Six From Charlestown Arrested In Tunnel Protest

Eighteen persons including six from Charlestown were arrested and charged with being "disorderly persons" while attempting to block traffic at the Sumner Tunnel in East Boston on Monday, November 23rd.

They were among more than 200 who had gathered near the tunnel at McClellan Highway. Protestors were there from across the city to demonstrate against the latest round of firefighter layoffs.

Those arrested — 12 from East Boston and 6 from Charlestown — were taken to District 1, booked and were released on bail and appeared in East Boston District Court the following morning for arraignment.

A spokesperson for the group said the action was taken to show that people from across the city were united against police and fire layoffs.

Charlestown Community Center To Merge With Kennedy Center

At the request of the Board of Directors of the Charlestown Community Center, the Board of the Kennedy Center at its November 23rd meeting voted to begin the process of the Kennedy Center's assumption of administrative responsibilities for the Community Center's programs.

It was noted by Tracey Lind, the Executive Director of the Community Center that this is an effort to maintain an important community service while drastically reducing program administration costs.

John Gardiner, the Executive Director of the Kennedy Center was instructed to work out the details with the Community Affairs Committee. Gardiner stated that he would make every effort to maintain the programs exactly as they are currently being offered to the program participants.

The Charlestown Community Center's programs will (under this new arrangement) continue Thinking About Selling Your Home?

MORTGAGE RATES ARE DROPPING

If you have been waiting for rates to drop, now is the time to think about selling your house.

Despite high mortgage rates this last year, Charlestown home sales were very strong through 1981: Gibson Associates has closed on over $2 million in Charlestown sales in 1981 with another $1 million of sale contracts pending closing.

With mortgage rates dropping we expect 1981 to be a very good year. For an estimate of the sale price of your home call JOEL CLAYDON at:

Handicapped Student In Accounting

The "mainstreaming" of the handicapped student in accounting is one of the main purposes of the newly-formed Massachusetts Association of Accounting Professors, it has been announced by Professor Robert Landry of Massasoit Community College in Brockton, president.

Special emphasis will be placed on the hearing impaired, visually impaired, the paraplegic and quadriplegic.

At the formation meeting of the association, Dr. Anthony F. Carbone of Massachusetts Bay Community College in Wellesley said: "Accounting can be extremely beneficial to many students with physical handicaps, and accounting teachers should become better prepared for the entrance of students with varying handicaps into their courses so they can encourage them."

Professor Edward L. Kerr, chairman of the Business Administration Department of Bunker Hill Community College in Charlestown, has been named to the board of directors of the association.

The association will also maintain constant contact between the various member colleges to exchange ideas which will be beneficial to all accounting students. In addition, the group will work toward the standardization of the accounting curriculum in all of the state colleges.

Raffle Of Quilts To Benefit St. Francis School

Two handmade quilts, one appropriate for a girl and one appropriate for a boy, will be raffled by the Parents' Club and the proceeds will benefit St. Francis de Sales School.

The quilts will be on display at the St. Francis de Sales Christmas Bazaar this Thursday, December 3 and Friday, December 4, and chances will be on sale for $1.00 each. Chance books will also be available at the Quilt Table.

The committee would appreciate any and all help to assure the success of this project. Chance books are also available at the School, Rectory, or back of the Church. Also tickets may be purchased from school families or pick up a book from Zeke Marsden before he asks you.

Drawing for the quilts will be held on January 25, 1982 following the monthly Parents' Club Meeting in Bishop Lawton Hall.

Give the Parents' Club a hand with their project, then you can say like that old Shake and Bake Commercial on TV, "and I helped!"

The official change-over of responsibilities is slated for January 1, 1982, and most of the present staff of the Community Center will continue to provide services at the same location on Green Street.

The Board of Directors of both agencies feel that this new arrangement is a responsible effort to continue a needed service for the Charlestown community while reacting to the realities of the current economy and cut back in funding support. The continued support and endorsement of the entire Charlestown community will be important to the success of this innovative effort. This support can best be demonstrated by attendance at the Annual Harvest Bazaar to be held Sunday, December 13th, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Community Center. ## Boys And Girls Club News

Remember When . . . . Again

by Charlie McGonagle

A couple of weeks ago a "Remember When" column, which related to past events at the Boys' Club, sparked a rather nice response from several people whose memories of their years at the Club are at least as vivid as my own.

As everybody has, in their own memory bank, certain favorite recollections, many of which predate my own, a number of people and events went unmentioned.

