Engage Player Review – What' is it ?

One often quoted statistic is that viewer engagement has to happen within the first 10 seconds of watching a video. It's been reported that the average attention span is actually 9 seconds, one second less than the attention span of a goldfish.

Quite frankly, this factoid isn't helpful. Videos run the gamut from 6-second Vines to 10-minute sales videos. This is what we really want to know: where does engagement begin and where does it end? The longer a video drags on, the lower its retention, which is expected. But what if you could increase that engagement time by 2x - 5x even 10x?

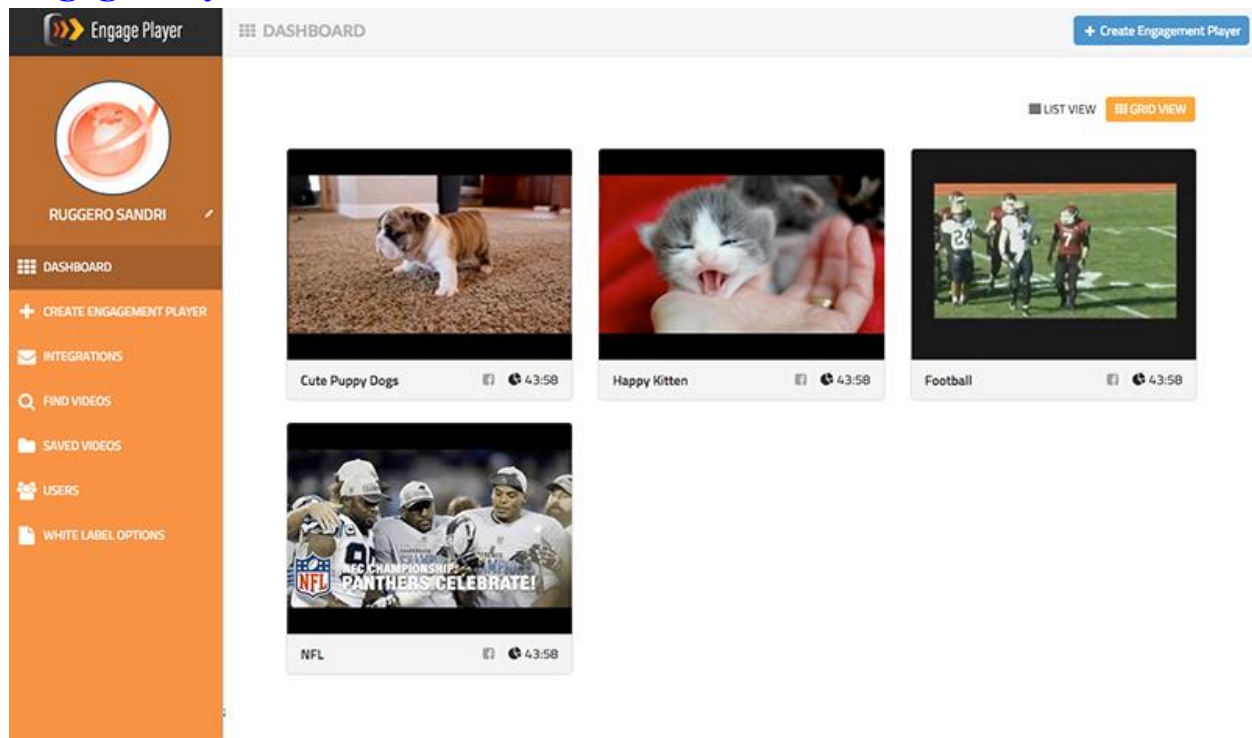

As stated above, viewers attention spans are very short, so what do you do? Give them something to take action on WHILE the video is playing. That's exactly what Engage Player is designed to do.

Not only can you create optin forms, CTA's and text messages on the video itself (which we have all seen in the past) but also create dynamic page content OUTSIDE the video. That's right... An On-Page engagement element.
