BIRTHDAY PARTY

~ 09. February!! ~

285 days, ... 24,686,100 seconds!!!

The day, we started to chat more then just "casually". I know your old account does not exist anymore, but the time for me was 6:45am. Why I know? Because I remember laying on my couch and snapping you an image of Yummie in my arms. I remember the time, because at that moment I thought to myself "Aaaah, just 15 minutes left until I have to start working, 15 minutes I can spend chatting with this amazing girl.." but you went offline at that moment. Because of your amazing sleep-schedule!! But I remember that day vividly!! It was the start to something way more then I could have ever imagine and something, that I truly cherrish and treasure with my whole heart !!

Since then, the past days flew by so fast. Every memory we made up until now is deeply engraved in my memory. The beginning of the letters, the daily chats and also the hardships we encountered, all those unnecessary misunderstandings on the road. I would not exchange a single one of those! Relationships between friends and especially between siblings are never cookie-cutter perfect, but that is what makes them unique, special and worth fighting for. Every obstacle is just a chance to grow and bond even more

~ Why did we stop?? ~

I don't know the exact reasons onto why we stopped writing letters, planning unique events and just funnily trying to top each others enthusiasm. It was something that worked wonders for us, to such a degree, that after barely 3 months of chatting, it felt like we've knew each other for years!! It was on me, why this whole system crumbled, the whole summerslumb, all those days we had to spend without each other due to vacations and personal hardships really had a toll on our amazing system. I don't want to make up for past mistakes, since that moment is far gone, but I want to give my best, in my very own way. Your present is centered around exactly this idea. An idea that worked wonders for us and we turned a blind eye on. I don't expect anything from this present, not a slightest change in the status quo, we are in right now. I just want to try and make you smile, a titcy tiny bit, share my days with you and just give my best to deliver it in an euphoric and enthusiastic way to you ❤️

Your german family misses you and we want you to have part of our life. We want to share the boring days and the special days with you and we will upload as much as we can on the Fairytale for Angie Channel, for you to watch and smile!

BIRTHDAY PARTY

~ Happy Birthday to you!!! ~

We love you unconditionally and wish you all the best for your next year!! We hope you make many many new, amazing and lovely memories! With or without us. As long we know you are happy and live the life you want to, we are happy as well.

You somehow managed to box yourself so deep into our hearts, that we can't stop smiling talking and thinking about you, the cheerfull, happy bean we come to love.

Hopefully, you stop shopping for those annoying illnesses in the groceryhall, else I have to book a flight and buy them all for myself!! That is the thing, that still keeps me up awake sometimes, just because I feel like this is or was something I never could truly help you with, just because of the distance. You deserve your very own Teddy, next to your side and one day --> I AM VERY VERY Sure of it!!! ... such a teddy will enter your life ❤️

We are and will be always here for you and speaking of myself, I know our souls are connected regardless of distance or hardships.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

~ As long as you are happy ~

If any of those words made you smile, happy or grin in the slightest, it was a full success and if not it just means to me I have to try harder the next time.

AGAIN! Happy birthday from the depth of our hearts and I hope Cakegirl gives you a way better cake, then I managed to bake myself! You deserve a truly magnificent one!

Enjoy your special day, while Izzy and I will look ahead to surprise you rather sooner then later again.

WE LOVE YOU

~IGOR, IZZY AND YUMMIE ~
