Navy Yard Proposals Come Before BRA Board For Approval

by Kathy Giordano

The Boston Redevelopment Authority Board of Director's meeting on May 10 was the scene of a video extravaganza as the New England Aquarium presented its plans to build a "new-age aquarium" in the Charlestown Navy Yard. A double-slide show production flashed views of pre-aquarium Boston on the hearing room wall, while voices of prominent aquarium supporters, including former BRA Director Ed Logue and retired CBS newsmen Walter Cronkite, could be heard chronicling the history and growth of the world-renown facility.

The board heard testimony from city councillors, environmentalists, cultural organizations and affiliates, preservationists and residents of Charlestown who applauded the development plans of the aquarium to construct an enlarged version of its present facility on Parcel 5/Dry Dock 5 in the Yard's End section of the Navy Yard.

Paul Barrett, BRA assistant director for Harbor Planning and Development, opened the testimony by informing the board about NEA's need to expand the capacity of its operation, explaining that the aquarium's present site on Central Wharf "has an ever-growing number of yearly visitors. Last year 1.2 million visited the aquarium — two times that number is expected in the future."

Barrett walked through the 21 months of public and private meetings that had taken place between the aquarium, BRA, Charlestown Neighborhood Council and community residents, informing the board: "I am happy to say that the consensus of the neighborhood is good." He outlined the process that included discussions surrounding the originally chosen site for the facility in the Dry Dock 2/Shipyard Park area of the Navy Yard which, he said, "the neighborhood and aquarium could not form a consensus on."

He went on to say, "One year ago Dry Dock 5/Parcel 5 was brought into the discussion," and added, "this proposal could do for Charlestown what the aquarium did for Boston 20 years ago." Barrett also in-

May 23 Is 'Charlestown Loves A Healthy Heart Day'

Can you answer the following questions:

What is your cholesterol?

What is your blood pressure?

How much do you weigh?

Also, think about these questions:

Do you smoke?

If you smoke, how many cigarettes do you smoke a day?

How often do you exercise?

The answers to these questions will give you a profile of your cardiovascular health. If you do not know the answers to these questions, you can find out at Charlestown Loves a Healthy Heart Day on Wednesday, May 23 inside and outside Johnnie's Foodmaster in the Bunker Hill Mall and on the Charlestown Lions Club van. The event is being sponsored by the Community Advisory Board on Cardiac Health Enhancement of the MGH-Bunker Hill Health Center, the Charlestown Lions Club and Johnnie's Foodmaster.

Healthy Heart Day will enable Charlestown residents to learn about their risks of developing cardiac disease. Free blood cholesterol, blood pressure, height and weight screenings will be provided.

Staff members from the Bunker Hill Health Center will be available to counsel you on how to lower your risk factors, if necessary. Displays on exercise, stress, nutrition and smoking will be available in the mall.

The Charlestown Lions Club Eyemobile will also be available for free screening for glaucoma and visual acuity.

Help make Charlestown a healthier community by coming to Healthy Heart Day at the Bunker Hill Mall on Wednesday, May 23, between noon and 7 p.m.

BRA Announces Plans For Street Improvements

by Lynn Peters

The Boston Redevelopment Authority described two of its contracts under its Capital Improvement Program Monday night to residents of the Adams Street - Training Field - Monument Square and Chestnut - Mt. Vernon - Prospect streets areas which include tree planting, gas lights, and street and sidewalk resurfacing.

According to Paul Reavis of the BRA, the city signed an agreement with the U.S. Housing and Urban Development agency to improve certain streets in urban renewal areas. Busing in the mid-70s delayed the project, and, later, Proposition 2½ pushed the start date further back. Some $4.6 million was reinstated two years ago, and Reavis said that the target date for putting the four Charlestown projects out to bid is late July. Contracts would be assigned in the fall for a summer 1991 completion.

The meeting was designed to give residents a chance to make suggestions or changes and to introduce Jim Sullivan, BRA community liaison for Charlestown, who will work with individuals on special circumstances. Reavis assured residents that the BRA does not intend to change unusual and historic characteristics of Charlestown's streets.

Neighbors of the Training Field area said they want to keep the electric acorn-shaped lights around the park and would like brick sidewalks installed instead of concrete. Reavis said the BRA would check into leaving the electric street lights but the brick sidewalks are not in the budget or within the scope of the work. The cost of a concrete sidewalk is $3 per square foot compared with $13.50 to $18 for the bricks.

The streets will have different types of trees planted from hedge maples to Norway maples, from sweet gums to pear trees. The trees, which cost between $800 and $1,000 each, will provide filtering from the neighborhood's surrounding highways.

Common Street's David Donovan and Judy Evers of the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services asked Sullivan and Reavis to keep in touch with neighbors as the schedule progresses and for a commitment to work with individuals.

"The residents hope the BRA will work with folks on specific situations," Donovan said.

A May 16 presentation included the Rutherford Avenue and Devens and Washington streets area. The third and final community meeting will be Wednesday, May 23 at 7 p.m. in the Hull Room, Building 5, Boston National Historical Park, in the Navy Yard. The Hancock Square - Russell Street area will be discussed.

