The Battle Cats hack When the animals appear to move towards your base, over time you will accumulate a certain amount of money, just go through the icon of the cat you intend to choose. Upon appearance your cat will automatically engage in combat with any enemy they encounter on the way until they are defeated or killed.

So the only thing you have to do to win that is to look at the animals that attacked your base has what strength. Then you can choose the right cat that has the ability to counter one other animals.

As soon as your opponent is overcrowded and your cash is inadequate to pick the cat, then your special weapon is a very appropriate choice. Special weapons enable you to deal a large number of harm to kill a large number of enemies on the map. Treasure can be extremely important that you'll require to collect around possible, it can help you create very strong items and increase the solidity for the base.

One thing that stands from other games is the number of characters. In The Battle Cats, there are many than 300 cats with funny looks for you yourself to choose from when fighting. In each stage, you are able to only carry 10 different types of cats. You can make your cats stronger by leveling them up. When you reach level 10, the best level currently your cat possesses tremendous power, much larger than the initial level.However, the overall game lacks interaction among players. I think the overall game should do have more PvP mode that allows players to challenge other players in 1v1 matches, which may be very interesting.With regards to graphics, The Battle Cats includes a simplicity in it and nothing outstanding but it makes me really excited. The colors in the overall game are very bright, the animals are created by some basic strokes however they look quite funny and strange
