It's a dry compound. It'll dry you out of the water you're holding but if you gain 15 lbs on a superdrol cycle and 0 was fat I'd expect half of it to be glycogen and not actual muscle though. There's only so much muscle someone can gain in a month. Even on superdrol. Gained 8-10 lbs of ACTUAL muscle in a month would be incredibly good.

Liam (@swoleajian) offspring, took his measurements and thought he was a little too "fluffy" for summer. It's okay tho, he has his favorite @hitechpharma isolate protein to help him jump start those lean tissue gains. ☐

☐ The more lean tissue you have, the more your body burns through the day at rest; the goal should always be flipping the ON switch to your bodies furnace to drop those lockdown lbs. -Just kidding, the handle makes the perfect teether. Don't give a 2 year old protein or bars, or you'll be SORRY.
