:01 for a 7-2 Eagle lead.

The Crusaders' Paul Duffy sent a wrist shot past the Eagle goalie at 13:26 for a 7-3 Eagle edge.

Darryl "Zip" Locke, with assists from Captain Joe Doherty and Jackie Sullivan at 10:37, put the Eagles ahead 8-3.

At 8:26, Scott Geezil took a short pass from Paul Duffy, with an assist from Mike Yandle, to close the score to 8-4, Eagles.

The Eagles' Darryl "Zip" Locke, with assists from Billy "Rusty" Doherty and Jackie Sullivan, opened the spread to 9-4.

The Crusaders' "Trophy Czar," Gerry "Buzzer" Byrnes, took a perfect pass from Mike Yandle at 4:14 to beat the Eagle goalie, making it 9-5 Eagles.

Within ten seconds, the Eagles came back as Paul Wrenn found the upper corner unassisted, making it 10-5 Eagles.

Crusader Scott Geezil scored his second goal at 2:18, with an assist from Mike Yandle, making it 10-6 Eagles.

"Zip" Locke scored at 1:04, with an assist from "Dynamo" Doherty, for an 11-6 lead. The last goal of the game came from Joe "Rambo" Gauthier, U.S.M.C., on a slapshot that lifted the net strings, for a 12-6 Eagle victory.

"PUDGY," 2 CHEAP GOALS, 4 SNEAKY ASSISTS

The Huskies exploded and took advantage of rookie goal tender "Knobby" Robby McIntosh, who was called back from the Bush League to fill in for the vacationing Frank Saeli. They hammered for 15 goals over his battered and wobbly frame, assuring "Knobby" that his trade papers and waivers are now in the mail. Even the regular goalie, Frank Saeli, couldn't have stopped the fired up Huskie team who suffered their most humiliating defeat (10-8) at the hands of the lucky Crusaders last week at the M.D.C. Rink.

The former Malden Catholic star, Joe Burton, had his best performance so far this season when, at 11:49, he scored his first goal of five, taking a perfect pass from the aging dinosaur, Max "Bronta" Hart, he cut across center ice to send a wrist shot that hit the upper corner, over the floundering "Knobby" for a 1-0 Huskie score.

The Terriers came right back with two goals, 50 seconds apart, when Co-Captain, Johnny "S & B" Dowd, took a lead pass from cousin Joe Wilkins, who sent him in alone for a score to tie the game.

Jay Yandle, the Terriers' new rising star, hit for paydirt just 50 seconds later, with an assist from Johnny "S & B" Dowd at 10:03 for a Terrier 2-1 lead.

The Huskies came back to tie it at 6:50 when the M.C. Star, Joe Burton, got his second goal, unassisted, for a 2-2 tie.

Billy "The Kid" Kelly took a full cross-ice pass from Max "Bronta" Hart and found daylight through "Knobby's" pads for a 3-2 lead.

Bingo — just 15 seconds after the face-off, Burton strikes again. Hat Trick, with assists from Billy Kelly and "Pudgy" for a 4-2 edge.

If I didn't believe in miracles, By Gosh, "Begora," I would bet "Pudgy" was kicked by a Leprechaun (Post Facto), because he seems to be giving up cheap shots for legitimate goals (Faux Pas) and he can get over the bench boards without help from the players (De Facto). No way! Do zebras change their stripes? That fox!

"See that," shouted Johnny Fitz, "Pudgy's going legit! He's a team player now!" "Hold it, Johnny, hold it," I advised. "The night is long. Let's watch the 'Fox' a while longer. He's bound to go back to his old tricks!" Johnny reluctantly agreed.

The action started to intensify around "Knobby's" net when whom — "Pudgy" scored with a wrist shot, assisted by "Bronta" Hart and "Cobra" Greene, for a 5-2 lead.

"Fitzy" was grinning as he posted "Pudgy's" goal on the score sheet while echoing the cardinal virtues of forgiveness and love at me to ease up on "Pudgy" — you know, start a new leaf, turn the other cheek, bygones be bygones, etc.

The second period began and the Terriers scored when "Knuckles" McNelley took a lead pass from Brian Smith at 14:52 and slapped it past "Belly-Flops" Bryson, making it 5-3.

Suddenly, as quickly as you could say "Erin Go Bragh," "Pudgy" scored again at 12:16, with assists from Joe Burton and Bill Kelly, and without "Pudgy" doing his arm pumping or the stick raising which have been his "Modus Operandi" (legal term). "Pudgy" should know that term. The goal made it 6-3 Huskies.

