Seven At-Large Representatives Elected To The Charlestown Neighborhood Council

Nine residents sought election to fill the seven atlarge seats on the Charlestown Neighborhood Council on Nov. 14 at the K. of C. Hall for a two-year term.

Most of the candidates spent the four-hour span of the election asking the 457 residents who came to vote for their support. A sunny, but cool day was a bonus for those who stood outside the hall.

John Dillon and Marty O'Brien Sr., both incumbents, tied for top spot with 325 votes each. Third place went to Peter Looney, also an incumbent, with 307 votes, followed closely by incumbent Mel Stillman, recording 305 votes for fourth place. In fifth place was incumbent Jim Mansfield with 265 votes.

Two new members of the council will be seated in January. Sixth place went to Ed Grace with 201 votes and in seventh place was Daniel Marcella with 194 votes.

The remaining two candidates, who finished out of the running, and their votes are: Brian O'Callahan, 192 votes. and Colleen Moore Kenney, 170 votes.

Election chairman Tom Cunha thanked the CNC members and volunteers who checked in the voters and counted the ballots.

The seven at-large council members, along with the seven appointed members representing Charlestown organizations that will be selected on Nov. 24, will be seated at the CNC monthly meeting on Jan. 4.

Police Warn Of 'Zero Tolerance' For Illegal Activities On Main Street

Residents and business persons came out to the Charlestown Neighborhood Council's (CNC) monthly Public Safety Committee meeting on Nov. 10, looking for assistance from the Boston Police in addressing a number of issues, particularly on Main Street between the Eden Street Park and Thompson Square. The meeting, which was chaired by John Dillon, was held in the Bishop Lawton Hall of St. Francis de Sales Church. Police present were Community Service Officer Bill Smith, Det. Jack Pierce, Det. Robert Tully and Sgt. James Earl.

At the outset, one woman was critical of activities taking place on a regular basis in Eden Street Park. She said that the young people were younger than in previous times and there is a group that park their cars in the area beginning in the early afternoon, do drugs, drink and then drive off. She was critical of police cars parked at the substation almost across the street while this activity is going on.

Smith asked her if she had called the police on this activity, to which she replied that she had in the past, but had given up due to lack of response. He urged her and all community people to call, as the officers need support from the community to curb such activity. Earl added that there has been an effort to "clear out the substation."

Another woman said she heard that residents, particularly the elderly, have been harassed by a large group of teens hanging out at Dunstable and Main streets. Dillon added that he had heard reports that the harassment included them saying things of a sexual nature.

Smith told the group that Main Street has been targeted for "zero tolerance for such activity" since the previous weekend. He went on to say that "if a youngster is drinking in that area, chances are he/she will be arrested." He added that the Mishawum Park Housing has been posted for "no trespassing," so that if a person does not have a legitimate reason to be on the property, they can be arrested.

Pierce said that two couples were beaten at Main and Dunstable streets in late October. He added that one teen has been identified and there are other suspects. He vowed that arrests will be made.

The manager of Store 24 in Thompson Square and several of the store's employees were present. He told of the trashing of the store on Halloween where six to eight teens threw things around the store and knocked over a 51-year-old clerk as they bolted from the store, kicking him as they left. He added that he has lost one employee because of the threats made to her.

The manager went on to say that a group will swarm in at any time, taking what they want and vandalizing the store. As an example, he told of a teen who, on the previous night, put an ice cream in a new pot of coffee. He said that the cost of this vandalism is getting exorbitant. A long-time employee added that she has never seen the situation so bad.

The manager told of an incident on Nov. 1 where eggs were stolen from the store. An employee called police and called him at his home in Medford. He arrived at the store before the police, only to see teens with cinder blocks and large sticks in the parking lot. When they saw him, they ran into the mall. He believes that they intended to break the store windows which could have resulted in serious injury to the employees. He said that the police arrived 25 minutes from the first call.

