

Los Inicios de Los Liranos

Very good, greetings to all of you. I'm Germane.

Obviously we can not cover everything related to the history of the Earth. So this is a highlight, a capitulation, condensation, let's say, a summary, so to speak. But it will be enough information so that you can start thinking and looking in other directions, perhaps, more than before.

The beginnings of humanoid consciousness began in the area called the Lira constellation. Over time the consciousness took bodily form (in terms of humanoid beings), and within the civilizations Lira system began to explode in all directions.

They began to polarize, as is the natural model of their reality - since having a polarized reality forces it to achieve integration.

Light-skinned liran humanoids and vegan humanoids with dark skin

We had, then, what we will call the Lira civilizations, which were, in general, humanoids like you, usually of the Caucasian type.

The other founding civilization was Vega's system.

There is a Vega star in its Lira constellation. In terms of light years, I was much closer to you than Lira, but was considered part of the Lyra system.

The civilizations of Vega are also a genetic strain, a less Caucasian type.

Still humanoid, they are more representative of the dark-skinned races on the planet, from Native Americans to eastern India to the aborigines. Some of the specific African races on your planet were designed specifically for Earth, so you may not find the exact type here.

These two polarities started the explosion of humanoid civilizations out in the galaxy until they finally reached Earth.

We will give you a little of the family tree here. We will start with the Source. We have talked about the dimensional infusion, the eventual explosion towards this dimensional reality (of course, it did not happen that way), and the eventual polarization of the Lira and Vega races.

The two genetic lines

Let's take this a little further. Since this is extremely simplified, there are literally hundreds of civilizations that are not represented here. But this is the basic template.

As you say in your Bible (and we will use it with humor),

- Lira sired Terra
- the Pleiadians fathered Lira
- Vega fathered Orion
- Vega sired Sirius

You can see here some of the genetic progressions.

The Terrans (Terrans, of course, being you) and the Pleiadians are more clear-skinned (Lira). Orion and Sirius are somehow more of the Vega type.

Now, there are a myriad of other civilizations :

for example, in the genetic chain of Vega are the Alpha Centauri and Altair, several planets in the Draco system, and some civilizations within the Ursa Major. Those are the minor players. We talk about the main actors of this drama.

You will hear us talk about groups of Lira and Sirius more than those of Lira / Vega [degree of polarity].

Those of Vega were the first civilization here on Earth, before the Lyrans came. This was during the time when prehistoric creatures were on your planet. Their land was then considered a future colony of Vega, when it was established that the planet would become a Vega colony.

Since Vega is close to his Earth in light years, this is very natural.

Lyrans troublemakers

However, the Lyrans eventually arrived and caused many problems (which is something with which they are known).

At some point, the vegans retreated and became a planet of Lyra. Generations and generations later, the Sirians, who were begotten by the Vegans, reclaimed the Earth. Therefore, the conflict is between the Syrians and the Lyrans.

Those of you who have read a book about your planet called The Gods of Eden will find a reference to the Brotherhood-versus-the-gods-custodians.

This dynamic of the Brotherhood, the custodial gods, the Lyrans and the Sirians has been playing on your planet since its inception.

You have two groups that believe, or believed, that it was their territory.

You were his ancestors

Before going ahead with this, I do not mean that you are all puppets.

The key idea is that, reincarnationally speaking, you of today were the ancestors who fought for you. So it's an internal family struggle; you are fighting against yourselves. Nobody is doing anything. You are trying to heal your past by bringing these past affairs to the contemporary era. That's why you see many of the divisions on your planet now.

Archetypally speaking, the Brotherhood, the Sirian group, was the group that had the knowledge, the group that cared about humanity - they cared enough to occasionally give them a carrot to appease them, a spark of information to grow.

The Lyrans would be more like the custodial gods or the authoritarian, perhaps religious, figures of whom you are aware, and who are more concerned about keeping them subverted.

So this is the dynamic that has been playing on your planet for millennia. You have a group that is trying to enlighten them (in their own way) and a group that is trying to oppress them. Once again, you are doing that to yourself. It is the polarities within yourselves that are waging this war. This story is just the external dynamics of the way in which it happened.

The creation of humanity was, basically, a joint effort, albeit somewhat reluctantly on the part of the Lyrans and the Sirians, who wanted the race on Earth to be created for their own purposes.

So after Homo sapiens was totally autonomous on the planet and began to multiply, the most subtle wars began about who would be the Lords above you.

The Time of the Sovereigns ET

During the times of primitive man (for example, Sumeria) the planet was divided into several areas where a certain lord was in charge.

As you progress through the mythologies of your planet, find gods in various civilizations with different names but with very similar qualities - for example, Innana in Sumer, Quan Yin in Asia, Isis in Egypt.

These are all representative of the same consciousness, of a "feudal lord" during a certain period of time. However, the awareness that many of you have come to know and love, Isis / Quan Yin, is not what we are talking about. (Quan Yin, Isis, is more archetypal now, is the evolved version of that consciousness that has come to an agreement and is integrated with everything, and now serves as a loving force for evolution.)

We are talking about the past physical history to which these names have been attributed. We are talking about the personification of these sovereigns, these gods on their planet.

Many of you may wonder why God is sometimes referred to in some of his ancient writings as a real person, a physical person. Many of the very, very ancient writings have not been altered, and they speak of God as a physical person. These extraterrestrial beings were no more God than you, they were physical beings.

Over the centuries, its true nature has been deliberately manipulated and changed to keep people under control or distorted by the passage of time.

Rest assured that what we are saying will represent an aspect. There is also much being communicated to you on another level of consciousness, so that you may feel that your head is completely full. You could have a lot of information later, things that we have not even talked about today.

So much of this story is so complicated and non-linear that sometimes we have to share with you concepts in non-linear communication instead of through language.

Any comments or questions so far?

A school to learn this story.

Will there ever be any school or any other type of educational system here that familiarizes us with these ideas and concepts?

It is our understanding that yes, there will be eventually, but it could not be in the next ten years. Before, you will have to do a lot of undoing and unraveling so that this information can be communicated to you. When we say "undo and unravel," we are talking about the support that much of its religious structure has in its social development.

It is like a plant with very deep roots, if you try to extract the plant, all the surrounding land is disturbed as well. Society can not be ready for such massive changes.

Eventually, that information will be recognized, since even now there are experts who are translating Sumerian texts and many others are in the areas of their Middle East . The majority - 75% - of the information has not been published, some because it is not understood. Part of it has not been published because it is recognized to be in direct contradiction with what has been part of your planet. So for now, at least, you are not going to learn about this in your elementary school._

But in the future, yes.

Hidden agendas and the inheritance of fundamental beliefs

I would like to be sure to touch some of those basic belief systems, which we have inherited from previous times, such as the idea of monogamy or the influence of the Church, the power structure, that kind of thing.

Some of the hidden agendas that were apparently played at that time are still being carried out here.

"Hidden agendas" is a wonderful terminology. There are so many hidden agendas happening on your planet. In fact, they are so hidden that the people who originally hid them can not even remember where they have hidden them.

That is his challenge. The idea of chaos is part of it. These agendas are so hidden that you will have to go into total chaos, even to know that you have a hidden agenda, even before you know what it is.

Since it brought the idea of monogamy we are going to address this issue. We are not going to enter a linear format like we did before. We will address your questions and throw away small pieces of information for you, back and forth throughout the story, that will help you put the puzzle together. When putting together a puzzle, do not expect to do it in order.

You do it as it fits.

Monogamy - a Genetic Code

The idea of monogamy is a touchy subject for some, as it pushes many buttons.

But let's say that in the early days of your planet, when there was not a deliberate breeding program to create precise and direct bloodlines that the aliens in power wanted, the work on their genetic structure was mainly on women.

There is still a latent genetic code that predisposes women to the idea of monogamy. This was to keep the bloodlines pure. Regardless if the male mated around you, as you say, but it was very important that the key females did not, so that the children had a pure line of blood.

After these genetic programs were completed, the genetic code became more and more latent. The genetic code of the females that predisposes them to monogamy is provoked by the emotion of fear, so it becomes active when fear is present, latent when fear is absent.

