Residents Opposed To MBTA's Elimination Of Downtown Bus Stops

by Maria Girvin

Residents are showing disapproval of the MBTA's plans to eliminate Downtown Crossing bus stops from the Main Street and Bunker Hill Street bus routes (Routes 92 and 93), effective September 6.

The MBTA will hold a public hearing on this matter Monday, August 11 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Kent School, 50 Bunker Hill Street.

In a random sampling of residents, all were opposed to shortening the routes. Said Sister Mary Rose Meade of the Kennedy Center's Elderly Services, "I say it's too bad for the elderly people that like to go in town for shopping. They don't have any money, in the first place, but this denies them the right. I'm against it." Meade also said she has seen elderly people trip on the Haymarket Station stairs where persons wishing to take public transportation into the downtown area, will have to enter the subway.

"We've got to have it," said resident Mae King who says she rides the bus into town often. "We've been dependent on it all this time. King dismissed the Community College Station as an alternative to the bus transportation. "First of all it's too far to walk and secondly, you'd get robbed walking home from there at night."

Lawyer, Andy Pasquina of Mystic Street also showed dismay over the T's proposed plans.

"I ride the bus a lot during the day. I'm not strictly a 9 to 5 person, so I wouldn't want to see the service stopped, but also there seems to be a lot of people, and I'm talking about the elderly folk, who need the bus for shopping. It seems at least they could continue the route at certain times during the day, say 11:00 in the morning and 1:00 in the afternoon.

Pasquina also ruled out the Community College station for elderly, saying the hill enroute to the station is too steep for older people.

Seventy-eight year old Helen Conway (no relation to Patriot publisher) agrees with other residents. "I take the bus almost

Charlestown Clean-up

The Charlestown Board of Trade in cooperation with The Corporation for a Cleaner Commonwealth, is sponsoring Charlestown Pride Days on August 19 and 20th.

The purpose of this event will be to join together, young and old alike, to clean up our community. Each individual who participates in this event will receive a complimentary T-shirt, refreshments and be eligible for a drawing for some fantastic prizes.

Residents and businessmen are asked to contact Board of Trade President Joe Flaherty at 242-2666 to let the committee know what areas of Charlestown need to be targeted in this clean-up campaign. Also adults are asked to join in supervising and directing this project and all local youth and youth groups are invited to participate.

Workers are asked to meet in the parking lot of the former Tilkin's Shoe Store at the corner of Main and Austin Streets at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, August 19 and Wednesday, August 20.

For further information, contact Joe Flaherty at 242-2666. This is an opportunity for all to stop complaining and start working to restore pride in Charlestown by helping make and keep a cleaner community.

Legion National Convention In Boston August 15-21

Members of the Massachusetts Department of The American Legion will host Legionnaires from the other 50 states and several foreign countries during the 62nd Annual National Convention of the Legion to be held in Boston August 15-21.

It will be the fourth time the Legion has convened in Boston. The previous visits were in 1930, 1940 and 1967.

The Legionnaires will be helping to celebrate "Jubilee 350" as they did on Boston's Tercentenary in 1930.

Three convention events will be open to the public. They are the American Legion National Championships, a musical spectacular, featuring seven of the outstanding senior drum and bugle corps in the country, to be held on Saturday, August 16, at Boston University's Nickerson Field; the memorial service at Trinity Church in Copley Square on Sunday, August 17, at 2 p.m. and the convention parade over Back Bay and downtown Boston Streets which will start at 4 p.m. on Sunday, August 17, and take five to six hours to pass in review.

Featured speakers at the three days of business sessions at the John B. Hynes Veterans Auditorium will include the Presidential candidates, President Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan, and John Anderson as well as Gen. David C. Jones, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Max Cleland, VA Administrator, and a host of other national figures.

Recipients of honors will include Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, Jr., the Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, Distinguished Service Award; former President Gerald R. Ford, the Distinguished Service Medal and Hy Rosen, editorial cartoonist of the Albany Times-Union, the Fourth Estate Award, for his outstanding cartoons including a series on the Iranian hostage crisis.

The Auxiliary will hold its convention concurrently with the Legion.

Further information on the activities of the week-long convention may be obtained by calling 426-2916.

