Kennedy Office Hours Change/ New Liaison Appointed

U.S. Representative Joseph P. Kennedy II announced this week a change of schedule for the Charlestown congressional office hours and the appointment of a new staff liaison to the Charlestown community.

Beginning Wednesday, April 14, congressional office hours will be conducted from 1 to 2:30 p.m. The location will remain the community meeting room of the Mary Colbert Apartments at 20 Devens St.

Constituents in need of assistance with matters pertaining to the federal government or wishing to simply express an opinion pertaining to legislation are encouraged to drop by. No appointments are necessary.

Office hours will be held in Charlestown the second Wednesday of every month. However, Congressman Kennedy wishes to remind residents that his District Office remains available to constituents seeking assistance. The office is located at Suite 605 of the Schrafft Center in Sullivan Square, telephone 242-0200.

Staffing the congressional office hours and serving as Kennedy's new liaison to Charlestown will be Kevin L. Coen. Coen joined the Congressman's staff last May and has been serving as an executive assistant.

He previously served as an administrative assistant in the Massachusetts House of Representatives and the Senate.

Coen will be replacing Charlestown resident James F. Walsh who is leaving to take a position with the Massachusetts Port Authority. Walsh joined the congressman's staff in January of 1987 and has been serving as his liaison to Charlestown for the past six years.

Commenting on Walsh's departure, Congressman Kennedy stated: "Jimmy Walsh has worked for years to ensure that the residents of Charlestown and the military service veterans of the Eighth District received the best possible constituent service. He has been a tireless and dedicated public servant. And while I will miss him on my congressional staff, I am very happy that he will remain in public service where he will use his special skills to continue helping people."

Celebrating 100 Years With Fun, Food And Festivities

In celebration of the 100th Anniversary of Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston (BGCB), the Charlestown Clubhouse has announced it will be hosting two exciting special events: the 100th Birthday Bash and a Day-long Party for boys and girls.

The place will be rockin' to the tunes of The Fat City Band while the revelers will be rollin' on the dance floor during the Birthday Bash. The event will be held on Saturday, April 17 in The Court of One International Place in Boston, from 6:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. BGCB alumni will be special honored guests.

After a sumptuous banquet and some dancing frivolity, the excitement continues with a fund-raising auction featuring local celebrity auctioneers. Among the items up for auction are a weekend on Martha's Vineyard, a baseball autographed by Ted Williams, a golf foursome at The Country Club, and a Boston

Sports Package which includes two prime tickets to a game with the Bruins, Patriots, Red Sox and Celtics. Proceeds from the soiree will go toward funding the Daylong Party for Boys and Girls.

Taking place a week after the Birthday Bash, the Day-long Party for Boys and Girls will be held at the Charlestown Clubhouse on Saturday, April 24. This will be a wonderful day for families with festivities including a parade, a street fair (complete with clowns and face painting), a stage show, contests, food and much more. Featured in the all-day jamboree will be a father/son ball hockey game and a mother/daughter three-legged race. The festival, which runs from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., will be the culmination of "100 Hours of Activity" offered by the club.

During the 100 Hours of programming, the Charlestown Clubhouse will host a full week of non-stop events beginning at noon on Tuesday, April 20, with a ball hockey game, pitting a veteran Charlestown staff team against an upstart squad of teen-age Club members. The rest of the revelry includes a Sports Overnight (an all-night athletic competition), an Art Overnight, The Eliminator (a take-off on the American Gladiators TV show) and two trips — a hike up Mount Wachusett and a walk along the Black History Trail. Puppet making, a basketball spot shooting contest and tie dying will also be part of the fun.

The Centennial Anniversary of BGCB is especially significant to the Charlestown community as it was home to the organization's first clubhouse. Additionally, BGCB has facilities in Roxbury and South Boston, serving 5,200 of the area's youth. The organization's mission is to help boys and girls develop the qualities needed to become responsible citizens and leaders. To achieve this goal, BGCB offers a variety of programs and counseling services designed to assist in their member's educational, emotional, physical and social development, without regard to social, racial, or religious backgrounds.

Tickets for the Centennial Celebration Birthday Bash may be purchased by contacting Jerry Steimel at 242-1775. For more information on BGCB and additional Centennial Year activities, please call 973-5400.

PLAN A GREAT BLOCK PARTY!

Do you wish you knew your neighbors better? Block parties are a great way to turn this wish into a reality. How can you plan a great one?

