GRANITE SINK

BARENO is proud to have Schock as its manufacturing partner for granite sinks. Schock was the first in the world to produce granite sinks, beginning with the Cristalite line, which is currently Schock's basic line of granite sinks. These granite sinks are made of quartz, the hardest constituent of granite. As the leading manufacturer and innovator in granite sink production technology, Schock has developed its own proprietary techniques to manufacture granite sinks with extremely smooth and silky surface, presently found as the only manufacturer worldwide in their Cristadur line. The Cristadur line also features Schock's in-house developed Nano-Clean effect, able to repel water off the sink's surface, similar to that of lotus leaves.

To cater to the tastes of those who prefer a more countryside look, the Cristastone line features a natural stone look. All Schock sinks are highly durable, easy to clean and are anti-bacterial, using silver ions to prevent bacterial growth. Schock is renowned for its unusual array of colours used in their granite sinks. To demonstrate their granite sinks' resistance to everyday wear and ability to repel stains and dirt, Schock has produced granite sinks in light colours, such as Pietra, Polaris and Casablanca.

Stainless Steel 304 Sinks

BARENO has selected Gorlde to manufacture its stainless steel kitchen sinks. Gorlde is the second best manufacturer of stainless steel sinks in China. Due to its excellent quality, it was bought over by Kohler company of USA two years ago, and has now become number one in China. To set new standards in the market, all Bareno stainless steel sinks are made using SUS304 grade stainless steel imported from Taiwan and Japan, and boast thicknesses ranging from 0.8mm to 1.5mm, which is the recommended thickness for daily kitchen use. Bareno stainless steel sinks also come with thoughtful features, such as sound-deadening pads under the sink (to soften the noise of water dripping into the sink), an environment-friendly layer of anti-condensation coating underneath the sink (to prevent water droplets forming when cold food is placed in the sink), as well as a range of accessories to complement your sink's everyday functionality.