In the first days, the method of controlling the aliens was through fear, that is how fear became the trigger.

In contemporary times, you have several things that can trigger fear. For example, the fear of illness, the fear of not getting the love you need or want, if you allow your partner not to be monogamous, the fear that if your partner is not monogamous with you, perhaps its importance to him it will be less, that his identity may collapse.

There are different ways to activate this, but the fundamental trigger is fear. By healing the fear, the code becomes inactive.

There has been so much genetic mixing on your planet that we would say that men now also possess the latent code. It is more inactive in men than in women, but now it exists in both male and female bodies. The more afraid you are, the more the code is activated.

This is one of the wonderful byproducts of early genetic manipulation. But in no way are you victims of it, because as you heal yourselves, when you heal your relationship with yourself, your problems of self-love, etc., you leave the energy of fear and the code becomes very inactive, so much that it would be difficult to access it.

This is an example of how certain deliberate genetic manipulation in the ancient past has created a certain aspect of the society we have now. This is going to be changing.

It was necessary then that you be controlled. And, of course, later the churches, etc. They would jump into the band's car, because if you knew you could love more than one person, you would not be in fear.

You would not fear God, on the one hand, so you would not listen to the Church.

The story of 'Jesus' and his lineage

So the divine right of kings in our history comes from the same idea - to keep those lineages intact, and this was linked to power and control?

Exactly. There have been a lot of secret genetic programs on your planet until the present day. One with which you are familiar is that of the bloodline of Jesus - Jesus having had children. We have not talked about this really in depth. We have avoided it like the plague.

What is necessary to bring together a group of people so that you do not have to avoid it ...?

Well, we can enter into this today, depending on the dynamics of the group. Jesus He was Hebrew, obviously, and could not have maintained his position as rabbi if he had not been married. The ancients speak of Jesus as a rabbi, and he could not be a rabbi of that position without being married. There were children.

Obviously, due to the controversy surrounding Jesus, his children would not speak indiscreetly of his inheritance.

After the disappearance of Jesus, so to speak, the family fragmented in some way, and went underground. There is a bloodline on your planet that you call Merovingia, it was more active many centuries ago.

They represent what is left of Jesus' lineage - this is what they have claimed.

The Holy Grail

There is a whole idea of the Grail, what it represents and how people have been looking for it after so long.

Look at the symbology. Remember that when you are dealing with something that is mythologized, you are dealing with symbology. It might not necessarily be what you think. The mythical cup that held the blood of Jesus - in symbology a cup can be seen as a uterus, blood would be the genetic material, the codes, what makes it be who it is. So he has a womb that is holding this genetic connection - the grail.

This is the way we would interpret it. It is not a thing. They are not material riches to be sought. It is an idea, and it is the key to its liberation on Earth. It is the recognition of who you have been, who you are, and what you will become. It is the whole genetic package of your heritage.

So you have seen people risk their lives to find the Grail, without even knowing what they are looking for. It was because they felt that it represented freedom. There were also people desperately looking for the grail to hide it, so that it would never be found.

This is the dynamic that has been happening on the planet. There are groups that want to keep them in ignorance and fear. And there are groups that want to free them. They have been ramming heads century after century. Once again we remind you that it is you and yourself. You are the only players. Nobody is doing anything to him.

This is their way of being very creative and clarifying all things, discovering their heritage, using the past to move neatly into the future.

Over the next twenty years much more will emerge - so much information, so much revelation will be emerging, it will be like a cleanup. This is necessary. And it's going to come by layers. The upper layer may be revelations of your government.

Oh my God ! That is to cover up one more layer of cover up!

Well, cloaking is not the word we're looking for, but you know what we mean - hidden agendas.

Your divine heritage

The basic hidden truth that all these facades are concealing is your divine heritage, of who you are.

This does not mean that all of you are Gods on a pedestal. This means that they are all equal to God . That they came from the heavens. You have a connection. Each has its own personal connection to a God that no one can impose and you are part of a vast network of families from planet to planet to planet. A very liberating idea, is not it?

That's why it's not widely known - it's too liberating. But that is the fundamental piece that are covering all facades, governments, religions, etc.

The grail is a key to understanding yourself on a genetic level - who you are, where you came from and where you are going.

Jesus and the crucifixion

In one of Seth's books there was talk of the idea that the true body that was crucified was not the body of Jesus, but that it was someone else. Can you comment on that?

We knew someone was going to ask that question. We agree with that. We have not really come out to say this, but Jesus did not die. The blasphemy par excellence that you can throw at your society is that you did not die on the cross .

His courage was recognized, and the individuals responsible for the crucifixion knew that a dead martyr is much more powerful [as a symbol].

So there were several political things that were happening. He was basically allowed to live in hiding and another was sacrificed in his place. Thus, he was able to keep the genetic line going.

What then is the Holy Shroud of Turin?

Many of these stories that we share with you may sound very fantastic. You have to look at the whole picture instead of the fantastic stories. The body that was placed in the shroud was not the body of the person who died on the cross. It was the body of Jesus , but he was not dead.

Are you not in a trance or altered state of consciousness?

Well, a little of everything I mentioned. He had the ability to put himself in a very deep trance state, which he had learned in India. And he was able to move, from there, the apparitions in front of the apostles. This was not a big deal for him and the apostles.

Why was he wrapped in the shroud? Why was he buried?

It was necessary for people to believe that he had died.

But did they not see that the man on the cross and the man who was buried was not the same person? I mean, linearly speaking, in that group of people and belief systems and intelligence, was not it the same people who went from the cross to the grave?

First of all, many of the people who were angry about their existence had never really seen it, they were all rumors. They did not have a real idea of who he was. Only the Pharisees and the Sadducees and the people around him had really seen him. There was no television, no photographs, so it was very easy to deceive the public.

One wonders today about the things that are covert and how they could have happened.

Well, today with television and newspapers and everything, we still do not know the truth about the Kennedys.

There is also the idea of hand dexterity. Keep someone busy here, while something else is happening over there - very easy to do. Of course, if someone else knew the truth, they were either executed or threatened enough to keep them quiet. The people were very scared then.

There was the disappearance, the exile of the family of Jesus , to the Greek area and to Europe, so they felt that they would not have to deal with him again. Of course, all the different structures that were converted into churches took it and ran it, and we now have the structure of today.

So, what happened to Jesus? Did he die a natural death?

He died a natural death, yes. Good...

A supernatural death?

Thank you. Yes, not a natural death in the sense of pain. Basically, he was there one minute and the next he was gone.

So, he himself moved very quickly?

Which will bring us back to this birth and real conception, because he was not totally Terran in his nature.

So I thought.

He had abilities that the people of the time did not recognize, they were not common.

What about his life after this crucifixion scenario? Did he follow a so-called normal life in hiding or in another place with his family? Was he able to leave some kind of work after what he did for the consciousness of the masses?

In reality he continued teaching. He taught in various costumes with different names and identities. It was not difficult to do it at that time because the world was not linked through planetary communication. It was necessary for him to change places, but he was instrumental in the beginning what they considered to be secret societies (that is not what he planned to do).

Well, a lot of things came out differently from the way he had planned it.

Exactly. But after his death it was recognized that a liberating teaching had begun.

What is interesting about the way your planet has thought it is that every time you have received a teaching that you see is liberating, you limit it! He keeps it a secret. They make people pay a lot of money to get - whatever. A kind of paradox there.

But that was the way you felt you had to do it.

Actually, that could be a basis for the societies we know today as the Rosicrucians, the Knights Templar ...

Yes, absolutely. Knights Templar, Masons , yes absolutely. The basis was in the first teachings of Jesus and then forward.

How long did he live, more or less?

It is an interesting question. He spent a lot of time in a non-earthly dimension, so he actually lived much longer. But in terms of Earth's chronological years we would say, maybe 80.

Actually, we can not give you a direct number, because it does not really count that way. But he lived for some time. You will find that, as things are discovered, that you are really going to find some texts in southern Europe, which tells of your life after the crucifixion.

Nobody is going to want you to know this, so it will be very controversial.

