Chief Marshal Glenn W. Luce, Jr. Leads Off Bunker Hill Day Parade

CHIEF MARSHAL Glenn W. Luce, Jr. (center) gives the command "Forward March" leading the 1982 Bunker Hill Day Parade up Bunker Hill Street. This Parade, which commemorated the 207th Anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill was termed the "people's parade" as all of

Residents Voice Complaints On High School Condo Design

by Maria Girvin

Representatives from the Department of Public Facilities and Graham Gund Associates met with opposition from Charlestown residents over condominium designs for the old Charlestown High School.

In a meeting held last week, resident complaints centered on the parking problems that could ensue if Gund continues with designs to remake the old Spencer School on Cedar Street into a parking lot, supplying 24 spaces. An additional 19 spaces would be located beneath the high school.

Residents said that the total 43 spaces would not be adequate for the 54 condo units designed into the old high school. Those without parking spaces would be forced to park on the street, complained residents, thus adding to the already congested Monument area.

Abutters to the high school complained they did not want a parking lot outside their window which would be located approximately 40 feet from some houses. One woman said she thought that such a structure that close to a residential building was against zoning laws. Charles Matteson of Graham Gund Associates admitted that they may have to appeal before the zoning board for various architectural plans they have made for the building, but did not go into detail.

Graham Gund was chosen to redesign the old high school out of five other architectural firms who submitted plans in late 1979. Shaky finances and lack of experience were some reasons given by the Department of Public Facilities for weeding out the other firms finally leaving Gund the choice.

Since 1979, Gund Associates has revised their original plans, trying to keep their units small and thus more marketable, according to Graham Gund who was at the meeting. Plans show 10 to 11 units being built on each floor instead of the original 9 units per floor and chose to turn the Spencer building into a parking lot instead of additional condos.

The units' sale prices are expected to range between $50 and $60 thousand for a one bedroom unit; $100 and $150 thousand for a two bedrooms unit and $100 thousand up for duplexes.

Special features of the building includes a swimming pool to be located in the center of the building, penthouses, and a resident manager.

They expect to pay $50 per square foot to remodel the building which is a $10 increase over construction fees of a year and a half ago. Gund will charge an approximate $75 to $80 per square foot to buyers of the condos which average 1100 square feet. Gund bought the building for $300 thousand.

Gund expects to begin construction in the Fall with condos ready for the market one year following. Killian of the Department of Public Facilities said no construction would begin until residents were again addressed concerning the parking problem.

Thinking About Selling Your Home? TAKE THE GIBSON REAL ESTATE QUIZ

- (1) Q: What is the one reason a house doesn't sell?
a) Interest rates are too high. b) Too few buyers c) The price is too high.
A: There are many ways to arrange affordable financing, and you need only one buyer. The only reason a house doesn't sell is that it is overpriced.
- (2) Q: Who determines the final sale price?
a) The Seller b) The Broker c) The Buyer
A: The Seller sets an asking price; the Broker may advise on price; but is Buyers who determine price: Buyers shop the market very carefully, comparing as many as 20 or 30 houses before buying at the highest price they are willing to pay for a house.
- (3) Q: What factors effect a home's value?
-location -amount of renovation -the number of similar houses on the market
-condition -energy saving improvements -attractive owner financing
-interest rates -size, number of rooms -old, original features such as marble mantles
-rental income -economic conditions -rent control
-parking -age of heating systems, etc.
-real estate taxes -number of bedrooms & baths
A: All of these factors, and more.
- (4) Q: What is the best way to set a marketing ("asking") price?
a) The owner decides what he wants and adds on the broker commission.
b) The owner asks a price based on the prices paid for friends' houses.
c) A "Competitive Market Analysis" which compares a home to ten to twenty similar homes that have sold, are currently offered for sale, or which were offered but did not sell. (The comparisons are of the factors in q. 3 above.)
A: Years of experience show that a competitive market analysis is by far the best way to predict the sale price of a home and is the single best tool for establishing a marketing price to sell a house in the time an owner has for marketing it.
- (5) Q: Other than locating the buyer for a home, what is the most important service a broker can provide the home-owner?
a) Advise the home b) Show the home c) Advise on the best marketing price d) Help with negotiations
A: Advising the owner on marketing price (based on a careful and thorough competitive market analysis) is probably the most important service a broker can offer the home-owner other than finding the buyer.

If you are considering selling your home, we would be happy to explain our listing procedures, how we arrive at marketing price, and show you many ways to arrange affordable financing.

Views On Dental Health

by Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D.