Jimmy "Cobra" Greene, playing with intensity, scored at 11:03 from a lead pass from Artie "P.P." Pelton, who sent him in alone on helpless "Knobby" for a 7-3 Huskie lead.

The "Cobra" was clocked at over 100 mph on that goal — Wow! Johnny "Scooter" Sodergren followed at 8:25 when the "Cobra" sent a perfect pass out from behind the net that "Scooter" put into the upper corner for an 8-3 lead.

At 14:52, "Knuckles" McNelley took a lead pass from Brian Smith and scored, making it 8-4 Huskies.

Phil Smith came right back with a wrist shot past "Bruiser" Bryson, assisted by "Knuckles" McNelley, making it 8-5.

The "Cobra" struck again for his second goal at 4:36, with an assist from Joe Burton, for a 9-5 Huskie lead.

Brian Smith scored his first goal at 3:15 when Stevie Smith led him with a perfect pass to close it at 9-6.

"Scooter" Sodergren took a pass from the "Cobra" at 2:42 and sent a slapshot through "Knobby's" pads for a 10-6 lead.

At 14:14, Stevie Smith was sent in alone by Joe Wilkins for a split pad goal and a 10-7 score.

The dinosaur, Max "Bronta" Hart, put on the jets and passed "Go" for an unassisted goal at 12:02 of the third period for an 11-7 Huskie stomping.

Joe Burton, the M.C. Star, had plenty left when he took off up ice with "Bronta" and "Pudgy" trailing the play as Joe fooled "Flip-Flop Knobby" for a nifty goal at 8:58, scoring his fourth goal with assists from "Bronta" and "Foxy Pudgy" for a 12-7 Huskie romp.

Fitzy tried hard to convince me about the "reformer" who was really a "team player" at heart and deserved a chance to prove himself. Well, my vibes told me to wait and see and I'm convinced "Pudgy" is foxily hanging around the Huskie stars, Burton and Hart, looking to pickup some easy goals when they fail to finish off on their goal set-ups that fake the goalies out of the net giving "Pudgy, The Fox" goose pimples, counting all the tuck-ins, garbage goals and freebies left up for grabs.

Talk about a prophecy coming true, who should touch the puck and dump it when he thought he heard footsteps but the "Fox," "Pudgy." The footsteps belonged to "Bronta" Hart who showed the younger players his bag of tricks as he did a solo up ice, faking the defense, and confusing "Knobby" who was awe-struck as "Bronta" deposited the puck neatly under his pads, placing a neat peck on his forehead as he skated by the net, heading up ice for a well deserved rest on the Huskie bench as the scoreboard read 13-7 Huskies.

Bob Harty sent a pass up ice for Joe Burton and "Pudgy" snared it then dumped it quickly. Burton picked it up and found paydirt at 6:58 for his record setting fifth goal and a 14-7 score.

The Terriers' old pro, Stevie Smith, still had a little left as Joe Wilkins sent a neat pass that Stevie directed over the "Bruiser" at 14:14 for a 14-8 Huskie stomping.

The Huskies finished the scoring at 2:58 of the third period when Jimmy "Cobra" Greene got one for the "gipper" as he went unassisted for the 15-8 Huskie final score.

Columbus' Danny Ward: Another "Pleasant" Surprise

by Bob DeCristoforo

Concern, hard work, and pride are three values uniquely shared by Charlestown and Christopher Columbus Catholic High School. These are three of the reasons why the school gets a large share of the outstanding athletes from Charlestown and are the reasons why Columbus will continue for many years. Because of these values, OUR VALUES, the doors of the school are open and they will remain open!

One young man who has these values is basketball star Danny Ward of Pleasant Street, and the word "Star" is not used lightly. The Senior Captain of the Basketball Friars is one of the top scorers in the Catholic League, with an average of 23.5 points per game. His free throw percentage is outstanding. In one recent game he was 17 for 18 at the foul line.

Christopher Columbus Basketball has had a very positive turn around over the past two seasons and Ward is definitely one of the reasons why. League All-Star honors are definitely within reach.

Off the court, Danny Ward is a happy, amiable, animated person. The slogan, "Columbus High Is Alive!," might well apply to Ward. He is certainly full of life and he enjoys life, and most importantly he puts everyone else in that same frame of mind.

