

Jack The Barber 'Roasted' By Over 450 Friends

GIACAMO "JACK THE BARBER" LUISELLI and his wife Christine arrive at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Friday night for a roasting by a myriad of Charlestown friends who gathered to remember and honor Jack as a town institution for many years — as a barber, as the coach of the Charlestown Town Team and as an ardent supporter of programs for the youth of the community. The roast was sponsored by the Charlestown Youth Athletic Fund Inc., and all proceeds benefitted this organization.

Tucker Will Perform As 'Fritz' In Boston Ballet's 'The Nutcracker'

by G.J.C.

When the curtain rises on the opening night of the Boston Ballet's annual holiday favorite "The Nutcracker" on Friday, Nov. 27, taking center stage at the Wang Center for the Performing Arts will be a Charlestown youngster, Jonathan Tucker, who will be performing the role of Fritz, Clara's brother.

This will be the third year that Jonathan, age 10, has danced in "The Nutcracker." Two years ago he was a green kilt boy in the party scene and last year he danced the role of Fritz.

Jonathan, the son of Paul and Maggie Moss-Tucker of Monument Square, is a fourth-grade student at The Park School in Brookline.

He is a bright, personable young man with an impish sense of humor and myriad interests. His

Persons Alone On Thanksgiving Welcome At Special Dinner

by Jeanne Davis

Bob and Carol Sweeney, along with Bunker Hill Post No. 26, The American Legion, are inviting all their old and new friends to a family style Thanksgiving Dinner on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 26 at the Legion Hall, 23 Adams

St., at the corner of Chestnut Street.

In past years, the dinner held at Sweeney's former restaurant on Bunker Hill Street was a great success. It provided joy and togetherness for local folks who had no family with whom to share Thanksgiving Dinner, and the tradition will continue this year.

This year, not only will the Sweeneys, the members of Bunker Hill Post and friendly volunteers be serving dinner from noon to 3 p.m. at the Legion Hall, they have arranged to have meals delivered to shut-ins unable to get out for the

New Property Assessments Available For Public View

Acting Assessing Commissioner Ronald Rakow has announced that newly established assessed values for Fiscal Year 1993 will be available to Boston property owners beginning on Monday, Nov. 23.

Both residential and commercial property owners are invited to review new assessments and consult with staff from the department's valuation division for a three day period starting on Monday, Nov. 23 and continuing through Wednesday, Nov. 25. Public review hours are from 9 a.m. through 5 p.m. each day.

The new residential property values and assessing department staff will be available at the Assessing Information Center in Room 301 at Boston City Hall, telephone 635-4287.

New commercial values and departmental staff will be available at the Assessing Department's downtown Boston location at 294 Washington St., on the fifth floor of the Old South building.

In addition, both residential and commercial taxpayers may review their new assessments and consult with departmental staff at the Boston Public Library, Main Branch, in Copley Square during this three-day period.

The new property values are based on an assessments date of Jan. 1, 1992 and reflect Boston real estate market activity during calendar year 1991. Over the past several months, sales that took place during 1991 were analyzed as were other important factors including commercial property rents, and interest and vacancy rates.

Staff also conducted field visits in all Boston neighborhoods, inspecting properties that had been sold or subdivided and parcels for which building permits had been issued during calendar year 1991. The department's extensive research has shown that there has to be a continued decline in the assessed values of commercial properties; and residential assessed values have also been affected by the continuing slowness of last year's real estate market. Overall, assessed values across the city — when all property types and locations are considered — have fallen by 8.5 percent; again, this overall figure will vary from parcel to parcel.

The new assessments will be indicated on the FY'93-third quarter property tax bill, which will be issued at the end of this December. In addition, any exemptions to which homeowner-occupants may be entitled — Residential and Clause (personal exemptions extended to homeowners who are elderly, blind, widowed or disabled veterans) Exemptions — will also be indicated on this third quarter bill. Boston property owners will have a payment deadline of Monday, Feb. 1, 1993. The filing deadline for abatement applications will also be Monday, Feb. 1, at 5 p.m.

The Assessing Department will make additional information and assistance available to taxpayers once the third quarter bills have been issued.

Local Feeding Programs Receive Money Raised In Walk For Hunger

Project Bread recently awarded grants in the total of $3.1 million to 415 soup kitchens, food pantries and homeless shelter feeding programs throughout the state. The funds, which will provide emergency food to over 100,000 hungry Massachusetts residents, were raised this spring in the 23rd annual Walk for Hunger. Over 43,000 people participated in the 20-mile pledge walk, which is the largest annual one-day fund raiser for the hungry in the nation.

At their annual grant ceremony, Project Bread awarded a total of $1,277,830 in grants to 153 emergency feeding programs in Greater Boston. These funds will help feed a growing number of hungry people throughout the city.

Charlestown programs received a total of $7,300, with $2,800 awarded to St. Catherine's Food Pantry, $3,500 to the Charlestown Community Centers and $1,000 to the J.F.K. Family Service Center.