AMERICAN LEGION WEEK: Governor Edward J. King proclaims August 15-21 as American Legion Week in Massachusetts. Members of the American Legion Convention Corporation of Massachusetts planning the week-long 62nd annual National Convention are, from left, James W. Conway of 7 Belmont Street, Charlestown, Department Commander and chairman of the Distinguished Guests Committee; Robert W. Groccia, Oxford, assistant general chairman, Edward J. Norcott, Hanover, treasurer; H. Vincent Strout of Marblehead, formerly of Charlestown, president and general chairman. Public events during the convention include the drum and bugle corps competition at Boston University's Nickerson Field on August 16, the memorial service at Boston's Trinity Church and parade, both on August 17.

every day into town and it's bad enough I have to stand all the way because of the outsiders that get on at Sullivan Square."

One resident who wished to remain anonymous said she thinks the MBTA has found a way to make more money on residents of Charlestown. "Why should they only get a quarter when they can make .75 cents." She was referring to the .25 cents paid by bus riders and the additional .50 cents they would have to pay in boarding a subway train at Haymarket to reach the Downtown area.

According to the MBTA, several factors necessitate the return to the original routes which end at Haymarket Square.

They say construction projects in Boston will impact Downtown Crossing routes. Construction planned for the North Washington Street Bridge will also affect bus routes. In addition they say each route extension shows a net return of six cents for every dollar spent on the operation and the service policy requires farebox revenues of .30 cents for every operating dollar spent.

According to an MBTA press release of last week, T officials thought the posting of a six-ton limit on the North Washington Street Bridge would affect Routes 92 and 93 into the downtown area. However, Joseph Onorato of the Department of Public Works (DPW) says the six-ton limit is only to insure the City of Boston, and buses and fire apparatus will be allowed passage on the bridge.

In addition to the aforementioned meeting of August 11, there will also be a hearing at Lorimer Hall, 88 Tremont Street in Boston on August 18, at 7:30 p.m.

These hearings are being held in compliance with the Urban Mass Transportation Act that requires the MBTA to obtain public testimony regarding any service change which affects 25 percent or more of a route. On basis of testimony and other economic and social considerations the MBTA will make a decision.

