Neighborhood Council Breaks For The Summer

by Lynn Peters

Thirteen of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council's 21 members met before the group's traditional summer break for a relatively fast-paced June monthly meeting, chaired by Second Vice Chairman Mel Stillman. Attending were: Secretary Jim Mansfield, Treasurer Jim Conway, and members Bob Scalli, Peg Bradley, Dan Kovacevic, Don Haska, John Dillon, Bill Galvin, Judy Brennan, David Whelan, Edna Kelly and Marty O'Brien.

The Charlestown Preservation Society's council representative Peg Bradley was selected to oversee Charlestown's participation in Boston 400, Mayor Thomas Menino's community-based planning process to celebrate the city's 400th birthday in 2030. Charlie Euchner of Boston 400, who invited residents at the council's May meeting to work with the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) planners to discuss the public spaces and urban amenities, was advised that a neighborhood process with wide community participation could not happen until the fall.

The continuation of planning Charlestown's rezoning will become part of the council's fall agenda as well, according to BRA's Rick Shackley. Most discussions will focus on residential and light industrial zones, Shackley said. A draft of the proposed zoning will be sent to council members ahead of time so that they might become familiar with the information before community working sessions begin. "We will look at uses so that industry will be compatible with Charlestown," Shackley said, "and performance standards will be included to address any possible negative impacts." Development Committee Chairman Tom Cunha had announced that the committee will meet at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 30 at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.

Council members, including Bradley and Haska, spoke of the importance of historic sites being treated as such and not as open space for park use. They also raised the need to integrate Rutherford Avenue and Sullivan Square. Council member Galvin expressed his concern that, to date, BRA plans do not reflect Charlestown's adoption of two parking spaces per new housing unit in local review of developers' proposals.

Resident Diane Christopher raised her concerns about whether the Domino Sugar Refinery demolition was being implemented as presented to the neighborhood by the Flatley Co. last fall. Christopher asked the council to determine whether only the structures designated for demolition, such as the towers, stacks and powerhouse building, were being removed.

• Public Safety Committee: Co-chairman Dillon reported that in May there were 33 arrests, nine of which were drug-related. There were 121 motor vehicle violations and 190 parking tickets issued. At the committee's May 13 meeting, Dillon said that residents expressed concern about young people hanging out at Main and Sullivan streets and harassing people.

• Development Committee: Mansfield, in Chairman Tom Cunha's absence, reported that the committee's May 30 meeting with direct abutters and representatives of the proposed Admiralty rental development on the Navy Yard's Parcel 4 marked the first in a series of meetings. Mansfield said neighbors made suggestions to lower the development's proposed height and density and increase the number of parking spaces.

The property, which is located at the Yard's End area between First Avenue and 16th Street, is owned by Constitution Quarters and the Shipyard Quarters Marina, and was originally proposed to support a large hotel in the Navy Yard's master plan of the late 1980s.

• Old Business: Galvin reminded council members that Charlestown's portion of the Freedom Trail seems to be permanently located by the city along a temporary route designed to accommodate earlier construction in the neighborhood. Public hearings reflected the community's recommendation to return the historic Freedom Trail to its original placement.

Council member Kovacevic added that no final design for the Freedom Trail had ever been submitted, and Jim Conway made the suggestion to send the proper officials a letter that the reconstruction work had not been properly implemented.

Haska updated the council on design and pedestrian access issues for the Charles River improvements, recommending that the council meet with East Cambridge residents to discuss similar concerns for the area's redevelopment. Particularly, Haska noted the substantial North Point residential construction and its impact on traffic on the Gilmore Bridge and McGrath Highway.

Council member Brennan raised concerns that upcoming toll increases on the Tobin Bridge will divert commuters into Charlestown to avoid paying the dollar. Brennan said that Charlestown will indeed feel even more traffic impacts and that Massport, while reducing residents' toll-crossing fees to 30 cents, should let Charlestown residents travel for free.

The next monthly meeting of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St. The public is encouraged to participate.