Harvard Mall Friends To Meet

The Friends of the Harvard Mall will meet at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 19 at the Mary Colbert Apartments, 20 Devens St.

DOG DAYS?

While most Realtors are animal lovers with pets of our own, we've also shared stories of having fingers or ankles nipped by furry creatures that have lived in our listings. Or we open the door to a home, and a purebred Persian kitten scoots through our legs toward the nearest busy street.

If you have pets, and you're about to put your house on the market, work out the showing arrangements carefully. It's important that we communicate to colleagues what to expect when they pass through your front door. While it's rare for pets to pose significant problems, a few do — especially very big dogs. Occasionally, we run into buyers (or agents) who are allergic to dogs or cats. Some are even a little bit phobic. It can be difficult to get a buyer excited about the possibility of living in your home if he's sneezing or cowering in a corner afraid of being Fido's dinner. If you know there might be a problem, we can arrange ahead of time for you to walk the dog, vacuum up the cat dander or do whatever is needed to make sure the showing goes smoothly.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Monument Properties. Call us at 241-5900 or stop by our offices at 85 Warren St., Charlestown.

Despite the fact that he was the president of the U.S., Lincoln was not the featured speaker. That honor went to Edward Everett, the former governor of Mass. who was famous for his rich oratory. Some 60,000 people gathered for the dedication ceremony. Everett's speech lasted three minutes shy of two hours, and while he spoke, Lincoln made last-minute changes to his remarks . . . When Lincoln finished his 269-word address, he was not happy with his performance. Everett, however, had a different opinion. "I should be glad," he wrote to Lincoln, "if I could flatter myself that I came as near to the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes."

Tuttles Dry Cleaners And Goodwill Sponsor Clothes Recycling Program

Tuttles Dry Cleaners and Goodwill Industries are sponsoring Project Wear & Share, a clothes recycling program. Customers are encouraged to bring unwanted clothes to Tuttles Cleaners during November and they will provide free drycleaning before donating the clothes to Goodwill.

The clothes in good condition will be sold in Goodwill stores to help fund various Goodwill programs. Clothes deemed unusable by Tuttles and Goodwill will be sent through Goodwill's textile recycling program.

"This program is a win-win scenario for all involved," says Farshad Sayan, owner of Tuttles Cleaners. "Instead of disposing of their old clothes and essentially relegating them to landfills, customers donate these clothes to us. We then dryclean the clothes for free and donate them to Goodwill. All items sold through Goodwill are used to fund job training programs for the disadvantaged." Tuttles Cleaners, located at 245 Main St., 69 Main St. and at Hayes Square, welcomes the clothing at all three of its locations. Residents are encouraged to bring in unwanted clothes anytime during November. All clothes will be cleaned and donated to Goodwill.

Project Wear & Share is a national clothes recycling program sponsored by professional drycleaners and Goodwill Industries nationwide. All drycleaners participating in the program are members of the International Fabricare Institute, the professional association of more than 13,000 drycleaners and garment care professionals.

Material Recovery Facility To Open In Charlestown In January

by G.J.C.

Charlestown will become the home to a state-of-the-art Material Recovery Facility (MRF), slated to open on the first of January. It will be located at 410 Rutherford Ave. on the extension of A Street, adjacent to Costa Fruit and at the back of Bunker Hill Community College.

The MRF, called the Prins Recycling Center, is a private facility owned by the Prins Recycling Corp. of Fort Lee, N.J., with 27 years in the recycling industry. Marc Shaener will be manager of the Charlestown plant. Prins is leasing the local site with an option to buy.

According to Fred L. Prins, president of the corporation, recycling within the Greater Boston area has been, and will be in the future, a critical issue. More and more cities and towns are looking to expand recycling to meet new state mandates and to respond to environmental concerns.

The plans for the local MRF is that materials will come to the site from haulers with curbside, municipal, commercial and industrial contracts. It will process old newspapers, magazines, corrugated cardboard, clear and colored glass, aluminum, tin and plastics carried to the site by the commercial haulers. Shaener stressed that this will not be a center for individuals to drop off their recyclables.

Shaener explained that the haulers will drive their trucks into the facility where the load will be "tipped." The contents of the truck will then go into a sorting belt where employees will separate the items, and from there they will go into a high-density compactor and pressed into 2,000-pound bales. The bales will then be transported by truck, rail or ship to domestic and foreign buyers. The proximity to major highways, an adjacent rail line and the short distance to the Moran Terminal were some of the reasons that the Charlestown site was selected for the MRF. He added that there is a demand and market for all materials and thus there would be no stockpiling of recyclables at the MRF.

All work at the center will take place inside the building, stated Shaener. The trucks going to and from the building will be the only activity visible to the public.

Shaener explained that there will be no noise or air pollution emanating from the site. He added that rodents will not be a problem as they will not be dealing with garbage or waste, but they will undertake a regular rodent extermination program as they are in an industrial area. Shaener noted that there will be no toxins or hazardous materials on the site.

