SKINCARE by Reem

This one has been getting a lot of media coverage of late due to adequate vitamin D levels being closely linked with helping to fight off covid-19. It is a fat soluble vitamin that is naturally present in very few foods, so it is also unlikely you are getting enough through your diet. Vitamin D is produced endogenously by ultra violet rays from sunlight hitting the skin and triggering vitamin D synthesis. Living in Ireland, where sun light exposure isn't always going to be as optimal as it would be in warmer and sunnier climates, it is essential that we supplement with vitamin D3.