Start off by getting a few neighbors together. Make a list of what has to get done, then start delegating the different tasks. Set a date, pass out the invitations and have someone coordinate the food. These kinds of neighborhood activities have lots of benefits beyond fun. They increase neighborhood security, because you'll know who belongs in the neighborhood and who doesn't. You may discover new babysitters or people who would be glad to feed your cats while you're on vacation. When area problems come up, you'll create solutions with people who've become your friends. If someone needs help, you can all work together to provide it. If you are interested in planning neighborhood activities, but aren't sure how to get started, call us for some ideas. We'd love to help!

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Monument Properties. Come by our office at 85 Warren St. in Charlestown or call us at 241-5900.

Voke Hails

Child Abuse Prevention Month

Referring to child abuse as one of society's "most disturbing ills," Rep. Richard Voke has joined children's advocates throughout the state in proclaiming April "Child Abuse Prevention Month."

"Until we as a society better provide for our kids, the future for many will continue to look bleak. As child abuse further punishes those too young to defend themselves for matters that are not even of their own doing, we need to do all that is possible to attack the roots of this ugly problem," said Voke.

By supporting Child Abuse Prevention Month, Voke hopes increased focus will spur many to recommit to ending such tragic occurrences. For his part, Voke plans to further support proactive measures to relieve the variables often leading to abuse.

"Often times, the stress of family life or the frustration of one's own personal situation can cause an episode of abuse. By taking action on supporting the family and providing opportunities for a family to grow together, I would hope that our legislative action, coupled with the work by advocates in the community, can lessen the frequency of child abuse," Voke stressed.

Pledging to continue his efforts on behalf of those who have no other voice, Voke encourages all those who share his concerns for our youngest generation to take special note of this issue this month. "Our kids not only need our attention, they deserve it," concluded Voke.

Head Start Dance

The Kennedy Center's annual Head Start Dance will be held on Friday, April 16, starting at 8 p.m. at the K. of C. upper hall, 75 West School St.

Music will be by D.J. Dennis Moore, and tickets are $10 per person, payable at the door.

Kids Are Cookin' At Boys & Girls Clubs Of Boston

The ovens have been warmed, the knives sharpened and the pots and pans scrubbed clean, all in preparation for the battle of Boston's best young chefs. The event is the Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston (BGCB) fourth annual Chef's Club Cook Off, taking place Saturday, April 10 at the South Boston Clubhouse.

The Cook Off is part of BGCB's Thomas A. Pappas Chef's Club, a program which has been in existence for more than three decades. The cooking program is open to all BGCB members and is particularly popular with boys. The Cook Off features teams from the Charlestown, Roxbury and South Boston Clubhouses, all competing for the coveted Silver Ladle trophy. Each year the host team has won the event, implying a definite "home-kitchen" advantage.

The event and the Chef's Club are designed to teach the members about the importance of good nutrition and hygiene as well as the tricks of the culinary trade including: the rudiments of cooking, food service techniques and table manners. Several Chef's Club members have gone on to attend culinary schools.

Directing the program is Howie Bunkley, now in his 30th year of teaching kids the recipes for success. In addition to the 12 hours he puts in each week in the three clubhouses, Bunkley is the Director of Food Services for the Department of Youth Services in Jamaica Plain.

For the Cook Off competition, each team must prepare a full-course meal without any assistance from BGCB staff or adults. The planning of the meal is completely up to the kids. Past entries have included such delights as American Chop Suey and Southie Fried Chicken. The food will be judged on presentation, taste and originality. "The menu is their choice," says Bunkley, "as long as it looks good, tastes good and is enough for 12 people." Last year the Charlestown team won the competition with their Old Fashioned Beef Stew. "It was so good I can still taste it," commented Bunkley.

Bunkley has a true affection for the members of the club, calling them "the highlight of my life." He often runs into past Chef's Club members with whom he has developed long-lasting friendships. Bunkley relates a story where he was approached by a police officer who turned out to be a Chef's Club Alumnus. The officer told him that it was Bunkley's influence that kept him out of trouble. Bunkley says, "I get a lot of self-satisfaction from doing something to help young lives."

In fact Bunkley's influence has had far-reaching results. Several of his students have gone on to careers in the food industry. Tracy Bennett attended the Culinary Institute of America and currently works as a chef for a Boston-based cruise line. Another protege, James Flebott, is currently employed as a chef at Suffolk University.