FRESH AIR

One of the first things a new real estate agent learns is the old vanilla on the light bulb trick, or boiling apple cider with lots of cinnamon and cloves during an Open House. This is supposed to help make the house smell good, and because the sense of smell seems to have such an impact on how buyers react, it's always a good idea to make your home as fresh as possible when it is being shown.

Occasionally, we list one of those homes that is beyond vanilla or cider. When this happens, we have to have one of those delicate talks with the owner. If your house is for sale and your Realtor ought to have this conversation with you and hasn't, let this be it! If you have a mild case of musties, a good airing may do the trick. If you have years of smoky all-night poker games or an unaltered tomcat, you may want to call in a professional to clear the air for you. Whatever it takes, it's really worth it!

Tremont Brewery Music Fest Set For Saturday

No traffic at the bridge . . . no burned hot-dogs . . . no lame music from someone else's boom box . . . and definitely no warm, watered-down beer. Combining all of the ideal elements for summer entertainment, Tremont Brewery is kicking off summer with its third annual Music Fest on Saturday, June 28 from noon to dusk. Held outside the brewery at 50 Terminal St., Charlestown, the Music Fest will cost $5 per person for adults age 21 and over, exclusive of beer and food.

Tremont Brewery has compiled a local talent showcase for this outdoor event including Cherry Disc recording artists Quintaine Americana and Boy Wonder, and WBCN Rock & Roll '97 champions, The Amazing Royal Crowns. Combining sounds from all walks of life, the Music Fest lineup of up-and-coming artists ranges from country to klezmer and everything in between. This year's event takes on additional significance as Tremont Ale in bottles hit the shelves this past April, making Tremont the only brewery to produce beer that's both brewed and bottled in Boston.

"There's a diverse garden of musical talent in Boston, with roots deep in the city," said Chris Lohring, Tremont Brewery co-owner, "and it's only fitting that Tremont Brewery support other local products. Boston has a dynamic music scene, and we're constantly seeking opportunities to work with the local arts community."

The Music Fest will serve up barbecued comestibles by Somerville's Redbones, plenty of Tremont Ale and Tremont IPA on tap, the debut of Tremont Festival Bitter in an "unstoppable cask" and 10 of Boston's most promising bands.

Tremont Brewery will provide a continuous free shuttle from the Sullivan Square T-stop to and from the Music Fest. Guided brewery tours will be offered at intervals throughout the day, and interactive booths will be set up at the event.

Music Fest band set times are as follows: The Guitar Machine Band, a multi-talented, multi-instrument one-man band, will play throughout the day, noon-6 p.m.;

Todd Thiebaud, a solo artist departure from Courage Brothers, plays folk-rock with soul, 12:10-12:40 p.m.;

Wooden Leg, featuring Jimmy Ryan, ex-Blood Oranges, on mandolin, and Mickey Bones, ex-Hot Tamales Brass Band member, on drums, combines garage band riffs with hillbilly flair, 1-1:40 p.m.;

Jayuya, "loco salsa" provides a groundbreaking sound, melding Latin rhythms with rock & roll, 2-3 p.m.;

Jumbo, a massive 30-piece circus band compiled of members from Come, Fuzzy and Buttercup (among others), please the crowd with chaotic, twisted, lumbering circus songs, 3:15-3:45;

The Amazing Royal Crowns, WBCN Rock & Roll Rumble '97 champs, play straight-up, straight-edged rockabilly, 4-4:45 p.m.;

Shirim Klezmer, traditional Yiddish music poised to "break out" at the Tremont Music Fest, provides high-intensity, high-powered dance music, 5-6 p.m.;

Boy Wonder, local indie heroes, serves up pop rock; 6:15-6:50 p.m.;

Count Zero, WBCN Rock & Roll Rumble '97 semi-finalists and former Think Tree members, offer 90's rock, techno and funk fusion (Think Tree former drummer, Jeff Biegert, is now Tremont's head brewer), 7:05-7:50 p.m.; and Quintaine Americana, Allston Rock City's finest, touts indie rock with pop sensibility, 8:05-8:50 p.m.