Even in my own era, because of the necessary concern for time and space, people and events with much meaning to me personally, had to be omitted. Maybe, at a future date, they too will be recalled.

Today I will attempt to broaden my horizons by "Remembering When," not just at the Boys Club, but throughout old Charlestown. Please be aware of the fact that much, much more will be left out than can be included.

Remember When . . .

A nickel's worth of Penny Candy would fill a small brown bag and last the better part of an afternoon.

An evening at Joe's Pizza Garden with your favorite date could get you a large pizza and a couple of beers for less than two dollars.

The line at the Hippie stretched three quarters of the way up Woods Street on a Saturday afternoon.

You run to the Hollywood Theater on Chelsea Street when all the seats at the "Hippie" were sold.

You couldn't get a seat at either the "Hippie" or the Hollywood so you walked to the Lancaster at North Station.

Your father would take you to the Lobster House, not to eat because it was too expensive, but to look at the tanks of live lobsters.

The Warren Street Bridge was still opened and the "Townies" called it the "Low Bridge," so as to separate it from the "High Bridge."

The street cars rode Bunker Hill. The clock on top of the old Bond Bread Plant told the time to half the town.

The giant milk bottle atop Hood's Milk.

The Cherry Hill Riot at the Charlestown State Prison frightened the entire town.

The Prison Point Bridge was paved with cobblestones.

The good Nuns at St. Francis declared "Nanny Goat" Hill off limits to the students.

The family gathered around the radio in the evening to say the Rosary with the then Archbishop Cushing.

Filter cigarettes were non-existent.

There was a two inch layer of cream at the top of a quart bottle of milk.

An orange button of coloring was mixed with a white lump of grease, or whatever else it may have been called, to make a pound of oleo margarine.

The ragman with his old dappled grey horse and wagon rode the streets of Charlestown.

The hitching rings could be found imbedded in curb stones on most every street.

The showers sprayed behind the Clinic on High Street on hot summer days.

The Park (Doherty Playground) did not have a swimming pool.

Decatur Street, before the Mystic River Bridge, was lined with three decker homes.

The "Neck" and "Oily" were both flooded and frozen for ice skating.

The White Tower offered the last opportunity for a cup of coffee before crossing the "High Bridge".

The Waldorf at City Square became Globe Discount.

The favorite games for kids were Blacksmith, Ring-Ring Relievo, Moonshine, Red Rover, Buck-Buck, and Red Light.

Garrison Belts were in vogue, along with saddle stitched pegged pants, suede shoes, snap jacks, string ties, peddle pushers, and bombardiers from Thom McAn's.

The X-ray machine at the shoe store on Main Street.

You could buy a shopping bag filled with broken sugar cones at the Purity Sugar Cone Factory on Chelsea Street for five cents.

The number of cobbler shops on Bunker Hill Street alone.

The handball courts were at the "Neck." Sister Hilda taught kindergarten at St. Francis.

Peanut Butter was scooped out of a huge tin at Kennedy's Butter and Egg Stores on Bunker Hill and Main Streets.

Butter was cut from a huge block before being sold at the same stores.

The Shamrock and the Alibi provided some exciting night life on Main Street.

You could buy delicious Boston Baked Beans, the candy, at one of the two 5 and 10 cent stores in the town.

The city would post signs on certain streets after a snow storm declaring the street "For Coasting Only, No Traffic Allowed."

A tunnel connected a small, shaded park on Medford Street with Dewey Beach.

The "Wiggies," the "Wellies," the "Oily," the "Neck," and other spots along the Mystic River were popular swimming areas at which parents forbade their kids to swim, even though they themselves swam there in their younger days.

The Mystic River Bridge Authority said there would be no tolls charged for using the bridge once it was paid for. It is now more than thirty years later, and still we wait.

Kids on the corner would be very careful with their language when an adult, especially a woman, walked by.

It was absolutely taboo to swear in front of a girl. You got in a pretty good fist fight with somebody who did.

After you knocked him down, or visa versa, you waited until he got up before continuing.

There were criminals in the community, but crimes against neighbors were virtually non-existent and downright frowned upon even by the toughest of the tough.

You could kill an entire afternoon playing Boston American or Steps.

All the drug stores had soda fountains. Sam's Submarine Sandwich Shop opened on Main Street and featured huge subs for twenty-five cents.

"Ma" Ryan's was the unofficial Charlestown High School Cafeteria.

Bob Giggie pitched for Charlestown High School before going on to play major league ball.