Though most program members do not go on to careers in the food service industry, the lessons they learn in the Chef's Club are still important. The program teaches its members valuable lessons about responsibility and team work, as well as providing them with a sense of accomplishment. The program also provides its members with practical knowledge, after all, everyone has to eat.

tional fee will be assessed.

The street cleaning regulations are in effect through Nov. 30.

★ Driver's License Number Options . . .

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles Jerold A. Gnazzo reminds drivers that when your license is up for renewal, you have the option of using either your Social Security number as your license number or have a Registry clerk give you a computer-assigned number. This option is not available to commercial drivers who, under federal regulations, are required to have their Social Security number appear on their license.

Also, when your license is due for renewal head for the License Express office located in the Cambridge Galleria, just across the Gilmore Bridge from Charlestown. It is open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

★ City Square Park . . . The Department of Environmental Management (DEM) and the park designer, The Halvorson Company, have begun the schematic design phase for City Square Park. As a part of this phase, a traffic study has been initiated to address pedestrian and vehicular circulation in and around City Square.

A community meeting has been scheduled for tonight, Thursday, April 8, at 7 p.m. to discuss traffic issues in City Square and schematic design alternatives for the park. This meeting will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 75 West School St.

Representatives from DEM, The Halvorson Company and Fay, Spofford and Thorndike, the project traffic engineers, will be at the meeting to answer any questions from Charlestown residents.

Requests for additional information and questions should be directed to Sandi Wolchansky, assistant project manager, at 727-3160 ext. 578.

★ Board Of Appeal Decision . . . The city of Boston Board of Appeal has granted the petition of Anthony and Margaret L. Tassinari to change the legal occupancy of 22 Cross St. from a one-family to a three-family dwelling.

★ Public Hearing . . . The Boston Conservation Commission will hold a public hearing in Room 801 of Boston City Hall at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, April 14. The commission will consider a Notice of Intent submitted by Blue Circle Cement for repairs to an existing pier facility at 285 Medford St., Charlestown. This hearing is a continuation from March 25.

Immediately following the last hearing, the commission will hold a public meeting. For further information, call 635-3850.

★ MWRA Seeks Comments . . . The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority is seeking comments and feedback from elected officials, residents, representatives of industries and other interested parties concerning the Authority's Fiscal Year 1994 budget, including wholesale water and sewer charges.

The public is invited to submit written comments to: The MWRA, 100 First Ave., Charlestown Navy Yard, Charlestown, Mass. 02129, Attention: Public Affairs.

The final rates will be adopted by the MWRA Board of Directors when they adopt the final FY94 budget in June.

★ Street Reconstruction Update . . . Mario Susi & Son got off to a reasonably good start in spite of some inclement weather this past week, completing a good portion of the drainage on Lawrence Street and starting on the drainage structures on Seminary Street. The roof drains will be installed as soon as all the structures and connecting pipes are in place. Susi will then strip the sidewalk and start installing the light bases.

A second crew started on Common Street between Park and Winthrop streets, installing a new drain line, and a third crew started on Common Street between Adams and Park streets removing the sidewalk. This will be followed by the installation of the roof drains and then the light bases.

The fourth crew, a subcontractor which was supposed to do the water on Prospect Street, has not yet mobilized. The subcontractor is now scheduled to start the installation of the new water main on Prospect Street next week.

Susi still plans to mobilize more people in the next week or so to work on gas lights and roof drains, etc., on the previously reconstructed streets. He did get the lights completed and lit on Nearen Row and Tremont Street last week.

The 1993 construction season on the street project is now in full swing. The residents are to be complimented on their cooperation in not parking in the construction work areas. Only two cars have had to be towed thus far.

On the 40 Flights project, The Middlesex Corp. hopes to have its railing subcontractor in by the end of this week or the first of next week to install the railings. After that, they will be back to finish the remaining street and stair work. They expect to take about one month to complete the project.

Questions, concerns or complaints are being handled by Community Liaison Peter Looney at 722-4300, ext. 5674.

"FAREWELL PADDY"

I wish I could have caressed you in my arms
or even held your hand,
When you passed away to God's land.
In the stillness of the night all alone,
I never had the chance to say good-bye,
You left me with grieving heart to mourn alone.
I miss your hugs, your tender kiss upon my cheek,
That crooked little smile when you would speak.
You never knew, but to me, you were my hero.
You helped to lift my spirits up many a day.
You truly were the wind beneath my wing.
Your legacy for love and life
you left for all who knew you.
True, you had your flaws,
but like a diamond in the rough
You became a gem,
and tried to walk in God's footsteps,
Giving of yourself to others and not looking for mortal gain.
For this, God has chosen to take you home again.
Yes, my son, life's battle you have won here on earth,
And God's heaven you've won!
For being a wonderful son.