Tully said that police have come up with a suspect. He went on to say that the ring leader is apparently a 15-year-old boy. Police reached out to his parents and they brought him in to the station. He will be appearing at Boston Juvenile Court as juvenile cases are no longer heard at the Charlestown District Court.

Police suggested the store obtain a court order for no trespassing. Assistant District Attorney Elizabeth Hayes said she believed such an order would be viable, considering the trouble at the store. It was also noted that a no trespassing stipulation could be set as part of bail and/or part of terms of probation.

A resident recommended more police visibility, noting that the National Park Service vehicles are seen more often than the police. The question was asked whether Store 24 could be a target of police, to which Smith replied that the captain has ordered that a call from that location be a priority.

A young Charlestown mother asked the officers if police cars were "resting," could they move down toward Thompson Square. Smith said that officers write reports at the substation. The woman added that "these groups have to be stopped now" and this might help.

Peter Looney, CNC and CHAD chairman, said that "not all are involved, there are lots of good kids, and some alternatives must be found." He added that he would be willing to meet with a group of young people, similar to a meeting held five years ago, to discuss what they would like to see in programs. One woman approved of such an idea, adding that "moving them is not solving the problem."

A youth worker in the audience noted that there are many activities and vans to take teens on outings, but there is a lack of interest on the part of the teens.

Other areas discussed included unrest at Charlestown High, crowding on public buses at dismissal, Crime Watches and cars parked blocking streets and hydrants.

Dillon asked the store manager to return in December and for residents to report on progress, or lack thereof. The meetingwill be on Dec. 8 at a location to be announced.

THE REAL ESTATE WEEKLY

Carolyn Sideman, Monument Properties THE TITLE SEARCH

People who do title searches for a living don't have real estate's most exciting job, but it is an important one. They must ensure that the sellers really do own the property you're buying and that all liens against the property are taken care of before or as a result of settlement.

If, for example, your seller has had financial difficulties and didn't pay bills, there might be judgments that must be satisfied when the property is sold. Someone in addition to the people who signed the sales agreement may have a partial interest. If, for example, parents co-signed the mortgage for your sellers, they will need to sign the sales agreement and the deed that transfers ownership to you. In addition to looking at the current owners' situation, they go back many years, examining what is called the "chain of title," and they will send the results to the settlement office. If you learn that the property you're buying has title problems, don't panic. Most of them are resolved easily and in plenty of time to avoid settlement delays.

If there's a move in your future, the professionals at Monument Properties are ready to serve you.

chance this fall to put out their leaf and yard waste for curbside collection.

On Saturday, Nov. 21, the Boston Public Works Department will complete its semi-annual collection of leaf and yard waste at the curbside which the city picks up and allows to decompose for a year to 18 months. The result is compost that the city distributes to community gardeners.

The Public Works Department will collect lawn clippings, leaves and twigs. Residents should place their yard waste in paper leaf bags or in open barrels. Yard waste in plastic bags will not be collected. The yard waste must be placed at the curb by 7 a.m. at the same location where residents normally place their trash on collection days.

Fourteen years have gone by so fast. The nightmares are finally gone, But the memories will last. You were like my brother, Much more than just a friend, We were always together, Right until the end.

> Know that you are loved For the person you are, No matter how close, No matter how far.

You're thought of always and missed every day, By your family and friends that were left behind to stay. So "until we meet again," somewhere in God's sky,

I'll only say "so long," but I'll never say goodbye!

INVESTING IN TREASURIES JUST GOT EASIER

For many years, U.S. Treasury securities have been safe, simple and convenient investments. Now, they are also easier to buy. You can purchase Treasury bills directly from the U.S. government for as little as $1,000, instead of the previous $10,000 minimum. The minimum investment for all Treasury notes and bonds is also $1,000.

There's no fee when you buy U.S. government securities through the Treasury Direct program, and this is a major advantage over most brokerage firms, banks and other financial institutions. However, selling a government security through Treasury Direct is not as convenient as selling through most private financial firms. Therefore, Treasury Direct is best suited for investors who plan to hold their government securities to maturity. Treasury Direct accounts are free, up to a par value of $100,000. Above that amount, account holders pay a flat $25 annual fee.

