KMD BORN & ICO

Before the birth of the Komodo Platform, SuperNET was created in 2014 to build services on the Nxr blockchain. WHAT WAS SUPERNET? It was a project aimed at optimising the collaborative between different cryptocurrencies. Lead dev jl777 ethos stared as "in crypto, the competition is not each other, it is fiat. If any crypto does well, we all benefit.

During the course of SuperNET development, the Nxt developers made certain changes to its blockchain that weren't compatible with the Super-NET team. This eventually led lead dev jl777 or James Lee to disavow from Nxt blockchain and seek out a different approach.

On 1st September 2016, a new project to realise SuperNET's overall vision to solve the problems, security and privacy, faced by other cryptos was announced on the crypto renowned Bitcointalk Forum. A thread on that forum was created by James Lee titled "[ANN][KMD][dPoW] Komodo ICO - Zero Knowledge Privacy Secured by Bitcoin". Komodo had been born and the whole crypto community had become aware of an innovative project to enhance blockchain technology in terms of privacy and security. KMD was an evolution of a previous cryptocurrency called BitcoinDark. Goal of Komodo to create an independent blockchain architecture without the imperfections of a single-blockchain platform model.

To be more exact, the Komodo project actually began in early 2016 with lead dev James Lee declaring independence from any single blockchain (see page … for full declaration).

On 2nd September 2016, the team was pleased to report that major obstacles had been overcome during approx 2 year intensive coding phase by jl777. KMD had almost entirely coded by jl777 until this time. He said there was nothing to bind him to continuing BTCD development and KMD had become the new crypto of SuperNET platform.

James Lee had been closely following Zcash, new privacy driven crypto, development. It was currently in testnet stage with scheduled launch on 28th October 2016. Due to open source nature of Zcash, KMD adopted parts of it (isn't just simple fork) and further developed it to meet needs of SuperNET. Komodo had become first to adopt Zcash code and from it, zero knowledge proofs.

Besides enhanced zero knowledge proof privacy, Komodo innovative developed a new consensus method called delayed Proof of Work (dPoW)…