Boston-area contractors are presently renovating and waterproofing the facility in preparation for its January

THE PRINS RECYCLING CENTER, set to open at 410 Rutherford Ave. in January, will be a regional Materials Recovery Facility (MRF) handling recyclables such as newspaper, magazines, clear and colored glass, tin, aluminum and plastic gathered by contracted haulers from a radius of approximately 30 miles. The diagram above outlines the activity inside the building. At the top right, the truck enters the building and tips its load. Front-end loaders then transfer the materials to a sorting belt where employees sort and direct the recyclables into separate bins. From there, a conveyor belt carries the material to a high-density baler where the material is bound in 2,000-pound bales, loaded onboard a truck and brought to a processing plant or to a point of shipping the materials by rail or overseas by ship.

Shaener stated that the hours will be from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., six days a week at the opening, with possible expanded hours if the volume demands. He anticipates 50 to 60 trucks going to and from the MRF daily, including five 18-wheelers.

The annual tonnage projections for the Charlestown MRF, considered a regional facility, are: 40,000 tons of old newspaper, 10,000 tons of old magazines and 7,200 tons of other recyclables including clear and colored glass, aluminum, tin and plastics.

According to Shaener, the company will be advertising for employees starting in early December. He said he hopes to draw the majority of his workforce from the Charlestown area. He went on to say that at the outset, he will be looking to hire approximately 30 persons, including one or two office workers, 10 machine operators and 20 which would be classified as low-skilled labor — jobs that would be appropriate for the mentally retarded and/or homeless veterans.

Shaener stressed that the firm is "not here to get into the hauling system . . . but are in the area to support recycling. We are here to develop Boston's recycling infrastructure, work with area haulers and bring Boston up to standard in recycling." He added that Prins does have contracts with area haulers and are ready to go come Jan. 1.

In addition, Shaener stated that the company has educational programs on recycling and representatives will be available to speak to any organization or school that requests such a program. In fact, he said, they have programs suitable for ages 2 to 3 through to senior citizens.

Residents will be able to view the MRF in the spring when Prins plans a grand opening tour of the facility.

Tucker Will Perform As 'Fritz' In Boston Ballet's 'The Nutcracker'

(continued from page one) schedule, especially rehearsing for and performing in "The Nutcracker" would put the most energetic adult to shame. He seems to take it all in his stride, but did note that it takes a lot of effort on the part of his mom, driving him to and from school, sports, dance lessons, rehearsals and all of his other activities.

Jonathan has been dancing for three years, studying with the Boston Ballet School. Asked what inspired him to study ballet, he says the family has a summer home in Saratoga, N.Y. which is where the New York City Ballet summers. He frequently saw that ballet troupe perform and decided that he would like to dance.

When the family returned to Charlestown, Jonathan's mother sought to enroll him in a ballet school. He said that she happened upon the Boston Ballet School "quite by accident" — and he began studying "at the best school." He added that there are 400 to 500 girls at the school, and only eight boys.

Jonathan progressed to the point that during the 1991-92 Boston Ballet season, he performed in four out of its five productions, including "Giselle," "The Nutcracker," "Midsummer Nights Dream" and as Punichinello in "On The Edge."

Asked if dance is his only interest, Jonathan replies by shaking his head vehemently "No!" He said that he plays sports after school two times a week and especially enjoys soccer. He also related, smiling, that he goes to a ballroom dancing class on Friday nights at The Dexter School and, along with a group of his friends and "girls wearing little white gloves," he is learning the Waltz, Foxtrot . . . and The Electric Slide.

When the Charlestown Little League season opens, Jonathan is on the field as a member of the Teamsters team. He believes that his training in ballet has helped him play baseball. He said that he has "flexibility, speed and the ability to jump and turn on the field."

His last season's Little League coach Marty Fabiano had nothing but praise for his player. Marty said that he could see how his studies in ballet gave him agility on the field. He said: "Jonathan is a super kid . . . he never complains . . . he plays hard . . . and he has a lot of heart." He added that Jonathan is easy to get along with, and he is "funny and makes the other kids laugh."

Jonathan has also studied

Kung Fu and is a member of the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club. He admits that his schedule has been so hectic that he has spent little time at the club recently. He spends a month each summer at a camp in upstate N.Y. which he says he really likes.

In his 10 short years, Jonathan has traveled more than many persons do in a lifetime. He lived in France with his parents from the age of 2 to 4. He said that although French was his first language during that period of time, he has forgotten a lot since he returned to the U.S. He has also traveled to England, throughout Europe, to Japan and to Morocco.

As to whether ballet will be his career, Jonathan is unsure at this point in his life. He said he will have to just "wait and see."

His ballet teacher, Kejuan Han, who is a soloist with the Boston Ballet, said: "Jonathan has the potential, and with hard work he will turn out to be a good dancer."

Asked if his sister Jennie, 6, is interested in dancing, Jonathan says "no, not at all. She is taking piano lessons."

Right now Jonathan is rehearsing for "The Nutcracker" three days a week, and has ballet classes on two days. He said his teachers at school have been pretty good to him and will, at times, give him his homework assignments in advance when he has ballet classes and rehearsals on the same day.