Your Dental Health

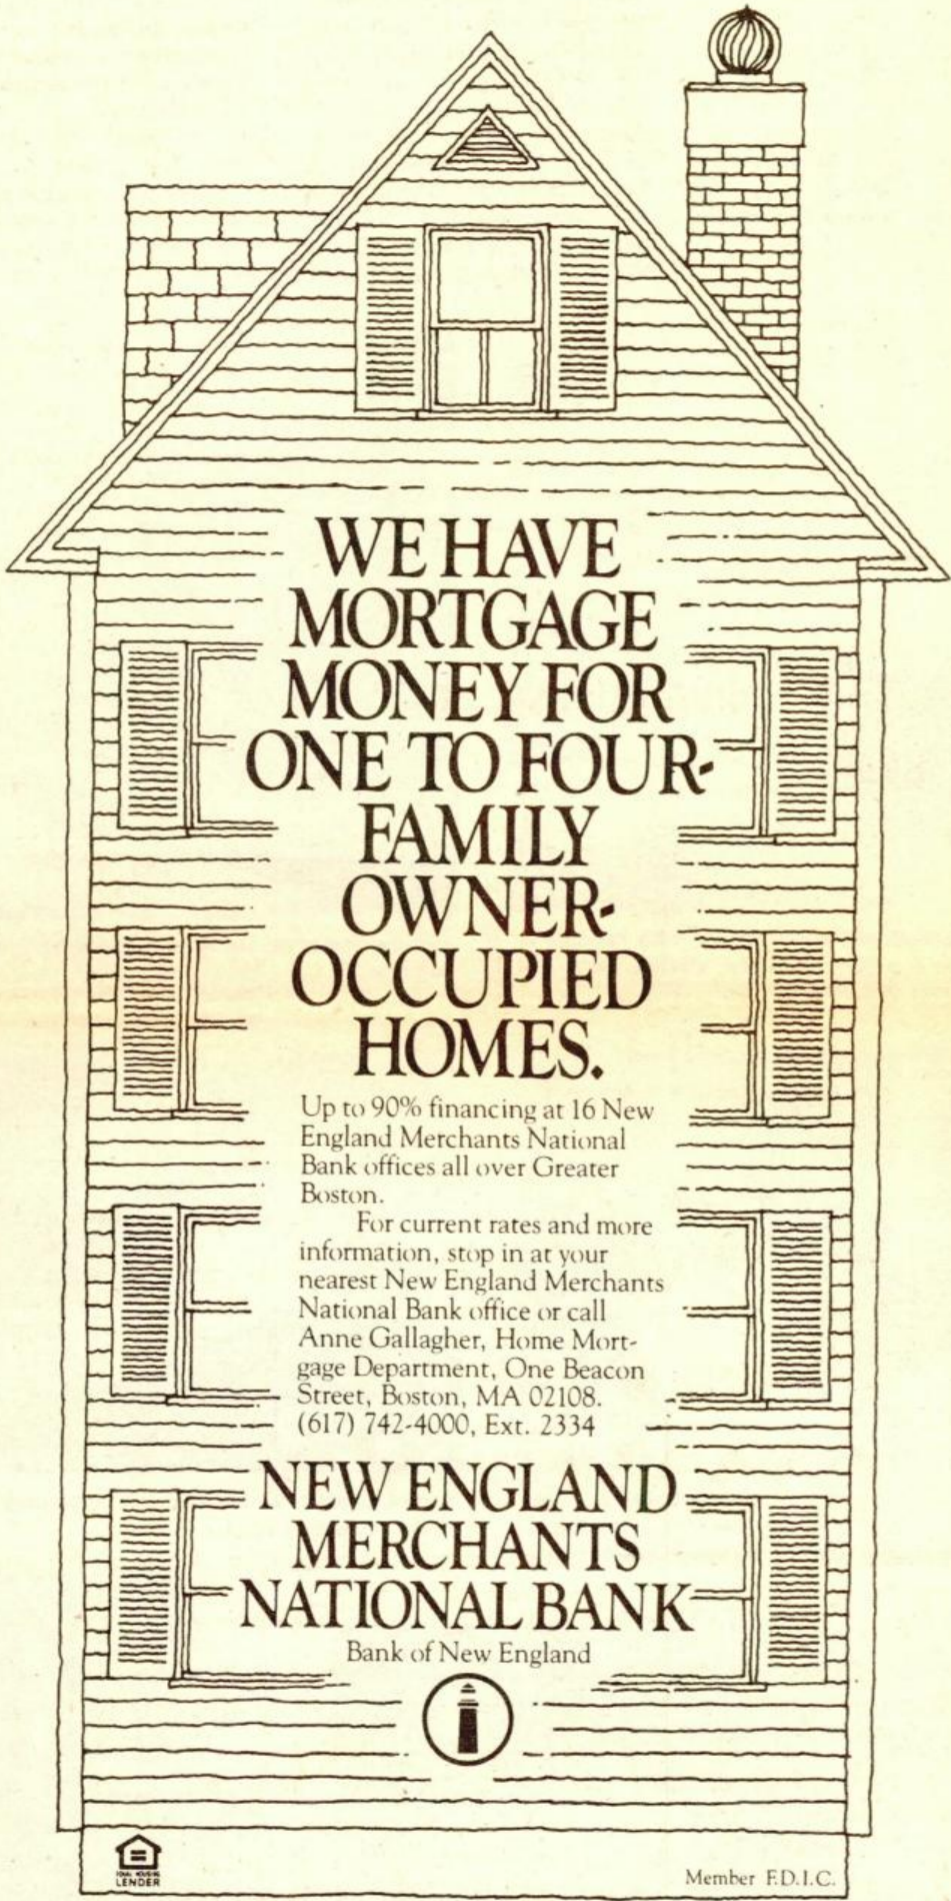

by Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D.

The most prevalent single cause of loss of teeth after age 35, is periodontal disease. The tissues within the mouth usually affected are the gums, the tissue that holds the teeth to the jaw bone and the bone itself. Dental research has estimated that at least one-tenth of the adults in this country need treatment for gum disorders. Curiously, over 30 percent more men than women lose their teeth because of periodontal diseases. First symptoms are often bleeding gums and/or some gum erosion. Initial treatment often consists of deep scaling and curetage which often is sufficient to halt the advance of periodontal disease and allow restoration.

New Elderly Apartments Mean New Lifestyle For Tenants

by Maria Girvin

Rose Calabresi has not been outside her apartment walls for two years.

She is a 65 year old woman who has become wheelchair bound following a stroke. Unfortunately for her, stairs led out of the back and front door of her apartment. She lives alone, so there was no one to help her outside. However, Rose's situation has changed. She has moved to the Mary S. Colbert Elderly Complex.

Like two other occupants, Rose's apartment is located on the bottom floor of the 30-unit elderly complex. There she and other first floor tenants can move freely about the floor and onto the complex grounds without assistance as the floor is especially designed for wheelchairs.

