Harborpark Day Celebration In The Navy Yard On Sunday

The ninth annual Harborpark Day Celebration, sponsored by the Boston Redevelopment Authority, will be held on Sunday, Sept. 19 from noon to 6 p.m. at Shipyard Park in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

As in past years, the Harborpark Day Celebration will be held in conjunction with the annual "Chowda-fest," sponsored by Horizons For Youth, a non-profit organization that provides outdoor education, counseling and camping programs for inner-city children in need. Twenty Boston area restaurants will prepare over 1,500 gallons of chowder to compete for the 1993 "Chowda Champ" title as chowder aficionados go from booth to booth tasting the various offerings and voting for their favorite chowder. The admission fee for visitors is $6 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and children under 12. All proceeds will be used to support Horizons For Youth.

BRA Director Paul Barrett said: "Harborpark Day is our way to welcome residents as well as visitors to our historic waterfront and show them what the waterfront contributes to our city. We look forward once again to making this a day for family entertainment."

The Harborpark Day Celebration also offers many children's activities including Disney characters, jugglers, stilt walkers, one-man band, face painting, sea-of-balls, moonwalks, old fashioned horse carousel and barnyard animals. Teen activities include basketball free-throw, three-point shot and hook shot competition, coordinated by the Boston Community Centers and Boston Special Olympics with trophies awarded to first, second and third place and overall champion.

A harbor flotilla consisting of a water and siren display will feature fire and

YOUR VOTE DOES COUNT

Go to the polls on Tuesday, Sept. 21 — Preliminary Election Day in the city of Boston — and vote. Your vote really does count.

We are living in a time of change. The challenges of the present and future are awe inspiring. If we, the concerned citizens of the city of Boston, are to have an influence on the destiny of our city through our constitutional form of government, we must be able to voice our support for candidates and programs that stand for what is right and just and this can only be done at the ballot box.

Does it really matter? A thinking person will immediately and emphatically say "YES."

Exercise your prerogative — vote on Tuesday, Sept. 21.

MONEY MATTERS by Nicholas C. Pino

"Let us assist you in your financial planning"

HOMEOWNERS SHOULD KEEP AN EYE ON THEIR ESCROW ACCOUNT

Most mortgage lenders require homeowners to pay into mortgage escrow accounts to ensure that payments for real estate taxes, insurances and other costs are made. Lenders often require a cushion in the accounts in case a mortgage payment arrives late or a bill is larger than expected. But under a 1975 federal law, a lender can't keep a cushion larger than one-sixth of the homeowner's annual bills. Some mortgage documents stipulate smaller cushions.

Many mortgage companies still ask homeowners to place more money than necessary in escrow accounts. There is no reason, however, why cushions in escrows should carry excessive padding. Escrows are only intended to be a safety device for both you and your lender.

Figuring your correct escrow payment can be confusing because money goes into escrow each month and leaves as bills come due. The best way: Total annual property tax and insurance bills, then divide by 6. That's the maximum allowed by law.

To make sure everything is on the up and up, grab your calculator and sit down with your annual summary of escrow account activity. Your lender should provide you with a statement every year. It will show how much money you are putting in per month and how much is going out in insurance, tax and other payments.

Unfortunately, these statements can be difficult to understand. However, if the numbers don't seem to add up, and the explanation you receive from your lender still leaves you puzzled, for a fee, there are a number of mortgage monitoring firms that will examine your escrow account for you. Charges can range from $75 to more than $300 depending on the complexity of the case. Some firms will provide a free consultation. Others offer the option of being paid a percentage of any recouped money; typically charging around 35 percent.

Voke To Sponsor Third Annual Charity Benefit

Continuing a tradition to recognize the outstanding work done by the many charitable organizations within Charlestown, State Rep. Richard Voke announced that his third annual Charlestown Charity Celebration will be held on Thursday, Oct. 14. The event, held at the Charlestown Knights of Columbus hall, will feature the Andy Healy Band. As he has done in previous years, Voke will donate all the evening's proceeds from the $2 admission price back to local charities.

"Having worked side by side with so many talented and considerate people who care so much for their neighbors and community, the Charlestown Charity Celebration is my way of acknowledging the excellent work that I have witnessed being done by the many charitable organizations of Charlestown," exclaimed Voke.

According to Voke, over $2,200 was distributed to local charities last year. If history repeats itself, tickets to Voke's event will go fast.

For further information on how to purchase tickets, check the advertisement on page 15 of this edition.

UNDERSTANDING THE FINE PRINT

An important part of being an informed buyer or seller in any real estate transaction is to understand clearly the purchase contract. This means taking a look at the forms used in your community before you sit down with an agent to make a written offer or, if you're the seller, before that offer is presented to you.

In many areas, Realtors use boiler-plate contracts approved by the local Board of Realtors. In some jurisdictions, lawyers draw up the agreements, and these, too, contain a significant number of standard clauses. In either case, try to get a copy of whatever paperwork you will be signing before you need it. This way, you can read it at your leisure and ask questions about any clauses you do not understand. If any of the standard clauses do not fit your particular situation, you may discuss alternate language that you would want to have inserted. The key here is to do it before you've found your new dream house or the perfect buyers for your current one. This way you can be calm and cool and really absorb the information.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Monument Properties are ready to serve you. Call us at 241-5900 or drop by 85 Warren St., Charlestown.

To The People Of Charlestown,

Ten years ago, in my first attempt to hold public office, the people of Charlestown embraced and supported my candidacy for election to the Boston City Council. I will never forget how good you have been to me and my family since that first campaign.

