To Begin Yearly Christmas Drive

The Bunker Hill Unit No. 26, is undertaking its yearly drive to collect gifts for veterans at the Boston Veterans Administration Hospital in Jamaica Plain. Mrs. Mary I. Luce, President of the local unit is very happy with the fine showing the Charlestown community helped them make last year and she is appealing for help again this year to help those who will be hospitalized over the week of Christmas and part of all of the holiday season. Mrs. Luce stated that this is part of the annual drive of the State Wide Legion Auxillary.

Anyone who donates a gift to the Christmas gift program does a good turn for a veteran away from home. At the same time, the giver will enjoy the holiday season a little better, knowing they helped a sick or disabled comrade.

Those wishing to help may drop off their gift at the American Legion Hall on Thursday nights from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. from now to mid November. It is hoped that people will not wait until the last minute to send or bring a gift for this undertaking since there is much bundling and packing and record keeping to be done.

All items must, of course, be new and some suggestions are knitted ski caps, slippers socks, scarves, ties, wallets (men and ladies), hankies, toilet articles, shirts, aprons, jewelry, colognes, hand and facial creams, and blouses.

Anyone unable to get out and buy a gift may send a check made out to Bunker Hill Unit No. 26, A.L.A. with a note and the gift will be purchased for you.

B.H.H.C. Awarded WIC Grant

Senator Francis D. Doris (D-Revere), today announced that the Massachusetts General Hospital/Bunker Hill Health Center in Charlestown has recently been granted an award to provide Special Supplemental Food Program Services for Woman, Infants, and Children (WIC). The award of $74,000 is intended to provide WIC services to between 900 and 1100 eligible participants in Charlestown.

This grant, included with a grant of $69,100 to the Malden Hospital represents a concerned effort by both Senator Doris and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health to provide WIC services to approximately 1,600 eligible participants as well as food dollar expenditures of $576,360.00 in the North Metropolitan Boston Communities of Charlestown, Everett and Revere.

Senator Doris stated, "I have long supported the WIC program, and will continue to fight for increased funding in order that all those eligible for the many services available will receive them."

Illusionary landscapes, abstract images, and alien forms of life combined with a score from the classics make up Crystal Odyssey, a new laser show in the Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science.

The Planetarium offers a choice of two different shows, each given at a different time on weekend evenings. In addition to Crystal Odyssey, there is Laserium Starship, an imaginary space journey set to contemporary popular music. Both laser concerts are brought to New England for the first time by Laser Images, Inc.

a crystal mirror on a distant planet that is the source of all color. T. music ranges from Vivaldi to Grieg.

In addition to the laser, the show uses slide projections, special lighting, and other effects.

The California-based company presented the popular Laserium at the Planetarium in 1979. In contrast to that production, essentially a series of abstract images with amplified rock, Crystal Odyssey has a story line. It fantasizes good and evil in

More closely resembling earlier productions, Laserium Starship continues the projection of abstract shapes in vibrant colors, enveloping the audience in a sensuous experience. Music is by Alan Parsons Project, Yes, Synergy, and others.

Townie Tidbits

by SAL GIARRATANI TIME FOR CHANGE

Stopped by the Frank Rich for Governor headquarters over in East Boston last week and met with Al Tecci, his campaign manager and the candidate himself.

Independent Frank Rich is hoping to pull off an upset in November when he challenges Democrat Mike Dukakis and Republican John Winthrop Sears for the hearts, minds and votes of the Massachusetts electorate. The candidate is the first Independent to run for governor in fifty-five years and he's already amazed the professional politicians and just might show them all a thing or two.

Many dissatisfied King Democrats upset with the Dukakis victory are having a hard time buying Sears and are finding Rich very palatable. He's a true conservative on both the social and economic issues. Dapper O'Neil is backing him and even Gov. King stated publicly that Rich and he shared the same philosophy of government.

Time will tell in this campaign but Rich is looking good!

WAIT TIL NEXT YEAR

No, I'm not talking about the Red Sox but rather how things are shaping up in the first non-citywide election to be held in Boston since 1949. Already, four potential East Boston candidates are apparently preparing for the City Council seat for East Boston, the North End and Charlestown and two more are at the starting gate in the North End.