U.S. government securities typically yield less than other fixed-income investments with a similar maturity, but they are backed by the financial strength of the United States government. Many investors are willing to sacrifice some return in exchange for this extra level of protection. And even though U.S. Treasury securities are free from risk of default, they share at least one characteristic in common with other fixed-income investments: traditional government securities offer little or no protection from inflation. Most people will want to own a mix of investments, which might include U.S. government securities, other types of fixedincome securities, and common stocks, which historically have generated returns in excess of the inflation

A final note: Once you establish an account, you can now invest with Treasury Direct via the Internet, at http://www.publicdebt.treas.gov. Look for the,"virtual lobby" in the "Buy Direct" section.

Life Focus Center Marks 20th Anniversary . . . Three Honored As 'Women Of The Year'

Arches of gold and white balloons, the number 20, also in balloons, tables decorated with clear glass bowls containing floating candles, enormous pots of mums wrapped in gold paper with the centerpiece of the decorations truly monumental . . . an enormous lighted ice sculpture of the Bunker Hill Monument.

All this greeted guests, staff and clients as they gathered at the Knights of Columbus Hall on a late October evening, prepared to celebrate the 20th anniversary of Life Focus Center (LFC) Inc. of Charlestown and honor three Charlestown women -June Reilly, Margaret Driscoll and Gloria Conway - for their contributions to the center for the past two decades, supporting its programs for and by the mentally retarded and physically handicapped.

To begin the event, Rev. Daniel J. Mahoney, pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, gave the invocation. Following a chicken pie dinner, master of ceremonies James Conway, community liaison for LFC, introduced guests for remarks and presentations.

They included Sen. President Thomas Birmingham, who had senate citations for each of the honorees; Rep. Eugene O'Flaherty whose house citation recognized LFC's 20 years of service; Boston City Councillor Paul Scapicchio presented each of the women City Council citations on behalf of himself, City Council President Jim Kelly and Councillor Albert "Dapper" O'Neil, who was unable to be present; Judy Evers, regional coordinator from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, gave each of the women a city of Boston citation on behalf of Mayor Thomas Menino; LFC's Deputy Director Kevin O'Halloran presented citations from Gov. Paul Cellucci to each of the women; and former House Majority Leader Richard Voke brought his greetings.

Then the lights in the hall were dimmed and two large movie screens came alive with the sights, sound and memories of 20 years at LFC. The three honorees had been filmed prior to the celebration. and shared with the gathering some of their thoughts on their involvement with the center. Interspersed with the interviews were photographs of people and events that drew cheers from throughout the hall as familiar faces were spotted on the screen.

LFC Executive Director Jack Millerick took the microphone to the center of the hall and called on a member of the family of each of the honorees to escort her to a Hitchcock chair that was placed on the dance floor. Each chair bore a plaque with the name of the woman engraved on it.

Reilly, who is the mother of a daughter in the program, is the founding president of the LFC Board and is an active volunteer at the center, as she has been for the past 20 years.

Driscoll has given countless hours of her time to volunteering at LFC, teaching and creating projects for the clients to carry

Conway has been a board member, volunteer consultant and supporter for the past two decades.

The three women sat in front of the audience and were given white baskets with gold ribbons, containing green fern. They sat holding the baskets, not knowing what was about to happen.

Millerick reflected on the past 20 years, noting the growth and progress of the clients in the various programs. He commented on the devoted staff and their care and concern both at LFC and at their childcare center at Bunker Hill Community College, Child

He then read the copy of an essay from former staff member Kerri Krivelow, who wrote an essay for college admission on a person who has had an important influence on you ... and that person was 22year-old Mary Ellen, who has Down Syndrome.

Mary Ellen and her family were present to hear the essay which concluded with: Mary Ellen's life is one challenge after another. She's been called names and been made fun of because of the way she looks. A hug makes her feel better; a hand to hold gives her strength. She always forgives, but then is able to forget. She concentrates on the "bootiful" things in life.