FLUORIDE'S FIRST BIG TEST

In 1945, New York's State health department conducted one of the first and most rigorously controlled research projects in medical history. Teams of dentists examined the teeth of thousands of school children in the Hudson River cities of Newburgh and Kingston which both had fluoride-free water. In both towns, they found the same high incidence of tooth decay. Then on May 2, 1945 a small feeder machine was turned on in Newburgh's filtration plant; from that moment on, Newburgh's water contained 1.2 parts of fluoride per million.

Over the next ten years, doctors and dentists repeatedly checked the children medically and dentally. When the decade ended, they had found only one difference. In Newburgh, children between six and ten - who had been drinking fluoridated water all their lives - had 60% fewer decayed, missing or filled teeth than youngsters from the same age group in Kingston.

Today, fluoridation is accepted and endorsed as a major public health measure in preventing tooth decay by virtually every scientific and health organization in the country.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D., 338 Main Street, 242-3550.

Paul DiScolo Receives Kiwanis Award

KIWANIS AWARD was recently presented to Paul DiScolo in gratitude for his part in the Club's efforts to raise money to purchase a van for the Charlestown Boys

Paul DiScolo was presented a special award by the Charlestown Kiwanis Club for his part in the recently completed greyhound raffle. Owner of one of the largest greyhound kennels in New England, Paul donated the winning prize. He also was one of the hardest working individuals selling raffle tickets.

Proceeds of the successful raffle were used to obtain a new van for the Boys and Girls Club. As a father of five and member of the Charlestown Kiwanis, DiScolo was pleased to be able to support local youth services.

A two year member of the Kiwanis Club in Charlestown, Paul received the appreciation of his fellow Kiwanians at their June 8th meeting. He was presented with a desk barometer, inscribed with thanks for his donation.

Paul has promised to continue his efforts to help Kiwanis serve Charlestown in the future.

FATHER

"4 years: My Daddy can do anything.
7 years: My Dad knows a lot, a whole lot.
8 Years: My Father doesn't know quite everything.
12 Years: Oh well, naturally Father doesn't know that either.
14 Years: Father: Hopelessly old-fashioned.
21 Years: Oh, that man is out of date; what did you expect?
25 Years: He knows a little bit about it, but not much.
30 Years: Must find out what Dad thinks about it.
35 Years: A little patience; let's get Dad's meaning first.
50 Years: What would Dad have thought about that?
60 Years: My Dad knew literally everything.
65 Years: I wish I could talk it over with Dad once more."

The preceding item (author unknown) was originally translated from a Dutch magazine. It appeared in the Danbury, Conn. News-Times, and more recently in Fr. Nelson's The Maryfaithful, out in North Dakota.

It surely points out that "Dad is Dad" in any language, and we dedicate it to Fathers everywhere as they set about celebrating "their day" Sunday next.

MADD....

Statistically, some 55,000 vehicular accident fatalities occur annually, and better than 50% of these are alcohol-related. We've been given to understand that figure usually exceeds the total number of murders in the U.S. each year ... a constant, stark reminder of the sorely needed legislation in this area. Is it possible that the legislators are slow to act because some of their numbers are guilty of driving in this condition? Yes, which makes a concerted lobbying effort necessary ... and most worthy of everyone's support.

Enter "Mothers Against Drunk Driving," founded by Mrs. Candy Lightner of California, who have already made great strides in this area. Much remains to be done - and accomplished! Candy lost her daughter to a repeat offender drunkdriver, who at the time was out on bail, drinking and driving with his perfectly legal driver's license in his pocket. She promised herself on the day of Cari's death that she would fight to make this needless homicide count for something positive in the years ahead, so she subsequently quit her job and organized MADD.

Mrs. Lightner enlisted the support of her state's Governor, Jerry Brown, who is serving on a task force to help introduce tougher legislation, has appeared on Phil Donahue's "Today Show," and recently conducted a press conference at Washington, D.C. calling for action to introduce tougher laws for drunk drivers ... "a disaster that results in $5 billion in property damages, more than a million bodily injuries, and more than 25,000 needless deaths every year!"

We salute television personality Bob Barker, actors Jack Klugman, Jon Voight and Ralph Waite, singer Gordon MacRae, T.V. producers Jonathan Goodson and Aaron Spelling, and network executive Grant Tinker who are among the notables comprising the National Advisory and Executive Boards. "You ask, 'What can I do about it?' Let me tell you what I'm doing and how you can help," states the literature we received from Mrs. Lightner. Please respond positively when you hear from MADD. Better still, take the initiative of contacting them first at 5330 Primrose, Suite 146, Fair Oaks, California, 95628.

If you're an offender, we suggest you take immediate inventory. Stay away from the wheel if you're not sober because millions upon millions of families of victims (and responsible citizens everywhere) will "get drunk drivers off the streets now!"

