Deca's estrogenic conversion is also low compared to Testosterone. Nandrolone will convert to estrogen at the rate of about 20% of Testosterone[2] making estrogenic related side effects unlikely but certainly realistic. This low amount of estrogenic aromatase activity can be explained by Deca-Durabolin (Nandrolone) being a progestin[3].

The anabolic steroid Nandrolone is sold and traded under the brand name, Deca Durabolin. To be clearer, Deca Durabolin is the Decanoate ester variant of nandrolone and its commercial name is Deca Durabolin. Commonly known as "Deca", it is one of the most popular and widely known anabolic steroid used by weight lifters and body builders.

* Nandrolone Decanoate (200 to 400 mg per week) + Testosterone (250 to 750 mg per week). By the way, if you incorporate Methandrostenolone in this stack at a dose of 10 - 50 mg every day, the scheme will turn out just killer, relative to the increase in muscle mass.
