Employment Assistance Available With Opening Of Charlestown JobStart

by Mary Ziniti

"One of the greatest challenges we face is in developing job training and referral programs to help those at the bottom of the economic ladder in our City. JobStarts are a key part of our plan to make sure that Boston residents do not get left behind in the rapidly changing economy of the future," said Mayor Raymond L. Flynn on August 1, as he opened the Charlestown JobStart, the first of seven JobStarts in Boston.

As part of the Boston For Boston initiative, the JobStart will link neighborhood residents to the first opportunity for new jobs being created in downtown Boston over the next five years. The ribbon cutting ceremony for this JobStart was held at the office of the Bunker Hill Tenants' Task Force at 76 Monument

Mishawum Park Has Not Been Sold

Reports were circulating among tenants of the Mishawum Park housing development this past week that the housing had been sold to The Flatley Company and was to be converted into condominiums.

A spokesperson from Phipps Management, who manages the Mishawum property, stated, "There is no truth to the rumor."

Rumors were accelerated when men were seen on the property taking measurements. The management company stated that representatives of the City of Boston Assessing Department were on the grounds this week measuring the buildings as part of the City's annual re-evaluation survey.

A representative of The Flatley Company stated that their firm had not purchased the development nor were there any plans to do so.

When Is It Going To Stop? ? ? ?

RESIDENTS have come to travel Green Street holding their noses. The leak in the street has created a waterway of sewage for almost two months. Not only is the stench unbearable, but residents utilizing the Charlestown Branch Library must cross through this waste water — some have even had their clothing soaked by the splashing from passing cars. Also, children going to the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club have been seen paddling in the puddles — some barefoot! Whatever the problem, it should be repaired — and repaired immediately. The health of the residents is at stake and two months is too long for this community to wait for this leak to be repaired. (photo by Skippy)

Parcel P-2A To Be Discussed At Housing And Development Meeting

Abutters and residents interested in the development of Parcel P-2A at the intersection of Bunker Hill and Main Streets are urged to attend a meeting of the Housing and Development Committee of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council. The meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, August 20 at the Charlestown Working Theater, 442 Bunker Hill Street.

Committee Chairman Tom Cunha announced that the four developers who have submitted proposals for this parcel — Conroy Development, Crowninshield Corporation, Gate Five Associates and Myerson/Allen and Company will be on hand. He stated that the objective of this meeting will be to solicit input and questions from the abutters, which the prospective developers will be asked to address at future meetings.

Cunha stated that he will designate two sub-committees, with one committee conducting a design review and the second committee dealing with such issues as parking, open space and amenities.

He said that following this meeting, four separate meetings, one with each of the four developers, are planned to take place during September. According to Cunha, the Housing and Development Committee will select a preferred developer for the parcel by early October.

The public is welcome to attend.

WHEN IT'S TIME TO MOVE

As we go through life, situations change, and as they do, our housing needs change, too. We get married, expand our families, get promotions that involve cross country moves, and send children off to college and careers. Any of these changes can make you re-examine your current housing situation and may even trigger a move.

When it's time to sell your home or to purchase a new one, the first crucial step is to contact a professional Realtor to help you assess your situation. What is your home worth? Would it be better to sell it now or to keep the house and rent it out? What cost effective fix-ups should you make before marketing the property? If you're moving to a new city, how can you contact a Realtor there to introduce you to the community and help you find the perfect new home in a neighborhood that meets your needs? With our professional training, experience and expertise, Realtors are especially equipped to help you answer these types of questions. We will work to make your move go as smooth as possible.

Charlestown Neighborhood Council Update . . .

by Mary Ziniti

The Neighborhood Council held its general meeting this past Tuesday evening at the Knights of Columbus Hall, a meeting that was less well attended and somewhat less volatile than others held over the last few weeks. At the August 4 gathering, the Council reviewed and voted on committee business, concerns of the few citizens present, listened to a presentation concerning Maritime Economy Reserve (MER) zones, and voted that no smoking be allowed at any future meetings.

Although the meeting up to this point was relatively quiet, Charlestown resident Patricia Ward attempted to hold a one-on-one discussion with John Tobin, chairman of the Council. Tobin said he would speak with her after the meeting, but she said she wanted the discussion in public. "I don't think you have the right to even be on this Board with a conflict of interest," she stated.

After the meeting, Ward explained that Tobin is representing a client that she is taking to court over some land that she received from the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA). She also said that either Tobin should not represent people where the BRA is involved or he should not be on the Council.

Tobin refused to respond to Ward's accusations during the meeting.

Towards the conclusion of the meeting, Ward spoke again to the Council, criticizing them as well as the BRA. Ward said that she regrets missing many meetings through the years, but now the Council would be hearing from her. "I resent the fact that this is a quasi-town meeting," she said adding that any decisions that the Council will be making should be shelved until the fall elections when some "real representation gets up here in front of us, not hand picked people."

Ward concluded by saying that Pier 5 should be left as open space. "Everybody wants to make a big buck, the Navy Yard is turning into Las Vegas," she said.

A presentation of the proposed Marine Economy Reserve (MER) zone, mapping out the maritime industrial waterfront, was made by Lorraine Downey, chairperson of the Harbor Park Advisory Committee. Downey said that the support of the community through the Council for the "MER concept" was necessary so that the BRA Board would vote the approval of the designation of land at their August 13 meeting. She said that the main intent of the MER is to "keep the port working," to preserve the zone for maritime-dependent industrial use. Downey added that they don't want residential development to be built in these areas in the future, because those residents may then decide to prevent any future maritime uses.

According to a Boston Shipping Association, Inc. letter that Downey distributed to Council members, the proposed MER zones in Charlestown include: Mystic Piers 1, 48-50, Catalano Brothers Trucking, US Gypsum, Moran Terminal, former Schiavone Shipping site, Charlestown Commerce Center, Atlantic Cement, Somerville Lumber, former Revere Sugar site and Amstar Sugar.

Downey added that this area will be excluded from the re-zoning of Charlestown that will be done at a later date. The only future construction to occur within the zone would be of maritime structures and the Town would have to approve them. As of now, height restrictions are not an issue, she said. Tobin pointed out the codes may be amended by the Council at a later time if changes are needed. With only Council member Stephen McHugh abstaining, the Council voted to inform the BRA Board of their support for the MER concept.