And, as a footnote, we ask Massachusetts' own Governor, Edward J. King, to take a bow! His recent successful legislation which increases the fine for an adult purchasing liquor for a minor to $1,000 indirectly already helps, and we know he is pushing for strong, very strong legislation in the drunk-driving area.

NEARLY EVERYBODY READS THE PATRIOT....

"...it is so vitally important that we pull together and work to save our nation and its traditional values." (Senator Jeremiah Denton, R-Alabama); "Castro is planning to refuge 200,000 more bums, drug addicts, criminals into the Miami area this summer." (Name Withheld, Sweet Home, Oregon); "...appreciate your support and encouraging words. They help to make my job a bit easier." (Senator Jesse Helms, R-No. Carolina); "...whether its Boston or St. Louis, we're all at the mercy of the Courts - UNTIL we can get Congress off their collective duffs. United we stand - Divided we bus!!!" (Ora Mae French, St. Louis, Missouri); "We are flying red ribbons on our cars in protest of the tax break our Congressman and Senators took." (Shirley Schafer, Pittsburgh, Penna.); "...have you had any information about the documentary 'The Youngest Victims,' an overview of the diabolical crime of child molestation?" (Dolores M. Lewis, Jacksonville, Florida); "Thanks for your splendid article!" (Dr. Mildred Fay Jefferson, Back Bay), and "You and I share the same enemies: feminist ideologues, social engineers, family regulators, professional educationalists, government manipulators." (Connaught Marshner, Washington, D.C.).

AND DOWN HERE IN THE INTELLECTUAL'S CORNER....

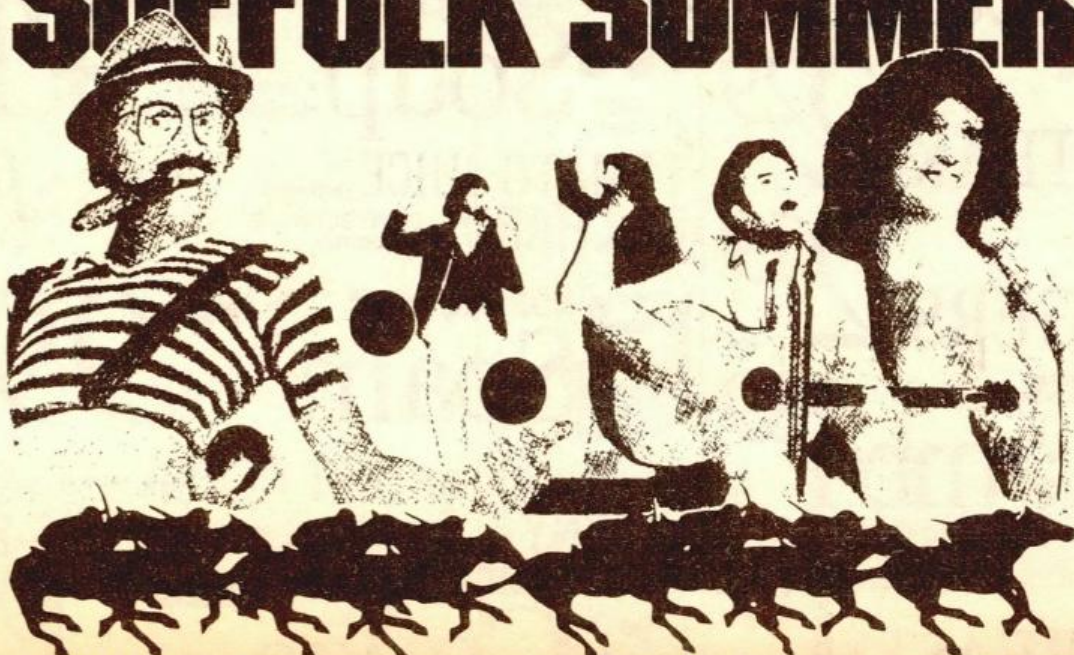

If you answered "Somerville" to the question "Where, in Massachusetts, was the first American flag raised?" your name is Edward P. Donovan of Charlestown, or Al Manzi of Somerville. It happened at Prospect Hill, to be exact, and the first ship built in Mass., and launched in Somerville, was named "The Blessing of The Bay."

It's possible that you submitted the correct answer, yet your name does not appear. This is because your postal card was received after our deadline for submission of column. Congratulations anyway, and stop procrastinating! (chuckle).

SOME THINGS NEVER CHANGE....