However, everything is predicated on Councilor Fred Langone and what he decides in 1983. If he runs citywide, the race will be wide open and wild with squadrons of candidates, if he chooses the district seat, candidates will drop out like sand in an hourglass.

The same old, tired crowd seems to be in the running again as our so-called open political system rarely allows for new faces. You can bet the "White Machine" will try again to gain as many district seats as possible and that several politicians will counter with their own favorites. The name of the game of power!

FLAT RATES

Dorchester's leading conservative Ed Shallow is pushing a flat rate income tax system and here's someone who thinks it's an idea, long overdue.

MA BELL DIALED RIGHT

As a result of Property Revaluation, New England Telephone will net nineteen million dollars in the City of Boston. In the face of reduced tax rates, revaluation and Proposition 2½, the phone company is a real winner because they have been assessed at full 100 percent valuation for years. Nobody, anywhere is saying whether or not phone customers will benefit from the boom but I think it should be a very possible happening. Homeowners and renters will have to wait to find out whether revaluation is a boom or bust for them but Ma Bell already knows how many dimes she's getting back!

MR. BORING

What in the world happened to Ave Nelson? Once he was the premier radio talk show host in Boston but he's fallen on hard times. Caught his new show on WITS and found it boring with a capital B. The conservative talk show host is a shadow of his 1978 pre-candidate status. During the early days of busing his show was a forum for foes and supporters of busing but now the new Avi Nelson has given up his conservative clothing for a more populist and reactionary set. Couldn't believe how he was playing up that Terror Train incident on the Orange Line to stir up controversy.

Views On Dental Health

by Jeffrey D. Cohen,
D.M.D.

TONGUE THRUST PROBLEMS

Every person swallows some 2,000 times a day. During that swallow, the tongue can exert one to six pounds of pressure. During the correct swallow, the tip of the tongue presses with the force slightly behind the top teeth. The main pressure of the tongue is against the strong palate. This is good.

During an incorrect swallow, the tongue force is exerted fully against the front teeth. The teeth are not equipped to withstand this type of pressure and may be pushed out of alignment. Also, it may prevent new teeth from erupting properly.

In order to correct this situation, Myofunctional Therapy (sometimes called tongue-thrust therapy) is used for both children and adults. This therapy is designed to retrain the muscles of the tongue, lips and cheeks to properly perform as to strength and placement; to teach correct swallowing patterns; and to instill a permanent, correct swallowing pattern. Tongue thrust can be overcome, but it requires full cooperation by the patient.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D., 338 Main Street, 242-3550.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE GLOBE

The following is our letter to Martin Nolan, Editorial Page Editor of The Boston Globe, of September 6, 1982. It was not printed as a letter to the editor, nor did we receive personal response. Wonder Why?

Dear Mr. Nolan:

As a member of the Steering Committee of the Political Education Committee of The Ancient Order of Hibernians, I wish to express my personal displeasure at your decision to allow the racial insult perpetrated upon those of Irish heritage to stand because of your self-admitted ignorance of the leprechaun's long-standing Irish symbolism of joy and cheer.

Your adamant attitude in refusing disclaimer or apology is abhorrent, and further insulting given the fact of your own admission of an erroneous presumption that the leprechaun-rat portrayed in Mac Nelly's cartoon bore an I.R.A. marking. Your ambiguous comments made your refusal to redress the grievance of many all the more aggravating, and the offer for an Op-Ed article some six weeks after the fact is totally patronizing.

Enclosed articles from the most recent issue of the Irish Star are forwarded to help enhance the "learning something" attitude expressed by yourself at our meeting last Saturday. Whose kidding whom, Mr. Nolan?

Thank you, at least, for confirming a long-held suspicion that your big newspaper is small...very, very small!

"Up Wexford"

Similarly, a letter (under the same date) from the newly-elected National President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America, the Hon. Joseph A. Roche of Baldwin, Maryland, to The Globe of Hibernians in America, was not utilized as a letter to the editor (as requested) and, insofar as we know, also went without personal reply.

Add to the preceding, if you will, the fact that requests for an official ruling (on this obvious racial slur by The Globe) were made to the Boston Committee and the Boston Covenant (weeks ago) ... and the courtesy of a reply hasn't been received from either. Is it possible that these august bodies are colorblind when it comes to green?