Reports and recommendations of three sub-committees — Housing and Development, Basic Services and Planning and Zoning, were presented to the Council.

Tom Cunha, Housing and Development Chairman reported that the Committee met five times over the last few weeks. He said that they endorsed a Massport request to grant a one-year lease to International Salt to store road salt in the former Revere Sugar Refinery. Stipulations attached to this endorsement were that Massport come back to the community at the end of the lease for review unless any problems arise along the way. The Council then voted to endorse this request and a letter to this effect will be sent to the Massport Board. Again, McHugh was recorded as abstaining.

An informational meeting was held by the Committee with Jeff Stonburg, owner of the former Nancy Sales Building at which no specific proposals were presented for the structure. Cunha informed the Council that residential planning for this building has been "discarded" and that without any "guarantees," Stonburg would like it to be "a light commercial development." Neither the Committee nor the Council took action, since no proposal had been made.

Additionally, Cunha reported that a meeting was held with the four developers interested in Parcel P-2A, located at the intersection of Bunker Hill and Main Streets, allowing them this opportunity to present their plans to the community. He recommended that these four proposals be tabled as the Committee has not selected any to recommend at this time for Council action.

Cunha added that an August 20th meeting will be held with the developers and abutters to the property followed by a series of meetings with each developer separately, which he expects to continue through September.

Cunha informed the Council that the Housing and Development Committee also held two separate meetings to discuss the designs of Building 197 and Pier 5 in the Navy Yard, as proposed by The Raymond Group. The Committee has not voted on Pier 5 yet as it remains on "the back burners," but they did endorse the design of Building 197 in an 8 to 3 vote. The Council voted to send a letter to the BRA Board endorsing the design of Building 197. Council members Kathryn Downing and McHugh voted "no" on this issue.

Cunha concluded his report by praising Council member Mike Powers, who will be resigning his position so that he may run for the Boston School Committee, for all the work he has done on the Council including chairing the Development Committee, as well as taking the minutes of the Council meetings and typing them. In stating that he served the Board well, Cunha asked that the Council give Powers a vote of confidence which was approved unanimously.

Other reports included those of Moe Gillen, Chairman of the Basic Services Committee, who reported on the status of the street cleaning process and the towing of illegally parked cars (see related story on page 7) and Dennis McLaughlin, Chairman of the Planning and Zoning Committee who outlined the organization of the new Committee.

McLaughlin said that Council members wishing

Commemorative Plaque Installed To Mark Site Of British Landing

In the northeast corner of Charlestown, between the old Salem Turnpike (now Chelsea Street) and Boston Harbor, lies Moulton's Point, one of the most significant but little known locations in American history.

The area was named for one of its original owners, Robert Moulton, a land owner, shipbuilder, and Representative of Charlestown's First General Court, who died in 1655. It was at this site, on June 17, 1775, where British troops first landed for the assault on a group of rebellious colonial troops entrenched in the breastworks atop Breed's Hill. This event was recorded historically as the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Twenty-five years later, in 1800, the United States Government purchased a tract of land, including Moulton's Point, for the building of the United States Naval Shipyard at Charlestown. During the year 1904-1905, a three story structure (Building 105) was constructed on Moulton's Point, to house the Chain Forge Shop of the Navy Yard.

Some years later, history was again made on this site, when in 1926 two Navy Yard employees, A.M. Leahy and Dr. Charles G. Lutts, invented the method of Die-Lock chain-making, revolutionizing the construction of chain throughout the world. This Die-Lock process combined half-links of chain via interlocking grooves, which were then forged together, making this type of chain twice as strong and durable as conventionally welded chain.

Shortly after the City of Boston's Tercentenary in 1930, a bronze plaque was placed on the southern wall of the Chain Forge facing First Avenue, to commemorate the site where the British troops first landed for the assault on Breed's Hill in 1775. This plaque was still proudly displayed on the building when the Navy Yard was closed by the Federal government on July 1, 1974. Soon after the Yard's closing the original plaque was placed into storage as a part of the National Park Services' Archives Collection in Building 125.

A PLAQUE MARKING the site on Moulton's Point where the British landed and prepared for their assault during the Battle of Bunker on June 17, 1775 was unveiled recently in the Charlestown Navy Yard. This is a temporary marker and the original plaque, which is being preserved by the National Park Service, will be installed at this location following the renovation of Building 105, the Chain Forge Building. Shown (l. to r.) David Francis, President of The Raymond Group; John Debo, Assistant Superintendent of the Boston National Historical Park; Joe Kent, Community Liaison for the Boston Redevelopment Authority; and John Leigh, Director of Harbor Planning and Development for the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

Touring the Yard in 1985, a former Navy Yard worker, who wishes to remain unnamed, marveled at the site's impressive redevelopment, but was dismayed that the commemorative plaque was no longer displayed at the Chain Forge. Some time later, on May 13, 1987, the former Navy Yard worker was invited, along with other former employees of the Yard, to attend a luncheon celebrating the grand opening of the Raymond Group's redeveloped Building 149. At this luncheon, during a conversation with Mayor Raymond L. Flynn, the gentleman mentioned the missing plaque and its background. The Mayor asked Boston Redevelopment Authority Director Stephen Coyle to look into the matter, and the original plaque was quickly located.

Through the efforts of the dedicated Navy Yard worker, Mayor Flynn, and the many parties involved, a new plaque was created and placed on the Chain Forge Building re-commemorating this historic site. This new plaque will serve as a temporary marker until the original plaque can be re-attached in its former position, once the redevelopment of the Chain Forge Building is completed.

Life Behind The Wall

Park Service employees were busily patrolling their geographic jurisdiction with their Cushman vehicles. These mini-waste removal units allow for a more efficient and compact method of maintaining the heavily travelled pedestrian trails. Able to negotiate cramped locations, they are worth their capital outlay. As always, the area is well managed and the lawns meticulously manicured.

Orange Man's Day was celebrated last month in Ireland, with its annual parade and tensions. Our version is again about land boundaries, but in a more positive and happier climate. Surrounding the dirt mound at the affordable housing site, the durable orange plastic guard rails are conspicuously in place. The activity is increasing at an increasing rate with prospective owners waiting, with their talisman working overtime.