I promised to make government aware of and responsive to your needs. Your confidence and your trust in my ability to serve the people of this district has been most gratifying and truly rewarding.

My tenure as your city councillor is coming to an end. For me, it marks the beginning of a full-time role as a state senator. I still care deeply about our city's future, and I believe it is tremendously important that effective and responsive representation remains constant after my departure from city government.

We, as a community, are confronted with problems educating our children, safeguarding our streets from crime, keeping our economy stable and ensuring a brighter future for our children. Knowing what to do today will help make for a better tomorrow.

One candidate for office shares the same vision, the same passion and the same commitment to help those who seek help.

One candidate is better educated and more qualified to serve than any other individual seeking an at-large council seat. Frankly, he is more qualified than I was when I first held office.

One candidate, on his own, has made his mark during this campaign. He is now poised to begin his career in public service.

That candidate is my brother Michael and he needs your help.

I am proud of my brother, but I do not ask you to vote for Michael Travaglini simply because he will continue a strong tradition of service to this community. I ask you to look at his qualifications, his education and experience, and compare him to the many others who seek to hold citywide office. I believe that you will agree with me that Michael Travaglini represents a fresh approach, a new enthusiasm and an unparalleled background to serve our community and our city effectively.

Join with me in knowing that your vote for Michael Travaglini for Boston City Council At-Large is the beginning of a BETTER BOSTON.

Sincerely yours,

Bobby Travaglini

Thompson Square Island Designated Edward 'Gus' Whelan Park

by Kathy Whelan Giordano
Designation of the Edward "Gus" Whelan Park in Thompson Square took place on Sept. 7. Over 75 friends and dignitaries joined members of the Whelan family for the occasion at which a presentation of a plaque was made to Mr. Whelan's widow, Kay.

The ceremony followed a unanimous vote by the Parks Commission designating the island outside One Thompson Square in honor of Mr. Whelan. The two islands in the square are scheduled to be transformed into parks as part of a project begun by the Charlestown Preservation Society over seven years ago. Construction is scheduled to begin in early spring 1994, with completion in October.

Mr. Whelan is being honored by the city for an act of heroism that took place on Nov. 9, 1960. While intervening in an assault on a young woman at the Thompson Square train station on that date, he pursued the assailants, apprehended them and brought them to the former police station in City Square where he suffered a heart attack and died. He was 42 years of age.

In recognition of this act of courage, former Mayor Raymond Flynn in 1990 allocated the island, site of the former train station, to be named for Whelan. Acting Mayor Thomas Menino has personally taken on the task of ensuring that the park be completed.

Among those in attendance at the ceremony were

Mrs. Angela Menino, wife of the Acting Mayor, Rep. Richard A. Voke and members of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council. Others present included Browne Fund Executive Secretary Robert Fleming, Boston Parks Department Executive Secretary Justine

Liff, Boston Parks Department Commissioner Patrick S. Harrington, Project Landscape Architect Nicholas Reed, Parks Department Landscape Architect Kenneth Crasco, Councilor Robert Travaglini's Charlestown coordinator Charles Clabaugh and

Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services Charlestown Coordinator Judy Evers. Charlestown Preservation Society members Annette Tecce and Dan Kovacevic, who have fought for the refurbishing of the two islands for the past seven years, were also present, as were many members of the Preservation Society.

A gathering of residents, elected officials and highway and transportation representatives stood at the entrance to the Central Artery/North Area (CANA) tunnel on Rutherford Avenue on Sept. 13 to mark the opening of the northbound tunnel carrying traffic onto the Tobin Bridge.

It represented the culmination of 15 years of planning by the state with significant input from Charlestown residents who united under the name of the North Area Task Force (NATF). This group has worked countless hours to see that the community had a strong voice in the planning and execution of the highway system in the City Square area that was carried out to remove one of the most dangerous intersections in the country on the ramps above the square.

James J. Kerasiotes, secretary of Transportation and Construction for the state acted as master of ceremonies. He and the speakers on the program praised the tremendous input of the NATF members along with the support of House Majority Leader Rep. Richard A. Voke, working together with project head Ed Barr to solve the problems that arose.

Lt. Gov. A. Paul Cellucci, who also praised Voke, spoke of the project as a tribute to the people of the community and those in the transportation sector. He said that all are pleased with the changes taking place — the newly opened space, the prospects of development, the temporary loop ramps under construction and the demolition of the ramps at City Square late next year that will connect Charlestown with its waterfront and the City Square Park which will be started in the spring.

At the outset, Voke thanked his colleagues in government and then, looking out into the audience, stated that there was a story on each person's face of their participation in the process. He added that the group was tenacious, they did their research and they fought for every aspect of the project. He noted that "the frosting on the cake" is the great park planned for City Square, adding that the residents are responsible for the design.

Voke went on to say that being their representative was only expressing their will. He told the gathering: "This is your day — this is your success," adding that "participatory government is the way it works."

Boston City Councillor and state Sen. Robert Travaglini noted that "this project is a classic example of what good government is all about." He noted that the people of Charlestown work very hard to make the town a better place to live.

Also on the speaking program was Laurinda T. Bedingfield, commissioner of the Mass. Highway Department. She thanked the team who "brought the project in under budget and on time."

Speaking on behalf of the NATF was Charlestown resident Ken Stone, the group's co-chairman.