Mary Ellen has made me realize that working with mentally and physically challenged adults will always be a part of my life. Why? So I can remember not to complicate the simplest of problems, so I can find joy in the tiniest success, so I can feel the healing power of human touch.

This essay from this young woman touched the hearts of those present as just one example of the challenges and caring faced by the staff and volunteers working with God's special children.

Millerick, calling each woman by her first and middle name - Margaret Veronica, June Frances and Gloria Jean - addressed the three. He said: "I ask you tonight to reach into the secret places in your heart and find yourself once again at the knees of your mothers and fathers as they taught you the timeless lessons of life . . . 'Love your fellow man, leave the world a better place for your passing."

He went on to say, "Twenty years ago in that holy place where your parents' voices live, you heard the call of the voiceless. who could not cry out their pain and their great need, and you stepped out onto an unmarked road with never a look back. For these past 20 years, it has been our privilege to walk with you, our faces to the sun, through all climates and obstacles, sharing the weight of our burdens, and the laughter of our achievements.

"We say to you tonight that you should pause now for the moment and cast a glance o'er your shoulder at the lengthening road behind. There you will see, on the busy streets of Charlestown, that you have left a footprint of God. And in this hall, full of hundreds of people who love and respect you, you may hear in the echoes the whispering pride of your parents, whose teachings you have so fulfilled!

"Margaret Veronica, June Frances, Gloria Jean ... well done! Well done. indeed!"

Then, the three women sat with tears in their eyes as one by one, each LFC participant came to the front - walking, on walkers or in wheelchairs - each carrying a white rose or a pink carnation and, with hugs and kisses, presented the flowers to each of the three honorees with the rest of the audience standing to capture each moment. Needless to say, there was not a dry eye in the hall as the love and caring overwhelmed all.

At the request of Millerick, staff members Debbie Hughes and Karen Millerick brought to the front a glistening white ceramic angel, held lovingly in clasped hands. Millerick explained that the angel would be set on a shelf in a place of honor at LFC's facility in City Square as a reminder of this celebration.

Millerick presented each of the women with an inscribed plaque of the Bunker Hill Monument, designed by local artist Tom Gorsuch. Each of the women expressed their sincere thanks with a tear or two trickling down their cheeks.

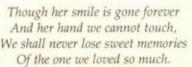

Then it was time to clear the floor and dance to the music of DJ Dennis Moore . . . and what a dance it was, wheelchairs, walkers and all . . . it was celebration time!

LFC would like to thank all the business people, organizations, residents and elected officials for their support of the 20th anniversary program book and banquet. Also a special thanks goes out to Bunker Hill Council No. 62, Knights of Columbus and its hall manager, Paul Herrick, and his assistant ,Ed Lynch, for their patience and assistance in setting up the hall.

Proud To Be Part Of The 'Circle Of Love'

Last Sunday at the Spanish Mass that was held at St. Catherine's, I was proud to be a part of that "Circle of Love" that prevails in our town in times of need.

In a great show of support and friendship, headed by our own Judy Evers of Mayor Menino's office, Captain Ron Conway and his officers from Area A of the Boston Police Department, you could not miss the message of welcome. As always, Peter Looney of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and CHAD was there, so too were Kate McDonough of the Kennedy Center, Boston City Councillor Paul Scapicchio, and my fellow colleagues of the Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force, Ed Coughlin, Jan Nardone, Edna Walrath and Susan O'brien, all of them elected volunteers . . . unpaid, but not uncaring. I salute you!

I think we all captured a most poignant moment when Captain Conway stood at the altar and spoke a few words in flawless Spanish. Bravo!