Coincidentally, Danny Ward has a lot of the same fine qualities of 1986 teammate John Settapani. Settapani was last year's Captain, All-Star, leading scorer, and MVP. John Settapani also lives on Pleasant Street in Charlestown.

Over the next two weeks, the Basketball Friars and Danny Ward have six big basketball games, with four of the six at the Columbus Home Gym. The team is in a tight race for a Tournament/Playoff spot. It would be a well deserved tribute to Danny Ward if the gyms were packed with rooting Ward-Friar fans.

The loss of a loved one, whether suddenly or through chronic illness, can be very difficult to bear. OMEGA's trained volunteers offer individual support through home visits and telephone calls to those living with a life-threatening illness, or those grieving a death, whether from illness, accident, suicide or homicide.

Applications are now being accepted for new direct service volunteers at OMEGA. Interviews will be scheduled during the month of February and training will begin in mid-March. The training program focuses on issues of death, dying and bereavement and emphasizes the development of counseling skills.

OMEGA is a department of Catholic Charities of Cambridge-Somerville, which is nondenominational and nonsectarian; OMEGA serves the Charlestown area.

For further information, contact the OMEGA office at 776-6369 or 625-1920.

Charlestown Resident Visits Businesses
On St. Michael's Career Trip

Instead of visiting friends or going skiing, Gerald F. O'Neil was one of 73 St. Michael's College seniors who spent their Christmas vacations planning for their future.

O'Neil is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Neil of Monument Avenue, Charlestown. A senior political science major at St. Michael's College in Winoo-ski, Vermont, O'Neil participated in a college-sponsored career trip to Boston on December 22 and 23.

Presented by the SMC Student Resource Center and organized by Career Development Coordinator Lou DiMasi, the trip intended to educate seniors about possible careers and introduced them to the corporate world through meetings with corporate representatives and St. Michael's alumni working in Boston.

Participating students attended preparatory workshops on resume writing, interviewing and dressing for success prior to the trip. Once in Boston, they had interviews and attended presentations with a number of companies.

Students reported that the trip provided broad exposure to many different companies and helped them determine what field best suited their talents. It also provided them with insights into the challenge of actually landing a job.

Knights of Columbus Launch Membership Drive For Unborn

The Massachusetts Knights of Columbus are launching a membership drive with the theme "Our Crusade For Life for the Unborn Child," announced Grand Knight Thomas C. White of Bunker Hill Council in Charlestown.

State Deputy Walter L. Almond recently conducted a mid-year meeting at the Hilton Hotel in Lowell for all the district deputies in Massachusetts, including District Deputy John J. Pierce, a member of the Bunker Hill Council. He called for each K. of C. member to recruit a new member to join the Knights of Columbus and the "Crusade For Life" to help bring an end to abortion.

Grand Knight White continued, "On January 22, 1987, the 14th anniversary of the United States Court's decision legalizing abortion, our 'Crusade For Life' began. We are alive with the talents and energies of many members. It's time now that our membership of over 56,000 in Massachusetts direct these energies into an all-out campaign to recruit new members who will help us win a decisive victory over abortion."

"Other reasons why one may want to join the K. of C. are that the Knights are men of charity, brotherhood and fraternity. We stand for friendship, families and good times. We're always helping to make the world a better place. In the process, we make our own lives richer and more rewarding."

The Knights of Columbus is an organization of action. For further information on the K. of C. in the Charlestown area, contact Grand Knight Thomas C. White at 241-7358.

Auditions At Charlestown Working Theater

The Charlestown Working Theater will be holding auditions for "Danton's Death" on Sunday, February 1 and Monday, February 2 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

The director is primarily looking for male non-equity actors who will be able to commit to a five-week run, four times a week starting on April 23.

"Danton's Death" was written by George Buchner and was first performed in 1903. Buchner, a German dramatist who died at a young age, was unknown during his lifetime. However, he was discovered by Hauptmann in the 1890's and was taken as a model by adherents of Expressionism. He strongly influenced the likes of Brecht and Meyerhold.

"Danton's Death" portrays the struggle for power between Robespierre and Danton during the early years of the French Revolution. The play, which reflects Buchner's own disillusionment with politics, carries themes of the breakdown in human communication and of the mentality of the mob. The power of this play is undisputed.

Please come with a resume and a prepared piece, although there will also be cold readings from the text.

The theater is located at 442 Bunker Hill Street. No appointment is necessary.