The Cardinals attracted big crowds at the "Neck" for their Park League Baseball Games.

Grey scalli caps and Longshoreman's hooks were part of the wardrobe of many of the town's men.

A simple "Ball and a Beer" was the afterwork favorite of the man of the house.

There was a fire barn on Elm Street, among other places.

Busy Bee's, Daly's, Matt Green's, Raftell's, Kitty's, George's, Connies, Henry's, Bird's Frank's, Joe's, and so many other corner candy stores existed.

. . . And it could go on and on.

by Charlie Ross
"WHEN HELL WAS IN SESSION"

"We are profoundly grateful to our commander in chief and to our nation for this day. "God Bless America! Land that I love. We are honored ... to have had the opportunity ... to serve our country ... under difficult circumstances."

With those words said, Rear Admiral Jeremiah A. Denton, Jr., USN, reentered freedom after almost eight years as a P.O.W. in North Viet Nam and, fortunately for our nation, has subsequently been elected as the U.S. Senator from Alabama.

If you haven't read the gripping personal story of his survival through years of torture in several different P.O.W. camps ("When Hell Was In Session," in collaboration with Ed Brandt, Editor, Norfolk, Virginia-Pilot) plan on obtaining same from your local library. You'll find it to be a "couldn't put it down until I finished" book, giving an in-depth insight of the courage and valor of our fighting men in Viet Nam. Of interest to everyone will be the first-hand, behind-the-scene account of Admiral Denton's famous forced appearance before North Viet Nam's T.V. cameras where he secretly blinked out the words T-O-R-T-U-R-E to the world ... with his eyelids.

Most interesting, too, is his assessment of how he found America to be a few weeks after his release - "new permissiveness, group sex, massage parlors, x-rated movies, the drug culture," and a mood of national disunity "which has damaged the foundations of the most powerful but compassionate nation on earth."

As a Navy retiree, we take solace in the knowledge that communism will never prevail while Admiral Denton's hands are part of the helm of the Ship of State. His commitment to further service to our country - for us - is admirable stated in the dedication of his book, thusly: "To those who strive to make this one nation under God, who are willing to sacrifice to protect her, who thank God for such great beauty as she has developed, and who patiently tolerate her imperfections."

THE UNBORN 1 - LIONS 0 ...

The wire services recently declared the Senate's overwhelming confirmation of pediatric surgeon C. Everett Koop's nomination to be U.S. Surgeon General and Director of the Public Health. They didn't elaborate on the fact that it comes some nine months after his nomination, nor how certain legislators (Speaker "Tip" O'Neill and Senator "Ted" Kennedy, among others) threw up obvious smokescreens concerning his age ("Tip" and the President are older) and purported lack of public health credentials, while those with a modicum of political savvy realized it was Dr. Koop's opposition to abortion and homosexuality, and his belief in the traditional roles for women, that piqued the liberals.

After a long list of rather pedestrian holders of the surgeon general's position (if you don't think so, name the last three - or any!), we now have a world famous surgeon who, in the spirit of the Hippocratic Oath, speaks out repeatedly on what he sees as "the increasing erosion of the sanctity of life ethic and specifically in the practice of infanticide, the direct or indirect killing of a newborn infant with a handicap." Dr. Koop received the French Legion of Honor, the Jewish Community Chaplaincy Service's Man of the Year Award, the Presbyterian Man of the Year Award, the Ladd Gold Medal of the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the Browne Gold Medal of the British Association of Pediatric Surgeons.

The Boston Herald American recently reported that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. charged Koop has "cruel, outdated and patronizing stereotypes" of women and is "so out of touch on women's roles that his nomination should be defeated." Weigh that statement with these words of Dr. Koop's, if you will, from the July 17, 1979 Congressional Record: "...if we cannot cure, we can care and I would never use the words 'care' and 'kill' as synonymous."

Justice has prevailed in this matter, and all citizens will be the beneficiaries of our new surgeon general's wealth of knowledge and experience in the medical field. Congratulations, Dr. C. Everett "Chick" Koop!

YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A SUTTON....

On Saturday evening (November 21st), we were privileged to be the special invited guest of James "Jim" Goode, the immediate Past Post Commander of American Legion Dudley-Gendron Post 414 at Sutton, Mass. Sharing our table were Mrs. Goode (Carol), Dot and Roland Millette of Millbury, Ed and Peggy Christie of Westboro and "Jack" and Marilyn Tebo of Worcester. Their congeniality added to a most memorable affair.