Love, Mom

C.H.S. Reunion Planned

Plans are being made for a reunion of the Charlestown High School classes of 1972 and 1973. It will be held on Friday, Nov. 12 at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St., Charlestown.

Details will be furnished in the coming weeks, but the committee is presently trying to find and contact lost classmates. Persons interested in attending, or know the addresses of classmates now living out of town, please contact one of the following committee members: 1972 — Eileen (Henry) Ward at 242-1094 or 367-1122, Patty (White) LaPointe at 389-9378, Kathy (Fitzgerald) Duncan at 242-2149 or Karen (Lane) Connelly at 242-1902; 1973 — Debbie Donahue at 242-7195, Tish (Ryan) Considine at 242-2598, Gerry (Toomey) Hutchinson at 963-9593 or Debbie (Drago) Loudenslager at 389-4347.

Act Now!

The Boston Youth Theatre Network, in cooperation with the Mayor's Office of Arts and Humanities, will present the first annual Boston Youth Theatre Congress on Thursday, April 22, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Emerson Majestic Theatre and Emerson College Studios in downtown Boston. Attendance is free, however, preregistration is required for participation. Enrollment will continue through April 9 by calling 635-3245. This unique event is scheduled during spring break and is open to all greater-Boston school children, ages 12 to 18. Lunch will be provided.

Sign-in and workshop selection for preregistered students will begin at 9 a.m. at the Emerson College Studios, 180 Tremont St.

anywhere . . . Country Western Night at Bishop Lawton Hall, St. Francis de Sales Church, 313 Bunker Hill St. on Friday, May 7.

From 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., you can do-si-do and swing your partner around the floor to the sounds of the D.J. Connection. Be sure to bring your lady or your man, as the case may be! There'll be all types of western line dancing, including favorites like the Achie Breakie Heart, Bus Stop and many others . . . guaranteed to blow your socks off! You can learn from professional square dancers who'll be there to show their stuff and teach some of it, too!

You can sing your ever lovin' hearts out with Karaoke. Just imagine the sweet and mellow sounds of your own voice to Patsy Cline, Garth Brooks and who ever else you're a hankerin' to listen to and sing with.

Oh yea, the most important part of the evening . . . there'll be good old-fashion vittles, you know, a real almost Baptist Saturday night dinner (only this one is taking place on a Friday night). Hold on to those Stetson's folks, we've got honey baked ham, baked home-style beans, corn bread, coleslaw and, of course, strawberry shortcake. You can step up to the bar and order the home brew recipe of your choice till 1 a.m.

Why not mosey on down to the hoedown. It'll be better than any hootenanny you've ever gone to, and it will be the very last event for the parents and children of the class of 1993. So, join in for a rootin' tootin' knee-slapping fun-filled evening. It promises to a blast!

Tickets, at $12 per person, may be purchased by calling Sheila Walsh at 242-4049, Peggy O'Brien at 241-9475 or Joan Rae at the rectory, 242-0147.

$25,000 is needed to put the Bunker Hill Day Parade on the streets on Sunday, June 13. With the fiscal constraints on the city of Boston, only a limited amount of money is being allocated to the celebration by the city and each unit is asking for an increase in its fee. Thus the success of the celebration depends on you — the residents, merchants and organizations. Donations of $25 and over will be publicly acknowledged.

The Stolen Car — An Odyssey

by Charlie McGonagle

There are many reasons why one would choose to drive an eight-year-old automobile with more than one hundred ten thousand miles registered on its odometer, but at this time, and right off the top, I am sure you would be hard pressed to think of a single one, so let me help you out a bit.

1. It runs great. (It just doesn't start great.)
2. It is bigger and roomier than the newer cars. (It's a gas guzzler.)
3. It is always available. (Nobody else in the family would dare be seen driving it.)
4. Low excise taxes. (It matters not that your excise tax bill is usually accompanied by a note written by some nondescript clerk from city hall which reads, "You still driving that thing?")
5. It has character. (It has rust.)
6. It has sentimental value. (It has no value.)
7. Nobody would entertain any desire to steal it. (WRONG!)