Sincerely, Phyllis Senna, chair Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force

Without the help of Peter Looney, Doug MacDonald, Pat Simpson, Tina Champagne, Jackie Fabiano, Judy Evers, Debbie Lang, Barbie Gillis, Jillian Gillis, Jennifer Kelly, Tom Matson, Christine Keane, Michelle Marino, Nicole Eddy, my mother, Marie, and so many more, this event would not have been possible. REMEMBER OUR SHUT-INS AT CHRISTMAS

The "Townie Santa" Committee is seeking the names of needy, elderly Charlestown shut-ins 60 years of age or older who may benefit from a visit from Townie Santa at Christmas.

The committee asks that individuals and organizations submit names by Monday, Nov. 23 which has been extended to make sure all eligible names have been submitted. This will be the final date so that the selection committee can conclude its arduous task. Time is also needed to purchase the items for the packages and to make plans for delivery on Sunday, Dec. 20.

The committee requests that the names of eligible recipients who received a package last year be resubmitted, along with the names of any elderly, needy shut-ins of whom you may be aware.

Don't assume that someone else will take care of this person - the committee needs the help of everyone.

BOB D'S BEAT BY BOB DECRISTOFORO

- ♣ Tennis Lessons Everyone . . . Sunday was an important day for Charlestown, and for the entire city. It marked the grand opening of the Mel Stillman Community Tennis Center. The dream and hard work of so many is now a reality. The center gives all people, young and old alike, a place to learn and play tennis. Even more important than the tennis will be the lessons taught through tennis. These lessons will be the long-lasting tribute to Mel Stillman, who still at the grand age of 76, does everything possible to make his Charlestown community a better place to live for every resident, and in so doing makes Boston a better place to live. We all know Stillman as a fine human being, and now everyone knows it. To Mel and his family, thank you for teaching us all so many lessons, and congratulations on a well-deserved
- ♣ High School Prep Notebook . . . More good news! Matt Phillipi, Nicholas Phillipi and Meaghan Buckley are doing great things at BB&N, and if you are looking for Dan McGoff and Dave Bryson, check out Nobles. Of course, we know that Kevin Golden is the cross country, hockey-to-be star at Wichenden, not Kenneth?

On the field Charlestown played some real nutty football, almost upending Eastie's Superbowl hopes. Cedric Warren's 52-yard run and Freddy Arroyo's extra kick gave the locals a 7-0 lead late in the fourth quarter. With just five minutes to go the Jets' Wayne Harris' 3-yard run and extras by Rick Demers gave Eastie an 8-7 lead. Good defense caused a costly Townie fumble on their next series, setting up the East Boston game buster, a Mike D'Ambra 26-yard run with two more extra points by Rick Demers. Townie Tony Hobbs made it interesting, scoring a 6-yard touchdown. The final was 16-13, Eastie!

South Boston blasted West Roxbury 42-6. Add Tony Rabenal to your list of Southie heroes. He scored three very impressive touchdowns. Manny Goncalves, Billy Finklea, and Carl Jones also had touchdowns for Southie. The winner of the Southie-Eastie Thanksgiving Day game will be the Boston City A League champion, and go to the Division 5 Superbowl.

Mustapha Alabi and John Rice combined for five touchdowns as Boston English whipped Latin Academy 38-20. A bright spot for Latin Academy was Anthony Gooding, who had two touchdowns. English will go into the Thanksgiving clash with Boston Latin at 4-5.

Ed Marshall and Bayo Owolewa had a pair of touchdowns each to put Boston Latin (4-3-1) back on the winning track. The Wolfpack whacked Concord-Carlisle 28-21. St. John's Prep shutout Malden Catholic 33-0.

It was Super Saturday for Everett, who defeated Malden 37-12. Five different Everett players had TD's to lead the multi-talented Crimson Tide to their third straight Superbowl. A few yards down Broadway there was a Superbowl celebration at Pope John. The Tigers, led by Kamau Ellis, Jim Rabideau, Mike Juliano, John Passematto and Mike Minervin, clobbered Minuteman 39-19. PJ will make its first bowl appearance in 25 years!