Among luminaries present were State Senator Louis P. Bertozzi of Milford, State Representative Richard T. Moore of Uxbridge and Ron Pierpont, Chairman of Sutton's Board of Selectmen, whose combined remarks extolled this particular post's 35 years of service to Community, State and Nation. In our own short address, we hope we conveyed the esteem in which these men who served, and who continue to serve, are held by their contemporaries in the quoting of words of St. Paul, who said, "If the bugle call is uncertain, who will get ready for the battle?" because we know that "wars are anything but different to those soldiers who fought them ... and the veterans they become who remember!" And kudos to Robert Plante, Committee Chairman, and Co-Chairman Sten K. Brote ("Mr. Legion") who made this Annual Past Commander's Banquet an exceptional success.

We value the many new friendships - and readers - and our "honorary" member status.

Thank you, Legionnaires!!!

LITANY OF NORTHERN IRELAND...

They invaded our Country. They stole our Land. They banned our Language. They persecuted our Religious. They refused us jobs. They banished us to slums. They gerrymandered our Vote. They denied us our Human Rights. They shot us in the streets. They raided our Homes. They destroyed our meagre possessions. They drove out our menfolk. They captured our young people. They tortured each of us. They charged us as criminals. They beat out our confessions. They threw us in prisons. They continued the torture. They forced us on the Blanket. They brought on the Hunger Strike. They lied to us. They allowed us to die. They tortured our families. They armed our neighbors. They shot the Innocents. They encouraged our enemies. They controlled the Press. They harassed our Supporters. They bribed out so-called friends. (Author unknown. Our thanks to submitter, Ed "Red" Murphy of Milton).

To Talk Of Many Things . . .

by Sal Giarratani

Those who know better have told me not to write this column because I'm too personally involved in the story but I'm going to do it anyway!

Since my college days when I was active in the conservative Young Americans for Freedom, I have marched, protested, carried banners and remained politically active BUT in all these 13 years, I've never been arrested and placed in a paddy wagon.

This was another "first" for this writer in a year of "firsts," but this is one I could have done without. I would have gladly accepted a papal audience over three hours in the holding tank at District 1.

This writer-activist has marched for and against a litany of things and even helped to occupy a fire house for one month, earlier this year. However, I never was busted and thought I never would be, but on Monday, November 23 at 7:30 p.m., I along with 17 other people from East Boston and Charlestown were arrested for blocking traffic at the foot of the McClellan Highway near the Callahan Tunnel and charged with being "disorderly persons."

I've been protesting cuts in public safety personnel since April and will continue because these political cuts are putting the safety and well-being of the city in mortal jeopardy. I was proud to be in Eastie, doing what had to be done!

I couldn't have been rounded up with nicer, more dedicated people. Action speaks louder than words and the people are madder than hell and we're not going to take it anymore!

Our hearing comes up on Tuesday, December 15, which ironically is the 208th anniversary of the Boston Tea Party. Then as now people were called "disorderly persons" but if anyone is disorderly," it certainly isn't We, the people, but They, the Government.

And if all this is true that we have met the enemy and it is us. We, the people are the government. We elect our representatives and we are the rulers.

Civil disobedience is usually the final straw of a powerless people, but it can also be the first step in reclaiming our government back!

When I crossed the McClellan Highway I was trembling on the inside at 6.5 on the Richter Scale, but I had to march because I believed it was the only right thing to do — the final straw!

No one is ever happy getting pinched but people are afraid and angry for their city doing without proper and adequate public safety services.

BOTTOM LINE

Together, We, the people can make the difference if we keep on keeping on!

Recently married were Timothy J. Walsh and Maryann Prince, both of Charlestown. Maryann is currently working as an Executive Secretary at the Massachusetts Higher Education Assistance Corp. in Boston and attends American Institute of Banking School evenings. ## Archaeologist To Address Preservation Society On Charlestown Discoveries

The Charlestown Preservation Society will hold its next meeting on Sunday, December 6, at the Community Center, 14 Green Street at 8 p.m. All Charlestown residents are cordially invited to attend.

This meeting will feature a presentation by Steve Pendery of Harvard University's Institute of Conservation Archaeology. As part of its North Area/Central Artery project in Charlestown, the Mass. DPW has hired this group to do preliminary archaeological analysis of historic sites in Charlestown. It will determine which, if any of over 100 potentially significant sites will merit full scale archaeological digging prior to construction of the new Central Artery tunnels and ramps. It hopes to discover the site of Charlestown's "Great House," the first public building constructed by the colonists, which stood in City Square until 1775. This preliminary investigation is about three fourths complete and Mr. Pendery will report on the findings to date and the recommendations for further work.