I know I am not the first, nor will I be the last, to have my car stolen, but for those who may be uninitiated in such areas, please let me educate you as to what is expected of the "victim."

When a car other than my own was in the place where I had parked, I became suspicious, not of somebody having stolen my car, but of my own memory. I must have been daydreaming when I parked, I reasoned, and my car was elsewhere. However, after a short walk back and forth and a close check of the nearby vehicles, I was suddenly struck with the reality of the situation. Somebody had gone out of their way to steal my eight-year-old, one-hundred-thousand-plus-mile automobile.

Somehow it just did not make sense. After all, it had been parked in a parking lot complete with security person sitting in a booth at the lot's entrance, and it was old. The fact was, though, it was gone.

"I'm sorry." These were the consoling words of the security guard when I reported my vehicle missing. I was instructed to visit the security office inside the building to make a complete report. I followed those instructions and, after a rather lengthy session with the disbelieving security forces, I was told to file a report with the police. Somehow I thought that this report was also for the police but, alas, I was wrong.

My next step was to call the nearest police station. I was informed by the woman who answered my call that I would have to make the report in person, and that I would have to appear at the station with proof of ownership. "Such as?" I asked. "Such as your registration," she replied. "It is in the glove compartment of my car, and my car has been stolen. Remember?"

"Mistake number one," she said. "I always tell people not to do that just in case their car is stolen." For a moment I thought she might suggest a safer place, like the trunk.

"Where would I leave it?" I asked. "Someplace where it would not be stolen," she so astutely answered.

Convinced that this conversation was leading nowhere, I asked her how else I might prove ownership. "The original bill of sale," she replied.

"It is in the glove compartment of my car with my registration and my car has been stolen. Remember?"

"Mistake number two," she replied.

At this point I felt that I had danced this dance before and I chose not to waltz over that floor again.

"How about the vehicle identification number from my insurance company?"

"That will do."

"Maybe you could have told me that in the first place."

"And miss all the fun?"

I was driven to the station by a fellow worker where I filed the report and was given a telephone number to call periodically to check as to whether my car had been located. After several days and several calls, I gave this up and decided it might just be best to wait for the police to call me.

In the meantime, there was a matter of insurance. The missing car had to be reported to my automobile insurance company, while the vehicle's contents were covered under my homeowner's policy.

"We will need the original invoices on all repairs done on the car."

"They are in the glove compartment of my car, and my car has been stolen. Remember?"

"You should not have put them there."

"Where would you suggest a car owner put all things relative to his car?"

"Someplace where they would not be stolen, of course."

Was this person moonlighting? Did she work a second job at the police station I had visited earlier, or was this a conspiracy?

The insurance company sent me a check list of the items that were to be sent to them. Of the dozen or more items on that list, three were in the glove compartment, two had to be notarized, and one involved a fifteen-minute recorded statement to be made by me with an insurance representative asking the questions.

Although it was my car that had been stolen, I seriously began to wonder if I had done something wrong. After all, I was certain the person who stole my car was not going through all of this paperwork and other inconveniences.

In the meantime, it was necessary for me to rent a car while mine was listed among the missing. Again it was time to deal with the insurance people.

"Your policy will allow you up to $15 a day coverage," I was informed.

"Can I rent a car for $15 a day?" I asked.

"No," I was told. "Not only that," he continued, "but the company will not cover the first day."

"So I am responsible for the first day and all charges over $15 for each day of the rental period?"

"Pretty much."

"What does pretty much mean?"

"Well, after 30 days we don't cover anything."

Because I was desperate, I agreed to take a car with a cracked windshield with the promise that it (the car) would be replaced on Friday, two days later. That was a promise that was never kept. On Saturday, I called the office only to be informed that there was still nothing available there, but I might want to try another branch of the same company. I did, and was assured that I could drive the auto with the broken windshield to Wakefield to have it (the car) replaced. I followed instructions, and arrived at the Wakefield branch less than one-half hour later.

"Sorry," she said, "but I just rented that car I told you we had. Let me call the Malden office."

I eventually found my way to the Malden branch, and drove off with a nice shiny new car with windshield intact. All was fine until a few days later when it began to snow. It was at this point that my new, shiny rent-a-car with windshield, refused to start. Again I called, and again I was promised a substitute. And again, a promise was not kept. Not until late in the next day was I able to get somebody to come out to help. When that help arrived in the form of a well-dressed non-mechanic, he placed the key in the ignition and, wouldn't you know it, the car started immediately.