"To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. The same prudence which in private life would forbid our paying our money for unexplained projects forbids it in the disposition of public money." (Thomas Jefferson)

Colonial Muster At Wilmington

Cannon fire will sound through-out North Wilmington on the weekend of June 19 and 20 as the Wilmington Minutemen will host their second Apple Ridge Colonial Muster. Minutemen and Redcoats will come from all over New England to take part in this re-creation of colonial days.

The public will be able to witness how the War of Independence was fought. Saturday afternoon the Redcoats will put on a tactical demonstration showing the maneuvers of war waged by King George's royal troops. On Sunday afternoon the colonial forces will rally to meet the British on the battle field.

During the morning and early afternoon the troops will be testing their skills with the weapons of the day. Both cannon and musket competition will be fired live. The public (over 18) will have a chance to try firing a musket in the "turkey shoot." The ranges will be open from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The demonstrations are

not only of the military life, but of the life of the families of the men who fought. There will be children's games of the colonial days, crafts, cooking and a Liberty Pole climbing contest.

Throughout both days events will surprise the visitors. There will be a pistol duel to the death between two gentlemen. Scoundrels will be locked in the stocks. Fife and drum music will be featured by the Menotomy Minutemen.

Apple Ridge will be held on the old Clark Farm in North Wilmington off Route 125. From Boston take Route 93 north to exit

15 (Rte 125) turn towards Andover and follow the signs one mile to Apple Ridge.

CANNONS were hard to get in colonial days but many of the minuteman companies have them now. It is quite an art to be able to hit the target with a weapon of that size with no sights.

Children's Films

The Spring Films for Children Program at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, will be held on Tuesday, June 22, 1982 at 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Featured films are "Black Bear Twins," "Libraries Are For Sharing" and "Alexander And The Car With The Missing Headlight." All are welcome to attend.

Thank you for your continued patronage....

Permit Sought For Mystic River Work

Boston Edison Company is seeking permission from the New England Division, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, to upgrade the berthing area for vessels bringing fuel to the Mystic Steam Electric Generating Station in the Mystic River at Everett, Massachusetts. Work would include maintenance dredging of a rectangular area 120' wide and 1025' long. Approximately 85,000 cubic yards of sand and silt would be removed. Portions of the existing bulkhead would be removed and new relieving platform and batter piles would be constructed for reinforcement.

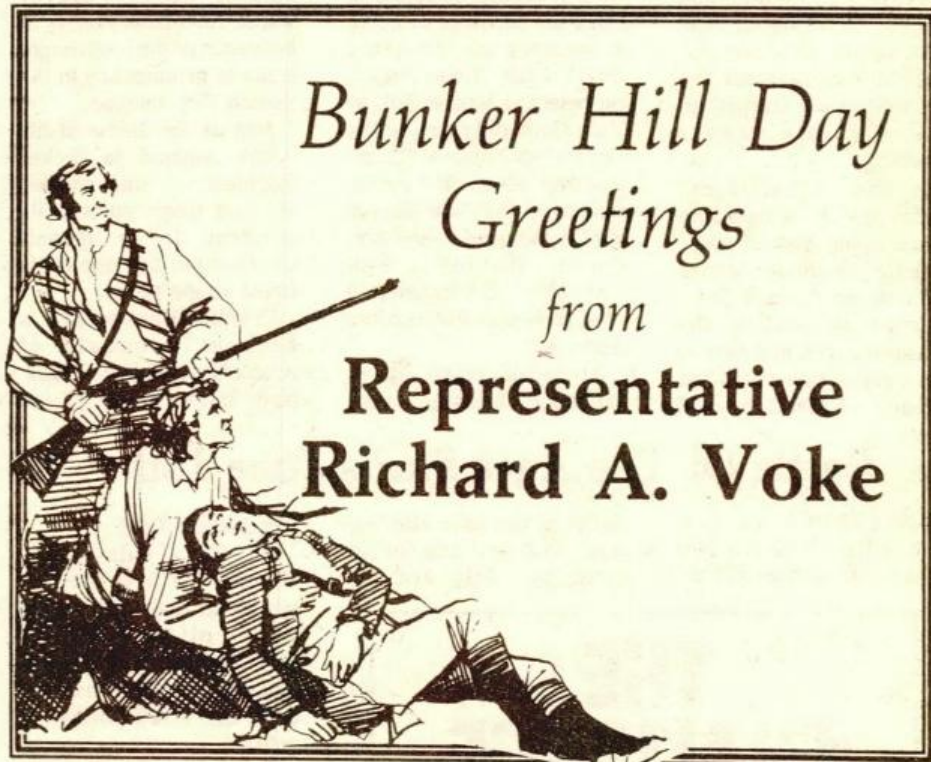

The application was filed with the Engineers in compliance with Section 10 of the River and Harbor Act of 1899 which provides for federal regulation of any work in, under or over navigable waters of the U.S. and Section 103 of the Marine, Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972.