This lecture will be illustrated with slides and Mr. Pendery will show some examples of old pottery that his team has found.

Mary Hynes of Childs, Bertman, Tseckares & Casendino will also be on hand to discuss how this research will fit in with the construction work and to give an update on the North Area project.

Pearl Harbor Observances

The Bay State Chapter of the Freedoms Foundation will join with the AMVETS (American Veterans of World War II, Korea and Viet Nam) in Memorial Observances on Pearl Harbor Sunday, December 6, 1981 at Faneuil Hall in the Quincy Market Complex at 2:00 p.m.

This year marks the Fortieth Anniversary of the infamous attack and the lesson to be learned from the holocaust is as appropriate today as it was in 1941. Lack of preparedness can be, in our nuclear age, fatal! We must be ever vigilant, prepared and strong!

Bay State President, Judge Joseph V. Ferrino joins with State Commander, Kenneth R. Ashley in extending an invitation to their members, friends and the general public in joining in these timely memorial observances.

The military are encouraged to wear their uniforms, Veterans organizations are asked to bring their colors and wear uniforms or hats.

A band, the St. Jean Choral Society of Lynn and many scout units will be in attendance.

Bring the children and grandchildren.

Columbus Bows In Overtime

by Bob DeCristoforo

It was the toughest of losses, but it was a football game. Christopher Columbus' Friars loss to the Spartans of Dom Savio 6-0 in overtime on Turkey Day morning, but they bowed out with their heads held high.

Earlier in the season they were on the winning end of an OT thriller, but this time they would find themselves on the short end of an equally thrilling OT game.

Heroes were many, new and old, but isn't that the way it happens on Thanksgiving day morning??

For Columbus, Barry O'Brien played brilliantly in what would be his only T-Day tilt.

For Dom Savio, Louis Miliano would be the instant hero as he bolted over from the four to score the overtime touch down.

You knew that Angelo LaPaglia (Columbus) and Mike Feeney (Savio) would dominate the GAME, as they have dominated their respective seasons, and sure enough when something was happening these two fine athletes were involved.

The GAME itself was spiced by the excellent rivalry of these schools brilliantly written about in a Thanksgiving morning article by Dave Cataneo of the Boston Herald.

Yes, there was only one winner on this day, but there were no losers.

As the years go by the rivalry becomes keener, but the rivals become closer.

Townie Members Of Savio Squad

TOWNIE MEMBERS of the Dom Savio Football Squad celebrated Thanksgiving in grand style as the Savio Spartans downed the Christopher Columbus Friars 6-0 in overtime at East Boston Stadium in that annual game. ## Wonderland's Grand Prix Final Tossup

Unruly may get all the glory, but Kingsford could bring the smile back to Happy Stutz, one of the most popular greyhound owners in the business.

Unruly, the beaten favorite in the 47th annual $125,000 Wonderland Derby, is the winningest dog in the country this season, but he has problems winning the big ones.

Kingsford, as traveled as any dog in the nation, could represent Wonderland in the championship final of the first $150,000 Purina Grand Prix next month in Florida.

Parity has obviously struck the Grand Prix series at Wonderland as four contenders — Kingsford, North Shore's record-setting OK Troy, Kansas' Imaginary Lover and Karelitz' Passage West — have battled back-and-forth through 11 rounds.

Nobody was able to run away and hide, so this is it! The final round (Wednesday, December 2) was the key.

The second round of the 28th annual $10,000 Juvenile Championship will be on the same card as the Purina Grand Prix final. Thirty-two dogs who broke their maidens this season at the Revere oval are in the 5-16ths competition.

Kansas' Roaring Rookie, Hondo Jazz and Cannoneers Ghost; Joe LaCroix's Happy Sones, Bobby Phelps' Love Lies, North Shore's English Lady and Franklin Pike's Electric Dot are leading challengers.

The third round of the Juveniles goes December 7 and the championship final is scheduled on Friday, December 11.

Columbus Gets Ready For Winter

"Storm windows are an essential part of every home and now are becoming part of an energy-conserving Christopher Columbus High School with the help of the archdiocesan and an energy grant from the government." Fr. Gilbert Silverio, O.F.M., principal, announced recently.