Judicial Youth Corps Students Welcomed By SJC Chief Justice Wilkins

Lawrence Pennucci of Charlestown, a student at Charlestown High School, was among 40 high school students from area high schools selected as the 1997 Judicial Youth Corps participants. They recently met with Supreme Judicial Court Chief Justice Herbert P. Wilkins in the SJC courtroom as part of their 16-week orientation to the Mass. court system. Chief Justice Wilkins welcomed the young people, gave them a brief overview of the history and workings of the state's highest court, and answered questions.

The Judicial Youth Corps, established in 1990 by then Chief Justice Paul J. Liacos, offers Boston area high school students a rare opportunity to learn how the court system operates through weekly educational sessions and paid summer internships in courthouses throughout Suffolk County.

Working with a program leader and a volunteer faculty of judges, lawyers and court employees from every department in the court system, the students learn about the courts and the law as it affects their lives.

Juvenile justice, criminal law, domestic violence, landlord-tenant disputes, custody and paternity issues, small claims court and alternative dispute resolution are some of the topics the students explore through class discussion, mock hearings and other group activities.

Following the first eight weeks of classes, the students are ready for their summer assignments. Under the supervision of court employees, students work for eight weeks in various courts with judges, clerks, probation officers and others to learn how the system operates.

They are paid for their full-time work performing clerical duties, answering phones, working at counters, word processing and filing. They are also provided opportunities to observe the courtrooms in action. Some judges allow students to sit alongside them on the bench for a unique learning experience. Students generally earn about $1200 for their summer work. Educational sessions on Fridays, which often include field trips to law firms, law schools, the State House, and the county jail, are part of their required regimen.

At the end of August, the SJC sponsors an Appreciation Day to award the students on the completion of the program, and to recognize the many judges, lawyers and court employees who devote hundreds of hours to the Judicial Youth Corps program. The SJC's Public Information Office administers the program as part of a continuing effort to educate the public about the Mass. court system.

♣ Townies Discover NHL Breakout . . . Drop 12 inflatable hockey rinks on some freshly-made blacktop close to the waters of Revere Beach and throw in close to a 1,000 roller bladers spread among 100 teams, and you have an NHL Breakout Tournament - Boston style.

Curiosity was the prime motivator that got me to Revere Beach over the weekend. I really didn't plan to stay, but two factors really changed my mind. First, I ran into a good number of our local heroes going for the NHL Breakout Championships. Walking around this "Roller Blade Hockey Capital of the World," I ran into many teams and players from Southie, Dorchester, yes, the North End and, of course, Charlestown. I even spotted a couple of our good guys - Liam and Timmy, doing a fine job refereeing!

Secondly, I was truly amazed at watching the entire event unfold. Just the sight of watching by the hour - about 240 participants - was something to see. Meeting Bruins top draft choice Joe Thornton and his brothers added even more to what became a very interesting weekend.

It got even more interesting when lightning struck, putting an abrupt end to the tournament. Well, the Breakout gurus had a weather plan in place, and the champions would be the teams with the best records, and many of our guys would come home as champs.

Congratulations to Pat Fidler, Tom DeRosa, Mark Hanscom, Shawn Doherty, Tim Buhay, Joe Hurley, Nolan Burns, John Collins, Matt O'Connell and Coaches Tom O'Neil and John Doherty.

Also, Mike Doe, Marc Dole, Jim Dyer and Noah Lucia, and to the Sissy K Crew led by such notables as Michael Sweeney, Joe Tallent, Tommy McGrath and Michael Walsh.

Special kudos to the parents of the Charlestown Avalanche team who spent the weekend "lounging" at Revere Beach, supporting the kids. It was a fun weekend and we'll all be looking forward to next year as we keep spreading our Charlestown Pride around! Roller Blading is certainly alive and well among the Townies.

♣ BNBL Basketball . . . Derek Gallagher will be running the show this summer. Games will be played at the Eden Street Park and rosters are now available for both the 19 & under and 15 & under divisions. BNBL also has a citywide girls division, and a 13 & under division. Derek has all the details and all the contacts.