Madison Park is back. The Cardinals won the Boston City League B championship, defeating O'Bryant 20-8. Greg Young had two touchdowns and Jimmy Holder had one touchdown to lead Madison Park to its second straight Division 6 appearance.

Xaverian downed Catholic Memorial 28-6. Lone CM scorer was Matt Walsh. Brighton shutout Burke 6-0. Mario Marotta scored twice to stop St. Clement 20-8. Russell Grogget had the St. Clement touchdown. A Tim Longdon field goal was the game-winner as St. John (S) defeated BC High 9-6, and a Mark Jurgela field goal was the difference as Archbishop Williams topped Arlington Catholic 10-8.

For the record as we head to turkey day and Superbowl weekend: Everett 8-0, South Boston 8-1, East Boston 8-1, Pope John 7-2, Madison Park 7-2, BC High 5-4, Boston Latin 4-4-1, West Roxbury 4-4, Boston English 4-5, O'Bryant 4-5, Catholic Memorial 3-6, Charlestown 3-6, Savio Prep 3-6, Dorchester 2-5, Latin Academy 2-7, Arlington Catholic 2-7, Malden Catholic 1-8, St. Clement 0-8, Burke 0-8 and Matignon 0-9.

♣ Games To Watch . . .
Thursday, Nov. 19

O'Bryant at Charlestown Dorchester at Latin Academy

- ♣ Education Plus . . . The Higher Education Information Center will present a financial aid workshop for students and their parents on Thursday, Dec. 10 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the North End Branch Library, 25 Parmentar St. Students are encouraged to bring their forms and their questions to the workshop. Call 227-8135 for more information.
- College Board . . . In a preseason Women's Basketball Coaches' poll, Corey Gallagher's Bentley team was ranked number two in the country.

Jimmy Vesey will be happy to hear that Merrimack College defeated Northeastern again. This time the Warriors did it eight seconds into the overtime on a goal by freshman Gary Classen. The Warriors improved their record to 4-3-0, defeating Army 5-3. Rejan Stringer led the way with two goals and two assists. UMass-Lowell added to the Army woes. Anthony Cappelletti scored with just 54 seconds to go to give the River Hawks a 4-3 win.

Out west, UMass-Amherst picked up three big points stunning number four-ranked Maine. Star of the weekend honors go to Minuteman goalie sophomore Markus Helanen, who had 44, and 43 saves, in the two-game series. Jeff Blanchard had the game-winner to give UMass a 2-1 win, and Maine its first loss, and then a goal by Dean Stork was enough in a 1-1 tie. Joe Mallen's UMass team is now 2-4-1.

Boston University could only muster a point in its weekend activities with New Hampshire. Michel Laroque had 28 saves in the 2-2 tie at Durham. Carl Corazzi and Dan Cavanaugh had the Terrier goals. Back in Boston the Wild Cats were Jason Krog, Jayme Filpowicz and Darren Haydar and New Hampshire won 3-1.

I spent my Friday over at Boston College watching a Friday the 13th shocker. Northeastern roared from behind to stun the Eagles in overtime 5-4. Goals by Bobby Allen, Rob Scuderi, Andy Powers and Jeff Farkas gave BC a 4-2 lead, but then the Huskies erupted for three well-deserved unanswered goals including the game winner by Sean MacDonald just 18 seconds into overtime. On Saturday, the Eagles traveled to Northeastern, and won 6-3, thanks in large part to the efforts of Brian Gionta, who had one goal and three assists. Blake Bellefeuille had two goals for the Eagles. Jimmy Fahey scored one for Northeastern.

On the football field, Boston College snapped its six-game losing streak defeating Pittsburg 23-15. Bridgewater dropped Mass. Maritime 28-16. Curry was overwhelmed by UMass-Dartmouth 44-15, and Plymouth State upended WPI 25-20.

A basketball note: Sean Connolly, former Bishop Fenwick star, is already making his talents felt for the Providence Fryars. Connolly again will be a player to watch.

