Window Styles

- Single-Hung and Double-Hung Windows: Single-hung windows have a fixed upper sash and a lower sash that slides vertically. Double-hung windows have two movable sashes, allowing for better ventilation and cleaning. They are classic choices for traditional and colonial-style homes.
- Casement Windows: Casement windows open outward on a hinge and are operated with a crank. They provide excellent ventilation and can be ideal for modern or contemporary homes.
- Slider Windows: Slider windows have one or more sashes that slide horizontally. They are space-efficient and are suitable for contemporary designs and areas where a projecting window might obstruct outdoor space.
- Bay and Bow Windows: Bay windows typically have three panels that angle outward, while bow windows have a more rounded appearance with multiple panels. They create a cozy alcove and offer expansive views, making them excellent choices for living rooms and dining areas.
- Picture Windows: Picture windows are fixed and do not open. They are often used to frame scenic views or as architectural features in modern home designs.

Window Treatments

- Curtains: Curtains are versatile and come in various fabrics, colors, and styles. They can add elegance and softness to a room. Use sheer curtains for a light, airy feel or heavier drapes for more privacy and insulation.
- Blinds: Blinds are available in materials like wood, metal, or fabric. They provide excellent light control and privacy. Vertical blinds are suitable for sliding glass doors, while horizontal blinds work well for standard windows.
- Shades: Shades come in various styles, including roller shades, Roman shades, and cellular shades. They offer privacy and light control, and cellular shades provide insulation, making them energy-efficient options.
- Shutters: Interior shutters are a classic and durable choice. They can be customized to match your home's style and are excellent for controlling light and privacy.
- Valances and Cornices: These decorative top treatments can be added to curtains or blinds to enhance the aesthetics of your windows. They provide a finished look to your window treatments.
- Window Film: Window film can be applied to windows for privacy, UV protection, and decorative purposes. It comes in various patterns and designs to suit your style.