To assist in evaluating the proposed work, the Engineers are soliciting public comments. Written statement should be forwarded to their office no later than July 12, 1982. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Ralph Atkinson at the New England Division, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, 424 Trapelo Road, Waltham, MA 02254, telephone 894-2400, extension 332.

A Friend Indeed

by Charlie McGonagle
The story of Lawrence P. "Archie" Considine and Charlie Harrington has been told here before, but because it epitomizes the true meaning of friendship, it certainly bears repeating.

In the mid-fifties, Lawrence P. Considine was a young man of great athletic promise whose feats on the football field, hockey rink, and in the swimming pool had earned him a reputation which had already reached beyond the perimeter of the Charlestown neighborhood. As a youngster of fourteen I had the privilege of being a member of the same Boys' Club Team which represented Bunker Hill at Yale University during the Boys' Club National Championship Meet. My roommates at the New Haven YMCA included John Carr, Owen Farley, and "Archie" Considine, a powerful and outstanding performer.

At Boston Trade, he established himself, very early, as a top notch football lineman and an excellent hockey player whose relentless efforts at both ends of the ice brought trade to prominence in the Boston City League.

Just as the flame of his future seemed to flicker brightest, it was snuffed out in a tragic automobile accident. In an instant, Charlestown lost one of its finest young people.

Charlie Harrington, a hockey teammate of Archie's at Boston Trade, had been greatly in-part to end it may have gone, understandably, unnoticed. But twenty years had not been able to diminish the memory of a friend in the mind of Charlie Harrington.

Approaching Charlestown High School Hockey Coach, John Morris, Charlie asked if he could continue to present a Considine Trophy to a member of "Archie's" community, rather than to a member of his former school. Morris enthusiastically agreed. Over the next few years local youngsters Cecil Jones, Warren Fitzpatrick, Scott Geezil, and Gerry Rooney became recipients, and the memory of Lawrence P. Considine was successfully perpetuated in his own neighborhood.

Battle Of The Ages Starts June 18th

North Shore's OK Troy will be defending his title in the 11th annual $35,000

Battle of the Ages starting June 18-19 and concluding Saturday, July 3rd, at Wonderland Park.

OK Troy will try to become the first two-time winner in the Battle of the Ages, pitting Juniors (whelped in 1980) against Seniors (whelped in 1979), over the 5/16ths-of-a-mile course.

OK Troy, the second leading winner in Wonderland history with 40 career victories, leads the Seniors which include Olympiad World, Sure Cash Reward, Colter, DJ Questo, Six Jays and Happy Sones.

The Juniors, who hold an 8-2 advantage in the series, are led by Kansas' Hondo Monopoly, the second leading winner this year, Teddy Jack, Cheyenne Wells, Stride Along and Coragh Bessie.

Each team starts the series with 16 greyhounds for the first and second (June 23-24) rounds. The field will be cut in half to eight in each division for the semifinals on Tuesday, June 29th. The top four from each division qualify for the championship final.

fluenced by the personality and leadership qualities of his friend, and the impact of the accident on Harrington was enormous. In a silent vow, he promised not to allow the name of Lawrence P. Considine to be forgotten.

In his own quiet, efficient manner, Charlie consulted with school authorities, and with their permission, established the Lawrence P. Considine Memorial Trophy to be presented to the most valuable performer of each year's Boston Trade Hockey Team.

For nearly two decades, Harrington remembered his friend in this way, and through the annual trophy presentation, others, too remembered.

By the mid-1970's, the Boston School System found itself in the middle of a transitional period, and one of the effects of this transition was the closing of Boston Trade.

It had been the better part of twenty years since Harrington had established his annual tradition, and faced with the circumstances, a decision on his

Warren-Prescott Students Visit Dairy Festival

by Harold G. Robinson

It was, once again, Dairy Festival time and the first grade classes of Miss Marsolini and Mrs. Whelan were off to see the excitement and the animals at the festival. Friday, June 11th, was the day and the anticipation ran great in both classrooms as the youngsters eagerly boarded their bus for the trip to the famed Boston Common where once cows, indeed, did graze as a formality back in the early days of Boston.

The high points of their visit included exhibits of various live animals, including cows, ducks, ewe and her lamb, miniature horse, pig and piglets. You can imagine the looks on the faces of these little ones to view the piglets and the miniature horse.

The cow milking contest was something to behold and little Kathleen Evers won first prize in her group. How about that! You can be sure that this is an event whose memory will long remain with little Kathy. John Wong, won second prize while Diane Moses won first prize in her group. Good going kids, You must be elated. Kathleen turned out to be the grand prize winner as she had the most milk of all the contestants. Who knows but maybe Hood Milk might be looking for such milking talent as exhibited by Kathleen.