"I don't want it anyway," I told him, and he was nice enough to say he didn't blame me. He did look at me in a rather funny way, however. Within an hour, I was driving my third rent-a-car.

At 10:05 p.m., one week to the day after my car was stolen, I was informed via the telephone that it had been recovered and towed to a lot in Roxbury.

The next day I went to survey the damages and was surprised to find everything except the steering column and ignition intact.

I would, however, be responsible for the $70 towing fee and an additional $60 to have the car towed from that lot to a garage near my home where it would be repaired.

By making still another call to the insurance company, I learned that the towing fees were covered under my policy but that, because I had a $500 deductible clause, I would be responsible for repair costs up to that amount.

The final bill for repairs amounted to $538 which included $60 for towing.

Almost two weeks after my car had been stolen, I was back behind the wheel, but after having gone through that period of time and suffering through countless numbers of inconveniences, not to mention the loss of several hundreds of dollars, I can suggest that one very important lesson be learned from this quite unspectacular adventure: Never, never, under any circumstances, allow your car to be stolen!

Here is my plan. We have all seen signs which read "Do Not Walk On The Grass," and "No Trespassing," and "No Smoking," and "No Running," and "Do Not Turn on Red," and "Do Not Feed the Animals." Even though there is nobody around, in most cases, to enforce these orders, they are obeyed. If they were not, things might become rather chaotic. So I propose a new sign to be placed on the driver's side window of all automobiles which will read, "Do Not Steal This Vehicle."

And that should solve the stolen car problem, right? Sure!

■ Boston Still Number One . . . Over the weekend, I had the opportunity to spend some time in Milwaukee where I attended the Hockey "Final Four," and I also took a side trip to Chicago where I was most fortunate to attend a Chicago Bulls basketball game. Both are fine American cities with many unique qualities, but I'll stick with Boston. You can't really appreciate what a great city Boston is until you visit other cities. We are most fortunate to call Boston home.

■ For Girls Only . . . Another successful For Girls Only program took place at the Boys & Girls Club on Monday evening. It is great to see a fine program, now in its second year, continue to present topical discussion sessions for the young ladies of Charlestown.

Participants in Monday's program were: Erin Carroll, Shawna Pelton, Jessica Baker, Christine Locke, Kristin Connolly, Monica Noe, Jennifer Ray, Mary Ellen Wood, Catrin

Houlihan, Kelly Moses, Kelly Seward, Janell Jones, Kelleigh Mahan, Stephanie Ward, Colleen Walsh, Monique Matarazzo, Courtney McLaughlin, Kerrin Donahue, Kathy O'Leary and Heather Saunders.

■ Chess Champ Crowned . . . Stephen Livingston took home the prize in the Bunker Hill Teen Center double-elimination Chess Tournament. Stephen defeated Greg McNeil for the title, and was the only participant to go undefeated.

■ The Wright Stuff . . . Leo Wright had 21 points as The Brickmasters downed the Blue Demons 85-57 in the Charlestown Pride Spring League opener. Brian Wadman had 14 points and Tommy Halloran added 10 more for the victors. Andrew Ray was the dominating Demon with 14 points. Greg Staples, Stephen Livingston and Mike Burns had eight each for the Blue Demons.

Members of The Brickmasters are Jim Yandle, Brian Wadman, Tom Halloran, Shane Fisher, Jimmy Tallent, Walter Egleston, Mike Chase and Leo Wright.

Participants on the Blue Demons are Jim Saccardo, Steve Livingston, Andrew Ray, Michael Burns, Greg Staples, Dave Evers, Mark Kempton and Chris Findley.

■ Thanks — CHAD . . . The Bunker Hill Teen Council would like to thank CHARlestown Against Drugs (CHAD) for its generous gift to the Bunker Hill Teen Center.

■ Pro Line . . . Jimmy Vesey scored his 37th goal of the season as Providence recorded a come-from-behind 4-3 victory at Springfield. First-place Providence has 90 points with a record of 44-32-2.

Over in the NHL, Winnipeg enters the week with a 37-35-7 record, two points out of third place in the Smythe Division, and Keith Tkachuk is close to cracking the 50-point mark with 26 goals and 23 assists.

Tommy Fitzgerald and the Islanders are in a heated battle for a playoff spot in the Patrick Division, along with Washington, New Jersey and the New York Rangers. Eight points separate these four teams.