After welcoming the officials, Stone stated: "Charlestown has waited a long time for this day! What we see here today with the northbound opening is the result of a successful, long relationship between a community and a state agency. The NATF has worked with the Mass. Highway Department during the last 15 years to maintain a public participation process in order to find solutions to issues that provide benefits to all. While we have had our differences of opinion now and then, the successful design of the CANA project is a result of this cooperative process.

IT WAS A SPECIAL DAY for members of the North Area Task Force (NATF) as they joined with state officials on Sept. 13 to cut the ribbon that marked the opening of the northbound Central Artery/North Area tunnel to carry traffic from Rutherford Avenue under City Square and up onto the Tobin Bridge. Shown (l. to r.) NATF members Annette Tecce and Dan Kovacevic; Rep. Richard A. Voke; Mass. Highway Department Commissioner Laurinda T. Bedingfield; NATF members Marilyn Darling and Elaine McCarthy; Lt. Gov. A. Paul Cellucci; Secretary of Transportation and Construction James J. Kerasiotes; NATF Co-Chairman Ken Stone; and Boston City Councillor and state Sen. Robert Travaglini.

"We also want to thank all our elected officials who were always there for Charlestown. We especially want to thank Rep. Richard Voke and his aide Jay Ash who stood with the community whenever needed. We want to thank the Weld Administration for agreeing to remove the temporary ramp now over City Square to ensure the project's completion. It was that kind of support that helped the community have a successful project.

"The NATF would like to thank all the people at the Mass. Highway Department that we have been involved with on the CANA project, especially our liaisons, first David Flanagan and later Steve Collins. We also appreciate the effort of people like Eddie Barr who helped with solving some of the everyday problems during the construction years. The Task Force believes that if the Mass. Highway Depart-

Help Sought To Establish 'Neighbor For Neighbor' Program

The Charlestown community has always been known for its generosity and willingness to lend a helping hand when a friend or neighbor was in need. In an effort to continue this tradition and foster the continued feeling of "community," the "Neighbor For Neighbor Program" would like to establish a bank of individuals who would be willing to go the "extra mile" for a neighbor in need.

Recently, the Charlestown community has been the subject of several negative stories in the media. This is not the image of Charlestown that many in our community hold. Memories of those who grew up in Charlestown focus on the simpler things in life that meant so much to us such as the Bunker Hill Day Parade, swimming at the Oilies, the Boys & Girls Club, Joe's Pizza, Townie Football and, most importantly, Townie Pride. While things have changed in town — Joe's is long gone and the Oilies has closed for swimming, but Townie Pride is still very much alive and well. It is the goal of the Neighbor For Neighbor Program to continue to foster and nurture Charlestown Pride through neighbor helping neighbor.

In these difficult economic times, there are many amongst us who need a helping hand every once in a while. Today it is not unusual for many single parents to bring up families, and we have many elderly shut-ins without families and friends to lean on. It is our hope that the Neighbor For Neighbor Program can help fill this void and, at the same time, foster Charlestown Pride.

Although in the preliminary stage, the Neighbor For Neighbor Program would like to help neighbors when they are in need or experiencing an emergency. It is hoped that through publication in the Patriot that the Neighbor For Neighbor Program will be able to build a bank of individuals who could volunteer their time and effort to be of assistance to a neighbor in need.

The Neighbor For Neighbor Program envisions the following services:

*Assistance to single parents on an emergency basis, i.e. help watch the other children while the parent is attending the needs of his/her children; and

*Provide information and outreach services to individuals who are experiencing difficult and trying family problems.

The Neighbor For Neighbor Program would like to extend to the Charlestown community a challenge to get involved. Your suggestions, comments and participation are welcome. Volunteers are asked to call Terry Ring at 241-9487.

Children's Films

The Film Program for Children will be presented at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main St. on Tuesday, Sept. 21 at 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The features will be "Harold's Fairy Tale," the story of how Harold and his magic purple crayon defeat a giant witch; "The Mole and the Gardener" is the story of a mole and a mouse who repair the sprinkler that waters the plants; and Donald Duck attempts to chop down Chip 'n' Dale's tree in "Up a Tree."

"The Boy and the North Wind," in which a boy receives gifts from the North Wind, will be shown only at 3:30 p.m.

Suggested good books to read are How Is a Crayon Made by Charles Oz, Miss Penny and Mr. Grubbs by Lisa Campbell Ernst and Night Tree by Eve Bunting.

Dear Charlestown Resident,

For the past year I have walked throughout Charlestown knocking on doors, greeting people in the street, meeting new friends at social events and stopping by local businesses. The issues most often expressed to me have been: crime in the streets, drugs, jobs, the quality of public education and the outrageous water/sewer bills.

I know my educational background and work experience make me the most qualified candidate. I am an experienced educator. After I earned a master's degree in school administration and a master's degree in guidance and counseling, I taught at the high school and university levels. As a skilled administrator and budget director I have managed budgets in excess of $350 million and staffs of over 200 people. I am the only candidate with extensive administrative and budgetary experience.

In addition to responding to constituent needs and issues, the primary role of a City Councillor is the critical responsibility of budget review and approval. I am committed to using my administrative and budgetary experience to cut waste, fraud and abuse to be certain that your tax dollars are spent wisely.

Please join my friends and loyal supporters listed below and vote for me on ELECTION DAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1993.

Students Welcomed To The New Charlestown Catholic Elementary School

As the harmony of musical instruments playing in unison reveal the beauty of the composer's creation, so our lives, living and working in harmony one with the other, reveal the beauty of God's creation and His image in all of us. With this sentiment and a commitment to be a positive reflection of the community, Charlestown Catholic Elementary School commenced the 1993-1994 school year.