Since Columbus began preparations for becoming an coeducational high school last February, steady improvements

MEMBERS OF THE FOOTBALL TEAM Robert Sugrue (Dorchester), Ronald Curry (East Boston), Michael Johnson (Charlestown) and principal, Fr. to the physical plant as well as changes in the curriculum have been made. The school library has been moved and enlarged to accommodate more students and an additional thousand books with shelving for the added 200 students which make the enrollment at Columbus 600 now.

Julie Billiard High was closed and has been renovated and upgraded to house many of the new students. The "annex" building has been connected to the main building via a passageway. A new and enlarged typing room will accommodate 38 students for practice and improvement in typing skills, a counseling office, a printing room as well as two classrooms are part of the "East Wing" now.

Men and ladies rooms have been upgraded, modernized and improved and paintings have been added to the walls on the first floor corridor. Three computers have also been added for student use in a computer course.

Many improvements go unseen such as a new oil tank for the furnace, new piping, locks and other electrical outlets — all of which are taken for granted.

Fr. Gilbert stated, "A lot of time, effort and money have gone into preparing for the opening of the school this fall and not all of the work could be completed. The windows will be a great benefit in cutting down heat consumption and letting in more light. All the improvements that have been made should help our students and faculty to work better under more pleasant conditions."

Secretary School Opportunity

The Boston Business School is currently accepting applications for the second semester class beginning January 25, 1982. The Boston Business School, founded in 1914, is a postgraduate, junior college level school, which utilizes the latest in modern business technology and equipment. For the high school graduate of any age who needs skills for employment, the Boston Business School offers an excellent opportunity to acquire superior training in typewriting, shorthand, accounting, bookkeeping, machine transcription, word processing, and computer technology. Students can complete the program of studies at the school in one to two years, depending upon the course selected and individual effort. All graduates of the Business School are placed by the school in good positions in the business offices throughout the Greater Boston area.

It is significant to note that many Business School graduates go on to four-year colleges to acquire a bachelor's degree. Most of them keep the job secured for them and attend college at night. Cooperative agreements have been made with some of the fine colleges in the Boston area which guarantee graduates of the Business School maximum transfer credit. This is a great opportunity for those individuals who wish to have the best of both worlds—a well-paying job with a future and a college degree.

The School Committee of the City of Boston provides residents of all ages with a chance to obtain a sound, junior college level education and a good job at minimum cost at the Business School. Non-residents of Boston may also enroll by paying full tuition.

Interested persons are welcome to visit the Business School, 989 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Ma. 02215, or to call, 787-5600, for an application and additional information.

MUSINGS ONCE AGAIN AT MANNY'S...

At Manny Aronis' gourmet restaurant in the heart of Hyde Park.

Overheard at the Cobblestone Restaurant in Charlestown: "Joe retired from the city last month. That gives me twice as much husband on half as much income."

Economists say if your income is below average and your spending is above average, don't worry, you're average.

Memo to one of my favorite radio personalities, WHDH's Dave Supple: Dear Dave, you're ticking a lot of people off by promising them the "cash call amount" in just a moment and not telling them what it is until 15 or 20 minutes later. Two readers recently documented different afternoons on which this occurred.

What was the top song 27 years ago this very night? Why it was "Hey There." Rosemary Clooney's recording was the best seller, but it was being nudged on the charts by Doris Day's "Secret Love."

Isn't Charlestown's own Bill Connell a credit to the MDC Police — and to radio station WHDH, as well. His morning and evening "rush hour" traffic reports are the best of those broadcast in Boston today.

Young Audiences Program At Edwards Middle School

The Young Audiences of Massachusetts, an organization that brings "live" performances by professional artists of the highest caliber to in school children, had two assembly performances recently at the Edwards Middle School. The Young Audiences provided the musical group the Cantabrigia Brass Quintet for the school programs.

The purpose of the Young Audiences Program is to provide, primarily for young people, through educational programs, the opportunity to enjoy, experience and become involved in the live performing arts. This was certainly accomplished in the Edwards School program. It was obvious to the students that the performing musicians were accomplished professionals and the students thoroughly enjoyed their music. Each musician explained his instrument and gave its history.

AN OPEN LETTER TO SPORTS WRITER CHARLIE "LEFTY" LUONGO:

"Dear Charlie: This is an unblushing fan letter. Your style in the ring was unique and so is that great fight column you write each week in the Post-Gazette. But how come you didn't tell us you recently were elected Publicity Chairman of the Veteran Boxers Association?"

"Don't you realize you're one of the few boxing writers who's an actual authority on boxing, a walking encyclopedia on the sport — one who's been there and back. The VBA couldn't have made a finer choice."