As the evening lazily grew old, a Massachusetts registered vehicle entered the Shipway Marina. Without attention to the numerous bright warning signs, it proceeded past and over the spiked footing. An overture of punctured tires echoed their hiss loudly. A costly miscalculation, which could have been avoided with a cursory glance at the signs. Once again, vehicle traffic, beware of the spikes that will not only flatten your radials, but will deflate your purse strings.

Pier 8 was the venue for a United States Post Office and New England Telephone research and development conference on an ideal summer night. The Research and Development was "Townie"-inspired, a radical change from the conventional type. Our postmaster, Bob Rooney, was jauntily walking the promenade with sight selection in his plans. To have zip codes by the Harbor, intrigue his strategy. One only hopes to have his presence when the Yard is completed. New England Telephone acting foreman, Ed Doherty, was enthralled by the recently completed scenes on Constellation Wharf as well as the Marina Complex. He certainly would exchange his underground splicing chamber for the view on the water. At this time, Ed, only an abundance of new orders will return you to your beloved community. At any rate, Ed looks forward to the public pool arrival to sharpen his swimming prowess taught at the fabled Charlestown Boys' Club. Yes, folks, we had separate facilities for the girls in Ed's era. Separate but equal, let the participants make the judgment.

Freshly installed sod graced the Ninth Street side of The Anchorage. What a pleasant appearance in this viable community. Just remember not to attempt your putting skills on the recently finished professionally landscaped project.

Was the group of visitors from Phoenix? Or were they confusing their phonetics. Hailed by the tour director, he inquired about Ruffin's, reported as a fine restaurant in the vicinity. I can direct you to Roughan's, which no doubt translates to Ruffin's. I should have known his request instantly, the son of a student who had Pappa Hawes for typing at Charlestown High, circa 1920, must remember history.

Boston's Public Safety Organization was deploying all its skills on July 29 to contain a fire in the northern section of the Yard. First Avenue was covered with fire equipment to extinguish the fire in an abandoned structure. The Basilica development nearby was out of harm's way. A vigil was held until the area was declared safe by the command staff. The response time was unknown; but with future residential and commercial sectors populating, time is of the essence. Let's hope that the City '89 operating budget will allay our fears with a permanent fire house in the Yard.

Kennedy Center Elections Are Coming!

The Kennedy Center is now recruiting men and women interested in volunteering for the Board of Directors. The Center provides a variety of services for Charlestown residents including Headstart, Day Care, Homemaking, the Senior Lounge, Youth programs, employment counseling and job training and referral, drug and alcohol treatment, individual and family counseling, information and referral, advocacy, surplus food and fuel assistance.

The Board of Directors is responsible for overall policy making for the agency. Duties of individual members include attendance at monthly Board meetings and membership on one of the standing committees. The committees are: Finance and Personnel, Membership, Fundraising and Program Development. The committees generally meet no more than once a month.

Individuals with a particular interest or skill relating to one or more of the committees or any of the agency programs are encouraged to consider running for election to the Board. The active participation of community people is necessary for a strong and healthy agency, responsive to community concerns.

Elections for the Kennedy Center/APAC will be held September 15. The Board of Directors consists of 14 members, eight of whom are elected by Charlestown residents. The term of office is two years. Each year, four of the eight seats are up for election or reelection. This year, the four seats include one in each of Precincts 1, 4 and 5 as well as one for the community at-large.

In order to be eligible for the ballot, prospective candidates must file nomination papers containing the signatures of 20 residents from the candidate's preinct. Candidates must be 18 years old and may not be a member of the immediate family of any employee of the Kennedy Center or of ABCD, Boston's CAP agency.

Nomination papers may be picked up at 27 Winthrop

Street after 10:00 a.m. on August 14. They must be returned by 5:00 p.m., August 26.

Arts Group Conducting Activities At Doherty Playground

Very Special Arts Massachusetts is conducting art activities at the Doherty Playground on Bunker Hill Street this summer, under a contract with the City's Parks and Recreation Department, according to Program Coordinator Dan Wiener. Although they are currently scheduling children, teens, and adults with disabilities into these programs, they are meant to integrate individuals with special needs with neighborhood residents and other park users. "The arts can be a great way to celebrate our differences and also our similarities," said Wiener, who added, "We can all feel good about ourselves when we succeed at something. When someone forms a lump of clay or bangs on a drum, there are no wrong answers — only solutions."

Programs involving activities like kite and banner making, clay, recycled sculptures, and home-made toys are conducted by artists each of whom works three times per week at the Doherty Playground.

August activities at the Doherty Playground include "Wind, Water, Words and Wild!" — puppets, wind toys, costumes, bubbles and wearable art with Denise Audy and Angela Kimberk on Mondays from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.; Tuesdays from 10:00 a.m. to noon; Wednesdays from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.; and Fridays from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The group will also conduct a Very Special Arts Festival at the Doherty Playground on Wednesday, September 2 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. where artists will come together with neighborhood residents, child care centers, and individuals with special needs to conduct workshops, perform, march in parade, and release hundreds of balloons to end the festivities.

Schedules of activities are available at the park, or by calling Very Special Arts at 350-7713 or 770-7489.

Compliance With Parking Prohibition For Street Cleaning To Be Enforced

by Mary Ziniti

The Basic Services Committee of the Neighborhood Council held a meeting recently at the Charlestown High School to discuss the street cleaning process that will be implemented in the Town over the next few weeks, as well as other traffic issues.

Michael Collins, the principal traffic investigator for the City of Boston said that signs will be posted during the next few weeks from Green Street to City Square, excluding the Navy Yard and streets under construction, to notify residents when to move their vehicles so that the Department of Public Works may sweep.

He said that after the signs are posted, meter maids will "courtesy tag" unmoved vehicles for two weeks, thus notifying residents that they must move their cars for the next cleaning day. After the two week period, starting around August 19, the City will begin to enforce the towing of illegally parked vehicles.

Towing, itself, became a hot issue of discussion when Public Works Department personnel Tommy Donahue and Ernie Oaks complained that they have a difficult time when they sweep the streets because parked cars block the way. Committee member Peter McClure asked a why Boston has a problem with ticketing and towing when Cambridge has a "clear" system of car removal. Karen Anderson, director of Public and Community Affairs for the City's Transportation Department, said that there are two reasons the towing process is hindered. One is "a question of resources" since the City only owns 17 tow trucks and the other problem is that they must get approval to tow from a police officer, with the rank of sergeant or higher, she said.