Mr. Roche's letter, incidentally, corroborated the general consensus of many of Boston's Irish in vehementa-ly protesting "the tasteless attempt on the part of your paper (The Globe) in depicting Irishmen as lowly sewer rats," and in demanding "public apology."

Picketing continues each Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. at The Globe's Morrissey Blvd. offices. Recent "new" faces joining "the Irish being Irish") have included Catherine McConologue of Dorchester (84 years young), Bill Paclat of Everett and Al Nunnally (blind) of Chelsea. Al stated that "even without lights, I can see the intended insult very clearly." Even "Louie the Leprechaun" (Charlie O'Callan of Furrington, Rhode Island) has been on hand with Anti-Rat Patrol to make his objection visible.

And how about you? "If you're Irish, come into the parlor!"

BOSTON TO AGAIN HOST C.M.F.

The St. Louis-based Cardinal Mindszenty Foundation is returning to "Beantown" to conduct a one-day conference at the Copley Plaza Hotel, on Saturday, October 16th.

Eleanor Schlafly, Executive Director of the Foundation, will chair the program which will feature Lawrence native Captain James Mulligan, USN (Ret.), former Viet Nam POW, and author of "The Hanoi Commitment;" Mr. Fox Butterfield, former N.Y. Times Peking Bureau Chief, and author of a critical evaluation of Maoism ("China"); Monsignor Alphonse Popek of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Canon Lawyer and outstanding lecturer, and special invited guests Fr. Robert Burns of "The Wanderer," and Sister Grace Vincent.

The day's activities will commence with an 8 a.m. Mass at Our Lady of Victories Church on Isabella Street, and will include a luncheon at the hotel. All are invited to attend, and Clergy and Religious will be admitted to the talks without charge. Contact local chairman, Maxine Tremaine of Newton, immediately for further information, cost details and reservations (617-332-6795). Luncheon tickets are necessary, in advance.

We proudly hold membership in the Cardinal Mindszenty Foundation, which is unquestionably the most vociferous anti-communist organization existing in the U.S. It is especially significant that they make known the challenges of communism here in what many are now referring to as "The Commonwealth of Marxachusetts."

"NOBODY EVER ASKS ME"

How often have you said that with regard to polls, surveys and T.V. ratings?

A chance to voluntarily participate now presents itself by way of a request from Donald E. Wildmon, Chairman of "Coalition for Better Television," who asks that YOU, or any group desiring to be a part of monitoring programs in their behalf (during the periods October 10 - November 6, or November 7 - December 4) submit name, the group's name, contact person, and address/phone number, to him at Coalition for Better Television, P.O. Box 1398, Tupelo, Mississippi 38801.

Don't pass up this chance to help those who are helping T.V. to clean up their act.

DON'T ABUSE HANDICAPPED PARKING ZONES....

Edward G. Galian, National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, has announced that "The DAV is going into battle against the constant abuse of handicapped parking zones," noting that this has become a problem in every community across America - bar none.

This column recently awarded a blanket "booby prize of the month award" to all those uncaring people who ignore the posted handicapped parking areas, so we endorse - 100% - the efforts of this prestigious veterans group, and ask everyone to help in alleviating this problem by participating, in whatever way possible, during October - Handicapped Parking Awareness Month.

Remember - "Handicapped Parking is for Handicapped People - Don't Put Yourself in Their Place."

A QUICK ELECTION ANALYSIS.....

Wouldn't it be RICH if the Independent candidate was elected Governor? And it'll be a shame if SHAMIE isn't elected!

Puns intended in both cases, however, we will be addressing the candidacies of these two fine gentlemen in our pre-election column ... because all of us have waited long enough.

Influenza Vaccine Encouraged

Kathryn White, wife of Mayor Kevin H. White, recently received her flu shot to kick off the annual influenza vaccination program for senior citizens sponsored by the Boston Department of Health and Hospitals. She urged all persons aged 65 and over and the chronically ill of any age to participate in this preventive health program.

"The flu vaccine program is a public service to all elderly and chronically ill residents of Boston," said Mrs. White, "and I urge everyone to help in our efforts to prevent and control influenza among our senior citizens who share the greatest risk of becoming seriously ill."