Some of that material is now leaking. There were other teachers in various areas of the world who came, I suppose, to give the same idea to the people, to make them realize that they had their own power and that we should love each other (although I am very murky in the theme of Muhammad).

As it should be. Muhammad is a different situation. No way are we hitting his glamor, but he was a feudal lord, so we're dealing with a slightly different scenario.

Mary and the Immaculate Conception

We would like to return to the Immaculate Conception. It's a very interesting story, because nowadays, in the contemporary era, you have a history of UFO kidnappings in some women who are implanted with children, finding themselves pregnant without having sex. Well, this is nothing new. Now, Mother Mary would have been considered a virgin, right?

If you do linguistic studies of definition of virginity at that time (review it), it meant never having been pregnant, not having never had sexual relations. The first child of a woman carries the genetic code of being the firstborn.

Therefore, if a woman had already had a child, she is not a virgin because she had already had her first child, who was considered to be the true son of her soul.

The subsequent interpretation of virginity was to keep under control once again.

This added to the mystery too.

Oh yeah. Now, what better way to keep a population in control than to control its most instinctive impulse? If the sex drive can be controlled, everything else can be controlled too. This is what you have gotten yourself into, what you have created for yourself as a process of liberation.

Do you mean to say that this is what we are dating?

Yes, that too. In that sense, then, Maria had never had a child. She was a virgin in the old sense of the word. Therefore, the immaculate conception would be what would be considered artificial insemination by another consciousness.

There are stories of angels visiting her. Those were the consciences visiting it. Some of the other things in the story were added, but basically we have the awareness that Jesus would be placed in it for the purpose of his incarnation on Earth.

And did not Mary come from a long line of very spiritual people? Was it chosen?

Yes. Well, not selected, she chose it. She had been preparing for it for many, many lives.

Genetics of Jesus

Which race was the one that implanted it?

I knew that this was to come. It was not just a race, but a genetic combination. Let's go back to our table here. The primary genetic combination was Syrian and Pleiades.

Now, the Pleiadians really do not like to talk about this. They are very sensitive to everything they have done on Earth that could be considered interferences. It is a delicate point. What that represented was the past of Sirius, the future Pleiadian, an integration of these two energies. It was important that it happen that way.

What is very interesting is the contemporary image of Mother Mary. There is an image that has been photographed somewhere in Eastern Europe. If you compare that image to the photographs that Billy Meier has taken of the Pleiadians, they are almost identical.

The features are very delicate ...

Very delicate. The lobes of the ears are lower, the chin pointy, the mouths very small.

Not that a Pleiadian has appeared in the appearance of the Virgin Mary in Eastern Europe. But the area, being very Catholic or Christian, has interpreted what they have seen as being Mother Mary. There is a difference there. Thus, Mother Mary carried a large amount of Pleiadian genetics. The genetics of Sirius were put in it to combine it with the genetics of the Pleiades.

Somehow this was political, in extraterrestrial terms at that time, because there was the struggle between the Lyrans and the Sirians that happened again and again in history, each breaking through on the planet. This was the way for the Sirians to gain a little more advantage. It was like his last effort.

The Implantation was only one level of the entire Sirian set. There were other levels that could be considered to be altruistic. You have an interesting historical past, very colorful.

We're going to take until the Middle Ages, jumping again.

Back to The True Story of The Nazarenes and The Bible

The creation of the human biogenetic structure

The creation of the biogenetic structure, how was that done? Was it chemistry? Was it only for the body or also for the soul? What is the composition of the soul? Will it also have an equivalent DNA coding?

Are we talking about the composition of the human prototype created on Earth?

Yes, the body and the energy that is the soul.

Was it also created?

The souls were not created, no.

The beings, the Lyrans and Sirians who were involved in the genetic engineering of Earth humans, sought to create the perfect vehicle, a body, to be able to incarnate themselves eventually.

It's something like building your own car. They wanted to start from scratch, build the car, and be the driver of the car. Thus, souls already existed. That's why we say that you are them, because you were them.

The aliens are talking to us now that they are fighting with each other, they are reincarnationally you. This is how you are giving rise to transformation and integration on your planet. You have achieved what you set out to do - the creation of the Terran race on Earth - and then the incarnation in that race in order to solve the problems of your ancestors.

In terms of actual genetic work, there was a Terrana indigenous species of the Earth, the primates. Throughout the development of primates there were periods of time in which genetic was inserted to accelerate the process. But it was not until the Neanderthal man, when things went crazy a bit in a positive way.

There began an explosion of growth, and it was at that moment that humanity was guided towards the Cro-Magnon man. That's where the whole idea of the missing link started. The missing link was the period in which the development was extremely accelerated.

His anthropologists can not understand what happened during that period, since it does not fit any of his theories. The most obvious thing is that there was help, but maybe they are not ready for this point yet.

So the vehicle was, then, prepared. The vehicle was given an untimely extraterrestrial genetics. What we are talking about, although it may seem fantastic to many of you, is common in the universe. You hybridize plants on your planet, creating new ways of feeding.

This is a natural process of evolution. And you will be out sometime doing this kind of thing. He will do it differently from your parents, I assure you. But it is part of evolution. Evolution has often been defined as something that occurs without external stimulus.

But the external stimulus is part of evolution, so perhaps a new definition of the idea of evolution can help you.

There was an infusion of extraterrestrial genetics in the development of primates on Earth. Therefore, they had Homo sapiens. The whole history of the Garden of Eden is a symbolic representation of the leap from the Terrana species from the second to the third density, the consciousness of the I Am.

This is how the race progressed towards the prototype and then the human being expelled from the Garden of Eden, becoming responsible for themselves.

Until that prehistoric moment that you are talking about, there were no external stimuli? Was it just a natural progression on Earth?

Yes. We would say that it was a very old time, when the Vegans were here. They made a little land-form, so to speak, but it was not really the big project that the Lyrans took on later.

The Codification of the Soul

What reincarnates? The I that was me then and who will be me in the future is maybe both, my soul and my physical genetic representation ... but that original soul not affected by the genetic code has its own code. Where did that come from, and why should it be affected by Terra's encoding in our next reincarnation?

Good question.

First, a bit of metaphysics here. Let's say that the superior being is the palm of the hand. Fingers are lives or incarnations. Now, the higher self knows the full story and dictates what we are going to do. That is its source. That is the source that Lirano, Siriano, and Terrano made - the progression.

Genetics has been considered as a physical object. It is in your genes. Your genetic code is in your DNA. Now, there is no ethereal DNA (for lack of another term) that exists within the matrices of your soul or the energy of your higher soul. This represents your past, your future, your present, all wrapped up in a single idea. It is encoded by light frequencies.

This is what dictates or what attracts you to a certain type of body. When you want to enter life, there will be several connections with the various organisms on Earth. If you want to incarnate as a black, maybe there have been times of life like other black people and you want to solve them. That is an idea. That is at the level of the earth.

There are other levels that represent your identity with your source at the etheric genetic level. This will dictate their experiences and their genetic evolution, not against their will, but as a reflection of their will, and not only their genetic evolution on Earth, but their metagenetic evolution, their genetic evolution as a being of light.

Was this ethereal DNA originally created by someone, by some form of energy?

No, no, outside of you.

We have described the whole idea of the dimensional infusion, what was its appearance in this reality that you all share. You came from an integration point towards a reality of separation.

When you fragmented, it was like the breaking of a mirror. You brought with you the original things of which you were a part, and this is part of your identity. The experiences here alter their identity, change it, expand it.

So it's not that someone created it, but who you are inherently created the codes we're talking about. It is a reflection of you instead of a template about you.

How the 'Miracles ' are Originated

People worship a God, or pray to a God, whether it is the image of a God or a Buddha, or even then ... they asked for and obtained results. God is something they did. So then, are the gods as connectors of an energy that one was capable of exploiting?

When praying to a God and - let's say that prayer is answered.

The person needs a figure because at that moment in his life he does not realize that what they are praying to is a mirror. They only look at themselves. Therefore, it fulfills a function for them to do so. However, the evolutionary process is such that there will eventually be an acknowledgment that they are only seeing themselves in the mirror and seeing themselves.