The opening of school is always a time of enthusiasm and excitement about new programs and challenging lessons to be learned; however, there is a significance beyond the usual for Charlestown Catholic, since this is its first year as the collaborative of St. Francis de Sales and St. Catherine of Siena Schools, as well as students from St. Mary's.

Mary's.

The collaboration has brought together students and staff from the former schools, as well as students and staff new to Charlestown. The result of this integration has been an opportunity for new programs, such as a connection with the Massachusetts Corporation for Educational Telecommunications, a connection with Harvard University, which will offer support services for students and an expanded range of teaching techniques which will provide for varied learning styles.

The theme of harmony was reiterated at the opening liturgy concelebrated by priests from St. Francis, St.

Mary's and St. Catherine's churches. During the liturgy, students in Sister Margaret's eighth grade, through readings from Sacred Scripture and through their interpretation of the meaning of harmony, gave further insight as to how our school can be a model of Christian harmony.

In his homily, Father Ron Coyne, pastor of the school, added the goal of spirit, God's life in each member of Charlestown Catholic, and responsibility, each individual's requirement to be a positive representative of the school and of the Charlestown community. It is with a commitment to these goals that Charlestown Catholic begins its first year.

BRA Proposes New Zoning Provision Limiting Billboards

New regulation would effectively curtail billboard proliferation in Boston along I-93, other major routes.

A new zoning regulation, put forward by the Boston

Redevelopment Authority, would give the city of Boston substantial power to limit the ongoing proliferation of billboards along major, federally-assisted roadways including the South-east Expressway, the Mass. Turnpike Extension and Route 1-A.

The proposed amendment to the Zoning Code would require Board of Appeal approval for any new billboards along these roadways and would also require an innovative "eye-for-an-eye" approach which would compel a billboard to be removed in the general vicinity of any new billboards. The petition for the change to the Boston Zoning Code will be taken up at a public hearing by the Zoning Commission of the city of Boston on Wednesday, Sept. 22 at 1:30 p.m. in Room 900 on the ninth floor of Boston City Hall.

For a number of years, groups in Dorchester and other Boston neighborhoods have been seeking more stringent action at the state level regarding billboards. More than three years ago, neighborhood groups working with the city identified more than 200 Boston billboards, both along major thoroughfares and in residential and commercial districts, which appear out of compliance with state regulations administered by the Commonwealth's Outdoor Advertising Board.

However, the Board has not taken significant action on these 200 billboards. Recently, it approved seven new billboard faces along I-93 and the Southeast Expressway in Charlestown and Dorchester, despite opposition from the city of Boston and neighborhood groups.

"For too long, community groups like the Dorchester Allied Neighborhood Associations have been es-entially ignored by the Commonwealth. This amendment is an essential step in empowering the city and its neighborhoods in this important quality of life issue," said BRA Director Paul L. Barrett.

The proposed amendment to the Zoning Code will require neighborhood review and Board of Appeal approval for any new billboard to be constructed within 660 feet of a federally-assisted highway. Additionally, one board will have to be removed for each new board, and billboard companies will have to waive compensation fees that have been associated with billboard removals under the Federal Highway Beautification Act.

Currently, there are over 900 billboards in Boston. Community groups and others have often expressed concerns about billboards, both for their diminishing effect on the urban landscape and the alcohol and cigarette advertisements they frequently carry.

Ken Stone, Charlestown Neighborhood Council Billboard Committee chairman, and Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, are collecting signatures in support of the new zoning and will present them at the hearing.

CHARLESTOWN DESERVES BETTER

Dear Charlestown Resident:

Charlestown deserves better than catchy slogans from District City Council candidates who think they can pull a fast one on Charlestown. That's an insult. I, Rich Rosa, want you to know where I stand on issues that concern you, your family and friends. I'm sure you'll agree that voters should know what specific plans candidates support. Unfortunately, others would rather not tell you. I have nothing to hide. I want you to know where I stand:

Safer streets will be a top priority of mine as your district city councilor. I would fight to fully implement the neighborhood policing program over the next two years, rather than five or 10 years from now. I support funding to improve police department technology, so the department is more effective and efficient. I would establish volunteer neighborhood crime prevention committees to help prioritize police activity and create more neighborhood crime watch groups.

To boost the economy and create jobs, I propose we streamline the city's development process and reallocate revenue from linkage fees, spending more on job training. I would offer tax incentives to those who renovate vacant buildings for commercial use. I strongly support a residency law that requires individuals to be city residents before applying for taxpayer-funded city jobs.

Boston's children deserve a better education and more opportunity. I support eliminating the highly political, appointed school committee and making the school budget a line-item in the city's overall budget. This will eliminate needless bureaucracy. I also favor making it easier for disruptive and dangerous students to be expelled, and I would work to foster partnerships with area colleges and universities. We also need violence prevention courses.

The choice is simple. You can elect one of the better-known, well-financed politicians, who will spend most of their time paying back big shot campaign contributors looking for favors. Or you can vote for me, and I'll only have to answer to you. It would be a privilege to be your city councilor, and I hope you will consider me on September 21, 1993.

Thank you.

Charlestown Teacher Completes Special Math Program

Charlestown resident, Beth Talerma is returning to teaching with a new perspective on math this year. Talerma teaches math at Newton Country Day School and this summer she was accepted to a two-week SummerMath for Teachers program at Mount Holyoke College.