Dr. George Lamb, director of Family Health and Community Epidemiology at the Boston Department of Health and Hospitals, explained that although the flu itself is usually not fatal, secondary infections can be. Pneumonia is the most common secondary infection, and is the fifth leading cause of death among those 65 years and over.

Dr. Lamb said that at-risk persons most encouraged to be immunized include:

*The elderly, especially those 65 years and over;

*Persons living in rest homes, nursing homes or convalescent facilities;

*Persons of any age with chronic illnesses such as heart disease, diabetes, asthma, emphysema, kidney disease, chronic bronchitis.

Dr. Lamb said, "The vaccine has been well studied and has been clearly shown to be effective. Support for this position can be taken from many field studies of the elderly and other hi-risk groups."

"Side effects are generally minimal," continued Dr. Lamb. "Redness and swelling at the injection site lasting a few days may occur for some people. The only reason for at-risk persons not to be immunized is if they are allergic to eggs or egg products."

Health and Hospitals' Commissioner David Rosenbloom was on hand at the senior center and he emphasized that the influenza vaccine is a widely accepted preventive health measure. He said, "The Massachusetts Department of Public Health, The National Institute of Aging, The U.S. Center for Disease Control as well as experts in geriatric medicine all recommend vaccination for the elderly, the chronically ill and residents of long-term care facilities."

The influenza vaccination will be administered at the Bunker Hill Health Center, 73 High Street on Mondays and Fridays, beginning October 15 until November 29. Those wishing the vaccination must make an appointment by calling 242-5758.

Charlestown Police Line

From the desk of Deputy Superintendent Joseph V. Saia Jr.
 Commanding Officer District A
 Charlestown, East Boston, Downtown

The weather condition is a Police Officer's best friend. With the arrival of the cold winter months we have seen the number of gang calls drop dramatically. The teenagers find other things to do and other places to congregate which keeps them off the street corners.

Major incidents are still down in Charlestown and hopefully it will stay that way. The following are some incidents that took place this past week in Charlestown.

On 10-4-82, Officers Calnan and Honen arrested a 20 year old Charlestown resident for shoplifting in Store 24, located at 140 Main St., Charlestown.

The Virtues Of Greatness

by Charlie McGonagle

Greatness is measured in many ways, but true greatness can only be measured by man's contributions to his fellow man.

Greatness is most readily recognizable in men of great stature — kings, scientist, and world leaders — but all too often, greatness in people of lesser distinction goes totally unrecognized.

Fortunately, another example of this type of oversight was avoided last Friday night when John Walsh was honored by family and friends for his accomplishments.

John is not a world leader who might be instrumental in formulating a plan for peace among nations. He is not a medical scientist who might be working on a new surgical procedure, nor is he capable of developing technological advances in fields of transportation.

John Walsh is a church sextant, a janitor who has proven that greatness is not a virtue reserved only for the notables of this world.

When plans were announced, several months ago, that a night in John's honor would be held, the three hundred fifty available tickets were sold in a matter of days. The demand for tickets was so great, in fact, that the wonderful people who planned the evening felt that at least four times that number could have been sold — and for a janitor.

To define John's popularity with the people of Charlestown would be to measure intangibles, for he is warm, he is caring, and he is loving.

Since 1931, when John was but fourteen years of age and an assistant to his father, Maurice, he has looked after the buildings of St. Mary's in a way a parent would look after his children. For ninety of the nearly one hundred years of St. Mary's existence, John and his father attended to these duties. When John decided, several months ago, to limit his duties to weekends on a part time basis, he had sealed the lid on fifty-one years of service to his church and community, and fifty-one years of memories.

St. Mary's Pastor, Rev. Robert Boyle, recalls his early days at the church with a touch of awe. "In a single day, I was to see John prepare the church for morning mass, change to a suit and tie to serve as church usher, change back to work clothes to clean the church after the day's several Masses, and back to the suit and tie to sing beautifully at an afternoon wedding."

Time and space would not allow a recounting of all of John's contributions, be they touching or comical, but one story related by Father Boyle last Friday evening certainly bears repeating.