Here's an interesting idea: Let's say someone invents a god and calls him Bob, the God of Bob. And enough people start believing in Bob. Due to the belief in Bob, Bob is created. Bob has the option of becoming aware of himself, but he does not have to. He can only exist as a projection of people who believe in him, in which case he is like a two-dimensional image. For people who believe in him, Bob is very real, and you could prove the existence of Bob.

Evolution always has jokers. This is a case in which you may actually be able to see the birth of a new entity, because through the natural evolution of Bob's existence, Bob can become conscious of himself.

If that is the case, it becomes a true being and not just a projection of those who believe in it. So for all intents and purposes, those who believe in Bob will know that Bob exists, because Bob will be very real to them. And there really is no difference that he is a projection. Understands?

Well, actually, we're all projections of some kind or another, right?

We were talking about the dimensional infusion. Sometimes people ask, "What happened before that?" Before the dimensional infusion we can compare this to being a great Bob. Bob became self-conscious, and self-awareness was so exciting and so exciting that in his enthusiasm it exploded and fragmented. That is a way of seeing it. But this is how the creation of an entity can happen.

But then you can go a step further and ask: where does Bob come from?

Right.

He came from himself. Well, it's like the devil then, too.

The devil has a lot of power because he has been given it. That is the only reason. So your church is being very real when it says that the devil exists. But will the devil have an existence outside the church?

Well, I would say that he has power over those who believe in his power. They give it to him. They put their power in their hands. How does that relate to miracles, such as the waters of Lourdes, Santa Teresa, San Francisco de Asis and Bernadette?

Miracles are self-generated. Miracles occur because the seeker believes he needs something and can not afford to give themselves what they need. Therefore the miracle will come in the way that is most comfortable for you. For individuals of a certain religion, miracles come in the form with which they feel comfortable.

For some of the most fundamentalist Christians, it comes in the form of healing by faith. It is in what one believes. Miracles do not exist outside of you. You are the generator of them. It depends on you if you want to create it so that it seems to have nothing to do with it.

Let's say that Bernadette or San Francisco had nothing to do with working any of these miracles out of the facts, they are the mirror ...

They are the mirror. They are also the means by which energy can flow.

Those whom you have deified can actually be the channel for energy to flow through other people rather than through yourself. But if you are a sick person and have a miracle, it is for you instead of you channeling for others. See what we mean?

Well, I was cured in a very interesting situation and when I asked about it, they told me that it was the energy of my soul that healed me.

Yes.

Evidently, the energy of your soul heals you when your ego is looking in another direction, because the ego does not believe in that kind of thing.

Yes, exactly. You just said it. Nothing happens outside of yourself. Of course not.

So if we have full responsibility for, say, Bob fragments and we want to be the catalyst to do this, then the process we must follow is to get rid of our ego so we can put out the fires in Kuwait and help the people of Bangladesh and stop that babies are born addicted - all that. There is some kind of process to get the ego to step aside and let us be the channel for healing at this level.

Exactly.

To somehow order all these people who have serious beliefs in miracles to focus, so that their energy can flow and join us and create a kind of ...

Exactly. There is nothing wrong in believing in miracles. They can coexist totally in harmony with fundamentalist Christians who believe in miracles, if both allow the ego to get out of the way. They will create miracles seemingly outside of them and you will create miracles for yourself. And both accept each other. It is not a matter of belief, it is a question of allowing. That's the key of everything.

There is enough space for a coexistence that takes place for all energies, all races.

Oh yeah.

The origin of the conflict

Even from the beginning, why did the struggle for domination take place? Was it territorial?

It was territorial. Let's explain a little about the dynamics of it. You are asking why there is a conflict if the realization is that there is enough for everyone.

The nature of the polarity in your universe is such that it takes the form of service to others or of service to oneself, or positive and negative. Negative can be equated with service to itself. This is due to the dynamics of energy.

The Service itself is contractive, contracting itself. Service to others is expansive, expanding outward, but in the end you will be scratching your head wondering what one thing has to do with the other.

Let's clarify.

The blood of the lamb, the mutilations of cattle and the AIDS virus

The scenario is that you have a lot of first-born Egyptians dead and no dead Hebrew firstborn, who had drunk the blood of the lamb.

Cut to the present day: You have on your planet what is called the AIDS virus. Any of you who have researched will have found that the AIDS virus is a combination of a sheep and cow virus, a retrovirus. It has connections there. (In fact, the virus can be grown in the belly of these animals) Lamb - sheep, okay?

Now cut to the scenarios that were active in the seventies: mutilations of cattle and sheep. (Are we putting the pieces together?)

In the 1970s we found the AIDS epidemic. In the 1970s we found a preponderance of mutilations of cattle and sheep in which their blood was drained. We would say that the plague that hit the Egyptians during this time and that passed through the Hebrews was a similar form of designed virus, but a more powerful one, as it struck and killed immediately. (As you know, if you have an antidote to the snake bite, it is a small portion of snake venom.)

You can get the antidote by understanding the chemical components of the thing that poisoned you. So they drank the blood of the lamb prepared in a certain way, which counteracted this very powerful virus that was acting like a plague.

Bringing it to this day: this plague is still used in biological warfare and is still active on your planet. There are forces on the planet that have been trying to find one more time, an antidote, as well as forces on the planet trying to find a way to recreate the powerful virus of the Egyptian era.

So again we have two forces fighting each other: one is trying to find a cure and the other is trying to find a way to get and kill a lot of people.

That is the purpose of the mutilations of cattle and sheep - mostly an investigation trying to synthesize these chemicals. It has nothing to do with extraterrestrials wanting to eat you, or trying to drain blood for your nutrition - none of that.

That is more symbolic of the memory of the way they drank the blood back then.

Is it the Homo sapiens of our planet who are doing this? Homo sapiens doing what? The mutilations?

Yes. Who is saying that he is doing the mutilations?

Define mutilations: Since the 1970s there has been a greater awareness of mutilations of cattle and sheep, where it seems that laser beams or instruments that you did not have on your planet were used. Very clean incisions, and most of the time the blood was completely exhausted from the animals.

We are saying that there are different groups doing it. Some are human (Homo sapiens) and others are extraterrestrial, so it is not clear.

Humans and extraterrestrials on both sides

Are those groups associated with extraterrestrials on our planet, like the gray ones, or are we talking about others who are outside the planet today?

We are talking about outside the planet, descendants of those who still think there is a territorial dispute going on.

There are aliens and humans who are trying to find the antidote. There are aliens, as well as negatively oriented human groups, who are trying to use the virus. So we have them on both sides.

We perceive that you are going to create a reality in which the AIDS virus will end them. If you remember, earlier in the session, we talked about how emotional states like fear can trigger certain things like the latent code for monogamy. Emotional states can reduce the resistance of the immune system.

This is becoming a reality on your planet, but they still do not understand the complexity of it. If your population is kept in fear, you can activate the immune system to accept that a strange virus takes root in you.

If you, as a population, transmute fear, this virus will not be able to touch it. End point . There is no 'but', or a 'if anything'.

This is the reason why this whole challenge right now is so important to you. Because not only does it save your skin, you will also be released as beings on the planet.

At the risk of being redundant, it is you who are doing it to yourselves. Never, never, never give power to the idea that someone is behind you. You have created this situation with very direct purposes and understandings. You will gain from these scenarios what you have proposed to obtain.

You could win it quickly or it could take a long time, that really depends on yourselves. But no one, no evil force is putting anything on you. This is your game and all of you are the chess pieces.

In a session we were talking about, ill-being and not disease and how quickly they can be cured if you take care of why you created it. When I asked if this included cancer, his answer was yes.

When I asked him about AIDS, his response was:

"If you deal with the source of that."

I asked him what it was that someone could want to experience through AIDS, his response was "total vulnerability".

Repeated vulnerability

So, those who wish to experience total vulnerability here can now do it this way?

Yes. Just look at the idea of vulnerability - the immune system.

When your immune system is down, you are totally vulnerable. Therefore, we absolutely agree with you. It is created now, because there is a reason to have been created here and now. It is a very important process that you are going through.