The children had their lunch at the Common and then there was some playtime available before returning to school. Needless to say, a good time was had by all at this annual event attended by the first graders. No doubt, the teachers enjoyed themselves equally so. Everyone looks forward to the 1983 Dairy Festival.

In 1982, the strange hand of irony reached out and presented the trophy to a young man who had not been born when Archie died so tragically those many years ago, but whose name is also Considine. He is Daniel Considine, whose father, Pat, was a cousin to "Archie."

Dan, during the past season, was a first team center on the Boston Conference All-Star Team and the League's second leading scorer. Coach Morris reports that it was a rare moment when Dan would be on the bench.

"On line changes I dropped him back to defense. There is no doubt in my mind that we were a different team when I had to rest him."

It is a rarity, indeed, when a junior is elected captain of his high school team, but Dan served in this capacity during the past season, and has been re-elected to serve again in 1983, an indication of the esteem in which he is held by his teammates.

In addition to his accomplishments on the ice, Dan was an All-Conference Linebacker during the 1981 season.

Yes, there was a twist of irony this year when the Lawrence P. Considine Memorial Trophy was presented to Dan Considine, but more importantly, through a person like Charlie Harrington, we have once again been witnesses to the true meaning of friendship. He has not allowed time to dim his memories. Through his efforts, he has sparked our own.

Still In The Winner's Circle, Going Strong

by Maria Girvin

Charlestown's own boxer Billy Smith, will be fighting his fifth professional fight this Saturday, the 19th of June, at the Martha's Vineyard High School, entering the ring with a 3-1 record.

This follows Smith's most recent victory against welter weight boxer Garland Wright of Scranton, Pennsylvania when he finished the fight early with a TKO in the third round.

New York's welter weight boxer Jimmy Longo also met with defeat when he fought Smith in Rathen, N.Y. losing by a TKO in the second round. This was an important victory for Smith considering that he was less experienced than Longo's 7-3-1 record.

Although Smith's last two fights were against welter weights, trainer Emil Wilcox of Connolly's Gym, plans on keeping Smith in the junior welter weight division where Smith barely tips the scale at 140.

Wilcox proudly talks about Smith's diligence in training. "I wish I had a bunch of fighters like him. I wouldn't have heart burn so much. He works hard and I don't have to force him. He always does his road work and shows up for practice. His strength, as a boxer, is in his great determination."

Wilcox has been training Smith at Connolly's Gym in South Boston since Billy went pro in November, 1981. His goal for Smith is a New England Championship. "Right now, we're taking it slow. I don't believe in pushing a good kid, you'll only ruin him," said Wilcox.

That Smith may reach that goal is a good possibility, especially when looking at names of other boxers who have come out of Connolly's and are on the road to success. Billy and Danny Cronin are two big names in the circle of newcomers, as are Shaun Mannon, Danny Long, Mike Blythe and Jimmy Harrison.

"I think Billy is a very capable boxer," said Jimmy Connolly, Manager who also manages Chris Clarke of Canada, a former world rank boxer who is still a contender.

No doubt Connolly has much to offer the young men who enter his gym, having himself been an amateur boxer and at one time, assistant trainer for his cousin Paul Pender who was once world middle weight champion.

The road will be long and hard, especially for Smith who must continue to work while training and paying his own travel expenses to and from boxing matches. But for now, he hold all the aces.

The Greater Bostonians At Hatch Shell

The nationally known Greater Bostonians will present a free outdoor concert at the Hatch Shell on Sunday, June 20th at 3 p.m.

The Greater Bostonians consist of a total of 78 musicians, an orchestra of 42 and a chorus of 36. The young high school musicians have appeared this spring in a series of regional concerts throughout the greater Boston area.

Featured during this performance will be such popular music as: "On a Wonderful Day Like Today," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Sound of Music," "He Ain't Heavy He's My Brother," "Lover" "Big Band Bash" including "Take The A Train," "One O'Clock Jump" and "Opus Number One," and "Broadway U.S.A." and many other easy listening numbers.

The Greater Bostonians are a special project of Horizons For Youth which has provided program services to over 60,000 young people from all walks of life since it was founded in 1938.

The Greater Bostonians will be featured in a prime time television special on WCVB-TV 5 to be broadcast in stereophonic sound on WHUE FM 101, Sunday evening July 4th.

Thank You Charlestown

Gloria Jean Conway
Editor, Charlestown

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to my friends in Charlestown for the enthusiastic reception on Bunker Hill Day.