Additionally, Collins said that there are problems because the community thinks it is "Gestapo" tactics to tow their cars. McClure suggested that the City tow randomly on a "shock basis" to get the seriousness of the parking problems across to residents. He added that this wouldn't be an "evil" gesture.

According to Collins, the cost for the City tow is $12.50, while a private tow costs $40. Anderson said that for the City's cost to increase, the Legislature would have to vote approval. Any revenues collected from towing practices are deposited into a general fund, she added.

In addition to establishing a regular cleaning schedule for most of Charlestown, the Traffic Department officials addressed the conflict between trash-day and sweeping. Anderson said that although collection days vary from neighborhood to neighborhood, an effort will be made to sweep streets the day or two after the garbage trucks have made their rounds. Donahue added that problems occur now because too many residents throw their trash into the street expecting the sweeper to dispose of any garbage that was missed during collection time.

Anne Lyons of Nearin Row requested that a street cleaning/no-parking sign be posted on her street. However, Collins pointed out that this is already a fire lane where parking is prohibited at all times, so no signs will be posted on any fire lane streets. He added that a sign listing days of restricted parking due to sweeping may lead residents to think they could really park at other times, but the streets will be swept, he said.

Another resident complained to the traffic officials that Common Street, although known for years as a one-way, has too many people parking and traveling down it the wrong way. Collins said that he would research the correct direction status of this street and post the needed signs to correct the situation.

Other general questions that residents posed to Collins included the handling of abandoned cars and contesting parking tickets that residents believe were given unfairly. Collins said that any abandoned vehicles should be reported to the police who will handle the proper process of tagging the vehicles with a warning notice and then towing those not removed. He also informed the audience that parking ticket appeals may be directed to the Parking Clerk's Office by calling the phone number provided on all tickets.

Collins concluded by saying that the Public Works Department requested that Tuesday continue as the cleaning day for streets including Medford, Monument, Tufts, Decatur, Corey, and Walford Way.

to be members of this committee must submit their names to Judy Evers of Neighborhood Services, who also acts as the Council's secretary. He added that interested residents may also join the panel that will be established to participate in future planning and zoning decisions, although only Council members may vote. He recommended that Charlestown organizations select one representative as a delegate to this new Committee.

At the conclusion of the Committee reports, the discussion was opened to the community to voice concerns they may have on various issues. A question was raised by Charlestown resident Ann Considine regarding the status of Parcel R-87, at the intersection of Prospect and Tremont Streets, to which Jim English, deputy director of Harbor Planning and Development for the BRA, said Developer's Kits have not yet been prepared for this parcel.

Additionally, Bobby Wallace requested that the Council move to close a trash transfer facility loca-

Planning And Zoning Committee To Hold Initial Meeting August 12

Dennis McLaughlin, Chairman of the Planning and Zoning Committee of the Neighborhood Council, has announced that the first meeting of this committee will be held on Wednesday evening, August 12 at 7:00 p.m. at the Boston Redevelopment Authority Offices, Building 34, Charlestown Navy Yard.

McLaughlin stated that individuals interested in the planning and zoning process for Charlestown are invited to attend. He did suggest that if an organization wishes to be represented on this committee that they delegate one person to serve as their representative.

The agenda for this meeting, according to McLaughlin, will include developing an agenda and determining a meeting site and schedule. He said that there will also be a preliminary discussion as to the planning and zoning strategies for the community.

ted adjacent to the Gilmore Bridge. He particularly noted the bad odor given off by the facility and the rodents "that run towards Charlestown, not Cambridge." McHugh also pointed out an additional potential health and safety hazard by bringing to the Council's attention news of a coal burning electric facility to be built in Everett on the Mystic River, in close proximity to the gas tanks. It was suggested that both these issues be addressed by the Basic Services Committee.

Before the Council went into executive session, two orders of new business were addressed. At the request of many residents, Cunha asked Evers to look into the possibility of having the City printer produce name plates for Council members to place in front of them at meetings. The other matter involved Tobin appointing Steven Spinetto to organize the Neighborhood Council elections to be held in the Fall, at which time a member will be elected to the Council from each of the town's seven precincts.

NPS Under Orders From State To Remove Creosote Pilings On Pier 2

The Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE) has ordered the National Park Service to remove 84 pilings from the reconstruction site at Pier Two in the Charlestown Navy Yard. Installed this past winter, these pilings are coated with creosote, a toxic substance used as a wood preservative.

A containment boom was placed in the water in February at the request of the Coast Guard to contain and absorb the creosote runoff. On July 17th, DEQE issued a Notice of Noncompliance to the Park Service citing them for failure to obtain state or federal permits for the work and stating that "the creosote entering Boston Harbor from the pilings constituted a violation of water quality standards for waters of the Commonwealth."

A spokesperson from DEQE said that they expect the Park Service to "pull the pilings," noting that enforcement actions can be taken by that agency for noncompliance.

John Debo, assistant superintendent of the Park Service, stated that they are taking steps to comply with DEQE and that a new containment boom is in the process of being installed, scheduled to be completed by the middle of next week.

He said that the Park Service has ten days to comply with the containment order from DEQE and 30 days to commence the dismantling of the pier. Debo said that they will be asking for a meeting with DEQE to discuss the removal of the pilings, although, he stated, other alternatives in solving the containment problem are being sought.

Boston City Councillor Michael McCormack, whose order of June 3rd called for an investigation into the creosote emissions in the Navy Yard, stated that the City Council's Committee on Environmental Affairs will conduct a public hearing on this matter in the City Council Chambers on Wednesday, August 12 at 10:00 a.m. McCormack said that the Coast Guard, DEQE, the Park Service and the Environmental Protection Agency will be invited.

McCormack stated, "I agree with DEQE that the pilings should come out. The creosote jeopardizes the health of Charlestown children using the sailing program on the adjacent pier. Simply stated," he said, "There is nothing good about creosote. It is toxic, carries carcinogens and should be removed."