Her kitchen is designed with a lowered stove and sink with plenty of leg room underneath for wheelchair access. Rose will not have to eat cereal anymore because she can't reach the stove. Everything is new and clean and bright, unlike the restricting apartment she lived in before.

The complex used to be a grammar school of four floors. However, the school was redesigned into five floors, leaving existing windows and some original brick work intact.

Besides apartments, the Colbert Apartment residents will have a lounge for socializing, parties, or entertainment. A kitchen is included. There is also an in-house laundry room and an indoor courtyard with a giant skylight to let the sunshine in and keep hot air out. An elevator runs through the center of the complex.

Tenants are moving in now. They were chosen through a lottery system which took place last May. The three wheelchair apartment tenants are exceptions as they were asked to move in due to the lack of applications for these apartments, according to Peggy Donahue of the Kennedy Center.

Not only elderly persons will occupy the apartments but also disabled persons who also are on social security. Approximately 100 applications were received for the apartments; 50 still hope while waiting on a list.

On the open market the apartments are easily worth a $400 monthly rent. They are located on Devens Street in a quiet residential area. Top floor apartments overlook the Charlestown area with a breathtaking view of the USS Constitution and the Monument. The floors are carpeted and plenty of storage space has been provided, a must for persons who have had a lifetime to collect memorabilia and household items. The whole complex is air-conditioned, controllable by individual apartment thermostats.

But these residents will pay a rent of only 25% of their monthly SS income which averages around $2,400 to $4,000 per year. In addition they get a $20 reduction on their utilities.

Nearly all the residents of the new complex are from Charlestown and like Rose, they move with some anxiety as to what they will leave behind and what will lie ahead. "They tell me there's a lot of room," said Rose who at this writing had not seen her new apartment. "But if my stuff doesn't go, then I don't go." Rose has lived in her Monument Street house 35 years, raising two children. Her dining room wall had four stacks of packed boxes reaching the ceiling. "I feel kind of melancholy, I hate leaving this empty house, I love this place."

Nevertheless Rose looks forward to the new companions she will have. She will feel a new sense of security knowing that a reception desk is located on the second floor to screen visitors and emergency switches are at her fingertips in case she needs help.

And for a change, Rose can go outside.

ALL BATHROOMS are installed with railings in the shower but differ in layout, storage space and design features such as lighted mirrors and vanities.

A LOUNGE AREA is provided the Colbert Apartment's residents for socialization or entertainment. In addition, (r.) a small kitchenette has been installed adjacent to the lounge for food preparation if the occasion calls for it.

TOP FLOOR APARTMENTS are designed with original brick work left intact and a slanted ceiling. Swing windows can be easily opened and provide an aerial view of Charlestown as well as a cool breeze.