■ CHAD Meeting . . . The bi-monthly meeting of CHARlestown Against Drugs (CHAD) will take place at noon on Friday, April 9 at the Bunker Hill Teen Center, 76 Monument St. All are welcome to attend.

■ Tidbits . . .

— It was good to see Jack O'Callahan at the Hockey "Final Four." The former Chicago Black Hawk and Olympic Gold Medalist was attending the championship game with his son.

— Is Michael Jackson Joe "BoBo" Boyden's idol?

— The boys send a special greeting to "Jenny Craig" Mento!

— Mark Shean was sighted on Main Street — his new hangout??

— Congratulations to Dave Delmedico, we're proud of you!

• CYO All-Nighter — After many months of inquiries, we have organized another All-Nighter for teenagers of the Charlestown community. We will board the bus at St. Catherine's Church at 6 p.m. on Friday, April 30, stay up all night long and return to St. Catherine's around 6 a.m. on Saturday, May 1. At the present time, we are arranging to take part in five or six activities throughout the night. We can promise that you will enjoy every one of them, but you'll have to trust us. No one under 13 years of age will be allowed to go on the All-Nighter.

The cost of the event is only $20 per person, which includes all activities and meals. The CYO will subsidize the event, therefore keeping the cost reasonable.

You must sign up at St. Catherine's Rectory, leaving your name and $20. If the bus is full, there will be no room to sign up on the night of the event, so please register now.

• CYO Girls Softball Coaches Meeting — St. Catherine's will be entering teams in the CYO Girls Softball League this summer. All girls from Charlestown are invited to play in this league. Games begin the first week of June, and practices will begin in early May. The age divisions are: Midget, under 12; Bantam, under 14; Cadet, under 16; and Junior, under 19.

Each year we welcome back some coaches and recruit new coaches. Any man or woman interested in coaching in the softball program is asked to meet at St. Catherine's Rectory at 6 p.m. on Monday, April 12 to discuss teams, registration, uniforms and equipment, practice times, fields, umpire fees, etc.

CYO boys baseball practices will begin in May as well. There will be a baseball coaches meeting later in April.

• Roller-Skating Party — On Wednesday, April 21, during April vacation, we invite all students who have registered for the Charlestown Catholic Elementary School and their friends to join together and enjoy a roller-skating party at Rollerworld in Saugus. We have reserved the rink from 10 a.m. to noon. Busses will leave from St. Catherine's Church at 9:15 a.m. and return at 12:30 p.m. All parents are more than welcome to accompany their children and to skate.

The cost of tickets, which are now on sale at St. Francis de Sales and St. Catherine's schools, will be $5. This includes skate rental, transportation and admission.

• Eighth Grade Girls Olympics — St. Catherine's will again enter a team in the annual Eighth Grade Girls CYO Olympics on Tuesday, April 20. We will compete against 11 other parishes in basketball, volleyball, gym hockey, water basketball and superstars contests at West Roxbury High School. All girls in grades 7 or 8 in either public or parochial schools who reside in Charlestown are eligible to play for St. Catherine's team.

St. Catherine's sponsors this event each year and we are looking for high school students to referee and keep score throughout the day.

A bus will leave from St. Catherine's at 8:30 a.m. and return around 5:30 p.m. Lunch is included.

All who are interested in playing on the team or refereeing are asked to call Father Coyne at 242-1750.

On March 30, the co-ed All-Star Game and Skills Competition was held at the Kent Community Center. Over 33 all-stars from both the boys and girls ball hockey leagues took part in an exciting and fun-filled game which saw the West Stars defeat the East Stars in overtime.

Preceding the game was the Skills Competition where the players competed in several events to decide who was most talented. The events were sharp shooting, stick handling, breakaway, speed and rapid fire. After hours of competition and excellent sportsmanship, the winners were announced.

'Sources Of Financial Aid For Mass. Students' Now Available

Now is the time for people planning to attend college next fall to apply for financial aid. In light of this, Rep. Richard Voke has available a new brochure regarding this year's financial aid. Noting that for a student to be able to attend college these days it is important that they look into all the financial resources that are available, Voke says he is pleased to assist prospective students in this process. The brochures, printed by the Higher Education Information Center, lists all available sources of financial aid and provides the reader a four step plan which will guide students and their families through this most often confusing process.

In addition, the handbook discusses how, when and where to apply for financial aid, and provides telephone numbers and further reference points for those who have questions or need additional information on eligibility and availability.