♣ God Bless The Firefighters . . . I've always had the utmost respect for the men and women of the Boston Fire Department. Attending the dedication of the Vendome Memorial made this respect even higher. In a simple, beautiful, dignified ceremony, the true meaning of this admirable profession was poignantly defined, and is now memorialized forever in a beautiful, quiet spot on Commonwealth Avenue. Boston newscaster, John Henning, said it best when he used the words from the Irish poet - "None are greater."

To all these men and women, "thank you" from a grateful city, and from a grateful person named Bob D.

♣ NYSP Camp . . . Congratulations to all those who have signed up for the National Youth Sports Camp. I have delivered all the completed applications I received to Rodney Hughes at UMass-Boston. Any questions should now be directed to him at 287-5000. I do have a few applications left.

♣ Roller Blade League Opener . . . The Charlestown Roller Blade League is about to begin, and word around is that "Newtowne" will not win the title this year! Drop down to Eden Street and see. The league is sponsored by the Boston Area A.G.R.E.A.T. program, and the success of the past has proven it to be a great program. Thank you, Officer Ted Boyle.

♣ Tidbits . . . Congrats to the Neff Family on the celebration of their anniversary . . . Is Francis MacDougall's favorite flavor lemon? . . . Tim Warren says hello to J. N.! . . . Congratulations to Debbie Brennan, who was named by her peers as CHS Cafeteria Staff Worker of the Year! Debbie even cast the first vote. Smile!

Special Thanks

I would like to thank Richard Voke for his generous gesture of matching the scholarship I received from the Bunker Hill Council #62, Knights of Columbus. It was very kind of you, and greatly appreciated.

Thank you,
Jillian Doherty

Thank You, Knights Of Columbus!

I would like to thank the Bunker Hill Council #62, Knights of Columbus, for selecting me as the recipient of its scholarship. I will use it well at Suffolk University.

Again, thank you,
Jillian Doherty

Help Support The Knights!

Dear Gloria and Fellow Townies,

On Wednesday, July 2, beginning at 6 p.m., the Knights of Columbus will be holding a meat raffle at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.

As most people are aware, this organization has been very good to our town and this is a great opportunity to reciprocate. I hope that many of you will mark this date on your calendar and make a special effort to attend. A strong turnout would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
Terry Ring

Thank You, 'Snuggles'

Dear Gloria,

I would like to thank Sheila "Snuggles" Walsh for her many years of dedicated service to all the seniors in Charlestown.

She has performed over and above the call of duty. Her compassion and dedication will be missed by all.

Sincerely,
Anna Kent

Many Thanks!

Dear Jerry,

We would like to thank John Killoran, Derek Gallagher, Sharon Fidler, Dan Ryan and Steven Kilcoyne for choosing our daughter, Julie Grzelcyk, for the Sir Thomas Johnstone Lipton Sportsmanship Award. We are very proud of her accomplishments.

Credit should go to your outstanding staff for their dedication and positive reinforcement they instill on the members of the Boys & Girls Club. Attending their games at the club, we are always grateful for their constant encouragement to the kids to be the best they can possibly be. Whether in competition or not, they demand good sportsmanship on and off the floor.

We are so lucky to have such positive role models for our teens.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. John Grzelcyk

Thank You, Gloria!

Dear Gloria:

As we come to the end of our membership year and look back over the year's accomplishments, we are reminded of the wonderful response you have always given to the submittal of news items concerning our programs and activities in the pages of the Patriot. Your support for the Charlestown Branch Library in publicizing its upcoming events is likewise recalled. Both are most appreciated.

You perform an essential service for the community, keeping us all informed of what is happening or about to happen, and you do it outstandingly. On behalf of the Friends, thank you for your generous accommodation of Friends and the library news in the pages of the Patriot.

Our very best wishes for your continued success.

Sincerely,
Carl Zellner, president
The Friends of the Charlestown Branch Library

Thank You, Charlestown!