Approximately 35 math teachers from throughout the United States participated in the program held in July. During the two-week session, Talerma took a "flexible, problem-solving" approach to mathematics. "I now have a better perspective on how students can see the same problem in different ways — and still come up with the same correct answer," Talerma explained.

At the end of the session, Talerma and the other math teachers had an opportunity to try out some of their new found perspective on students who were participating in Mount Holyoke's SummerMath for Students.

Talerma has taught math at the middle school and

Stone introduced the members of the NATF: Bill Lamb, Elaine McCarthy, Annette Tecce, Dan Kovacevic, co-chairman Rich Johnson, Peggy Bradley, Steve McHugh, Marilyn Darling and Gini Goscinak, noting that he was "proud to have been involved with this group of dedicated, hard-working residents whose only goal was to see a successful project."

He went on to say: "As we stand here to open the northbound tunnel, with the knowledge that in a few months the southbound tunnel will open, it gives us great pleasure to know that the 50 years of out-of-town traffic that has traveled on and over our streets in City Square will now travel under our streets. But that's not all — in 18 months, the remaining viaduct over City Square will be removed with the completion of the new temporary ramps. The many homes and businesses that were lost to highway in the City Square area will now become new homes and businesses. City Square itself will soon have a wonderful new one-acre park where only a few years ago elevated trains and overhead highways criss-crossed.

"Although we see the first phase of the CANA project become a reality, we know that there are still problems out there to be solved not only with CANA, but with the Charles River Crossing. But today we celebrate a great day for Charlestown! We look forward to having Lt. Gov. Cellucci back in 18 months for the completion on CANA and the opening of City Square Park."

Participants then cut the traditional red ribbon stretched across the tunnel opening and the guests were invited to board Mass. Highway Department vans and, with yellow lights flashing, they became the first people to travel through the northbound tunnel up onto the Tobin Bridge.

Free G.E.D. Classes For Adults

The fall program is about to begin at Charlestown Community Center's Adult Education Program. Space is being filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

The program is designed to help adults improve their skills in reading, writing and math. Some people need only a basic review while others have been away from school a long time and need to spend more time learning things they missed the first time around. The next G.E.D. test will be given in Charlestown this December. All new and retesters are encouraged to join now to prepare for the five tests.

There are two part-time classes. The morning class meets on Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Many parents find this time slot easy, allowing them to go to school while their children are at school. A class is offered evenings on Tuesday and Thursday from 6 to 9:30 p.m. This is to accommodate working people or parents who have a day care problem. Both classes are held at the Charlestown Community Center offices, 255 Medford St. (high school pool building).

For more information or an application, please call Patty at 635-5169.

One-Pitch Softball A Success

by Mary Featherson

On Aug. 8, St. Catherine's sponsored its first One-Pitch Co-ed Softball Tournament. Most of the players had never played one-pitch softball before, so it was a new and fun experience for everyone. Some players are still feeling the "fun" in their muscles.

Eight teams participated in the double-elimination tournament which had a great turnout for the first-time event. Mary Rizzo and Donna O'Leary slaved over a hot grill all afternoon to provide hot dogs and tonic for the players and their fans.

Thank you to the team captains who got teams together — Jack Sullivan, Annie Collier, Jack Schievink, Matt Stillman, Karen Stillman, Gene Lawrence, Paula Rose and John Killo-ran.

Congratulations to the winners: Captain Jack Sullivan, Lauren Anthony, Lynn Anthony, Paul Anthony, Peggy Carroll, Kelleigh Devlin, Paul Doris, Corey Gallagher, Michael Gautreau, Mark Gorman and Jim Vesey.

The team went undefeated the entire tournament. It was an exciting championship game between Collier's and Sullivan's. Collier's was ahead until the seventh inning when Sullivan's pulled into the lead to win by one run.

Hopefully everyone enjoyed themselves and will be ready to play again in the spring.

Pop Warner Corner

The Charlestown Pop Warner A-Team Townies began its 1993 regular season with a disappointing 20-7 loss at the hands of a very tough Plymouth Eagles team down in Plymouth at Plymouth North High School Field.

Charlestown's only scoring came early in the third quarter when quarterback Ricky Evers rushed in from four yards out for the touchdown. The point after was a pass play from Evers to Timmy Warren. Other notable mentions were Tim Monaco who played great on offense and defense and also ran back the second half kickoff 40-yards to set up Charlestown's only score, Greg Poole with his hard-hitting style of play and Francis MacDougall with outstanding rushing and blocking all day long.

The A-Team will play Braintree this Sunday, Sept. 19 at the Neck (Ryan Playground) at noon. The C-Team and D-Team will open up at home against the Mattapan Raiders on Sunday with a 9 a.m. start for the D-Team, and a 10:30 a.m. start for the C-Team. All are encouraged to come down to watch. You will not be disappointed.

The A-Team consists of the following players: Rafael Viera, Ricky Evers, Chris Tamburello, Paul Hennessey, Russell Groggett, Jimmy White, Timmy Warren, Marc Russell, Francis MacDougall, Timmy Monaco, Gilbert Peterson, Bobby Yandle, Stephen Burke, Greg Poole, Derek Peterson, Michael Murphy, Ian Burke, Joe Scadding, Pat Lacey, Stephen Linnane and Robert Celata. The coaches are Rob MacIntosh and Mike Walsh.