Although we understand that you all value your physical lives, etc., the end of your physical life is not the end of your existence. There is greater good that is achieved by individuals who choose to leave this plane in this way.

And this scenario in the present is also related to the scenario during the time of Moses, as we were sharing it with you. What we are doing now is clearing the whole previous scenario - wars, the idea that some of you should be saved and others not. It is necessary that all these scenarios be cleaned up.

If someone in genetics or medicine listens to this tape and does a little research, taking out the old biblical texts that speak of the preparation of the lamb, if they really want to take it seriously, they will find connections - we guarantee it.

You can really be able to find an antidote. We understand that this information can stretch the imagination of many. The more you think about it, the more sense you will make.

This scenario is something that has been present for a long time, and has been activated every time that humanity has wanted to create a shot in the arm for any reason.

The real lesson - Empowerment and Ease

If it has a purpose to be and is synchronous with those who need to have that experience, then it has its natural outlet. So why is someone really trying to find an antidote?

The ultimate goal is not to find the antidote, but to come to an agreement with the idea of your total empowerment and to know that you do not need to create a lesson to learn in a painful way. You can discover this for yourself by finding an antidote, which is what they did for polio, for example.

Some people may choose not to do it that way, and that's fine too. It really depends on the person and society to make decisions about how they want to manifest it.

A lot of research on AIDS is being done in terms of sound vibration - the breaking of the virus. They also tell us that if you want to wait, the virus will naturally mutate to a latent stage, where it will become something that will not affect you positively or negatively.

However, many of you do not want to wait until you mutate.

Inaccurate Projections of AIDS

The percentages and projections of death from AIDS in the coming years are very imprecise. Everything is made on paper, it is two-dimensional thinking, in that sense.

Too high or too low?

Oh, too loud.

Is not it going to be as bad as it seems?

No. By calculating something on paper in that way, you are imposing your calculation reality on the individual souls that are going to make their own decisions. Therefore, it is not applicable. There are many other factors that are not being considered.

Certainly, we would like to encourage you not to be alarmed and do what you need to do in your life, cultivate your self-esteem to expose your fear and integrate it into your being .

That will be better than any possible antidote you could take.

Origin of AIDS

In a more earthly question, who is responsible for the introduction of AIDS into the physical world?

Well, back then there were some of the extraterrestrial groups involved in the conflict. But today we would say it was the researchers.

On purpose or accidentally?

They discovered it on purpose, that's fine, because the researchers were playing - which means they were looking for something. To be a bit vague about it, certain forces seized the researchers' information and used it for their own purposes.

Is it true that the Secretary of the Navy or the Army has used it by injection? There is a theory that it has been injected in massive inoculations.

We would say that it is not as identifiable as the army. We are talking about very secret undercover groups .

Was it used as a vaccine against hepatitis and then introduced in that way?

Before that, it was introduced in another sense.

Personal belief system, the critical factor

Would you suggest that a college-age student should participate in sexual activities without concern?

There is a difference between discretion and fear. In a certain sense, fear attracts towards you what it fears you. Discretion is common sense and common sense says that what you want to participate in your life, you assume full responsibility. You take all the options and all the precautions, if any.

We certainly do not tell anyone:

"Oh, go have activities with anyone you want, because it's just a belief system."

If you really do not know what your belief system is, then you will go down a dark hole with the lights off.

There is nothing wrong with discretion and caution. But if you take action out of fear, it would be better to address fear first, and transform it, instead of addressing the things you fear.

Then everything else is going to transform with him. Do you understand what we mean?

So, what they are saying is that if an individual, through acceptance of their own vulnerability and spiritual composition, is convinced that they are not vulnerable and are not afraid of the AIDS virus, then are they really invulnerable to it? ?

Yes .

They just would not attract those people, right?

Exactly.

It's not that they are invulnerable, it's that they do not want to attract those people to them.

Exactly, yes .

It changes the idea that AIDS is only transferred through sexual relations, since even babies are acquiring it. The thing is, if you are going to buy it, you will get it, even from a toilet seat (if you understand the idea of what we are saying). Protecting yourself by wearing a mask every time you leave is not going to do it. The use of a condom will not do it.

Are you talking about general fear? (because you can be afraid in many directions)

It is the fear of your own vulnerability, the fear that someone or can reach it. If that fear rules your life, you are a priority goal.

Are you not also a priority objective if you are sure that you are invulnerable? Could not you attract something like that just to show you that you are not?

If your sense of invulnerability is great and conceals a sense of insecurity, yes. If you feel invulnerable, but it is a misaligned invulnerability, which is only covering something else, it comes down to (so you do not have to figure out "Well, do I really feel invulnerable?") Is to take each experience as it comes. Be aware of why and when you attract things in your life.

And make judgmental decisions, which is all you can do in your life - the middle ground, the ground that will bring you joy and enthusiasm and growth.

Holistic Healing of AIDS

My ex-nutritionists had their first AIDS patient, who was dying and wanted to try their particular diet, which is to eat all the raw foods.

But he had had many previous illnesses and was full of medication. The diet elaborated for him, curiously, had a lot of raw meat, fertile eggs, honey and oranges. He said it was delicious, but getting rid of the toxins was so hard for him, that after a bowel movement, he could not crawl out of the bathroom. He said everything went green. So, then, the diet was working.

But he was so weak and so weak that he only decided to leave everything and go into a hospital. He knew that the moment he did it, he was a dead person. The nutritionists learned that this kind of process would work to clean and rebuild, although there was no way the patient could really move on until its final conclusion.

There have been many cases, not isolated, of the holistic cure of AIDS, but we are not listening to them. The reason why you are not hearing about this is obvious, if you think about it, there would be chaos in the restructuring of your medical associations.

That would kick a lot of pedestals.

Medical pedestals. Thank you.

I read somewhere that there is nothing that can not be cured with something from the Earth. It has everything that can help you.

We agree. But sometimes, first you have to really detoxify to be able to enjoy that herb. Many of the foods you eat will intoxicate you so much that you will not be able to benefit from the herb.

Taking the issue again, even if a vaccine is discovered, it will not work unless you want to heal. You all know this, at least in theory.

So AIDS is a major challenge for the planet (not that you have not had enough challenges already).

The purpose of not healing

Is there any purpose to be served by not wanting to heal yourself, by wanting to suffer instead of taking a more joyful route of learning?

There are always objectives and the purpose can be at the individual level. For example, the people themselves may feel that they need to benefit from that experience. Maybe they have done something in another life and this is their way of learning about it. And then there is a purpose in terms of how the person interacts with other human beings, and that the goal can be multiple.

Seeing someone die of pain causes great healing emotion, and a great healing emotion has been something that our society has avoided for a long time. So there is always a purpose. In fact, nothing ever happens that has no purpose.

The question then is, how much does it communicate with a person who is really suffering, who could have another way out? Or should we leave them alone?

You can communicate to them new ideas, but there is a very fine line between which they take it actively and you push them. If you see that someone is willing to look in other directions, then you may feel that you can be of help to the person. If they are resistant, it is possible that from time to time you put a thought to them. If they do not take it, it is not their responsibility.

Is not one level of evolution taking another exit, or are the two forms equally useful?

Both are equally useful. Your society is learning to get out of the martyr or victim complex. It is not so much that you are exchanging a path for another one more evolved, it is that you are exchanging a less pleasant path for another more satisfactory path.

When you say "your society", what do you mean?

We refer more directly to the American society and indirectly to the planetary society, because we understand that there are exceptions when we address society.

Why do you refer to American society?

Because we are talking to the Americans, and most of the people listening to the recordings will be Americans. In addition, many people on the planet recognize the American way of life as being the example.

We are not isolating American public opinion as something different from the rest of the world, but what we say is often directed to your belief systems here, because we are talking directly to you. It might be a little different if we were speaking to a Japanese or Australian or French audience.

In general, what needs to be communicated is communicated.

Belief Systems Can Neutralize Toxins

About belief systems: I know individuals who continue to intoxicate their body - you know, with Coca Cola and coffee and white flour and sugar - and in fact, I think the more they consume, the more immune they become. Can one neutralize that belief system about being toxic and continue to be poisoned without being affected?