To the Editor and People of Charlestown,

I want to take this opportunity to thank the people of Charlestown for the warm and friendly reception you gave to my sons, Jake and Jesse, my marchers and myself during the Bunker Hill Day Parade. It was an absolutely wonderful day!

I also must thank those of you who were kind enough to display my signs on your property on the day of the parade. As I promised when the signs went up on Saturday, they were taken down immediately after the parade. Parade after parade, election after election, I can count on you to put up my signs and you can count on me to take them down.

In closing, I especially want to thank all of you who expressed support for the "Neighborhood Schools" ballot question. Although I know you were disappointed to hear that the city council voted against it 7-6, I promise you that I will make every effort to bring the issue of neighborhood school choice in front of the council again before this year's election. This is another promise you can count on!

Sincerely,
Peggy Davis-Mullen
Boston City Councillor-at-Large

Money Matters

"Let us assist you in your business and tax planning"

by Nicholas C. Pino
Counsellor to Small Businesses

CHECK THIS 'NEW' TAX CREDIT

If you are an employer, you can reduce your 1997 tax liability if you act fast. Each employee you hire between now and September 30, 1997, can save you up to $2,100 in taxes.

The 1996 Small Business Tax Act created a new incentive exclusively for employers, a tax break known as the Work Opportunity Tax Credit. For every qualified employee you hire between October 1, 1996 and September 30, 1997, you may take a tax credit of 35 percent of that employee's first year wages, up to a maximum wage of $6,000. For qualified summer youth employees you hire, the first year wage maximum is $3,000. Since a tax credit reduces your tax by one dollar for every dollar of credit, this incentive is much more beneficial to you than a tax deduction.

To be a qualified employee, and entitle you to the credit, the individual you hire must be a member of one of the targeted groups of employees defined in the tax act. The qualifying groups are:

- Qualified recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children.
- Qualified veterans.
- Qualified ex-felons.
- High-risk youths.
- Vocational rehabilitation referrals.
- Qualified summer youth employees.
- Qualified food stamp recipients.

This is a great time to benefit by hiring qualified summer youth employees. The credit for qualified summer youth employees generally applies to individuals ages 16 or 17 years old who live in an empowerment zone or enterprise community.

Like most of the tax code, the specifics of this credit are complex. Please contact our office if you'd like more details.

TO SEE HOW THIS CAN AFFECT YOU, CALL TODAY!

Graduate From Alternative Middle School

Former truant student Danielle Stokes was among those graduating with honors from the Boston Community Middle School Program, the city of Boston's alternative middle school. Two separate graduation ceremonies were held for the 45 participants, one at the Tobin Community Center in Mission Hill and the other at the Commandant's House in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

This was the 10th annual graduation of the Boston Community Middle School, which provides an alternative education for students ages 12-15 who are experiencing problems in school including attendance and expulsion. The program is run by Boston Community Centers and is offered at three locations in Boston: Roxbury, Mission Hill and Charlestown.

Ninety-five percent of the graduates of the program in Charlestown have completed some form of community service along with their studies, and almost all of the students have doubled their city-wide test scores since entering the program.

Graduates of the Charlestown Community Middle School were: Merrick Wilson, Patrick O'Sullivan, Emilio Jimenez, Kevin Gunter, Etson Tavares, Chris Conley, Stephen Libby, James McGonagle, Michelle Santiago, Danielle Stokes, Candia Bleach and Julius Mumford.

Wendy Nilsson, director of Charlestown Community Middle School, said, "Students like valedictorian Danielle Stokes came here because she was once suspended from school. Not only has her school attendance improved, but she is now a dependable volunteer at Rosie's Place and the Model Mugging Program."

Evelyn Riesenber, executive director of Boston Community Centers, said "For 10 years now, the Boston Community Middle School has been helping Boston youth learn and succeed. Students who had problems early on in their education for whatever reason are given the chance to get back on track and move on to high school."

The program offers traditional and alternative curriculum, small classroom settings, individual and group counseling, advocacy services and life skills, including conflict resolution and violence prevention.