Local Construction Contractors Encouraged To Attend Massport Workshop

In an effort to encourage local contractors to bid on Massachusetts Port Authority (Massport) construction jobs, the agency is sponsoring a workshop on Massport bidding procedures and requirements on Tuesday, August 11 at the Logan Airport Hilton at 9:30 a.m. Citing the current residential sound insulation program as a prime example of available opportunities for local contractors, Aviation Director Patrick B. Moscaritolo said that the seemingly complicated task of preparing bid documents should not deter local companies from bidding on Massport jobs.

Massport Engineer Lois Champy said that this workshop will use the residential sound insulation program as the model for discussion.

The workshop will provide details on the project, explain how to pre-qualify to meet bidding requirements, discuss the formation of joint ventures for a bid, and other relevant information.

The Clerk of the works will be present along with Massport engineering and aviation staff. For further information, contact Ardis Stiffler at 561-1657 or Lois Champy at 973-5346.

tion for unemployed and under-employed Boston residents.

Staffed by employment counselors and placement specialists, JobStart offers services including: counseling, training referrals, GED/high school diploma and financial aid information, resume preparation, and interviewing skills. Boston Community Schools outreach workers will refer young people seeking jobs to the JobStart office.

A major goal of the JobStart program is to place Boston residents in 50 per cent of new jobs created in the downtown area resulting from the increasing number of construction development and new businesses. It is estimated that the current and planned development projects will create approximately 30,000 new jobs over the next five years. Of these, 15,000 jobs will be targeted for Boston residents.

Charlestown residents will soon join in the search for these 15,000 available positions now that the local JobStart office has opened. Speaking at Saturday's ceremonies, Tom Cunha, president of CEDC said that the JobStart program allows for the opportunity to fulfill a mandate that the CEDC Board set two years ago. "We're building affordable housing and now we can create jobs," he added. Cunha continued by introducing the Mayor, stating that "his (Flynn's) administration, is an administration for the neighborhoods."

In his remarks to the gathering, Flynn said that this employment program sends forth a message that "while we move forward with Boston's healthy economy," JobStarts will provide an economic bridge to the surrounding neighborhood communities. He added that presently, the number of Bostonians taking advantage of the economic boom is small.

While the Mayor said that the decision has to be made "today" that "we'll work hard so that every person in this community will get a job if they want one," he especially stressed the importance of finding employment for the young people of the Boston communities. He said that he sees too many young people standing on street corners, not participating.

One such young person who has already had some success with a community jobs' program is Charlestown resident Kim Robinson. Robinson said that when she graduated from Somerville High School in 1985 and realized she didn't have any job skills, she turned to Joe McDonough of the Tenants' Task Force to seek some employment advice. He directed her to Training, Incorporated where for three months she took a number of classes including math, English, typing, filing and accounting. Now two jobs later, Robinson told the crowd that she works at a large, downtown insurance agency. She also said that there are "plenty of (job) opportunities for anybody who wants them."

Also speaking at the ceremonies was Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini, who, like many of the others that spoke, voiced high expectations and success for the JobStart program. He, too, noted the importance of "filtering" Boston's economic prosperity throughout the neighborhood communities. Travaglini pointed out that as the development of Boston continues, the (Flynn) administration has guaranteed jobs for the community before any new construction projects are built. "These developments are important to Boston, but so are people," Travaglini added.

Saturday's festivities were marked with blue and white balloons for the kids, music by the likes of Whitney Houston, and refreshments that included coffee, juice and a table-top sized cake. Neighbors attending the ceremony had the opportunity to tour the JobStart office once the speakers concluded their remarks. Others who spoke included: Doris Bunte, Administrator of the Boston Housing Authority, who also acted as Master of Ceremonies, Reverend Isaiah Sears, Terry Titcomb, chairperson of the Task Force. Vice-Chairman

Mary MacInnes and Kristen McCormack, director of the Mayor's Office of Jobs and Community Services.

In a brief interview following the formalities, McCormack said that within the first year of this program, workers hope to assist as many as 2,400 Charlestown people in areas ranging from finding employment to enrollment in programs that lead to receiving one's high school diploma. She added that not all the services will occur in Charlestown, that training sites exist throughout the city. Programs will vary from JobStart office to JobStart office and according to individual's needs and skill levels.

Also present at the JobStart opening was Ann Donner, project manager for Boston For Boston. When asked about the relationship between booming development and neighborhood employment, which has become a sensitive issue in Charlestown because of the Navy Yard developments, Donner said that much work is being done with the two largest developers in the Yard — The Raymond Group and Kenney Development Company — to ensure the hiring of Charlestown residents by future retail tenants in these developer's buildings. She also noted that as Massachusetts General Hospital moves into the Yard, they too are making the effort to target Charlestown residents for employment. Although Massachusetts General is still trying to determine its employment needs, Donner said that it is hoped that the training program for residents will begin in the Fall.

The JobStart office at 76 Monument Street will be open Monday to Friday from 9:00 a.m. to noon by appointment and from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. with walk-in service. The telephone numbers are 242-3352 and 242-3289.

There will also be an office in the Mary Colbert Apartments at 20 Devens Street open by appointment on Tuesdays and Thursdays by calling 242-5027.

Two Charlestown residents, Sherry Jackson and Linda Lacey, will be the job counselors.

The Charlestown Townies got back into the win column last Saturday evening by squeezing out a win over the Tri-Town Panthers 10-3.

Everything worked in the Town Team's favor, everything except for the scoring. Lady Luck kept Tri-Town in it and they almost pulled it off late in the game with one minute left.

The Town Team won the toss and elected to receive. Ed Vargas ran the ball out to the 40 yard line for a gain of 32 yards and the game was underway. The Townies had good field position, but two plays later the Town Team was called for holding and moved the ball back to the 25 yard line. The Townies put together a good drive — only to be stopped at the Tri-Town 35. The Town Team did not exhibit much of a running game, but the passing game was right on. Jimbo Murphy made the best block of the season, sending a Tri-Town linebacker for a spin in mid-air.

After a Townie punt, Tri-Town took control but were unable to penetrate the Townie defense. Three plays later, Tony Abbatessa blocked a Tri-Team punt and the Townies had the ball on the 11 yard line. The

Townies Squeeze Out Win Over Tri-Town Panthers . . . 10 - 3

Townies were called for off-side and the ball was kicked again out to the 35 yard line where the Townies took over. The first period ended with the score locked at 0-0.

