Obviously, SCO's inventory has surged. The stock has leaped around the news that IBM has to turn over additional code. Due to the fact IBM's position is usually that SCO will not likely obtain just about anything no matter where by They appear, it's a puzzlement, until you evaluate their causes. It also postpones any possible dismissal of the case because of the decide in reaction to IBM's request for summary judgment, explained the resource, who asked to remain nameless. Basically, they like it they Assume IBM is getting pressured to settle (from the very long's goals) plus they like it that it's going to get extended to acquire the case dismissed. What does that tell me? It Seems to me like they know the case will in the end be dismissed or missing, they think SCO has no leg to stand on eventually, but they are able to make some fast funds from an annoyance lawsuit A technique or Yet another before it is settled or dismissed. They don't seem to be anticipating a earn. They might be right about that, in my view. But if a number of people can skim some effortless funds off this lawsuit, They're thrilled to do it. I might check with to stay anonymous myself if which was how I produced my income. A great deal of crowing happening on Wall St. Possibly, but interestingly, SCO's Blake Stowell refused to remark to the Salt Lake Tribune's Bob Mims. So I Get they know specifically the amount of this matters ultimately and are laying minimal.