"Now I'm going to tell one on you and for those readers who doubt this "Believe it or Not" happening, I refer them to the January, 1951 edition of "Boxing Glove."

"After a long and honorable career in which "Lefty" fought in all classes, he hung up his gloves and became a promoter. One night at old Mechanics Building a heavyweight failed to show up for a semi-final. "Lefty," then 41 and long retired from the ring wars, climbed between the ropes at the last moment and scored a knockout . . ."

It happened to me the other day at the Edwards Warehouse in Hyde Park. I'm on a heavy Vitamin C regimen, so I dashed in to buy a half a gallon of orange juice. Then I looked for the fast lane out.

And there it was — the checkout aisle on the far left where the very lovely, very attractive cashier Mary Bavineau can move faster than a speeding bullet.

Only one customer in front of me. An elderly man wearing what appeared to be a cloak and clutching a purse. He, also, had a half of gallon of orange juice. Then the molasses marathon began as he counted out the $1.09 cost — all in pennies.

A word of warning to grooms-to-be:

You'd be amazed how many complaints I receive from the male members of wedding parties concerning ill-fitting tuxedos. A men's clothing store in South Shore Plaza appears to be the chief culprit. It is NOT Kennedy's.

Recently six ushers went to the chain's store in Braintree to pick up their attire for the following day's wedding. They had been measured three weeks before, but when they tried on their wedding apparel NOT ONE TUX FIT! After a three-hour hassle involving much rudeness on the part of the store and much nervousness on the part of the ushers, the correct sizes were doled out to the correct people.

No, I'm not going to tell you the name of the store. I'll give them

Letters to the Editor must be signed and include name, address and telephone number for verification. The name will be withheld if the writer so requests. Anonymous letters will NOT be published.

Thank You, Kit Clark Senior House

On behalf of the elderly who enjoyed a delicious Thanksgiving dinner, along with entertainment and the company of other people, I would like to thank the Kit Clark Senior House for making it possible for them not to be alone on Thanksgiving Day. Dinner was served by the Senior House

Staff and volunteers at the Lower Mills K. of C. Hall in Dorchester. The Senior House also provided the transportation for the day. All of the elderly had a great time and were thankful to have someone to share it with them.

Margaret Turner
Elderly Nutrition Site Manager

Many Thanks . . . .

I wish to extend my sincerest thanks to the many people who showed such concern for me during my recent hospitalization. I appreciate the prayers, cards, mass cards and gifts, along with the lovely plant that the St. Francis de Sales choir sent to me, which certainly speeded my recovery and made me aware of the thoughtfulness of my friends and neighbors. I would also like to express a very special thanks to Helen Welsh and Tom Hickey who were there when I needed their help.

Many thanks,
Mike Edwards

Join Protest March

44 Mt. Vernon Street
Charlestown, Mass.
November 29, 1981

To The Editor:

I urge the people of Charlestown to demonstrate their feelings against British policy in Northern Ireland. The Irish Prisoners of War Committee will be protesting the appearance of two British military units on December 5th and 6th at Causeway Street in North Station, outside the Boston Garden.

The focus of this protest is the indiscriminate use of plastic bullets against the civilian population of Northern Ireland, especially the children. The 1.5 inch anti-riot baton (plastic) or "plastic bullet" was designed to be fired from a distance. According to its nomenclature its "effective range is from 30 to 60 meters" and it is to be used to "break up crowds, severe bruising and shock being the maximum injury." However, when used at point blank range against an individual, this weapon is lethal. During April and August of this year (the period of the hunger strike) seven people were killed by plastic bullets while scores more were injured and the killing and maiming did not always occur in riot situations.

Townies have expressed their support for Irish freedom by the overwhelming pro-Irish vote on question three and the community support which was provided to the Tea Party march. Join the vigil between one and seven on Saturday (catch the early unpublicized matinee).

Walk across the bridge to North Station and send a message to London.

Paul Morceau
(IPOW)
Irish Prisoner of War Committee

Thank You

The Women's Group of the First Baptist Church at 5 Monument Square wish to thank the Patriot and those who donated and gave of their time to make our Christmas Fair a success.
Thank you.

My Thanks

To All My Friends;

I would like to thank each of you for your generous gifts, in honor of my 75th birthday.

Your attendance at the party was most gratifying and I will never forget your thoughtfulness. "God Bless You all."