Townie quarterback Paul Soracco took over and drove the Townies down the field. He had great protection as he dropped back to pass. Brian Callahan and Ed Wolk were keeping Tri-Town away from Soracco and gave him ample time to find open receivers. The Townie drive was stopped at the eight yard line. Jeff McCarthy scored a touchdown but the Townies were called for pass interference and the ball was moved back to the 23 yard line. Tri-Town held and Daryle Walke kicked a 40 yard field goal and the Town Team led 3-0. A drive by the Tri-Town Team ended with a field goal making the score at half-time 3 all.

The crowd was entertained at half-time by the National Tumbling Champions. This year's two finalists were Bobby "Empty Head" Sparks and last year's world champion - Brass Brazenchild.

Brazenchild was first to do his stuff. He stood on top of the high school gym as calm as could be. He turned his back to the crowd and his toes gripped the ledge of the roof. With a loud grunt he sprang upwards. First he did the required three geeks, then two over-lays and one bull-nose flip and landed gently on the goal post cross bar. The judges Fererria, Walsh and McGonagle raised the score card giving Brass a 7.8, 7.7, and 8.5.

Now it was the legendary Bobby "Empty Head" Sparks' turn. He lost in last year's finals to Brass in a highly contested match. As "Empty Head" started his climb up the light pole, a hush came over the crowd. He perched on top of the pole, then he sprang up and up, he did the required three geeks (to the crowd's delight), then went into his tumble and did one over-lay, an amazing one and a half bull-nose and landed like a feather with an out-stretched finger on top of a ball placed on a kicking tee. The crowd went wild as the judges raised their cards giving "Empty Head" a 8.5, 8.3, and 8.8.

Brazenchild quickly yelled foul, claiming that the ball was not regulation size. The judges disallowed the protest. Later Judge Fererria would state, and quite emphatically, "It is OK to use an oversized ball as long as it is placed on the kicking tee."

The trophy was awarded to "Empty Head" by this year's fall guy, Ollie North.

Now back to football . . . In the second half, Tri-Town took possession on their own 20 yard line. The Townies held with the exceptional play of Johnny "The Truck" Carr. Young Bobby Powers was on the field and made his presence known. The defense forced a punt and Soracco and company took control.

The Soracco - Jeff McCarthy combination was setting Tri-Town on their heels. McCarthy would finish the evening with five receptions for eighty yards. The drive ended with a Tri-Town interception at their own eight yard line. The ball clearly hit the ground but the official ruled otherwise. Tri-Town took possession at the 50 yard line. The Townie defense held once again, being led by Bobby Allen, who was having his best game of the young season. The Townies forced a punt and Ed Vargas ran the ball out to the 40 yard line. The drive faulted. Townie defense took the field and stopped Tri-Town cold.

Townie safety man Joe McCarthy intercepted the ball at the Tri-Town 36 yard line, giving the Townies a much needed break. The Townies finally capitalized. Paul Soracco went on the drive, mixing his plays well and the drive ended with No. 86, Leo Boucher, pulling in a 13 yard touchdown. The kick was good and the Townies were in the lead to stay, 10-3.

The fourth period went back and forth with neither team able to mount an offensive attack. With one minute left in the game, Tri-Town started a drive at their own ten yard line. They would put together their best drive of the night. It looked as though they would score. The ball was on the Townie 18 yard line, and Tri-Town, set to pass, had plenty of time . . . but, the clock was ticking down and with 18 seconds left, Bobby Allen came out of nowhere and made a diving interception at the three yard line. The final score was 10-3.

All and all, the Town Team had some luck to beat back a pesty Tri-Town Team. The Townie defense had an exceptional game. Joe McCarthy, Tony Abbatesa, Brian Tobin and Bobby Allen played great in the secondary.

Offensively, Paul Soracco led the team, completing 14 of 28 passes for 203 yards and had three or four dropped on him. Soracco knows where to put the oil and make the machine run. Jeff McCarthy had an exceptional evening. The offensive line had their best game of the year.

The kicking game was on the money. The win wasn't very pretty, but we'll take it. Last year at this time we were 0-3, this year we're 2-1!

Congratulations to John Houlihan, George Sargent and Mike McManus.

Star of the game . . . no question . . . Paul Soracco.

Did anyone notice the field? It is green once again, thanks to the efforts of Teddy "Caddy Shack" Dougherty. Ted is spending a lot of time watering the field. Thanks Ted!

A PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
 Holy Spirit, you who made me see everything and showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Persons must pray the prayer three consecutive days without asking your wish. After 3rd day your wish may be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as this favor is granted

Bunker Hill Monument Gets Revved Up

by John Lynch
 Last Monday evening saw the return of the Miller Music Neighborhood Concert Series to the Bunker Hill Monument as the Rev played a two hour show of rock and roll hits from the 70's and 80's for a crowd of 400 people. The previous week's show had been cancelled, so the crowd was anxious to get rocking, and the Rev wasted no time in getting the show going.

Playing their third year in the Neighborhood Concert Series, the Rev knows what the crowd likes, and they have never failed to deliver. They play hits which are more popular with the younger crowd, as opposed to the oldies which most of the bands play during the series, and they have an uncanny ability to imitate very closely the band whose songs they are performing. Lead singer Cindy Daley is able to alter her voice to sound like Chrissy Hynde of the Pretenders, Martha Davis of the Motels, or 60's folk singer Janis Joplin, among others.

The Rev has some new members since last year and they play very well together, playing hits from such varied performers as Steely Dan, Van Morrison, Janis Joplin, Steve Winwood and Bon Jovi. The Rev is made up of Dave Luke on guitar, Mike Tofalo on bass guitar, Allen Rowe on keyboards, and Mark Grillo on drums.

During the intermission, free Concerts on the Common tickets were given away to five lucky winners, courtesy of the Mayor's Office of Business and Cultural Development. This happens every week, and many people have gone to the Concerts on the Common for free, just for coming to the Neighborhood Concert and entering the drawing. Willson-Harris, another group which is returning from last year, will be on stage at the Bunker Hill Monument on Monday, August 10. They are a favorite with all ages, playing hits from Motown, the Beatles, and other performers from the 50's through the 80's. As happens every Monday night, the concert will begin at 6:00 p.m.