Traditionally, children have been a vital part of celebrating the holiday season with the magic of "The Nutcracker." Featuring the familiar Tchaikovsky score, fairytale scenery and stunning costumes, the ballet is yuletide entertainment for the whole family. This year's production will mark the 100th anniversary of the ballet's first performance in Russia in 1892.

According to the Boston Ballet, performing in a full-length ballet exposes children to aspects of ballet life they don't experience in a regular ballet class. The children learn about the hard work, rigors and enjoyment that goes into every facet of a live ballet performance.

Jonathan, who will be dancing in 20 performances of "The Nutcracker" from opening night through Dec. 8, said that it was somewhat easier this year as it is his second year as Fritz and he knows the role and what to expect.

The story of "The Nutcracker" begins in the Silberhaus home where preparations for a Christmas Eve celebration are underway and the children, Fritz (played by Jonathan) and Clara, eagerly await the holiday festivities. Their godfather, Dr. Drosselmeyer, arrives and presents Clara with a nutcracker. Jealous of his sister's present, Fritz seizes and breaks the new toy. Dr. Drosselmeyer comforts Clara by mending the broken nutcracker. The ballet continues as Clara is carried on a magical journey with The Nutcracker who has been transformed into a handsome young prince.

Jonathan was asked how he felt going out onto the enormous stage at the Wang Center to perform. He said: "I can't really see the audience from the stage . . . only the red 'Exit' signs, and there seems to be 50 or 60 of them. I just concentrate and go about doing my part . . . it is exciting!"

Keane Inc. Signs Letter Of Intent To Acquire GE Consulting Services

Keane Inc., whose corporate offices are located at 10 City Square in Charlestown, has announced that it has signed a letter of intent to acquire GE Consulting Services, a $90-million subsidiary of General Electric, for an undisclosed price. With the acquisition of GE Consulting, Keane will nearly double revenues, significantly increase market share and expand its network of officers to the West Coast. The sale is subject to negotiations of definitive agreements and government approvals.

GE Consulting Services provides consulting, design, development and technical support services to General Electric and other Fortune 500 companies. Headquartered in Rockville, Md.,

GE Consulting employs approximately 1,000 people working out of 21 offices nationwide.

"Leading companies in today's competitive environment must continuously improve quality and lower costs," said John F. Keane, president and chief executive officer of Keane Inc. "Keane is fulfilling both objectives by acquiring GE Consulting Services. We will reduce costs by expanding the depth and distribution of our technical resources without appreciably increasing overhead. This will also better position us to make greater investments in the quality software planning, development and management services that we deliver."

Earlier this year, Keane acquired Ferranti Healthcare Systems, and has signed a letter of intent to acquire Professional Healthcare Systems, a $21-million provider of information systems software and associa-

'Jack The Barber' Roasted At A Sell-Out Event At The K. Of C.

photos by Ed Loan

IT WAS A NIGHT for laughter and a night for tears . . . a roller coaster of emotions . . . as over 450 friends of Giacomo "Jack The Barber" Luiselli packed the Knights of Columbus Hall on Nov. 13 to roast "The Barber." He was honored for his many years of service to the youth of Charlestown, both as the coach of the Charlestown Town Team and as a supporter of youth programs. His profession as a barber of note in this community did not go without comment. One attendee stated that a bond of what it is to be a true "Townie" was evident on this occasion. A buffet by Scalli Caterers and music by D.J. Dennis Moore added to the festivities. All the proceeds from the roast will go to the Charlestown Youth Athletic Fund Inc. which has as its goal a $1 million endowment to form a permanent trust to support youth athletic programs in the town.

★ Neighborhood Council Meetings . . .
Friday, Nov. 20 — Deadline For Organizations To Submit
Letters Of Interest

Chairman Tom Pitts has announced that the Organization Selection Committee will meet at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 24 at the American Legion Hall, 23 Adams St.

The committee will be recommending to the full council at its December meeting, the seven organizations that will be selected to fill the appointed seats on the council. The 14 elected members of the council will be allowed to sit on the committee.

Any organization with a demonstrated track record in the town may apply for a seat.

Organizations wishing to be considered for membership on the council should send a letter of interest to Pitts at P.O. Box 397, Charlestown, Mass. 02129 by Friday, Nov. 20.

Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Neighborhood Council will be on Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 7 p.m. at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.

The council meetings are open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

★ Caldwell Street Tot Lot . . . The city of Boston Parks & Recreation Department is sponsoring a community meeting on Monday, Nov. 23 to discuss renovations to the Caldwell Street Tot Lot. It will be held at 7 p.m. at Charlestown High School, 240 Medford St. All are welcome.

★ Board Of Appeal . . . The city of Boston Board of Appeal took action on requests for variances from two Charlestown property owners on Nov. 10.

Grace Meehan asked to change the occupancy of 49 Chestnut St. from a two- to a three-family dwelling. The Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) and the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services recommended approval of the request, subject to design review by the BRA. The board granted approval of the request.

John MacLetchie asked to change the occupancy of 40 Chestnut St. from a three- to a four-family dwelling. The BRA and the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services approved the request. One letter in opposition was received by the board. The board granted approval of the request.

