

Booster Seat Requirements

It is of crucial importance for all of us to follow safety rules while driving vehicles or even sitting in as passengers and this is more so for little children who are fragile and so much more prone to getting hurt during accidents and the booster seat is one such safety requirement that is intended for the safety of children between 4 to 7 years and it is very important to see what the Booster Seat Requirements are before we invest in one for our beloved child.

Booster Seat

Booster seat for children and how it helps

Children smaller than 4 years of age are meant to be seated in a car seat made specifically for smaller babies but once the child outgrows this car seat a booster seat is required to keep the child secured and safe in the vehicle and this sure is an ideal choice.

The child in the car will not be able to wear the normal seat belt like the adults since they are not of sufficient height or weight due to which the seat belt is unable to cover the chest or the hip portion.

The child booster seat circumvents this problem by lifting the child high enough for the safety belt to be positioned properly ensuring the child's safety. The booster seat is very helpful when the vehicle is involved in a crash from sideways.

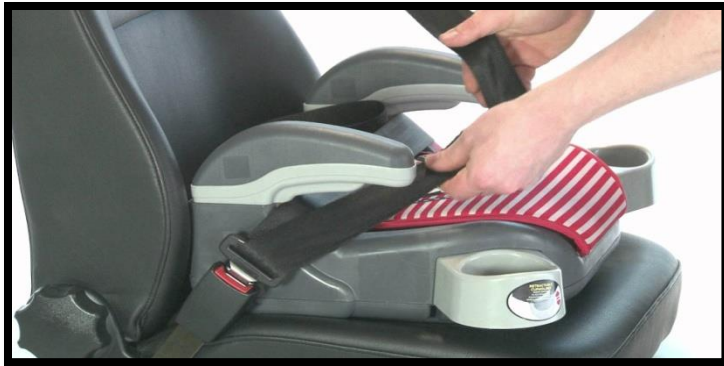

Types of booster seats

There are a variety of booster seats available in the market and it is up to the parents to do a thorough research to find out the merits and demerits of the different booster seats so that the right one is purchased.

The standard backless booster is the most common type where seats are small and portable and you can use your cars own seatbelt to secure the little one. All you have to do is to lift the child up to an appropriate height suitable for the safety belt to be secured around the child. These booster seats meet the legal requirements in most areas and suit children who are between 4 to 8 years of age.

Booster Seat Age

Rating of the booster seat has to be checked for getting a good safety device for your child. Ensure that you buy new booster seats since the older ones could have been involved in a crash or have been recalled and may not be able to provide the adequate protection during a crash or an accident. Make sure your child is comfortable in the booster seat; it is best to take the child along and make her/him try the seat before purchasing it.

If you keep these crucial booster seat requirements in your mind when you step out to shop for one you will have no trouble getting the best one home which will keep your child safe and secure and comfortable too!