There Is Need For Action In Dealing With Drunk Drivers

Dear Ms. Conway,

I have been concerned for some time about the number of drunk driving killings on our roads and particularly about the inability (or reluctance) of legislative and judicial officials to generate some initiative in providing effective ways to deal with the problems.

Recent coverage of this subject by both the printed and electronic media has done much to publicize the need for action and I was most pleased to see that The Charlestown Patriot has added its voice by publishing the piece by Charlie Ross on "How They Handle Drunk Drivers in Other Countries" (July 30, 1987). In my own travels abroad, I have been amazed by the respect Europeans have for the severe penalties imposed for a first arrest for simply driving drunk — much less an incidence involving loss of life or injury.

Mr. Ross alludes specifically to the case of the death of 18 year old Michael DeLuca, detailed in his earlier piece, "A Mother's Plight." I read and was touched by the poignancy of that piece and was prompted to write to District Attorney Newman Flanagan urging him to exercise the power of his office to speed up the wheels of justice. I can attest to the apathy of the District Attorney's office to these matters — neither that letter, nor a follow-up, got even an acknowledgement of receipt.

Thank you for printing Mr. Ross' piece. It lends some hope that perhaps someday soon responsible officials capable of constructive, creative programs will emerge.

Sincerely,
Rena Themistocles

Charlestown — "Townies On The Rampage"

Once again, "Townies" have been maligned by outsiders! "Charlestown has an image problem," admits John Tobin (new person). "Few people would disagree," according to Nancy Zerbey (outsider) who wrote the story about Charlestown in Boston Magazine, June 1987.

(In the past ten or twelve years, many people have obviously ignored our "image" and purchased desirable property in Charlestown. Up until the past couple of years, they bought it for $ song $!)

The story continues . . . "Charlestown has become, in popular imagings (there's that 'image' again) a tumbledown backwater, breeding hockey players and car thieves, longshoremen and bank robbers, in short, 'Townies' on the rampage" . . . ("Townies" should be on the rampage! How dare Ms. Zerbey denigrate hockey players and longshoremen!)

. . . "Even the respectable areas of Charlestown" . . . (Where are the areas that are not respectable? Is respectability equated with affluence in the writer's opinion?) . . . "As this tough, working-class area" . . . (If Charlestown is so TOUGH, why have all the YUPPIES moved here from the South End and Beacon Hill? Are they looking for protection?)

. . . (Charlestown) "is being rediscovered" . . . (It isn't lost! "Townies" have prospered here for over one hundred years. Now, "Big Bucks" and greedy condo-converters are pushing the "Townies" out via exorbitant rents!)

Ms. Zerbey's rose-colored glasses only saw YUPPIES. Her "ZINGERS" were reserved for "Townies." She should be writing for the supermarket trashpapers!

Resigns Seat On Neighborhood Council

The Honorable Raymond L. Flynn
Mayor of the City of Boston
One City Hall Plaza
Boston, MA 02201

Dear Mayor Flynn,

Because of my campaign for School Committee in District One, I am unable to continue as a member of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and I respectfully resign.

I would like to thank you for giving me the opportunity to serve on the Charlestown Neighborhood Council. As you know, in July of 1986, I was elected by the members of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council to serve as the Chairman of the Development Committee.

My first order of business was to open up the process by having a public meeting to gather community input into the development of Boston Redevelopment Authority owned land in Charlestown. The first public hearing was held for P-2A, concerning the location of the Charlestown Community Gardens. The meeting brought together two groups who thought they were opposed to each other and diffused the tension that existed between them.

I feel that the public meeting concept when utilized properly can be an effective method of community involvement in the City of Boston.

In conclusion, I look forward to the upcoming public elections that will be held simultaneously with the City of Boston's municipal elections in September. The only way that the community will feel that the Neighborhood Council represents them is through the electoral process.

I am urging any concerned person within the Charlestown Community to get involved with running for the Council in September.

Sincerely yours,
Michael D. Powers

Coal Burning Electrical Plant Proposed For Mystic River Site

"15.5 tons of hazardous pollutants will be emitted into the air each day, including sulfuric acid and other noxious by-products," stated Chelsea Mayor Tom Nolan in a letter to James Hoyte, Secretary of Environmental Affairs for the Commonwealth. This letter was submitted in response to the request for comments on the development of a Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR) on a coal burning electrical plant being proposed by the Everett Energy Corporation to be constructed on Beacham Street in Everett at the former Exxon site.

A spokesperson from Representative Richard Voke's office stated that the Representative was opposed to the plan for this coal burning operation. This plant would be located next to the Admiral's Hill housing development in Chelsea, where some $100 million has been invested in housing. Also, the Representative had expressed concern at the emissions from that site and with the proximity and potential affect on Charlestown, an area with the highest incidence of respiratory-related deaths in the state.

Strong opposition to this plan has also been submitted in an 11 point letter to the Massachusetts Environmental Protection Agency (MEPA) by John McCarthy, Mayor of Everett.

Residents concerned about the construction of such a coal burning operation on the shore of the Mystic, should contact MEPA prior to August 7, the closing date for comments on the Draft EIR. Comments should be referred to Jollene Dubner, MEPA Unit, 100 Cambridge Street, Boston, MA 02202. Written statements are preferred, but residents may call 727-5830 and register their comments.

Fall Term Registration Opens At Boston Business School

Charlestown residents interested in a career as an executive secretary, accountant or bookkeeper may want to mark Wednesday, August 12 on their calendars — the official kick-off for fall registration at the Boston Business School.

Individuals interested in enrolling in the public institution for the fall semester or learning more about the variety of programs at the school can visit from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., according to Dean McGrann.

There will be on-going registration at the school every weekday following the August 12 registration until classes begin on September 8.

The 73-year-old school is possibly the only public higher educational institution in Massachusetts designed exclusively to train men and women for careers as executive secretaries, accountants, and bookkeepers, according to McGrann.

The school offers courses in word processing, computer technology, accounting, typewriting, shorthand, machine transcription, and in the liberal arts. College credits are given in all courses and graduates receive either A.S. Degrees or certificates.

"Any person with a high school degree or equivalent can enroll at the Boston Business School and pay the same low tuition as they would at any community college in the state," McGrann points out. Tuition is $708 a year for Massachusetts residents.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Boston Business School at 787-5600 or writing to the school at 989 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, MA 02215.