★ 425 Medford St. . . . In a memo from the Office of Environmental Affairs of the city of Boston Department of Health & Hospitals, dated Nov. 2, relative to the asbestos health hazards at Charlestown Marine Park, 425 Medford St., it was noted that some residual fragments of asbestos in the soil of the site have been cleaned since the city and state inspectors visited the site in October. It went on to say that some soil sample results from that inspection indicate a few more asbestos remnants need to be picked up. The city's Office of Environmental Affairs and the state's Department of Environmental Protection are now coordinating a final resolution of the outside areas so that interior asbestos abatement can go forward.

★ Gauge Found . . . Stephen Collins, community liaison with the Central Artery/Tunnel project, reports that the gauge containing radioactive material that was stolen on Nov. 6 from a locked trailer at the CANA Field Office at 250 Front St. was found along Front Street under Route I-93.

★ Street Reconstruction Update . . . Work continues and the paving of the streets left open by the Mahoney Construction Co. gets underway. The long-awaited day finally arrived on Monday, Nov. 16 when all in one day Susi's paving subcontractor put base and binder pavement down on the compacted graded gravel of Putnam, Ellwood, Lyndeboro and Middlesex streets and Monument Court. Susi may still have to dig through the base and binder to do a couple of gas light hook-ups prior to putting down the top course, but it is felt that it is better to get most of the pavement down from an overall standpoint of the project, especially with the risk that the asphalt plants may close if it gets too cold. Everyone is working hard, primarily raising castings, to make sure all is ready for the top course of pavement for the other streets. Concord and Chestnut streets and Nearen Row are next in line for top course with Adams, Devens, Washington, Russell and Essex streets and Old Rutherford Avenue to follow. Paving will continue as long as there are roadway subgrades available.

The gas light services are being tested by the gas company prior to the final pavement being put down to ensure the new pavement does not have to be dug up in the future for any underground repairs. Everyone's cooperation in adhering to the "No Parking" leaflets is and will be appreciated.

There are still several sections of sidewalk to be installed. Once there is sufficient roadway ready for paving, Susi plans to begin the installation of the new gas light poles/tops and the roof drain connections sometime this week, followed by back-of-sidewalk repairs next week.

The Middlesex Corp. continues to work on the Mead Street Stairs (40 Flights) getting the next flight of stairs poured, stripped and rubbed out. About one-half of the stairs have been installed to date. The walls for the top set of stairs were poured this past week. The railing subcontractor has been on site to coordinate the work for new railings and some sample newly cast railing posts will be brought on site for review. The contractor has also adjusted some of the castings on Mead Street at Russell Street so Susi can put down the final pavement at Russell Street.

Questions, concerns and complaints are being handled by Community Liaison Peter Looney at 722-4300 ext. 5674.

IRS Has Early Christmas Gifts

The Boston Internal Revenue Service office has over $1 million dollars in unclaimed refunds for 1,477 Massachusetts residents from the past five years. The refund checks range in size from $1.00 to $78,209.67.

"All these taxpayers have to do is contact us and the refund check will be released," said Gerard Esposito, Boston IRS Director. If you were due a refund and haven't gotten it yet, call the IRS at 1-800-829-1040."

According to the IRS, these refund checks were returned by the Postal Service because they could not be delivered. Every year thousands of checks are returned because the address on the tax return was not legible or the taxpayer moved and did not leave a forwarding address. To avoid these kinds of problems use the peel off mailing label that comes with your tax package or file Form 8822,

"Change of Address" whenever you move.

Charlestown residents on the list are: Richard L. Hopkins, Sergio O. and Kimberly A. Harnais, David S. Wheeler and Edward A. Rolka.

TOWNIE SPORTS LINE

Charlestown Pop Warner Update

Although the 1992 Pop Warner Football season has come to a close for the Charlestown players, the behind-the-scenes operation continues year-round. Each month, representatives from all the associations gather to discuss issues concerning Pop Warner activities.

At the November meeting, the members voted 8 to 3 in favor of Charlestown remaining in the league. This is evidence that Charlestown has put to rest many of the concerns others felt toward its participation in the sport.

We clearly have made many allies this year because they were able to recognize that we made every effort, no matter the circumstance, to conduct ourselves in a manner befitting true sportsmen. I am positive that by the close of the second season, the outcome of a vote will be unanimously in our favor.

As one of the coaches of the D-Team and president of the League, no one could be more proud for all that we have accomplished together. We're in for the duration.

We must have all uniforms and equipment returned to us from this year's players. Please contact Jack Schievink at 241-7767 immediately to arrange for their return.

The players who must turn in their uniforms and equipment are:

■ Friendship Street Hockey . . . Jimmy White and Ricky Evers provided the offense, but Dorchester provided the knockout punches early and often in Week Three of the Friendship Street Hockey League. Dorchester stung Charlestown 7-2 in the game played at Hyde Park. This Saturday, the action moves to South Boston when we take on West Roxbury at 11 a.m.