99 Restaurant Sinks Ironside Grille For Softball Crown

by Bob Powers

The following article is a capsule history of games five, six and seven of the Charlestown Softball Association played this past week at the Oilies.

After a Labor Day weekend rest, Ironside Grille and the 99 Restaurant teams resumed their quest for the softball championship, limbered up and ready to play. In the first inning, Ironside Grille came out swinging the aluminum and quickly produced five runs from the bats of Mark Smith, Chris Thornton and Jack Sullivan. The 99 club chipped away for a run in their half of the inning.

Things got weird in the top of the second. Ironside's (DH) Mike Gouthro and Paul Doris singled, setting the table for Jim Vesey. He hit a sharp grounder to 99 second baseman Pat Sullivan who stepped on the base, sidarmed to first baseman Bob Collier who threw home to George Collier, catching Gouthro for a triple play!

Defense on the field often generates emotion at the plate as demonstrated by Mike Collier when he tripled home three runs and scored another to knot the game at 5 all.

Pitching is the consistency which brings teams here and these hurlers on the hill retired six in a row respectively, until Bob Collier led off the bottom of the fifth with a single, followed by Mike DePauw who hit a homer just short of Montego Bay, helping his cause on the mound. Ed Coleman thwacked a round-tripper to increase the 99 lead at 8-5.

DePauw cruised along, thanks to consistent defense and a curve ball Aaron Sele would admire. This would change. Thornton opened the sixth inning by smashing a single up the middle. Jack Sullivan followed with a blast to the weeds in centerfield, narrowing the 99 lead to 8-7. Subsequent hits by the Considine brothers, Pat and Ed, brought the game back to a level plane at 8-8. Vesey later took a pitch from the topsoil, golfing it to Newtowne, putting his club ahead 9-8.

This set the stage for a do or die effort from the 99ers and folks from here to Missouri did not go home disappointed. In the last of the last inning, Dave Martell hit a seeing-eye single just beyond the outstretched glove of Vesey. Carl Jaena then drew a walk. First and second, no one out, John Collier hit a slow grounder to Vesey, advancing Martell, Jaena was forced out. Ed Coleman lined a grounder snagged by third baseman Jack Sullivan, who held the runner and threw the ball to second baseman Dan Killoran to force Collier out. When Killoran completed the play, he was up-ended by Collier, allowing Martell to score and tie the game. Two out, a runner at first, with a 2-1 count, Pat Sullivan drilled the ball to the gap in left centerfield, with enough green in between to score Coleman from first and the 99ers led the series 3 games to 2.

It looked as if it would be another long night for Ironside ace Paul Doris, when he loaded the bases to open game six. Facing the strength of the 99 batting order, he regained composure, bore down and got Ed Coleman to pop up to the infield. He then coaxed Mike Collier to hit a comebacker to the mound. Doris then threw the ball to catcher Pat Considine, who stepped on the plate and fired the ball to brother Ed at first base for the double play.

As defense led to offense for the 99ers in game five, such was the case for Ironside Grille in this contest. Ironside's right fielder Thornton showed the 99 club how to clear the bases, when given the chance he touched 'em all after three of his teammates for a 4-0 lead.

The 99ers came back to touch up Doris for two runs, but otherwise produced long outs and feeble attempts at scoring. Ironside's catcher Pat Considine tripled, bringing home two and scoring another, increasing the lead at 7-2.

As written above, the bats of the team wearing red (99ers), did not show up for game six. After going down sheepishly in their half of the sixth inning, they were almost conceding defeat.

Ironside Grille stepped up to the plate in the bottom of the sixth and proceeded to play "smashmouth" softball as Kevin Woods, Paul Doris, Jim Vesey and Mark Smith hit home runs. Ed Considine followed suit with a two-run homer, but when Ironside Grille took the field for the top of the seventh, they held a dominating 15-2 lead. The 99 club scored one run before bowing out.

Defensive stars in game six go to Ironside's short-stop Vesey, who had more range than LoJack, and pitcher Paul Doris who, after a shaky start, tossed five scoreless innings.

As summer eclipses and autumn's dawn draws near, these boys of the diamond played their hearts out in front of 200 people Monday evening for game seven. No one here left a loser, especially the fans.

This contest was a rock'em, sock'em affair from the get go. Both teams traded runs in the first frame as blustery skies offered the batters a great advantage. In the second inning Ironside scratched its way for another run only to see their lead slip away as Mike Collier tripled and scored, then watched his teammates bombard Ironside pitcher Paul Doris for singles, en route to a five-run inning.

Although Ironside looked as if it was taking on water, the defending champs bounced back and tied the score at the top of the third after a nifty display of hitting of their own.

99er Pat Sullivan homered to lead the charge for his team as seven red shirts came to the plate scoring four runs, making it 11-6 after the fourth.

Ironside refused to quit as Bill Doherty opened the sixth by legging a single into a double with plenty of moxie, later scoring on a sacrifice fly to right from second base. This propelled his team back to within a run, but the crafty pitching of 99er Mike DePauw got Paul Doris to bounce into a double play to end the rally. The 99er's offense capitalized by scoring the final frame leading 14-11. 99 pitcher, Mike DePauw, worked effectively to ensure his team a win, as he faced four batters to get three outs and when Ironside's third baseman, Jack Sullivan lined to 99er second baseman Pat Sullivan (no relation), the 1993 softball season was history.

As a writer, covering this event gave me great pleasure and satisfaction seeing clean, fun softball, untarnished by bitter emotion and unsportsmanlike conduct.