Absolutely. Once again, everything is a belief system.

If you took a soulless human body and nourished it, you will see that it responds to substances, such as algae, things lower in the food chain, wheat grass, vegetables, fruits, etc., but as soon as the soul, you have a belief system and you have the options that the soul has taken.

For example, Bob may never have been sick a single day in his life, he eats butter in everything and always feels wonderful, but his diet is atrocious. One day, Bob dies of a heart attack at a young age, even though he has never been sick. Bob did not really have a belief system about food, he ate the way he had to eat to be able to fulfill what he wanted to do, which is to die at a young age.

In that sense, everyone is doing what they need to do at a given moment. As you give up judgment on this, you will all relinquish your judgment about yourself and your belief systems. Then they will align more with some of the more natural forms of food.

If you are not there now, that's fine, because it's not going to affect you. See what we mean by that? Everything is your belief system.

Can there be a person who has certain tasks to fulfill and who is interrupted by an opposition program that sabotages or interferes with this person's achievement, because it would go against those who are trying to oppress?

This can only happen if this is part of that person's project or template and they have chosen to be interfered with by an apparently external source. There can never be someone else who influences you in something that is not part of your agreed process.

So the first-born Egyptians who died had chosen to have that experience?

Yes absolutely. That was his experience, his choice. Much of this is based on belief systems as well, but at the soul level there were other reasons, depending on the individual.

Moses and the Ten Commandments

Can you enlighten us a little about the Ten Commandments? Where do they come from? I do not believe that God gave Moses the tablets. Chiseled by his own hand. The "You shall not", you know, is the patriarchal society. But there must have been better original writing as a guide.

Good question, thank you. We were talking about sovereign principles. During that time there was a Syrian man who was on and off in their long history.

You have known this sovereign by several names, one of which is Jehovah's .

Many people ask what is the relationship between Jehovah and Yahweh. Just as you have unbalanced people on your land, people with multiple personalities, this was also common in the ET community. Jehovah, known as the wrathful God , also had a very kind and compassionate side - Yahweh.

It would really depend on the mood of the day, which side would come out. Jehovah's entity had several incarnations, some of them were very kind and loving, and others were very authoritarian. The ten commandments were given to Moses by the sovereign Jehovah.

This is very interesting, because as one reads the Bible (we are struggling a bit with the words, because the channel is well versed in the Bible), when God was on Mount Sinai it was described as rippling red clouds and ships spatial making noises. Unless we are talking about a volcano, what makes the sky turn red with smoke and noise?

A volcano.

Yes, but that was not a volcano. The aliens at this time had what you call rockets. They do not possess the ability to double time, so they traveled on the surface of space. When we say rockets, that's what we mean.

Moses climbed the mountain and was exposed to the radiation of the ship. And the idea of the fiery bush was about its exposure there to radiation. When he came down, he was asked why he had aged so much up there. He had absorbed the radiation.

Moses had some extraterrestrial blood in him to begin with, so he was very long-lived, even with the irradiated condition.

How much time did you spend?

Several hundred years. The ten commandments were Jehovah's last way, he had tried many ways to inculcate public order in the people he had to supervise. The "you will not do" and all that softened a bit, but they were still hard and rigid. They were a reflection of his personality.

Look what the simple Ten Commandments have done for their world. Imagine this feudal lord ET - a man like any of you in the room - coming out of this stone and affecting a planet for thousands of years. A little weird, right?

Did they have laser technology at that time?

The aliens, yes. The tablets were engraved.

Did they use the language of Moses in the engraving of these commandments?

Yes.

Did Moses think of that extraterrestrial being as God or as a messenger?

During that time they knew that God had a body. What we are seeing in the Bible is not the way they thought then. If you approach someone on the street and ask, "What is God?" People are often very confused. I do not know. At that time the sovereigns were the Gods. You served God. You were like being a slave of God.

God included different beings, not just one man, right?

Exactly. It was a group, not just a man, etc.

So we have a patriarchal power structure there in those days. There were no female goddesses?

Oh, they did. Of course.

The idea of one God

So, where did the idea of a God come from?

The idea of a God was an acknowledgment on the part of people that dealing with the sovereigns, that these sovereigns were not God, in the sense of the Supreme Creator. They knew that they were people, that they were not the Supreme Creator.

There was a spiritual understanding that recognized a Force. So now we have these two different beliefs rooted in the planet: Some people say that God is a force, and some say he is a man sitting on a throne. Then they were clear about it. But they thought that perhaps these sovereigns were closer to God and that they were not equal to them.

What did Moses see when he dwelt on them? How did they look? Were they wearing space suits or ...?

No. They were very bright in their eyes.

To our knowledge, he really laid eyes on them once or twice. Sometimes I would see a ship wrapped in smoke or clouds, and the bush was also a representation. But only once did he really see a closer representation of them. It was a generated image and it was light, it would be like watching you and being blinded by you.

The genetics of the firstborn

Can I return a moment to this firstborn son, whose genetics are slightly different from other children of the same family? What is the reason for the slightly different genetic material in the firstborn?

It was to be able to track them, so that they could maintain their pure lineage.

Is this what is latent with what we are still dealing with?

Yes, this is still quite that way.

The origin of dysfunctional relationships

The first child of each family has a more difficult line to crack, because they say that the parents are not psychologically equipped or experienced as parents, and the firstborn has to be the experiment in the relationships between parents and children. Is there any connection?

Well, it's a vague connection. The two different ET groups, the Lyrans and the Sirians, were their models for relationships, which means that you assumed the role of the children and they became the symbolic parents.

As you became fertile and multiplied, you began to treat your family in the same way that you were treated by them.

That means there was no equality between parents and children, that there was usually a conflict between the two parents, and that the first child had a greater responsibility. Almost all forms of dysfunction that they have now in terms of family dynamics have come from the patterns of their relationship with these early aliens.

We marvel at this. You know, we love you all very much. But sometimes it's disconcerting if you look at the dynamics and see everything that has happened and how your current core is the result of the belief patterns of your early ET ancestors.

Is incredible. And yet, all that has not yet awakened them, meaning the consciousness of the masses.

You can see how valuable this information is that you are sharing with us. How valuable it could be if it were spread on a wider base!

Valuable only to a certain extent, because those who want to listen to your heart will hear it and others will not.

Information of this type is coming out in groups all over the world.

Yes it is. And the language will be expressed in the belief system that people are able to understand. Yes.

What is the difference between people like us who are really in this information and people who do not feel the slightest interest or are not attracted to it? Is there a different level of soul evolution, or are we in different places? Why are we attracted to it and many other people do not?

It is more that you have chosen to be a trigger in this life, that is why you are attracted to this. For example, you all know the story of the hundredth monkey. All your society, one by one does not have to change. When enough people change, the whole society changes.

Those of you who are attracted to this are the ones who bring the new ideas.

Many people are needed to resonate with new information, but after that, the point becomes irrelevant, since all will start regardless of whether one becomes more involved or not.

And we are heading towards that?

Absolutely, without a doubt. Yes!

Jehovah and the First God

I would like to return to the discussion of Jehovah. I am somewhat familiar with biblical language, so I know that Jehovah is not a Hebrew word and is not mentioned in the Hebrew Bible. It is simply a transcription of an acronym that means God. That acronym is always interpreted as First God. The name of Jehovah does not exist at all in Hebrew.

Right. It is a name that you use now, but it is not inherent in that time. Thank you for mentioning it. You are seeing that the whole idea of the first cause or God as an energy or force is confused with the idea of a person, so when you try to see a religious connection, you become a model.

Are you saying that in the Bible there are two references, one to the First God and the other to these extraterrestrials, these feudal sovereigns?

It really depends on the particular story that you are talking about. For example, Elohim is a group instead of just one person. Jehovah could be one soul, but many incarnations of it.

But Jehovah does not exist in the Bible - is not that a correct perception?

Yes. But the name is used as a label. And there have been other connections. The Sumerians ... well, we really do not want to go into that. The connection with Enki in the Sumerian texts with Jehovah is not a direct connection.

They are not the same soul, but it is the same soul family .

