

Jin Kou developed Flashcard Library (flashcards-library.com) while earning his BFA in Multimedia Design at the FanMachine. He began making web-based flashcards after realizing that all of the photos for his art history class were accessible on a class website. As he worked on this program, he came to see the benefit of producing a set only once, which he could then distribute to his students. The birth of Flashcard Library. This occurred in 2005. Today, Flashcard Library is a growing global community of millions of students, instructors, and professionals who all share the desire to excel in their academic endeavors.