99 pitcher Mike DePauw won the series MVP. He anchored his team and effectively produced, night in and night out, a winning attitude.

See you next spring!

Chowder Chefs Challenge For Children

The event "chowda" heads have been waiting for is here! The 11th annual Bud Light "Chowda"fest produced by Horizons For Youth will take place this Sunday, Sept. 19, at the Charlestown Navy Yard from noon to 6 p.m.

Chefs from more than 20 restaurants are taking their secret chowder recipes out of hiding for the event, sponsored by Bud Light in cooperation with WBOS 92.9 FM and WSBK-TV 38. The Cobblestone Hearth of Hingham, Gourmeli's Restaurant of Boston (last year's first-place winner), La Shay's & Lee's Fine Catering of Dorchester, Matt Garrett's of Canton and Tapas Restaurant of Cambridge are just a few of the many food establishments that will be taking part in the competition. During the day people will go from booth to booth, tasting all the different chowders and voting for their favorite. The restaurant with the most votes wins first prize and the 1993 "Chowda Champ" title.

There will be plenty stirring, in addition to approximately 2,600 gallons of some of the area's best chowder, at this popular waterside happening. A variety of performers, including Errol Strength and the Conscious Reggae Band, 1993 Boston Music Award winner Ellis Paul (Best New Folk/Acoustic Act), The Courage Brothers, Bone Heads, Rockhouse Rebels and Vision Thing will provide continuous musical entertainment throughout the day.

The "Chowda"fest is being held in conjunction with Harborpark Day, which offers numerous activities for children, such as face painting, kite flying, a hurdy-gurdy, a moonwalk and farm animals. There will also be a fire boat show and museum exhibits, and it promises to be a day of fun for all age groups.

Admission to the "Chowda"fest is $6 for adults, and $3 for children under 12 and senior citizens, which includes unlimited chowder and all the entertainment. Proceeds go to Horizons

For Youth's outdoor programs for needy youngsters.

There will be continuous water shuttle service from Long Wharf in Boston to the Navy Yard. For more information, call 828-7550.

Acting Mayor Thomas M. Menino has moved to crack down on illegal gun ownership in the city's public housing developments.

Flanked by tenant activists and Judge E. George Daher, Chief of the Boston Housing Court, Menino announced that he is filing a Home Rule Petition that will allow the Boston Housing Authority (BHA) or the Boston Housing Court to evict any resident who is arrested for carrying or possessing a firearm on BHA property.

"Removing people who spread violence from a community is good, common sense," Menino said, "and the action we are taking today is long past due."

Menino Moves To Crack Down On Guns In Public Housing

Speaking at the Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force headquarters in the Bunker Hill Housing Development, Menino said the home rule petition is an expansion of current laws that seek to increase security at BHA developments.

The current "nuisance statute" allows for evictions of public housing residents arrested for illegal drug, alcohol or prostitution activity on BHA property. Menino said the home rule petition will give judges like Daher greater authority. "Judge Daher has been a strong, consistent supporter of the rights of BHA residents to live in peace and safety," Menino said.

Menino was joined by

• If you know of any drug activity in your neighborhood, call the Area A Detectives office at 343-4571. It is not necessary to give your name, and all information will be investigated.

• Residents are reminded that if you purchase alcohol from a local liquor store for someone under age, you are subject to arrest.

• There will be strict enforcement of the Public Drinking laws in cooperation with the Charlestown District Court where fines will be levied against anyone found guilty.

Mary MacInnes, president of the Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force, tenant leaders from other developments, BHA Director David Cortiella, Judge Daher and Boston Police officials.

In 1992, there were 108 drug-related arrests involving BHA residents, resulting in 38 eviction cases. During that same period, there were 40 arrests for firearms. "If an expanded nuisance statute had been in effect last year, these cases would also have been subject to eviction," Menino said. "Including firearms in the statute will put one more crime-fighting weapon in Judge Daher's arsenal."

Further, Menino ordered the Boston Police Department to regularly inform the BHA about any arrests that occur on or near BHA property. He said this will allow BHA officials to seek restraining orders against non-residents to keep troublemakers out of the city's housing developments. In 1992 and so far into 1993, more non-residents have been arrested for drug offenses on BHA property than residents. Those who violate a restraining order will face up to two years in jail or a $3,000 fine.

"In this case," Menino said, "one strike, and you're out."

Thanks For The Nifty Fifty Party

Dear Gloria,

I'd like to truly thank my brothers and family, but especially my mother for the wonderful surprise 50th birthday party they held for me last weekend at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Many thanks to all my friends who came, as well as to those who couldn't make it but expressed their good wishes. Special gratitude goes out to the K. of C. and to the members of the Halligan Club for being in attendance.

I can't say it any other way than "Thank You, Thank You, Thank You!" to Richie Aufrey, the Myrtle Beach gang and members of the K. of C. for the "Very, very, very special gift."

I thank you all from the bottom of my heart.

Forever grateful,
Tom Donahue

My Gratitude To The Lifeguards

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my gratitude to, and appreciation of, the young people and their work as lifeguards at the Clougherty Pool this past summer.

Would you please make my note of thanks to them public by printing this in your newspaper?

I want everyone to know that throughout the summer season, during which I and my family made use of the pool, the utmost courtesy prevailed at the pool, making it a very pleasant experience indeed to go there in the afternoon and enjoy the sun and water.