Thinking Out Loud

by Sal Giarratani
CAMPAIGN 87 — DISTRICT ONE SYTLE

The race for the District One Boston City Council seat has settled down to a three-way contest. Incumbent councillor Robert Travaglini will be facing Maria DiLibero and Anthony "Skip" Picarello in the September preliminary election. As of this writing, "Skip" should have skipped this contest because DiLibero, with the strong backing of Sheriff Bob Ruffo and former Sheriff Dennis Kearney, should have little trouble making it into the final November election.

However, City Councillor Travaglini, probably the best district councillor on the Boston City Council, should be easily re-elected to a deserved third term. Travaglini has done his homework well from one end of his district to the other. A recent reward of his hard work was being named the recipient of the First Annual Public Service Award from the Mount Carmel Neighborhood Association in East Boston. In presenting the award, the community group cited his accessibility and effectiveness in dealing with city problems.

Mount Carmel president Angela Marcucci stated that Travaglini had, "continuously made himself available to the neighborhood association on matters of significance and concern" and that the East Boston association was "pleased to recognize this full-time and effective friend."

Since first elected in 1983, Trav has been a good friend to me, my family and my old Charlestown neighborhood. He is accessible, full-time and, most importantly, effective.

Meanwhile, with District One School Committee member John Nucci running for an At-Large seat now that Kevin McCluskey has jumped over to a Citywide City Council race, the expected hordes of candidates did not develop. However, there is a good race coming about for the District One vacancy with Stephen Tassinari, Bobby Cappucci, Paul Markis, Anthony Lapilato, Eugene Testa and Michael Powers all throwing their hats into the ring.

As a former Charlestown resident, I am pleased to see a "Townie" (Powers) running for Nucci's old seat. Charlestown, in recent years, has become both a lost and crown colony of Boston when it comes to political power. While it hasn't been able to elect one of her own, it has become a strong powerbroker. This year, I predict that the winner of the Charlestown precincts will be elected District One School Committee member.

Main And Warren Streets Reconstruction Update

Excavation work has been taking place this week at Sullivan Square in front of The Schrafft Center. Work crews are placing gravel back into the site along with densely ground crushed stone.

The gas company is continuing to bring gas service into the street lights on Main and Warren Streets and the streets between, including Winthrop Street, Monument Avenue and Pleasant Street.

Crews are placing stone bounds in the sidewalks and installing street lighting in various locations on Main and Warren Streets.

Residents are reminded to remove their vehicles from the reconstruction area. Cars will be towed at the owner's expense where streets are posted for no parking.

Frisky, Frolicsome Fun At The Library

Clifford the Big Red Dog, a furry favorite of children, invites you to join Norman Bridwell, author and illustrator of this popular series of children's books at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, on Thursday, August 13 at 4:00 p.m.

Bridwell will speak of his experiences as an author and create illustrations to share with the audience during his visit. Children five years of age and older are invited to attend. This is a Reading Is Fundamental program sponsored by H.P. Hood, Inc. For more information call 242-1248.

Commander David M. Cashman, USN Assumes Command Of USS Constitution

Navy Commander David M. Cashman, a native of Nahant, became the 62nd commanding officer of the USS Constitution, the Navy's oldest commissioned ship when he assumed command on Saturday, August 1.

Commander Cashman replaces the late Commander Joseph Z. Brown who died unexpectedly July 8, after taking the sailing ship on its annual turnaround cruise on the Fourth of July.

Commander Cashman, 45, was born in Pittsfield, the son of Mary E. Cashman of Nahant, and the late T. Ralph Cashman. He attended elementary and middle school in Nahant, graduated from Saint Mary's Boys High, Lynn, in 1960 and St. Anselm College, Manchester New Hampshire in 1964. He was commissioned an Ensign from Officer Candidate School, Newport, Rhode Island in tion Force, Norfolk, Virginia, as the Missile/Aegis Project Division Head. In 1982, he became the Acting Chief Staff Officer and later the Combat Systems Officer at the Naval Surface Weapons Center, Dahlgren, Virginia. Commander Cashman became the first Executive Officer of the new Aegis Training Center, Dahlgren, Virginia in January 1986.

Commander Cashman's personal decorations and awards include the Meritorious Service Medal, Navy Commendation Medal, Navy Achievement Medal with Combat V and two Gold Stars and a Combat Action Service Medal. He is a recipient of the Admiral Arleigh Burke Leadership Award.

Commander Cashman has three sons: John David, age 12; Joseph Matthew, age 10 and Jeffrey Paul, age 8.

October 1964.

His initial sea assignment was on the USS Chukawan and he subsequently served on various Atlantic and Pacific assignments. He also graduated from the United States Naval Destroyer School Department Head Course in 1972.

In 1979, Commander Cashman was assigned to the Staff Commander, Operational Test and Evalua-

Vandals Do Damage On Bunker Hill Monument Grounds

"I am dismayed at the actions of the group of vandals who set about to do damage at the Monument," stated a Monument Square resident. "These weren't kids or teens — they were young men — men who should have known better. The Monument is not only a national treasure — it is a Charlestown treasure and should be preserved and protected by the residents."

On Tuesday night at approximately midnight, this resident spotted the group of men swinging from the ropes and the flagpoles that are attached to the Lodge on the grounds of the Bunker Hill Monument. She dialed 911 for the Boston Police and in the meantime heard a "snap" and saw them leave the Monument Grounds with the sword from the statue of Colonel William Prescott. The police did arrive, but the group had left the area.

Arsen Charles, curator

for the National Park Service (NPS), confirmed the report by the resident. He stated, "We are distressed by this kind of vandalism. The people of Charlestown should realize that this is their Monument as well as that of the National Park Service." He added that the Monument Grounds were refurbished just prior to Bunker Hill Day.

He said that NPS personnel searched the Monument area on Wednesday for the sword, to no avail.

Charles pointed out that the NPS has a 24 hour a day emergency number for residents to report such actions, with immediate response to either the Monument or the Historical Park in the Charlestown Navy Yard by NPS police. The telephone number is 242-5678.

He requested that residents list that number with their emergency telephone numbers to report problems on National Park Service property.