■ High School Notebook . . . Jose Alicia, Dan Dollosa and Andrew Ray had points for Charlestown High School, but the Townies fell to Seekonk 16-14. Boston College High tipped St. John 14-13. Don Bosco was defeated by Catholic Memorial 29-6. Boston Latin improved its record to 6-3-0, defeating Concord-Carlisle 28-14. Shawsheen shut out Matignon 39-0, and Northeast defeated Pope John 20-14 in the closing seconds.

Congratulations to Kathy Farrell and Paula Hickey who have completed a fine volleyball season for Matignon.

■ College Board . . . UMass-Boston defeated Framingham State 53-28 in a New England Conference football game. The win puts UMass-Boston at 5-4-0. Quarterback Steve Austin tossed eight touchdown passes tying an NCAA Division 3 record, and prime receiver Sean Munroe tied an NCAA Division 3 record with five touchdown catches.

Paul Tibbetts and Joe DeRoeve get into hockey action this week when Stonehill opens its season at St. Michael's in Vt.

■ The Pro Line . . . The Providence Bruins had a great weekend, picking up five of six possible points. On Friday, the P-Bruins defeated Utica, the N.J. Devils affiliate, 7-6, and on Saturday, both teams battled to a 7-7 tie. On Sunday evening, Providence defeated New Haven 5-2. Its record is now 8-10-1, and the team is two points out of first place in the AHL Northern Division. On Friday evening, Providence will be hosting Springfield.

Danny Ryan is the "Stratego King" at the Boys & Girls Club.

Members of the Bunker Hill Teen Council, under the leadership of Jimmy Yandle, did some neat and quick work in removing some graffiti from on and around the Teen Center.

Dave Delmedico is attending the EMT program at Northeastern University.

Tommy Farley is a great asset to the Citywide Friendship League Street Hockey program.

It's good to see Larry Olsen back up at the Boys & Girls Club.

Mike Erardi was a good addition to the Charlestown High football staff.

Happy Birthday to Mike Delmedico, John Cowan and Jim Saccardo.

■ Ivory Soul . . . The group "Ivory Soul" will be the featured entertainment at the Dec. 5th Teen Dance, sponsored by CHAD, at St. Catherine's Hall. The dance is being coordinated by the Bunker Hill Teen Council, St. Catherine's CYO, the Charlestown Teen Connection and the Charlestown Girls Center.

■ Light A Life . . . The city of Boston "Light A Life" campaign is underway. The familiar buttons are on sale for $1 at various locations around the city, and your donation goes a long way. Help "Light A Life" during the Christmas season.

O'Neil Jrs. Get Set To Face Philadelphia This Weekend

by Bernie "Scoop" Kelly

A last minute change in the game schedule gave the O'Neil Jrs. a breather this past week and allowed Coach "Maxie" Hart an opportunity to improve his Raiders with additional practice.

The real test for the O'Neil Jrs. will come this weekend when they meet the top-notch Jr. players from the Philadelphia area who are hell-bent on winning the league title and playoffs by sheer hockey power.

C.Y.O. & St. Catherine's NEWS

by Father Ron Coyne

• Boys Ball Hockey Playoffs — In the playoffs for our 10- to 14-year-old boys Ball Hockey League, the second place Senators, under Captain Tim Gallagher, beat Captain Ricky Evers' Penguins by scores of 7-6 in overtime and 11-6 to advance to the championship series.

Meanwhile, the first place Lightning team with Shane Fisher captain, met the fourth place Devils, captained by Chris Lent. Lightning won the first playoff game 9-7; lost the second game in overtime 12-11, which some called the most exciting game of the year; and handily won game three by a 15-4 score which qualified them for the championship series.

The Senators vs. Lightning championship series began Nov. 16. It's been a great season.

• CYO Ice Hockey And Basketball — The CYO winter sports season will begin in early December. All teams have begun practice or will begin soon.

High on Sunday, Nov. 22 from 1 to 9:30 p.m. The entire day will focus on youth and their priorities and needs with speakers, workshops and discussions. Mass will be celebrated, followed by dinner and a dance. A bus will leave St. Catherine's Church at 12:30 p.m. and return at 10 p.m. The cost is $15 per per-

The trip will include lift tickets for two days, transportation, ski rental, three meals, a pizza party, two dances and two nights in the Sunday River Ski Dorm, located on the side of the mountain. The cost is $185 per person. There will be about 200 teen-agers in the dorm, and we will be able to take 45 Charlestown teen-agers, 13 to 19. To guarantee a spot, you must leave a $50 deposit at St. Catherine's Rectory by Thanksgiving. For more information, call Father Coyne at 242-1750.

• Teen-age Dance In Charlestown — CHARlestown Against Drugs (CHAD) along with St. Catherine's CYO, the Boys & Girls Club, the Community Center and the Bunker Hill Teen Council is sponsoring a teen-age dance on Saturday, Dec. 5 from 8 p.m. to midnight at St. Catherine's School Hall. We are trying to limit our appeal to the four weeks of Advent (Nov. 29 to Dec. 25). If anyone is interested in joining, we ask you to be present at this meeting. We assume this will be a mixed league with both men and women.

legend among sports fans and Townies alike — Jack The Barber.