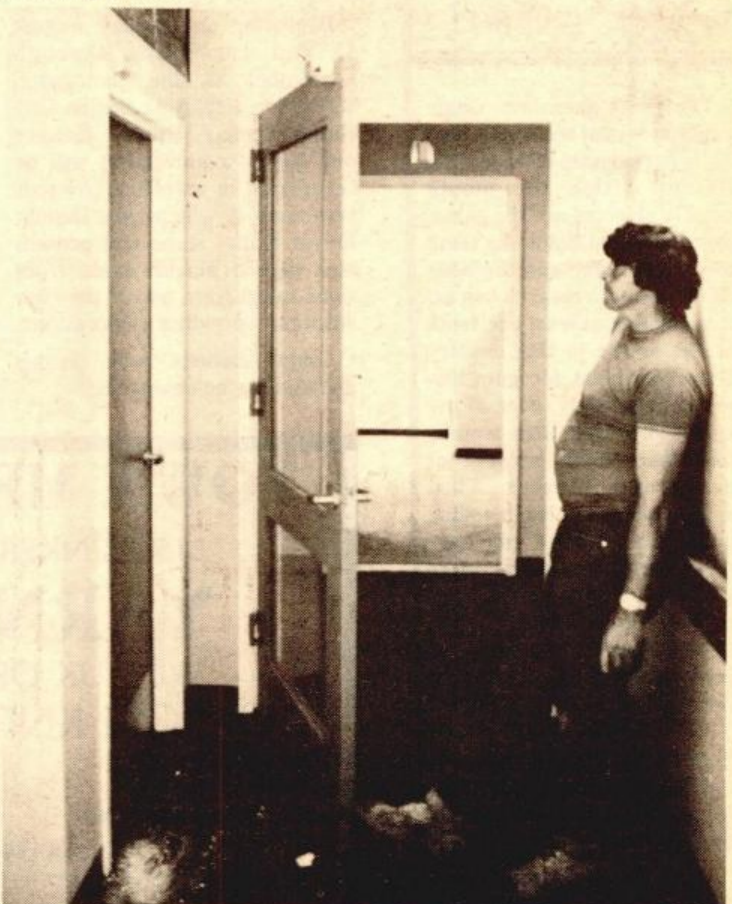

A WHEELCHAIR RAMP allows first floor residents to go outdoors when they wish, a luxury some wheelchair persons did not have before.

IN SOME APARTMENTS, such as this one, windows are only six inches above the carpeted floor. A simple catch allows them to open and close.

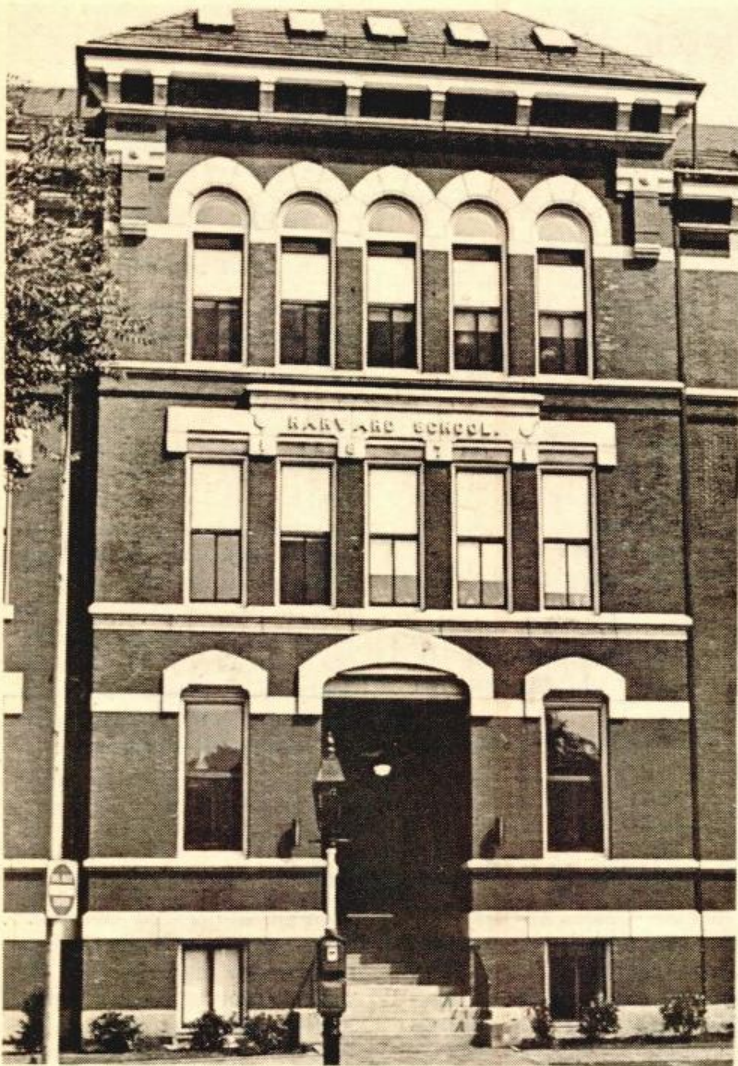

ENTRANCE to the apartment complex leads to a reception desk and a waiting room.

FIREDOORS are equipped with electric magnets designed to shut off when smoke is detected. This keeps smoke from entering other segments of the hallways and directs occupants to proper stairwells.

To Talk Of Many Things...

Wanted: Alive — Not Dead!

by Sal Giarratani

Over the last few weeks I have been writing on the dangers lurking with the passage of Proposition 2-1/2 this fall and how this tax limitation proposition will be harmful to taxpayers as well as home owners and renters. However, there is another greater evil lurking over the country and this is abortion - the ultimate form of child abuse. There have been 5,000 abortions a day...over 1 million per year...over 7 million since the Supreme Court decisions in 1973...and these are the "conservative" estimates! Yet these figures are only part of the story. For every child lost through abortion, a woman's life is destroyed too-for some, this destruction is literal; for others, the devastation is psychological, emotional and spiritual.

