

Americans for Carbon Dividends is seeking a talented State Engagement Director to support its efforts to advance the Baker-Shultz Plan among young conservatives in Utah. The free-market carbon dividends solution is built around the core conservative principles of free markets and limited government, and offers the most popular, equitable and politically viable way forward. The plan has earned record-breaking support from Republican statesmen, conservative economists, and American business leaders.

The State Engagement Director will lead the charge in organizing young conservative leaders in Utah to build Congressional support for the breakthrough carbon dividends solution. Candidates should have excellent presentation and organization skills. Political campaign experience is preferred.

Interested applicants should send a resume and cover letter to hire@afcd.org. The cover letter should explain their background and how they plan to meaningfully advance the carbon dividends cause.