The distinguished toast-master extraordinaire was C-Town's own Commish Bill McCabe (never retired) who paraded a host of locals to the podium to tell their own practical jokes, followed by some barber shop zinging. Here they were, telling all and blaming Jack who was sitting in his barber's chair at center stage. Jack turned red in the face with every charge and accusation leveled at him.

Jack The Barber Luiselli has been cutting hair on Bunker Hill Street for over 44 years. When he wasn't cutting hair, he was teaching football or philosophizing about life in general. Needless to say, people like Jack The Barber come along every 50 years or so, and when they do, they give so much and take so little. People young and old who have met Jack will never forget him.

Congratulations to the fine committee that put together the wonderful evening . . . to Marty O'Brien for the barber pole decorations on each table . . . to Bob Scalli for his mouth-watering morsels . . . and, of course, the Charlestown Youth Athletic Fund which Jack is happy to support. Who were the biggest winners of the evening? . . . Our youth!

Jack, thanks for the memories . . . and to your lovely wife, Chris, thanks for giving us the loan of your husband for all those years.

Congratulations To The CYHA

Congratulations goes out to all the people who make up the Charlestown Youth Hockey Association, from the workers at the refreshment stand to the men and women who give their time and energy to the youth of C-Town, especially the leaders who organize, coach and manage the CYHA. We are extremely proud of the good work you perform for the kids.

Sometimes your efforts seem to go unnoticed, but we are aware of your good work. All your work will pay off very soon as all those young charges under your command near high school age and your coaching has prepared them well enough to warrant their playing varsity sports, including hockey.

Along with all the high schools and colleges looking for choice hockey players, the Matt O'Neil Club hopes to reap the rewards of the CYHA's efforts by recruiting some of the local stars into Junior Hockey or as members of the Quinn Club for those 14 to 16.

C-Town CYHA . . . we salute you on a job well done!

THE GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT

The Great American Smokeout is today, Thursday, Nov. 19. It is your opportunity to quit smoking for 24 hours or to lend a hand to someone who's trying to quit. Make this an important holiday on your calendar.

The American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout is celebrated each year by millions of smokers who try to quit smoking just for 24 hours. Millions of nonsmokers join in by giving their support. If you're thinking about quitting smoking, you don't have to go it alone. Make today, the day of the Great American Smokeout, a big holiday in your life!

A recent analysis of death certificate data comparing Charlestown with the remainder of Boston indicated that between 1985 and 1990, the death rates in Charlestown were much higher than the rest of Boston. Death from heart disease was 39 percent more frequent in Charlestown and accounted for 15 excess deaths per year. This study confirms earlier findings from the 1978 to 1982 study.

The Mass. General Hospital Bunker Hill Health Center is planning to offer lectures on smoking cessation in a group setting. The Health Center offers a variety of educational material. Please call Sandie Bock at 242-5758 for more information.

trance exam to be held on Dec. 12 will be available.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the Editor must be signed and include name, address and telephone number for verification. The name will be withheld if the writer so requests. Anonymous letters will NOT be published.

My Sincere Thanks

Dear Gloria:

I would like to thank the many people who helped get me through the nightmare of my son Jimmy's death. Your kindness and your prayers meant more to me than you will ever know. I will always keep you in my thoughts and in my prayers.

Thank you,
John Dillon

Hats Off To You!

In the aftermath of the Charlestown Working Theater's Comedy Benefit with Tony V. and Friends, I want to thank all who made the event a high point in CWT's Light the Lights campaign.

As fund-raising chairman, I've frankly felt at times like the proverbial stage mother, hovering in the wings, wondering if her little one would make it. To my delight, Tony V. and his friends were hilarious, the winner of the $10,000 lottery prize (though she prefers to remain anonymous) was hardly reduced to tears and the evening was a great success all around.

So, thank you Tony V. and Friends; thank you CWT Board of Directors, especially Benefit Chairman Pat Johnson and assistants Phoebe Blake and Laurie Zallen; thank you Vice President John McKelway for legal guidance; thank you Treasurer Jim Doherty for keeping track of all the lottery tickets; thank you Gloria Conway for the warm support of the Patriot; and thank you Peggy Ings, CWT founder. But of course, above all, my thanks go to all of you in Charlestown and throughout Greater Boston who have contributed so generously.

Oren McCleary, fund-raising chairman
Charlestown Working Theater

Thank You, Friends

We are sincerely grateful to all who helped to make St. Mary's Annual Holiday Bazaar a super success. The generosity of individuals, businesses and local organizations allow us to offer a wealth of prizes and crafts; and the patronage of the public makes it a financial success. We are thankful to all.