Do you understand what we mean? We would like to clarify this for you.

The Hebrew name that has been transcribed in Jehovah refers to what has always been, is and always will be. That is the definitive reference for the First God, not a Lord.

Yes. We are saying that the Bible has confused several different issues. The Jehovah that is spoken of and the reference is not what we are calling the angry God person .

So are you saying that Moses had different experiences at different times and transmitted different messages?

Yes.

Some of their experiences were not in communication with anyone, were they just a meditation, picking up wavelengths?

Absolutely correct. Another tactic, so to speak, was communicating with some of these people like Moses through covert sources. You have this now - double agents. It's just another way to cause confusion.

When you can confuse, you can control.

The Current Sovereigns

Did the sovereigns only die and not be perpetuated? I do not understand when they come to an end, or why or how.

There were periods of time where the balance of power changed on your planet - for example, the time of the flood (only to launch a random event here). Before the flood, the Lyrans were in power and after the flood, mainly those of Sirius. Through different periods of time, the descendants would come and claim the rights of their ancestors, and that is where the struggle would take place.

It is not that we are being restricted, but that we have to understand that we have what we feel are valid reasons not to talk about what is happening right now. Part of this has to do with the fact that this is not your battle.

The whole idea of co-dependence and empowerment shows that it would be useless to be involved in this. It is not your business, in terms of your day to day life. They can not affect your daily life.

Do sovereigns still exist, then?

They still exist , but they no longer control how they used to because you are enough for them. (As an example, the entity that you called Hitler had some contacts with one of the Lira rulers.) They are very limited as to what they can do for the planet at this time._

Spiritually, many of us here are more evolved than some of the sovereigns are, in terms of understanding that everything has its place and its own power ...

In terms of your being willing to work on these issues, absolutely. In a certain sense, it can be said that they come from a past orientation. Remember what we said: they are you. So it is that you are in the past acting.

When we said that you did not get involved in it, we did not mean that you should not take responsibility for your past, because that is important, we mean, that you do not bring that into the present and perpetuate it. You have to let two children fight and it will end later.

If you go as a parent or another person and point your finger and scream, it will only make the situation worse.

Inherited Breeding Patterns

Could you talk more about the parenting patterns we have inherited?

Yes. We will talk more about this in the future, but we will give you some basic dynamics. The manifestation of Lira, the most authoritarian manifestation, would be like the father. The manifestation of Sirius, although it is authoritarian, assumes the role of mother, because they are the ones who were always trying to protect us (although at the same time, some of them were stabbing them in the back).

What we have here is a dynamic between the mother and the father who have their own agendas in dealing with you. Sometimes they present a united front, but they have their own agendas.

Within the hierarchy as it was in the past, the Syrians mostly delegated to the Lyrans, the mother delegating the father. "Go and ask your father."

That is a dynamic that was instigated, that in some way the figure of the father in the relationship is the dominant one. It has nothing to do with social roles - who earn more money or who is going to work or whatever. It is the pattern.

There have been ancient civilizations that changed roles, so it is not a fact, but it is a very strong factor on your planet.

Family Secretism Pattern - Shaping Your Identity as a Species

One of the manifestations of the patterns is in the field of family dynamics. There is a lot of secrecy in families just as there is in government.

And every time there are secrets that are not shared, chaos erupts.

The secrets are like a magnet in a relationship, always one is attracted in the direction of the magnet's strength. And the magnet is like a black hole, because every time you look, you will not be able to see anything. So when these ancestors of yours interacted with you, you would feel their secrets, that is, they were ashamed, they feared, all that.

Because they are not willing to put their cards on the table, you see them as something superior - they have no problem, they are very pious and good. This has been transmitted to you when you interact with your own children, the parents present a front where it is not admitted to be wrong. They are almost superhuman.

How many of you remember looking at your parents and thinking that they did not have any problems, that they did not have any secrets? That is the paradox, that is the dynamics. It was very obvious to many people that they did it, even though they "should not". A great confusion has occurred because of this early pattern.

Right now, in the period of time you are paying as much attention to how you have become who you are, to your parents and how you have become what you are because of your parents and so on and on. But they still have not taken all the way back to the source.

When it started? It did not start from some great-grandfather who was an alcoholic. And it goes beyond that. It goes to the source. It goes up to its identity as a species.

Who is responsible for shaping their identity as a species? Who was? The parents, whoever they were. An immense responsibility

So as you expand your consciousness, you begin to be able to look back into that void and see how far the chain goes back to the source. Once you orient your ancestors, you have all the development of your ancestors in sight. But it will not be so, here we are dealing with a planetary dynamic.

Very liberating for you.

Integration and Balance Male / Female

Could you talk about this role of employers in relation to the women's movement?

During early civilization, very early, you were dependent on the gods. They provided food, shelter, and a reason to live. When you grow up, especially in the first years of life, your parents are your world. That is one aspect of it.

In response to their idea of the women's movement, women and men have exchanged roles over time. If we go back to the source of human identity, women were valued for the actions they could produce. We understand that it is a painful thought for many women.

In the minds of the gods, men were valued for the hard physical work they could do and for the occasional seed to help the race. But it was often the Gods who made women pregnant - hence the image of the divine goddess.

In the last hundred years as you are reaching consciousness, since you are coming to an awakening, you will have to come to terms with your planetary identity and your identity as a reflection of the polarity, that is, masculine / feminine, and of how there is a man inside a woman and a woman inside a man. Part of what you have experienced with the whole revolution is an attempt, although dramatic, to bring balance.

Only a few years ago the big thing was the spirituality of women. Only several years later were groups of men. You are all trying desperately to find a center, to find a man in a woman and a woman in man.

You will find it. You will find it and you will discover your spirituality in this, because your body is no longer your identity or what you can provide your father God. That idea is gone.

Your Bible be Christian or Catholic says that sex is only for procreation. Do only this, do only that. Sex should never be nice, etc. Once again, this is the idea of controlling the functions of the body, the idea that women are carriers of children and men who are basically good for just one thing. Those ideas are changing. That is due to the development of the integrated human being now.

You will see more and more and more of this in the coming years. Especially see your children. Adults are now learning to re-shape their children differently from the way they were molded. So a whole new paradigm will be formed.

From our perspective, it is very exciting.

I wanted to ask you about what is the esoteric meaning of the other sacrifices later in the Bible? Can you give us an example?

Well, at that time, the Jerusalem temple had many animal sacrifices.

It would really depend on the time period in which it was happening, as well as the importance of the animal in particular. For example, a lamb is very vulnerable. (Lamb, AIDS, vulnerability - Everyone has the same idea) It would really depend on the time period, the importance, and the animal in particular as to what the meaning was.

Look at the events around, look at the symbology, and you will be able to see it.

Use your imagination

The resurrection of Lazarus

What about Lázaro, what did he really do and how long did he last after he was resurrected? His life could not have been very normal.

We are accessing the memory channels, there is no reference, so you will have to tell the story so that we can respond in your language.

Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead. Lazarus was dead. The family of Lazarus, came running to Jesus in search of help, so Jesus went to the tomb and called out loudly and Lazarus came out of the grave. Could it be that Lazarus was really in a coma and Jesus was wise enough to recognize this? That is one of the theories.

To our knowledge, the body had not died. The situation was a coma-like state, but at that moment when Lázaro woke up there was a soul exchange, which would be considered a walk-in experience .

And, of course, Jesus told himself that he had performed a miracle.

That was his doing. It's the kind of friend who was in the right place at the right time.

Renegotiating your future an easier way

I have noticed that a lot of things that have happened in my life is because I had accepted them at some level of consciousness. So, if I have an experience and I do not agree with it, how can I negotiate?

Excellent question You will never be bound by your agreement, just like a marriage contract. Let's give an analogy.

When you have entered a life, your superior soul chooses to go through a safe passageway. You want to go down that aisle. No matter what else you do, you will go down that aisle. As for how he goes down that aisle, it's entirely his business.

You can run, you can go back, you can go cartwheel. That is the difference between your choice of superior soul and your choice of free will . His superior soul creates the corridor, but you are the one who chooses the way to go for it.