Charlestown has always been special to my wife,

Jody and myself. The expressions of support we received along the parade route served to echo our feelings toward Charlestown and its' people.

Truly, Charlestown was, is and will always be number one.

Sincerely,
Edward J. King
Governor

Thanks For A Grand Parade

As a once a year "Townie", I wish to extend my thanks to Jim Conway and the Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee for the excellent parade this year.

When I arrived home for the Bunker Hill Day celebration, my family talked about the efforts made by Jim to make this a "people's parade."

There was only one flaw in the day—rain and God knows we can't blame Jim and the Committee for that.

I am proud of the "Townies" for their great support of our one day to shine to the outside world.

Perhaps we can do more such things in the future which will bind us all in LOVE.

Judith Clark

Support The "Townies"

To the Editor:

We are always talking about "Townies helping Townies" and now is a good way to practice what we preach. There is a new fruit and vegetable store on Bunker Hill Street, something we have all needed and wanted for a long time. It is a family affair opened about two months ago, owned and managed by "Townies." It is the "E and L Produce and Novelty," located at 182 Bunker Hill Street (Jack's Bargain). It is owned and operated by Ed Sweeney, Sr. and his son-in-law, Tim Gould. You will get the best fruit and vegetables your money can buy, plus courteous service and always a friendly smile from Maureen Gould who is there every day.

Those of us who have been there, keep going back. To those of you who haven't been there yet, try it because you will like it. Help bring business back to Bunker Hill Street and while you're at it, help a "Fellow Townie."

Money No Answer To School Woes

In order to provide the degree of responsibility that the readers of the Boston Herald American have come to expect (God knows we will never get it from the other paper), the Herald must rethink its position as relates to what has happened to the Boston Schools since the inception of forced racial assignments. One can understand the position the paper has taken, that of trying to make the best of an impossible situation.

That word impossible is the key point. When do you throw the cargo overboard to save the sinking ship?

On June 10, the Herald, in its editorial, "City Pupils Need Help", advocated that additional funding be appropriated in order to save the schools. I would suggest that all the money in the world is not about to save a system which has been brought to its knees by an incompetent federal judge, urged on by an ultra liberal establishment whose only concern is to try to create an unobtainable utopian society. They could care less about the educational process they have destroyed.

For each of the last eight years the parents and taxpayers have heard the same rhetoric about hoped-for quality education and the prevention of violence in the schools and on the buses.

Now in our eighth year of busing, with 50,000 fewer students, the social planners continue to espouse their views that forced busing is a success. This of course defies all logic.

Consider that prior to 1974, with 96,000 students the system ran very effectively on a budget of 107 million which translates to a per pupil cost of $1,115.00. In 1982 with a budget of 210 million and 43,000 students attending, a per pupil cost of $4,883.00.

With figures like these are the taxpayers really going to stand for any additional expenditures? I think not.

In the decade of the 70's, Boston underwent its greatest loss of population in any 10 year span in its history. When busing became a reality Boston had a population of 641,000.

In 1980 that population was reduced to 562,944, the lowest it has been in 82 years. It resulted in a net loss of 25% of the white population.

Talk about the effects of busing on the tax base. Is it any wonder why the taxpayers are adamant that they can not absorb any additional taxes?

Indeed, on behalf of the taxpayers, I would propose that a complete audit of the Boston schools be conducted by the Boston Finance Commission under the direction of its very capable director, Edward F. King.

With all of the above facts in mind, it is urged that the Herald American lend its much needed support by adopting a position compatible with the overwhelming majority of black and white parents who are seeking relief from this act of judicial tyranny.

The Herald, by voicing their support for, and keeping their readership informed on the number of bills that are currently before the Congress that are aimed at curtailing the racial busing of our children, would go along way towards the accomplishment of this most worthwhile goal.

If the Boston schools are to be saved for future generations, indeed, if public education is to survive nationally, it can only be accomplished by a return to a freedom of choice policy as now being advocated by 79% of the black parents in Boston.

If there is ever to be a restoration of the educational process, with safety and happiness for the children, it is hoped that the print media all across America will realize their responsibility to keep people informed, and to take a leadership roll in helping to bring about the much needed relief we are all praying will be forth coming from Congress and President Reagan.

America can ill afford to sacrifice the education of another generation of children such as the one that has just been sacrificed by the liberal establishment in conjunction with the illegitimacy of Government by Judiciary.

