Flickr Find: Say Hello To The Mac-in-Craft

In the huge sandbox game Minecraft you can build a myriad of things, including a floating Macintosh computer. Flickr user Caius Durling created this floating version of his own Minecraft world, which was built in pixelbricks by pixelbricks, with a floating "Hi" to match.

It's pretty impressive. Even though minecraft " of the Minecraft materials isn't high enough to show the Mac OS running, he did achieve the correct dimensions and even the handle in the back. All it requires is a single button mouse, right?