Let's say you have chosen to create chronic pain in your leg. Now, you recognize that this was an agreement to get to that point right now where there is something you want to do. The first thing would be to proceed to recognize that you have made that agreement. The next step would be to understand why you have made that agreement.

Sometimes that is difficult for many people, it can be painful, since it could be something that you really do not want to see. What was he trying to teach himself? Why choose pain in the leg?

Then, the third step would be to discover a way in your head that you can give yourself the same lesson in a more comfortable way. As you consciously go through this process, you will renegotiate your agreements.

You reach point number three, where it says:

"I am able to give me the same message by doing this instead of that."

When you realize this, you will break the control you have in the negative model, the pattern that you do not prefer. The fourth step is to begin actively participating in the new preference or behavior. Take one step at a time. There is no rush to go through any of the steps.

Understands?

Yes. Is it possible that my superior soul made two agreements that are in conflict? Or in an occupant situation?

Your higher soul will never create something that can not be resolved. Now, rarely a higher soul can create something that can not be resolved because it needed to experience this. That is not the case here. Your superior soul will not create something that can not be resolved.

The occupant experience is much less frequent than people think. Often, the new energy that comes from a part of you will be braided or linked to you instead of replacing it.

Understands?

I have a question then about the model that one has through astrology. Is that model of the higher self, or the one that shows how one is going to walk down that aisle?

It is the superior being helping him to build the corridor. For example, when you go down the aisle, it's like an area that gives you traction. Let's say you have a certain thing in your letter that says you could have good interpersonal relationships.

He is being given traction in the hall so that in everything he chooses to do, the foot does not slip. But if you want, you can totally ignore that. It is something that is given to you as a tool if you want to use it.

In the area of astrology where houses are empty, can one begin to make his own letter consciously?

Yes. It will not change the information of your birth, but you will attract to you the energy that you might not have realized before that you had it. It's like changing your reality.

Can you expand this last statement a bit? I guess I'm wanting a little more information.

It basically has to do with creating something you want to create in your life. The use of a birth chart is a way to do it, but it is not the only way. The dynamics of doing that is the same if you use your letter or just do it in a notebook or in your head or whatever.

Be prepared to attract something to you and start playing with the idea of becoming that.

Hitler's ET Connections

Can you tell us what was the nature of Hitler's meeting with that feudal lord?

Hitler was a very clever and intelligent man; somehow he was also used as a puppet. I was aware of the existence of extraterrestrials. He was aware, at least in the abstract, of the existence of a particular energy in which he was entering. We did not notice that there was a face-to-face meeting, but he was aware of the idea that he was receiving guidance from another kingdom.

It was Lyran in nature, authoritarian and severe. Lira is Caucasian, Aryan. One of the things we do not mention today is where the prejudice on your planet comes from.

The highest gods in the hierarchy were white. That's where it took shape from. There was a belief then that the more evolved you were, the whiter your skin was. (Ask a member of the Klu Klux Klan and they will tell you this.)

When you say that the Hebrews were under Sirius, I did not register it, because I thought they were considered white.

In the letter we gave him from [The Prism of Lira by Lyssa Royal and Keith Priest, 1990] it is more a Vega connection. As they play on their planet they are still white, but it is a different genetic line. When you look at Hitler, then, he is a lord of Lyra trying to return the Syrians through Hitler.

In the case of the Hebrews, I'm still not clear why ...

Sirius connection. That is why the Hebrews were their main objective.

Why do Lyrans want to return to the Syrians?

It is the old territorial dispute that started in the Lira system and was brought to Earth. The land was seen as a very rich environment, desired by many groups that were colonizing.

So, was it rich in minerals, natural resources and that kind of thing that the Lyrans coveted?

That's what it was at the beginning. But then, the race that you became was very tempting. You were a very difficult species to master.

Claiming our power and unified identity.

If we are fighting only for ourselves, then would any group that we attract to our planet that wage war for us be created by us?

They exist outside of you. They are independent of you, but you have attracted them to you for what you need to resolve within yourselves.

In other words, they are reflecting what we are still working on. So the idea of a continuing war on Earth - and the takeover and colonization - is still in existence until we finish this?

Until they claim their power and have a unified planetary identity. The reason why you are still seen as something to claim is because you have not claimed yourselves.

Why do not they go down in mass and take control?

Because his tactic, his philosophy, has been to divide and conquer. If they come down in mass, you will unify, because it is a common enemy, and you would be able to oppose them.

What you describe seems that they are more powerful, but that we are more spiritual.

It's interesting how he put it into words. They are more powerful in the physical sense, in that maybe they have more technology than you. But you have a power that nobody else has.

It is a power that is born of the integration process that you have lived, not only formed its beginnings on this planet, but you like them and their past. At this time you have the history of the integration of the Earth, as well as the history of the ancestors. They only have their own history.

Thus, in all their descriptions, they do not sound as if they were moving toward a goal, except territorial claims and power games. It does not seem that they are working on themselves the way they are telling us that we will work on ourselves.

They are doing it in the sense that their numbers are decreasing rapidly. That is an indication. Back in the ancestors days, their number was very large. Your numbers are smaller now.

Are you going to identify them "as" a particular group?

We would not do it justice in doing that, because the identities that we are giving them, Lira and Sirio, are old labels. Nowadays it is a little different. It's clearer for us to talk about dynamics instead of labels.

If your number is decreasing, does that mean that there is more reincarnating here for this experience?

To take the active role in integration, yes. Those who are only bent on domination are quite tired of losing or at least stagnating, and moving to another place, as well as those who are not interested in their growth.

Is there something we can or should do when we meet some of these energies that are now incarnating, that have stagnated? These are our friends who are going through this process, but they are ...

There really is not much you can do except be willing to present new ideas to them. If they wish to reject it, it is their responsibility. But be willing to give an idea, a new idea, that can provoke someone to a whole series of realizations. Apart from that, there is really no responsibility.

You have enough to handle with yourselves.

Knowing these ETs

I understand that in the next ten years, the majority of the planet will become aware that there are UFOs, that there are aliens, and that we have been visited by them for years. How is it going to affect the idea of these sovereigns?

They are going to be exposed through a series of events. The first would be to expose the cover-up. Although many of those who really enjoy the drama, there is a possibility that the cover-up will never be exposed. There is a reason for that. You will begin your relationship with them in the present.

As if this was a surprise to them, too, like it just happened?

That can be the clean way to do it, a way to cover their bases that would provide an important service for all, so that everyone can work on healing the past without the scandal and emotions that would confuse the issue. That is a possibility. If the "cover-up" is thrown at everything, then these reactions can become mixed with the excitement of discovering your galactic family, and things could become confusing.

Will you create the idea in the minds of people on this planet who have not evolved enough, and will therefore begin to worship these gods?

We do not perceive that this will happen.

Remember, you are them, and all that we have experienced since the time you worshiped them is to get away from this idea. It is possible that there are people on the planet who could do it, those would be people who are afraid of their own power and you have to give it to someone else. But as a whole, we do not perceive that this is going to happen.

We often study the natural evolution of planetary civilizations that go through the period in which you are now - becoming globally unified and bringing your connections from extraterrestrial sources. The stage in which they are at this moment is the natural state, the natural timing, when the process of adoration is broken.

Would this exchange, if it were not used as a cover-up and there were massive visits, in the short term, would there be a common exchange, or would there be a certain certain event reserved?

Things are happening so fast on your planet at this moment that it is our understanding that there may be a fervor when it starts that it may last a year or maybe less, and then it will be seen as normal.

As for the "powers that be ", the group that has the appearance of controlling the planet Earth - the banking system - and has been for some time: Have they been working with extraterrestrials, have been working from the Lira paradigm [authoritarianism] made more obvious?

His agenda (perhaps not consciously) has been to heal his Lira connections, so they are recreating him in order to heal.

Although the apparent reason is to gain power.

Yes, because that is the way to get to that point, from where you can take it for healing. That is the starting point for healing, as they see it.

This will also be his disappearance, in a way, a rupture of the idea of power, and this will be related to the rest of the planet.

And it is also important to remember that you have everything that has been established in this way.