Edward P. Shallow

Charlestown Savings Becomes Newworld Bank

Effective June 21, Charlestown Savings Bank will change its name to Newworld (pronounced New World) Bank for Savings, a name more in keeping with its current position as the fourth largest savings bank in New England, with 14 offices throughout the Greater Boston area. On that date, the bank will launch a week-long series of special events. Featured will be the creation of a massive portable mural of Boston by the noted folk artist Sidewalk Sam; appearances by a wide variety of local performers at 55 Summer Street, Boston (Newworld Bank headquarters); and a main-office lobby exhibit complete with NASA space shots, locally designed computers and a cordial visiting robot.

"The name change is a good cause for celebration," says Robert Garver, President of Newworld Bank. "It shows that our bank is entering this increasingly deregulated and technological era in banking history from a position of strength. And the name Newworld Bank is not geographically limiting, which shows our commitment to growth throughout the state."

As a multi-service financial center, Newworld Bank will continue to offer a full complement of banking services for individuals and businesses. Newworld Bank is among the first savings banks in the country to offer the services of a professional trust department. And it is introducing a series of branch-affiliated Automatic Teller Machines (ATMs) to provide convenient 24-hour banking services for its customers.

On June 21, a "brass band" will herald the new name and celebrate the new services as John Payne and his Saxophone Choir perform on the bank plaza at 55 Summer St. from 11:30 - 2:30 p.m. At 12:15, Bank President Robert Garver will unveil a huge granite monument bearing the name "Newworld Bank." Other special events to be featured on the plaza between 11:30 and 2:30 include a martial arts demonstration by the Wah Lum Kung-Fu Performance Troupe of Boston; the Silver Star Steel Band; and appearances by Val the Robot Monday through Wednesday. On Thursday, June 23, the Boston Youth Theater will perform scenes and songs from its highly acclaimed "I am Boston," performed originally at the Charles Playhouse. One of the most colorful aspects of the Newworld Bank festivities will be the creation of a 38-foot mural of the city of Boston. The panorama will be illustrated (in segments) by Sidewalk Sam at four Newworld Bank locations throughout the week, including one segment to be done on Monday, June 21 from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on the sidewalk in front of the Charlestown Office on 5 Austin Street, and will be completed on the plaza on Friday, June 25 between 8:30 and 5:30. Everyone is invited to stop in, watch and chat with the artist as he captures the spirit of Boston's neighborhoods on a series of 15 panels.

In addition to this week-long series of events, the Newworld Bank will continue to sponsor the "That's My House!" home improvement awards program, initiated last year by Charlestown Savings Bank for the 16 neighborhoods of Boston. This year, as part of its community service efforts, Newworld Bank will extend the program to include additional communities in suburbs to the north, west and south of the city.

Newworld Bank's commitment to the people and businesses of Massachusetts is reflected in many aspects of the name-change program. The unusual main-office sign was designed by The Architects Collaborative of Cambridge, which also designed the main office building. The monument sign utilizes dakota-mahogany granite supplied by Colonial Marble Co. of Everett and stainless steel lettering crafted by Steel Art of Boston.

Ingalls Associates of Boston, the bank's advertising and public relations agency, developed campaigns and programs to promote the new name. And all the performing artists who will appear throughout the week are talented individuals from the Boston metropolitan area.

Newworld Bank may be making history on June 21, but it has been a part of local history since 1854. Originally a traditional, one-office savings bank serving the Charlestown community only, the bank has grown to become one of the largest and most innovative savings banks in New England, with assets of $787 million. Headquarters were moved from Charlestown to downtown Boston more than 25 years ago, in order to centralize headquarters and become more accessible to all customers.

It is not too early to think about 1983 and all who are interested in helping on next year's Bunker Hill Day Parade should send their name, address, and telephone number to the Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee, P.O. Box 54, Charlestown, MA 02129.

The Charlestown Board of Trade will be opening The Bunker Hill Pool on June 24, 1982 at 8:00 p.m. with a large fund-raiser. There will be dancing and a cash bar until midnight and the tickets are $12.50. Please call Sheila at 242-2666 for ticket reservations.

There will be another job program starting in about a month and we are looking for merchants who would be able to hire youths to work for them for a ten week introductory period in which the merchant will receive a check to subsidize the youths' wages. We urge anyone who is able to hire a youth to do so

At St. John's

Beginning this Sunday, weekly services at St. John's Episcopal Church, Devens Street, will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Sundays. The Rev. John J. Bishop, Priest-in-charge, will be the celebrant this week.

New Exhibit At Museum

The USS Constitution Museum announces the opening of a new exhibit on June 15, 1982 entitled "Constitution's Anti-Slavery Patrol". Based on the journal of crew member Edward Cobb, this exhibit details her little-known campaign against illegal slave traders off Africa's West Coast in 1852-55.

The Museum, in the Charlestown Navy Yard, is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through June 21 and thereafter from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