Dear Gloria,

I wonder if everyone in Charlestown has looked at the improvement of the Housing Project? New windows and the beautiful lounge for the elderly are all due to the efforts of Edward Sweeney. All the boys and girls that wanted to work got jobs. This all came about from Task Force money.

When he held a Task Force meeting last week, a very few people showed up as usual. If anyone deserves a citation, it should be Ed. He is a very sick man working for us.

Poly-Drug Abuse: The Deadly Game

Today many people are mixing drugs. Alcohol-plus-something-else has taken many lives. The really big danger, of course, is from the alcohol-barbiturate (downs) combination; this is known as the cocktail-and-sleeping-pills-accidental-overdose syndrome.

If you value your life, please do not mix:

ALCOHOL-BARBITUATES: Many people do not realize that it is very dangerous to use downers and then drink anything containing Alcohol. What happens is that every drug you take must be "detoxified" by your liver, which gets it out of your system. As soon as you drink alcohol, your liver stops processing the downer drug until all the alcohol is gone. What this means is that the downers literally poison you because they are not designed to be recirculated for such long periods of time.

ALCOHOL-P.C.P./ANGEL DUST: The animal tranquilizer sold as T.H.C., P.C.P., or angel dust on the street, has been reported to be a deadly combination. P.C.P. is in reality a central nervous system depressant once found unuseable as a human anesthetic, now illegally used nearly everywhere, and always sold as something else, such as mescaline.

What should you do if someone overdoses on these combination of drugs? The best thing to do is to call an ambulance or take the person to a hospital. A really important thing to remember in an overdose is what kind of drug the person took, what did it look like? Different drugs require different treatment.

are alcohol, P.C.P., cocaine, valium and pot. Kids as young as ten are known to use drugs which they purchase on the street. Drugs bought on the street are especially dangerous because you can't be sure just what they contain. Often formaldehyde, sugar or insecticides are substituted for drugs.

In future articles other drugs will be discussed as well as ways for families to handle substance abuse problems and treatment resources.

For more information call: The John F. Kennedy Center at 241-8870 and ask for Ed or the Harbor Area Drug Coordinator at 727-8587.

Charlestown, North End To Meet To Share Ideas

For the first time in recent history, neighborhood groups from the North End and Charlestown met to share and communicate with one another on similar problems and issues.

The site of this inter-community meeting was the North End Union where the North End Task Force and Charlestown Town Council Steering Committee members came together Monday to discuss the issue of public safety as it affects the North End as well as Charlestown.

Louis Gilardi, who chaired the monthly Task Force meeting, started off by saying that it was "time to start uniting" and Fred Borelli, a North End activist, told the Charlestown delegation that the people who occupied the Winthrop Street Fire House had a lot to be proud of in their fight to maintain proper public safety standards.

Members of the Town Council present were Sal Giarratani, Bobby Wallace and Charlie Clabaugh.

The meeting lasted almost three hours with a lot of give and take by all in attendance. The Charlestown delegation supported networking by city neighborhood groups and invited Task Force members to future Town Meetings.

The consensus from those attending appeared to be that neighborhoods had more in common, more to unite them than had previously been thought. Housing and public safety issues affect all working class neighborhoods and the answers needed will come quicker when communities share their strengths.

one more chance, although the complaint of this week was not the only one I've received about them. As I said, it is NOT Kennedy's, in fact anyone renting a tux from Kennedy's usually applauds them.

Warning to those of you who will "Ski 93" up in North country:

Beware of police "speed traps" up and down 93 and be particularly wary of the trap at Exit Two on Route 89 in Concord, N.H.

"Smile, you're on radar . . ."

Speaking of the Granite State, liquor prices in the state stores aren't the bargains they used to be.

Example: a 1.75 litre of a major brand bourbon is only 21 cents cheaper than it is in the Atlas Liquor Store in Roslindale.

Example: a 1.75 litre of a well known Scotch is 38 cents cheaper in Hookset than it is in Roslindale.

Memo to those of you who have not yet submitted your "favorite restaurant" entry: This is the last call to have the eatery of your choice included in our annual "Best" column. As in other years, it will appear after the first of the year. Entries should be postmarked no later than December 31st.

Meanwhile, as I have noted previously I've been on a strict diet for the past few months. Consequently I have not been able to sample some of the goodies a number of chefs have sent my way. However, I must acknowledge a veritable "ton" of appetizers prepared by Rossie's "Yellow Dragon" and tell you a panel of taste testers rated the chicken fingers, won ton and egg rolls as superb.