Pro-life forces scored a big victory when the U.S. Supreme Court this past June upheld the constitutionality of federal and state laws which restrict government-financed abortions. The Court heard the conscience of America and rejected the public policy of publicly-funded elective abortions. Whether one is liberal or conservative, rich or poor, black or white, man or woman, the people only want their tax dollars used for meaningful programs to aid the human needs of the poor.

The June 30, 1980 decision means that many members of the human family who otherwise would have been aborted will now have the chance to be born. The Court also upheld the principle that tax funds should be used to help and not to eliminate poor people and rejected the cost-benefit analysis which says that abortion is cheaper than allowing babies to be born and that because someone is poor, that person is not worthy of basic human rights.

The primary duty of government is to protect the most important of all rights-the right to life of all persons, whether rich or poor, wanted or unwanted, born or unborn.

In the debate surrounding efforts to halt public funds for abortions, the central issue-the obligation of government to protect the right to life has been obscured. Instead, the issue has been made into discrimination against the poor. If abortion is legal, poor women should be able to get one like rich women.

However, abortion is different from other medical procedures. Regardless of how euphemistically it is described (freedom of choice, a woman's right, reproductive freedom, etc.) abortion involves the purposeful termination of an innocent human life.

We may never know why and how abortion became as "American as apple pie" over the last dozen years. But one thing is certain, by continuing that effort to end our government's public policy of abortion on demand - despite setbacks and disappointments - the people speaking through and to their elected representatives can succeed in reversing the tragedy which has plagued us these many years.

As City Councilor Ray Flynn, the co-author of the Doyle-Flynn Amendment restricting state funds for abortion, says, "As in prior efforts, that task will be difficult and, at times seemingly endless, but its outcome is of vital and lasting significance both to those yet to be born and to the future of our country."

Kit Clark Senior House Honors Senior Volunteers

Kit Clark Senior House honored nearly 250 Senior Volunteers at its Second Annual Volunteer Recognition Party held recently at the historic Hall of Flags in the State House. Senior House Director Joseph Doolin, welcomed the Senior Volunteers and their guests, and praised them for their "unselfish dedication and significant contributions, which have contributed so much to the success of all the Senior House programs for the elderly. With your help, we have been able to provide protective and supportive services which have helped preserve the dignity and independence of so many of Boston's older citizens."

throughout Boston neighborhoods. Senior Volunteers assist nutrition staff members in helping to set tables, serve food, or by assisting senior participants in getting to the sites. Although the meal is a focal point, the sites offer more than just a meal. Senior volunteers aid staff members in the outreach services, as well as help to coordinate the educational, recreational, and social programs that Senior House also offers at each site.

Francis D. Doris. Entertainment and music for the festive occasion was provided by Sal Sava, assisted by Senior Volunteer Nellie Gorham of the famed "L" St. Seranaders.

The following volunteers were honored from Charlestown: from the Kent Community School Nutrition Site with Ethel Hazleton as site manager - Genevieve Zarzacki and Lyd Corbett. From the Rutherford Avenue Nutrition Site with Margaret Turner as Site Manager - Louise Shields, Ed Bowden, Phyllis Ward, Mae King, Alton Hunt, Ida Moore, George Carney, Helen Carney, and Anna Wilcox.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Secretary for Elder Affairs Thomas H.D. Mahoney, Ph.D.

The highest level of volunteerism can be seen in Senior House' Elderly Nutrition Project which offers a congregate meal at eighteen sites

Celebrates 85th Birthday

Letter To The Editor:

Robert Bradley, car mechanic and welder extraordinary, is a Charlestown institution and treasure. On August 1st, his 85th birthday, he came to my hayloft for lunch with his lovely young fan and assistant, Lauretta Nadeau.

As a birthday momento, Bob received seven copies of his life story. It tells of his boyhood in Charlestown, his adventures in WW I and his future careers. It was compiled on cold winter days during lunch when he needed "thawing" after his cold work in his shop on Mishawum Avenue. He began repairing cars there in 1919 - a span of 60 years into today where he still copes, and he taught welding to Navy personnel during WW II.

One future copy of his story will go to the Charlestown Library, another to St. Francis de Sales School. (Copies - 10 pages mimeo - may be obtained.)

People - wonderful people like Robert Bradley - are the real treasure in this messy world. Let us honor them.