The trip to the Irish Village was won by Tom White; $200 by Anne Considine; Bruins tickets by Marge Rivers; and Celtics tickets by Jean Babcock. The rocking chair, donated by Charlestown Home Furniture, was won by Alice Hart. Other lucky chance winners included: Virginia Creaser, afghan made by Mae Walsh; Betty Hennessy, afghan made by Peg White; and Margaret Fee, afghan made by Kitty McLaughlin. Dot Collins' beautiful musical ceramic Christmas tree was won by Fran Lyons.

Wishing you all best wishes for the upcoming holidays, we are

Gratefully yours,

Father James Canniff, pastor, and the Bazaar Committee, St. Mary's Parish

Thank You

To Jim Walsh of Congressman Joseph Kennedy's office, A very grateful neighborhood thanks you for all the hard work you put into getting a mailbox at the corner of Tufts and Medford streets.

Thanks for being there when we needed you.
Sincerely,
Terry Ring

Kent School Thanks Residents

Last week, the Harvard-Kent School planted trees, shrubs and tulips in an attempt to beautify the grounds adjacent to the school. Thanks to the efforts of Judy Evers from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, Jim Hall from the Charlestown Community Gardens and Mahoney's of Winchester, this project was made possible. Students, parents and staff participation made this a community endeavor.

Thanks to all,
The Harvard-Kent School

Our Thanks To All Who Made The Jack The Barber Roast A Success

Dear Gloria:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Charlestown Youth Athletic Fund Inc., I would like to publicly thank all those who helped make our "Roast of Jack the Barber" such a wonderful success. As a result of the efforts of so many people, we were able to pay tribute to Jack while raising money for the permanent trust fund we wish to endow.

While I hesitate to list the names of everyone who helped for fear of leaving someone out, I feel special mention should be made of Bill McCabe, the master of ceremonies for the evening. Bill organized a speaking program that not only covered the many aspects of Jack's career, but was very funny, and he carried it off with grace and wit.

The Board of Directors of the Charlestown Youth Athletic Fund Inc. appreciates Jack the Barber allowing us to use this Roast as our first major fund-raising effort. Our goal is to raise $1 million to endow a permanent trust fund to support youth athletic programs in the town. This is the beginning of efforts to achieve this goal. I can only hope that everything else we do is as successful and enjoyable as our tribute to Jack the Barber.

Sincerely,
John L. Tobin, president
Charlestown Youth Athletic Fund Inc.

Thank You, Voters

To The Editor:

I would like to thank the thousands of voters who ensured my victory in the Sixth District Governor's Council race on Election Day, Nov. 3. I won 18 of the 19 cities and towns in the district with 53 percent of the vote, against a wealthy Republican and a feisty Independent.

I am especially grateful to the many volunteers who made telephone calls, distributed campaign literature and stood at the subway stations and highway intersections on my behalf. They helped deliver my message of "Honest, Independent Leadership for a Change."

In January when I take office, I will remember the hundreds of people I met during the nine-month campaign as I undertake my responsibilities as Governor's Councillor. It will be an honor to represent them and their fellow citizens.

Sincerely,
Dorothy A. Kelly Gay
Governor's Councillor-Elect

Voke And Birmingham Honored For Commitment To Child Care

House Majority Leader Richard A. Voke and Sen. Thomas F. Birmingham were honored recently by the Massachusetts Child Care Budget Endorsers for their "ongoing commitment to child care."

At a ceremony held in the Great Hall of the State House, Rep. Voke and Sen. Birmingham were among the Massachusetts State Legislators honored for their work over the past year in support of affordable, quality child care in Massachusetts.

The Massachusetts Child Care community presented both Voke and Birmingham with a certificate which read: "In recognition of your ongoing commitment to and work on behalf of quality, affordable child care for the children and families of our Commonwealth."

Birmingham stated: "I am honored to receive this award and will continue my efforts to preserve state funding for these important programs. Access to affordable, quality day care allows parents the flexibility to remain in the workforce. Additionally, access to day care for their children allows many parents to leave the welfare rolls and become gainfully employed."

Voke added: "Day care is a necessity for many families and it must be accessible to those who need it. I would like to express my appreciation to the Massachusetts Child Care Budget Endorsers for this award."

The Child Care Budget Endorsers is a network of over 15 Massachusetts child care agencies and coalitions, including: Alliance for Young Families, Associated Day Care Services, Family Day Care Affiliates, Massachusetts Associations of Day Care Agencies (MADCA), Massachusetts Association of School Age Child Care and Parents United for Child Care.

Quigley Produces Election Discussion

ANDREA QUIGLEY of Charlestown, a management consultant and teacher at Lesley College, responded to a call from Ford Hall Forum for volunteers who would be trained in television production to produce the Ford Hall Forum lectures on BNN-TV, cable channels 3 and 8. She co-produced the one-hour election discussion between media personalities David Brudnoy, WBZ talk host, and Mike Barnicle, Globe columnist, which will be cablecast on Saturday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. The Ford Hall Forum fall lecture series is on BNN-TV on Saturday nights weekly at the same time. Tony Grima of Charlestown is also a producer for the series.

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

(never known to fail)
O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to secure me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. O Mary conceived without sin pray for us who have recoured to thee (3 times). Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days and then you must publish it and it will be granted to you.