It seems Father Boyle had a visiting priest at St. Mary's a few years ago, and after an hour or so of discussion, it became evident to him that his visitor was a fine person, but one who enjoyed a rather conservative outlook on things. He liked subdued colors, quiet people, and small cars. He was a fan of classical music, and an exciting evening for him most always involved a good book, generally Emerson or Thoreau.

While the two priests sat enjoying a cup of tea, the door to the room which they occupied opened to the visiting priest's back. From his vantage point, Father Boyle held a clear view of the figure which filled the opened door.

John, resplendent in a bathing cap generously decorated in dead and decaying flowers, a bikini bathing suit top, puffed to its fullest with giant grapefruits, and a grass skirt, stood, bouncing a basketball.

He had prepared the little scenario for Father Boyle, a man whose sense of humor he greatly admired, but he knew not of his friend's visitor.

As Father Boyle's chin dropped in silent shock, the visitor turned to the noise of the bouncing ball. With no other recourse, Father Boyle simply said, "Hi there John," and acted as though scenes of this nature were common occurrences at St. Mary's. Truth of the matter is, that in John's fifty-one years at the church, they weren't all that UNCOMMON.

"Good afternoon Father," answered John as he dribbled himself away from the door frame, much to the amazement of the silent, astonished visitor.

According to Father Boyle, he has not seen his friend since.

This was only one of the many stories told last Friday evening. In fact, John's family history from the time his parents first migrated to Charlestown from Ireland, to this present day, was beautifully recounted in verse by Mary Wilkins.

The highlight of the evening, however, came very early on. John and his lovely wife, Mary have a single child, also named Mary. Not only is young Mary a beautiful person who shares her father's ability to make people laugh, she is highly intelligent and articulate — everything two proud parents would cherish in a child. Mary's work however, has taken her halfway around the world to Japan. For the past ten years or more, she has been home very infrequently. The cost and interruption to her work schedule makes visits to home impractical and next to impossible.

In retirement, John and Mary, decided to make a life's dream come true. They would travel to Japan to be with their daughter.

However, upon hearing of the night planned for her father, young Mary took a month's leave of absence from work, and in total secrecy, returned home.

Only a handful of people knew of her homecoming, and right on cue, as her parents stood at the head table, she walked into the hall to the strains of "Daddy's Little Girl."

It had been nearly two years since last they spoke in person, and with a rose in her hand, and a tear in her eye, she came to her parents.

For many minutes the three hugged and cried, and for those many minutes, each of the three hundred and fifty people in attendance shared their moment of joy, and cried tears of happiness with them.

It was a beautiful night for a beautiful person, and as a paragraph stated in the booklet handed to all in attendance:

"The many hats worn by John Walsh over the past half decade have now been hung upon the rack, never to be worn again, for they will fit no other man."

Greatness is a virtue difficult to capture, but as John Walsh has proven, it is not captured by kings alone.

Charlestown Kiwanis Holds Installation

The Charlestown Kiwanis Club held its annual installation party at the Winthrop Arms on Friday evening, September 24. Forty members and guests of the local club enjoyed dinner together. At this meeting Kiwanians applauded outgoing President Bill McNelley for his efforts during the past year.

The club was very active in fundraising and community good works. The greyhound raffle, a major fundraising activity of the year, was won by Liz Leyton of Charlestown. Proceeds from this raffle were used to obtain a new van for the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club. Monies raised during the Bunker Hill Day Parade helped pay four scholarships for Charlestown High School students who are attending college this year.

The club also saw a resurgence of membership in the last twelve months. Several businessmen in the community joined the club, and combined to help make McNelley's term of office successful.

Incoming President Paul DiScolo has pledged to continue the efforts begun by McNelley. He hopes to see more members join Kiwanis, and more efforts on the part of the Kiwanis Club to benefit the Charlestown community. As his first effort in office, Paul is undertaking a second greyhound raffle. The drawing for this raffle will be held in November. The Lt. Governor of the Kiwanis Club, Jack Sheehan, made the formal installation of officers on September 28. The new Kiwanis officers are:

- President - Paul DiScolo
- 1st Vice-President - Mike Mullan
- 2nd Vice-President - Mario Guzzo
- Treasurer - Dave Campbell
- Secretary - Tom King
- Directors - Bill McNelley, Chairman, Kevin Roche, Jim Moore, Al Avery and Ed Wiles.