Boys' Club News

Charlestown Clubhouse Through The Years

by Charlie McGonagle

As has been reported in this column periodically over the past few months, a Boys' Club Alumni Association is currently being formed under the leadership of Mr. Donald C. Murray.

Weekly, throughout the summer, we hope to promote membership in this new organization by printing some old photos of Boys' Club members engaged in various activities throughout the clubhouse.

Presently, Mr. Murray is interested in compiling a mailing list of former members who may be interested in becoming part of the Charlestown Boys' Club Alumni Association. You can become part of this list simply by calling Mr. Murray at 242-1775 and leaving the information with him or his secretary.

Present plans call for a gala dinner-dance at the Knights of Columbus during the month of October. More information on this affair will be forthcoming at the end of the summer season.

Most people familiar with Charlestown Boys' Club History associate the name of Bob Munstedt with the Bunker Hillbillies, and for good reason. This week's group of photos show Bob in another capacity as well, that of puppeteer and puppet maker.

The Hillbilly photos include Bob's first group from 1941, plus photos from the years 1955, 1956, 1958, 1959, and 1960.

Contracts Approved For MBTA Reconstruction

Two contract awards with a value of over $9.6 million for the reconstruction of the Green Line's Reservoir Station, bus turn around and ramps at Cleveland Circle and the renovation and reconstruction of a building to house light maintenance shops at the Charlestown Yards were authorized this week by the MBTA Board of Directors.

The successful low bidder for both contracts was J.F. White Contracting Company of Newton. The Reservoir bid was $5,566,415 and the Charlestown building bid was $4,096,238.

At Charlestown, Building 13 will be renovated and a 42-foot addition built to provide about 27,000 square feet of floor space. To be housed in the new facility will be the electrical shops, substation repair and power transmission/distribution shops, a chemical laboratory, a sign shop and a paint shop.

The contract also includes completion of the second floor area of the new McSweeney Bus Service and Storage Building, site improvements, lighting, drainage and incidental demolition work.

Charlestown Police Line

by Thomas Manning, District 15, B.P.D.

Monday, July 28, 1980

At 7:55 a.m., two masked men entered the International Ice Cream Company at 492 Rutherford Ave. and held ten people at bay while they forced one of the workers to open the safe. An undetermined amount of cash was removed from the safe. A Purolator van was used as the get-away vehicle. This vehicle was recovered on Mishawum Street a short time later. The van was finger printed by Detective Ryan of District 15 but to no avail. A detailed description of the two perpetrators was given to District Fifteen Detectives and the incident is under current investigation. This was the second time in a month that the International Ice Cream Co. was held up.

Wednesday, July 30, 1980

At 12:10 a.m., the L311A received a radio call to Decatur Street relative to an Armed Robbery and an assault with a deadly weapon. Upon arrival they spoke with a cab driver who stated that two unknown white males pulled a knife on him. One of them sliced him with the knife while the other one went through the cab driver's pockets. An undetermined amount of cash was taken. The cab driver was treated at M.G.H. for knife wounds. The incident is under current investigation.

At 1:15 a.m., while on routine patrol in the L301A, Officers Bollen and Britt observed two white males alighting from a late model blue station wagon. One of the suspects was carrying a large article. The suspects fled on foot. The officers pursued in their vehicle and apprehended one of the suspects. A large article was dropped in the pursuit. It was a large vacuum cleaner. The station wagon turned out to be stolen in Boston on 7-25-80.

At 10:30 p.m., the L311 with Officers Browning and White responded to 90 Old Ironsides Way relative to a man being shot. Upon arrival with Detectives Antonuccio and Ingemi in the L802, they observed a white male lying on his back. The Boston Fire Department had already arrived and were working on the victim, one Bart DiNovo of 132 Old Ironsides Way. He was treated at

M.G.H. for gunshot wounds to the neck and abdomen. He was pronounced dead at 11:40 p.m. The Homicide Unit is currently investigating the incident.

Thursday, July 31, 1980

At 2:25 a.m. Officers Bollen and Anderson received a radio call relative to gunshots being fired at 130 Old Ironsides Way. Three shots were fired through the windows at the above address. A suspect was seen, but fled on foot. Officers Bollen and Anderson gave chase but to no avail. They lost sight of him in the vicinity of 64 Old Ironsides Way. The shooting is under current investigation.

Friday, August 1, 1980

At 12:00 a.m., an employee of H.P. Hood Co at 500 Rutherford Avenue received a call from an unknown female who stated that a bomb would go off at 1:30 a.m.

