

Connecting people around the globe with cryptocurrency remittance and blockchain technology

Freelancers from all over the world are getting paid in cryptocurrency and want to send it to their loved ones.

Remittance companies, using TripleA technology, can accept their cryptocurrencies and convert it to local currencies.

Recipients get the money in their preferred local currency directly into their bank account.