

10 Most Active Minecraft Servers 1.19 Update

There are a massive number of Minecraft servers available for free, but some are more crowded than others. However, as of version 1.19, there are still servers with hundreds to thousands of players enjoying what they provide.

Depending on their tastes, Minecraft players can aim for servers with slightly smaller or larger player counts. However, depending on the game mode that is being played, a server with a greater number of players will be preferred. For example, Bedwars and Survival Multiplayer game modes benefit from having a large rotation of players.

Below, Minecraft players will find a list of some of the most populous and enjoyable servers for version 1.19 gameplay.

Note: This article reflects only the views of its author

OPBlocks Network and Manacube are 8 great Minecraft 1.19 servers that are popular with many players

1) AEMine Minecraft Network

Although the server is in Vietnam, AEMine's Minecraft servers network maintains a steady player count of the high hundreds. It possesses its own mod and resource packs for players who wish to use them.

A number of popular game modes are also available on the server network, including Skywars (Bedwars), Skyblock, Towny, Skyblock, Skyblock, Towny, Skyblock, Skyblock, Towny, and its Galaxy Prison mode, which have a very pleasing cosmic visual.

2) Pika Network

Pika Network, a Minecraft server with multiple game modes, also sees a regular inflow of players. The server hosts around 1,000 players in normal operation, but can host thousands of people during events.

Pika Network offers many different game modes. Some of the most popular are Factions. Skyblock, Prison and Survival are just a few. KitPvP is another option. If you want a more laid-back gaming experience, you can also play creative building and fun minigames.

3) Manacube

Manacube, a long-running Minecraft servers with a wide range of features has remained a popular option in recent years. The many game modes provided by the server still run smoothly even after they were updated to Minecraft 1.19.

If you want to enjoy The Wild Update at its best on the server, then you might consider Manacube's Survival World. It was the first to be updated to 1.19 and has seamlessly integrated its gameplay with the server's plugins and resources.

4) Minecraft Central

Minecraft Central is a long-standing favorite of the community. It has served thousands of players, and even keeps an account over 1,000 during late nights.
minecraft-server-list.xyz

This remains true regardless of where players are logging in from, ensuring that there are always fellow players to enjoy the game with.

Many of its game types are seasonal, and the server's staff members are some of most dedicated in the community.

5) Vortex Network

Vortex Network, another great server featuring a space aesthetic, is a great option when it comes to multiplayer play. The player count remains at around 1,2000 even late nights. The server also offers popular game modes like Prison and Skyblock. For those who love the Pokemon-themed mod, there is also traditional survival gameplay and Pixelmon.

The server's depiction of space and cosmos is its biggest draw.

6) CraftMC

Craft MC is a Polish server. This server is great for European players. There are more than a thousand people on the server at any given time. This allows players to enjoy the many game modes to their fullest.

Among its most popular modes are Bedwars, ChestPvP, Survival, Skywars and Hardcore. The server also supports worlds compatible to 1.18.2 for players who are not too keen on updating to The Wild Update.

7) PvP Legacy

Players who love a good battle may want to give PvP Legacy a shot. This 1.19 server facilitates just about every PvP game mode a competitive player might want, and they do so fairly.

PvP Legacy doesn't allow cheaters or exploits to prosper. Staff goes through painstaking procedures to ensure that cheaters don't prevail over dedicated in-game PvPers.

8) OPBlocks Network

OPBlocks is a long-running and popular server. The high player count speaks for itself. It keeps hundreds of players active late at night, and its player count rises to the thousands during peak hours.

OP Blocks is able to maintain a near constant uptime. The candy-themed aesthetic of the server fits well with its various worlds. OPBlocks may appeal to players who have previously tried different servers. They might be very pleased with what they find there.

9) Complex Gaming

Complex Gaming is a mega server featuring thousands of players online at a given time. It offers multiple worlds to allow you to play different styles of gameplay such as Tekkit or Feed the Beast.

Its Pixelmon World is one of the most popular features on the server, and players who enjoy it will likely be very happy with Complex's Pixelmon Server.

However, this shouldn't discourage players from trying other game modes. They're not less important.

10) Hypixel

Hypixel has been long considered one of most respected and successful multiplayer servers.

The server is well-known for its large player base, which regularly includes thousands of players online.

Its most popular game mode is undoubtedly its Skyblock mode. However, it still offers one the largest ranges of PvE and PvP modes in the community.

Riot Games recently acquired the server because of its success. It is one among the few servers in the community to achieve this status.