

Agario Pvp Server

Agario started as a very simple unblocked game, in which we had to feed ourselves with dough to enlarge our cell while we ate our smallest enemies and dodged those who outnumbered us. Since Agar.io began to popularize, its developer has been introducing some extras such as the possibility of separating into several parts by pressing the W key or new skins depending on the name that we put to our cell, or the team mode.

Note that there are two game modes to play multiplayer in Agar.io, but we must not confuse each other. One of them is "Team", where on entering we will be automatically assigned a color (red, green or blue) and we will have to match the same color to eat the cells of the other colors. A detail to keep in mind: we can not eat our allies.