♣ ProLine . . . Checking out my baseballs, the "curse" is complete! Three years ago Burger King had a baseball give-a-way with the likeness of Mike Greenwell, Jose Conseco, Roger Clemens and Mo Vaugn printed on each ball. All four of these Red Sox players are now ex-Red Sox players. Call it the curse of the Burger King balls!

Keith Tkachuk scored his ninth goal of the season, and added an assist as Phoenix topped Tampa Bay 4-1. The Coyotes haven't lost in their last eight starts.

- ◆ Two Good Men... Boston lost two good men this week. Michael Griffin and John "Stretch" Walsh were two people who were very fond of Charlestown. They worked hard to make Boston a better place. They both will be missed.
- ♣ Tidbits . . . Birthday best to Candace . . . Jen and Sarah, where is little C-Town? . . . Jason Winnet, how is the Soup Bowl? . . . Kelly Danny?? . . . Tammy, please stop playing in the garbage . . . Keileigh, please call Latin. . . . Smile!

POP WARNER CORNER

If bowl game week was any indication that we can compete outside the Bay State league, well low and behold, perennial Greater Boston League contenders, the Medford Colts, were sent back home with no wins and two ties. Guy Matorano, president of the Medford Colts for the past 30 years, knowing the problems this program had many years ago in the GBL, would be more than willing to send a letter of recommendation on CPW's behalf for re-admittance to the Greater Boston League, not because of the level of play, but because of the level of sportsmanship displayed by the entire CPW program. Though CPW is weighing what is best for the program, Matorano's comments sure do measure how far this program has come.

On Wednesday evening under the lights on the newly installed astro-turf with a great crowd on hand at East Boston Stadium, Coaches Arroyo, Murphy and Flynn had the B-Team flying high against the tough Medford Colts. Medford jumped out to an early halftime lead of 13-1. The troops came storming back on consecutive touchdowns by Jimmy Murphy and Bucky Jones to take a 16-13 lead. Medford would not go away as they again marched down the field late in the fourth quarter to go ahead 20-16. The only noise heard coming out of the airport was Coach Jimbo Murphy to set the stage for some late-game dramatics. With less than two minutes to go, with the ball on Charlestown's own 45-yard line, quarterback Chris D'Anjou hooked up with Steven Awbrey, who left the Medford secondary at Lacasia's Bakery, on a 55-yard touchdown pass to go ahead 22-20. The B-Team circled the stadium, raising the Bowl Game trophy for all to see!

Coach Danny Ryan, Mike Walsh and the A-Team came out of Runway C and there was no turning back. Brian McCrary and Mike Doe scored touchdowns as the A-Team shutout the Medford Colts 16-0.

The games returned to Charlestown High School on Thursday evening with the C and D teams ready to do battle with the Medford Colts. In a well-played game, which ended in a 12-12 tie, coaches Ricky Young and Tommy Allen executed their game plan to perfection. John Collins scored on a 20-yard pass from Joey Burke and Matty Dyer busted in from the 5-yard line for the Townie sores.

The C-Team played their best game of the year against the powerful 7-1 Medford Colts, and no introduction was needed to their coaching staff as John Collier led his well-coached Medford Colts team out of the locker room. It was a defensive battle from the opening snap, which resulted in a 6-6 tie as Jason Castillo scored the lone Townie touchdown.

The E-Team had the opportunity on bowl day to play at Northeastern University's Parson Field and play they did as they upended Brookline, 12-0. Cameron Ortiz, who started the year as the -team center, ended up leading the E-Team in scoring. Who says we are not good judges of talent! Ortiz scored two touchdowns on the day to lead his team to victory and brought home the first trophy for the E-Team since its inception in this program.

In a bowl game format, the opposing coaches present trophies to the offensive and defensive players of the game. Bringing home the hardware was Mike Doe on offense and Mark Mattarazo on defense for the A-Team. Chris D'Anjou and Bucky Jones were the offensive and defensive MVP's for the B-Team. P.J. Arroyo and Jason Castillo were the offensive and defensive MVP's for the C-Team. D-Team MVP's were presented to Joey Burke on offense and Matty Dyer on defense and the E-Team bowl game MVP's were Cameron Ortiz on offense and A.J. Hanscom on defense.