Officers Greene and Rodday arrived on the scene and notified the bomb squad. Officers Manning and Flemming of the bomb squad made a diligent search of the area and found nothing in the form of a bomb. The employee that received the call stated that the caller sounded drunk on the phone.

At 2:19 a.m., Officers Langlois and Diminico received a radio call to 63 Winthrop Street relative to a man breaking into a motor vehicle. Upon arrival, they noticed the perpetrator alight from the m/v carrying a screwdriver. Officer Langlois recognized the suspect and sought complaints against him in court the next morning. The screwdriver was recovered about twelve feet from the motor vehicle. The ignition of the motor vehicle was damaged in suspected attempt to pop the ignition to start the car.

Emergency Appeal For Type O Blood Donors

An emergency appeal for type O blood donors has been issued by the American Red Cross Blood Services - Northeast Region.

The supply of type O blood in Massachusetts and Maine is at a dangerous level. The situation is critical, since scheduled donations will not be enough to meet patient needs this week.

Some 470 additional type O donors are needed by Friday, August 8, in order to avoid a region-wide crisis by the weekend.

This extremely dangerous situation has been caused by a tremendous increase in the use of type O blood over the past few weeks. Nearly half the population has type O blood, and it is the type most commonly transfused to accident and trauma victims.

Mayor White Urges MBTA To Continue Downtown Crossing Route

Mayor Kevin H. White today urged Acting MBTA Chairman Barry Locke to reconsider his decision to terminate bus service September 6 to the heart of the Downtown Crossing, one of the most innovative urban retail projects in the country.

The MBTA announced last week that it planned to eliminate Downtown Crossing stops on five bus routes including two in Charlestown.

Mayor White in a letter to Locke cited increased ridership figures, up 2,277 riders, or a 61 percent rise, and the substantial public and private investment in the area as significant reasons for reconsideration of the service cut.

Mayor White pledged cooperation in resolving any problems connected with continued bus service.

"I am aware of construction projects," he said, "especially the Lafayette Place and South Station Developments that may impact bus operations. I assure you that scheduling will be developed with the highest concern for efficient bus operations."

Elimination of this service will impact merchants' sales figures in the area and thus may reduce sales tax revenues to the state. In fact, several out-of-state franchise firms have located within the area, of which both the state and this administration can be proud."

Mayor White listed other considerations, too.

-These buses serve close-in neighborhoods which are within the Market area; but because they are not on the rapid transit line, they will not have a one seat ride downtown. Their trips are relatively short and transfer time from bus to train becomes a high percentage of their total trip time.

-Bus patrons will have to walk to Downtown Crossing or transfer to the subway. The elderly, handicapped, those with small children and those with shopping packages will find it a very difficult journey.

-Bus patrons will have to pay $1.50 round trip for a ride currently costing $.50. This results in a fare increase of 200% and additional time to make the same trip.

-If the termination occurs, there will be a loss of 6,021 daily riders to the heart of Downtown Crossing.

-Even though the MBTA has had some shift in ridership from subway to bus, there are 1,108 new net fares daily gained by the service since 1978 - a 30% increase.

-Regarding the MBTA's cost concerns, an examination of the increase in fares collected and the increased costs between 1979 and 1980 indicate that for these new riders, the MBTA nets $1.00 for every dollar expended on the route extensions.

Mayor White added, "Regarding your concern that bridge weight limits will restrict access for buses, my staff has investigated this situation. Immediate solutions that will enable safe passage by the buses, will be implemented."

BHCC And Honeywell In Co-operative Program

Bunker Hill Community College in Boston and Honeywell have jointly announced the formation of a "classroom in the factory" venture designed to benefit the state, the company, the college and all who enroll in the program.

The project came about as a result of Governor Edward J. King's call for increased cooperation between industry and higher education.

Honeywell, which is the first high technology industry in the state to respond to the governor's request, will donate the test equipment to be used in the classroom.

Currently being conducted at Honeywell's Brighton facility, the pilot project enables 20 employees to attend class Monday through Friday for four hours and then spend four hours working. The program will train Honeywell employees to become skilled technicians for a full array of Honeywell's family of small computer systems and terminals. Upon completion of the seven-month program, the trainees will receive both a certificate from Honeywell and 35 full college credits from BHCC. The modular organization of the program means that qualified employees can bypass courses with which they are already familiar.

Because the training program is a cooperative venture, Honeywell and BHCC will share the costs.
