Performing full ROM movement should be the goal of everyone working on building muscle.

As the stretched position elicits muscle hypertrophy.

Stoic Strength Coach

Pharmacom Stanozolol 10mg is a well-liked trade brand name for the anabolic steroid, which is known as Stanozolol or Winstrol, and is one of the most popular steroids that bodybuilders like to use. This medicinal compound is derived from dihydrotestosterone, even though its operation is much slower than this androgen naturally. It is ...

MILK POWDERS FOR PROTEIN

- Simple milk powder sold in market claiming to be Protein Rich.
- Contains Refined Carbohydrates, Sugar and Sugar forms more than the Protein in actual.
- Some 30-50 gms of the powder will give appx 5-6 gms protein and 12-15 gms sugar
- Not in anyway going to complete your daily protein requirement. Increasing the quantity to do so shall also lead to increased sugar consumption.
- Result ? Can do more harm than good.

PROTEIN SUPPLEMENTS (WHEY/CASEIN ETC)

- Derived from milk through multiple processing to give us the Protein Rich Powder. Since a litre of milk contains very less quantity of whey protein, a very large amount of milk is processed to give the good quality and quantity we get in a box.
- Contains majorly protein, no sugar and sugar forms and few other micros.
- A single scoop shall give 20-30 gms protein, No Sugar and Very Less carbs left of milk which too can be removed in an isolate form (Further Processed to lessen the milk constituents for increased protein and lactose intolerants).
- A single or 2 scoops along with protein from food sources shall very well complete a day's protein requirement.