This was culminated in a really inestimable service that these young boys and girls rendered to me when my great-niece, who came in the month of August for a week from Seattle, Wash., lost her hip-pack and along with it some

To The Editor:

My maternal family ties to Charlestown have always been strong. My grandparents, both born in Bere Island, Cork, met here in Charlestown. My grandmother was a widow with two small kids when she met my grandfather. They courted and were married at St. Mary's. My mother, her sister and brothers were born and raised in St. Mary's parish. One of my uncles, Neal Harrington, used to be a streetcar conductor for the Boston Elevated Railway Co., operating the Chelsea-North Station route. Another of my uncles, George Harrington, was a Charlestown boxer whose ring name was Jimmy Callahan, the name of his half-brother. My uncle Jim Callahan owned and operated F.J. Ward Produce Co. over in the old Potato Sheds. I can still remember smelling the smoke from the blaze in the early 1960s that destroyed 99 percent of all the sheds. My uncle's shed was one of the two saved from destruction, but two sheds couldn't survive. He retired in 1968.

I mention all this in reaction to Dave Flanagan's letter to the editor in the Sept. 2 edition of "The Charlestown Patriot." I lived in Charlestown for over a dozen years. I was only 20 when my parents moved to an apartment on Pearl Street, and I was 36 when I left town in 1984 after getting married at St. Mary's Church. I always considered myself an almost Townie, but always considered myself a full-time Charlestown resident. I didn't just live in town. I was active and involved in many civic, community and $200 in cash, her wrist watch, and important papers, as well as her return airplane ticket. Needless to say, she was very upset and cross with herself for being so careless as to have left her purse somewhere. We searched for it high and low, but it was nowhere to be found. Of course, we replaced immediately all the lost items for her by way of allaying her distress and calming her down. But what an agreeable surprise it was for all of us, and especially for my niece Marsha, to be presented with her very same purse, all intact, the next day by some young lifeguards there! We were speechless, not knowing how to thank them enough.

Please make this experience known to all the Charlestown residents and readers of your newspaper. These young people who worked this summer at the pool are deserving of every commendation possible for being so honest and reliable. I thank them most gratefully.

Tatiana Zaitsev

political activities.

Nearly 10 years ago I physically left town, but a part of me will always belong to Charlestown. My maternal roots are planted quite deep in Townie soil. Wherever I go, I take my Charlestown attitude with me. I've never let anyone bash Charlestown. I didn't do it when I lived there and I remain the same, right to this day. However, I do understand Dave Flanagan's feelings when someone suggests only folks living in Charlestown have a right to be involved with Charlestown.

Back in 1977, one of my uncles, Joe Harrington who settled in Puerto Rico following his Navy days during World War II, came to visit my mom and I remember his counseling me to get the hell out of town to make something of myself. He told me Charlestown was too narrow-minded and restrictive from his experiences growing up there. I listened to him, but declined to accept his understanding of Charlestown in 1977. Perhaps his understanding of Charlestown was correct in his eyes, but my eyes viewed a Charlestown that was open and honest, a Charlestown where people were accepted for who they were and not where their parents or grandparents came from. It was your deeds that counted.

Charlestown has changed a lot since 1977. The Yuppies weren't even here yet and homes were still fairly inexpensive. Many folks outside Charlestown still saw us as Archie Bunkerville. I've made a lot of friends in Charlestown. Some of them knew my mother and all my uncles. Some even knew my grandfather when he worked at the sugar refinery on Medford Street — people like the late Joe Kent or Dennis McLaughlin or Benny Nice, people still alive and kicking like Margie Kent, Dave Flanagan, Bobby and Anne Wallace, Jim and Gloria Conway, Kay Whalen, Sheila Brown and Brian Hickey — to name just a handful.

Does Dave have a right to involve himself in Charlestown's future? Does living in Scituate bar him? Am I barred from doing the same thing because I crossed over the Neponset bridge into North Quincy? Was my Uncle Joe right about Charlestown being self-centered? Or was I right in believing that Charlestown was small enough to know each other, but large enough to allow everyone to lend a helping hand? The bond that binds Charlestown together should know no boundaries.

Sincerely,
Sal Giarratani

I Am Most Grateful

Dear Gloria:

On Aug. 23, I walked away from the cashier at Johnnie's Foodmaster, leaving my checkbook on the checkout table.

A very nice young lady walked over to me and just handed the checkbook to me. I was truly surprised and very grateful to that lady, and I am so sorry I let her go with just a "Thank You" and an open mouth.

Could you publish this and ask her to telephone my home at 242-7378 so that I can show her a little more appreciation? For shame's sake!!!

With love,
Ruth

For
DISTRICT ONE
BOSTON CITY COUNCIL

James E. Costello has new ideas . . .
and the ability to achieve them!!!

— CRIME —

- JAMES COSTELLO realizes that the citizens of District One have a right and expectation to be free from criminal activity in their homes and in their communities.
- JAMES COSTELLO supports increased police presence in the community to deter crime.
- JAMES COSTELLO supports the need to increase penalties across the board for all felonies, including aggravated assault, domestic violence and child abuse.
- JAMES COSTELLO knows that the only way to stop street violence is by creating tougher sentences for the use of a firearm in the commission of a crime, and imposing long-term sentences for gang violence, armed robbery and car-jacking. JAMES COSTELLO will work with local district attorneys, judges and state representatives as a voice for Boston on these issues.
- JAMES COSTELLO has vowed to give school principals the authority to indefinitely suspend students who have been convicted of felonies.
- JAMES COSTELLO supports the establishment of community crime task forces made up of concerned citizens like you and I.