The awards night has tentatively been scheduled for Friday evening, Dec. 4 at Charlestown High School at 6 p.m. This is subject to change as we await the arrival of jackets, so watch the Charlestown Patriot for details.

My Ma, Julius LaRosa And Being Irish

by Sal Giarratini

Well, it's almost Thanksgiving again. The space between this annual holiday seems much closer the older you get, eh?

It makes me reflect on my past. Growing up in an Italian/Irish family was very interesting. My parents often resembled Lucy and Ricky. Two cultures merged. Two ways of thinking compromised. My father was definitely Sicilian North End. My mother never strayed far from her Townie ways.

The older I get, the more Italian I look but the older I get, the more like my mother I become. She put up with nothing foolish from anyone. She spent the first fifteen or so years of her life in St. Mary's Parish before her family moved to Maplewood Square in Malden. After marrying my father, we ended for a short time in the North End before heading over near Boston City Hospital where I grew up. One reason we didn't stay in the North End was that my mother thought it was too Italian. Eventually, she ended up back where she started, right here in St. Mary's Parish.

I miss my parents on Thanksgiving. We don't know what we have until they're gone. My mother always enjoyed Thanksgiving, whether it was in Charlestown or Melrose or Weymouth. As long as she got her drumstick, she was happy. And as long as she didn't have to watch any football, that was even bet-

However, I do give thanksgiving for all the memories over the years, including the few North End ones where my mother always felt "like a fish outta water," as they say.

She loved Irish music. As a young woman, she would go to Irish dances over in Roxbury on Dudley Street which were put together by her brother. However, one Nealy. Italian song she loved was "Eh, Cumpari" by Julius LaRosa. He was the only Italian singer she would enjoy listening to on the radio or phonograph. Endlessly, she would play that old record until even I had memorized the words.

Not many kids at St. Anthony's School even knew who LaRosa was. My mother became really angry when she heard something about Arthur Godfrey firing him from his TV show. My mother never watched the Godfrey show again.

As I said, my mother started and finished her life in Charlestown but even in her exile, you always knew by her attitude that she was a Townie. Push her and you paid the price. Once I remember when one of the priests yelled at me after making a mistake while serving at Mass one day. My mother told him where to go, Roman collar or no Roman collar. He never yelled at me again.

Another time, Cardinal Cushing came to St. Philip's Church for Confirmation Sunday. Everyone ran up to him and started kissing his ring. I asked my mother why she wasn't doing it and she said she didn't kiss anybody's ring. If they ordered her to do so, they could "kiss my youknow-what." My mother was quite the colorful person. No one could ever say. they didn't know where she was coming from.

One time on Bunker Hill Day, she spotted my grandfather in City Square. I was only about 6-yearsold but remember it well. She saw him. He saw her. He ducked into a barroom which warned women they were not welcome there. She chased after her father and grandpa never had a chance. She ran right in there and took him out. telling him drinking was bad for him. Obviously, not as bad as getting caught in a barroom by my mother. Denial is not a river in Egypt and my mother never let foolish signs keep her from doing what she

My last memory of my mother was two days before she died back six years ago over at Youville. We talked and talked about the old days, old memories, my father and her life. She told me she had a good life and was ready for what was to come. She knew her time was running out and told me never to forget her. Forget her? How could anyone who ever met my mother truly ever forget her. Thank God, Arthur Godfrey never met her because Julius LaRosa might have taken over his show.

lestown Irish every moher own life. She kowcouldn't stand.

Happy Thanksgiving Ma. I'll never forget you nor thank you enough for making me the kind of guy I am today. By now, God probably even knows all the words to "Eh, Cumpari," too.

My mother was Charment of her life. She ran towed to no one and she did things her way just like Frank Sinatra, whom she thought he pushed Bing Crosby around too much.