According to Voke, the most important component to receiving financial aid is the timely completion of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and/or the Financial Aid Form (FAF). "By completing the FAFSA, a student will ensure his or her eligibility for a number of state and federally funded programs. It is also possible a student may need to fill out the FAF as well, it just depends on the school they wish to attend," noted Voke.

Voke noted how especially important it is to know the various reference points available to students who are seeking financial aid. "Deciding which school offers the right academics can be tough enough for our students without subjecting them to further worries about financial aid. It is my hope that by giving prospective students as much information as possible about financial aid, we can take some of the uncertainty out of the financing question," commented Voke.

To obtain a copy of "Sources of Financial Aid for Mass. Students," write to Rep. Richard Voke, State House, Boston, MA 02133.

Brown Bag Bookies To Meet

Brown Bag Bookies, the adult book discussion group of the Charlestown Branch Library, will meet on Tuesday, April 13 at noon at the library, 179 Main St.

The book under discussion will be The Book Of The Just by Eric Silver. According to Abraham Foxman of the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League, "Silver is lucid in conveying a powerful message: rescuing a Jew was an individual act of human compassion. We, ourselves, have seen the humanity Mr. Silver so impressively describes in the eyes of those we've honored with our Courage to Care awards. Now, with this volume, we have an indispensable composite of the remarkable rescue deed."

Participants are invited to bring their lunches, and new members are always welcome.

Thank You For The Note

Dear Gloria:

Late Saturday night into Sunday morning, my new car was hit by another vehicle while it was parked behind Gimbel's Liquor Store in Thompson Square. As it was a hit and run accident, I do not know who the driver was.

Fortunately, someone who saw it happen was kind enough to leave a note on my windshield with the culprit's license plate number and a description of the vehicle. I just want to say "thank you" to that person who took the time to write a note. That little note made my life a lot easier.

Sincerely,

Karen (Ezekiel) Donnaruma

P.S. If anybody remembers the time of the accident, could you please drop a note off to me at 28 Pleasant St. It will be greatly appreciated.

K.E.D.

A Tremendous Honor

Dear Gloria,

I would like to use the Patriot as the forum to thank the many people who made the Michael P. Quinn Scholarship dance a resounding success. It was certainly one of the highlights of my life. It was a tremendous honor to be selected to deliver the keynote speech. To Mrs. Quinn and Mike's immediate family, I hope my words brought the honor to your son and brother that he so richly deserved.

The entire Charlestown community owes Ronan FitzPatrick and the other members of the scholarship committee their deepest thanks and appreciation. Their selfless efforts have ensured that the spirit exhibited by Mike Quinn will never fade. Ronan does so much and receives very little recognition.

The feelings of pride that I had that night as I looked out on my family can never be described. Again, I thank the scholarship committee for giving me a very special night.

Thanks to you and Jim. As usual, you were on the job chronicling the truly good things about Charlestown. I look forward to the festivities surrounding Bunker Hill Day. Thanks for inviting me.

Sincerely,
James P. O'Donnell
Colonel, U.S.M.C.

GERMS
WASH YOUR HANDS!

The recent cases of viral hepatitis in our community gives us an opportunity to review healthy hygiene habits. More germs than expected are spread on our hands, as well as our body's fluids (nasal drippings, sputum, urine and feces). Some preventative tips include:

- Wash your hands before preparing food, eating and after going to the bathroom.
- Always drink fluids from your own containers (cup, can or bottle).
- Don't kiss ill persons on the mouth.
- Don't share combs, towels, wash cloths or toothbrushes with anyone else.
- Don't put your hands in your mouth, don't chew on pens, pencils or objects not meant for the mouth.
- Keep pacifiers clean — don't hang them or pin them on a child; parents don't wash them with your mouth.
- Don't unnecessarily expose any person to another ill person.
- Don't share make-up with anyone else.
- Wash your hands when coming home from work, play or travel.
- Use your own utensils when eating.

Families with young children may want to consider reading the following books and use them as a teaching tool:

Clean Enough by Kevin Henkes (Greenwillow Books);

Germs Make Me Sick by Parnell Donahue (Alfred A. Knopf);

Phoebe Dexter Has Harriet Peterson's Sniffles by Laura J. Numeroff (Greenwillow Books);

Cleans as a Whistle by Aileen Fisher (Thomas Y. Crowell);

Dirty Feet by Steven Kroll (Parents Magazine Press); and

I Hate to Take a Bath by Judith Barret (Four Winds Press).
