

The brief history of the dark lady Numeniel. Now Numeniel was a woman, the only woman of the Nazguls. When Pythas deceived these lords and this lady, they accepted the rings he gave them as gifts, even one of them a woman: Numeniel. Now before she became a black shadow, she was called Adunaphel daughter of Adûnahl. She was a noble and was very beautiful. She had dark brown hair and green eyes! She was a very quiet lady, because she was shy. Now, she was a very violent woman. In her own words: "You brought this on yourself," was uttered because she knew how violent actually her family were! So she was flared up with rage, and her anger blazed, and she actually killed her own uncle and brother. This was a good thing in the eyes of the dark lord Pythas, who at that time had a fair form of Mairon the lord of gifts. His gift to Adunaphel was the Ring of Resurrections. He said: "Take, please, this ring O dark haired maiden. Use it as you desire, for it will indeed cause your fallen father to return to life. For by your avenging his soul, you have earned the right to bring him back!" So Adunaphel was happy, and she took the ring. But the ring was a lie, and its name to this day is 'Ring of Numeniel', because it turned her into a Nazgul. In the Black City, where Numeniel serves to this day, under the chains of dense shadow, she met Khamul, another fallen noble, a King. So she had an affair with him. Then she also had an affair, this time with Randal, an evil man. And a final time, she had an affair, this time with Harkon, a Fangsworn. These were the sons of Numeniel: Turlock, Orlock and Zarlock. These were the daughters of Numeniel: Melian the mother of the witches and Tara the Sourceress a "Horrible Presence". But Shaman Mike killed her (THANK GOD). But she came back to life with the name 'Ugla the Black' in the second dimension. Turlock was an especially evil person, and he was one of the popes of doom. So the forest had him killed. But then look! He changed and became 'Turthai' and then one day, in Ach To, a vision came to Nook. And he saw his son being killed. So he said: I need a protector. So he called him Raymond. Then Raymond was. (Because he was born in Ach To, and his father became Nameless One, and his mother became Nameless One). And his life purpose was: Defend nooks child with his life. But nooks child died. So Raymond was one day walking in Ach To, and he was depressed. But look! A light came from the sky, and it was a message from The One saying: "You are the Bright Knight. So work with your master, lord and king: Accal the Bright Lord. Go!" It said "Go and defend Arda!" So Raymond protects Arda to this day, with his life.