Charlestown Preservation Society Holds House Tour In Conjunction With Preservation Week

by Rosemary Kverek

The 12th biennial Charlestown Preservation Society House Tour on May 5 was very successful in spite of the inclement weather. The co-chairmen, Barbara

Hedges and John Tobin were very pleased with the estimated 700 people from Charlestown and surrounding areas who braved the elements to view Charlestown's open spaces, parks, two local churches and nine beautiful homes.

The blossoming trees, flowers and shrubbery throughout the community as well as the town's beautiful parks and open spaces provided a lovely backdrop for the hundreds of people who ventured out on Saturday.

The Preservation Society would like to express its gratitude to the nine home owners, St. John's and St.

Mary's churches, the local merchants who sold tickets and the people who provided food for the reception.

The house tour was made possible by the hard work of the many committee members, housesitters and community people who teamed up for this event. The money raised by the House Tour will be used to plant trees, shrubs and flowers throughout Charlestown.

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

Aquariums sought out by visitors and study groups include: Monterey Bay, New England, Mystic's Marine-life, Chicago's John G. Shedd, Waikiki, Seattle, and the National Aquarium of Baltimore. Covering a diverse geographic range, the aquariums have a universal goal to educate the masses on the many facets of marine life and science. A striking feature of the Monterey facility is its 335,000-gallon exhibit tank housing a living kelp forest.

The proposal of the New England Aquarium to relocate to Dry Dock 5 from its present Central Wharf location has several more waves to surpass before its new address is a reality. These waves are not the pounding sea that the NEA ship experienced on its earlier voyage. When the proposal is brought to fruition, NEA will have a world-class aquarium that will be affordable. Hopefully, NEA will meet the success of the Monterey Aquarium as outlined in John R. Clark's April 4 article in the Marco Island Eagle. Clark highlighted the major features of Monterey, from its fair admission price of $8 per adult, to its natural setting. He was enthralled by it. In the article Clark quotes Julie Packard, the aquarium's manager, on the reason for its spectacular success as "the educational process of immersing visitors in an entire habitat, encouraging self-exploration, attention to design details, and having a superior location;" a formula for success which NEA hopes to duplicate.

From the tropical climate of Marco Island, Fla., Mary and I returned to blooming tulips and bizarre New England weather. Gone were the daily averages of 85 degrees and water temperatures of 76, with only the frolicking dolphins to view with amazement. There was plenty of Tab for the weary beach bums, the best-named sloop off the coast called Everlasting Paradise, and snowy egrets, sandpipers and pelicans entertained along the three-and-a-half-mile crescent beach until sunset.

At the Marriott Marco Beach Hotel the sunsets were splendid and watched by a large throng. Much has, and will be, written about Marco Island from the many pastel colors to the Marco Polo Restaurant. Under owner-management of Phil and Barbara Schifano, it is renowned for fine Italian cuisine and fresh Florida seafood. Located at 30 Marco Lake Dr. its secluded facility needs no excessive advertising. Once you discover the Marco Polo you become a regular. It is a true epicurean delight that deserves a Michelin rating. On its serving staff are some of the finest waiters in southwest Florida. Senior waiter Al Winslow brings his Bar Harbor, Maine experience, friendly smile and humor that results in a dining festival. Longtime Patriot contributor Charles McGonagle and his wife Mary have had the pleasure of the Marco Polo Restaurant, both its fine food and entertainment. When in the neighborhood a visit to the Marco Polo will yield a memorable event. Having Al Winslow as your waiter will be a treat. Of course, having some information on his Boston Red Sox will allow for a faster dessert of Key Lime Pie.

Ironsides custodial supervisor Joe Crilley brought me up to date on his brother Tommy, who had quintuple coronary bypass surgery in early April. Joe informed that Tommy is responding well, and his recovery period has been positive. Motor vehicle driving and airplane flying are severely restricted. By religiously following the doctor's orders, Tommy will be back to the strength and vigor of his early youth as an all-star goalie with Charlestown High School. Cards can be forwarded to: Thomas Crilley, 205 Independence Ave., Quincy, Mass. 02169. I know that they would be appreciated.

Opening up the spring and summer season at the Constitution Museum is an attractive exhibit. Across the facade is a blue-and-white banner proclaiming the happening. Huzzah for the Constitution!, an exhibit of popular prints and souvenirs. Rain or shine, the show is going on, a perfect fit for the early visiting resident or tourist.

For Constellation Wharf resident Kelly Kallick, Shipyard Park is off-bounds. Temporarily, Kelly and 2-year-old son Jake skirt that area. If visited Kelly might have to pitch a tent to satisfy the interest in the play area for toddler Jake. A detour stroll is the prescribed agenda for Kelly, Jack, 12-month-old Molly and good old George, the family cocker spaniel. Husband Harold is the designated baby sitter for Molly when Kelly is shopping with Jake. Like father like son, Jake at a young age is acquiring the merchandising talent that has made his father's business, Harbour Food Service Equipment Corp., successful. As the weather cooperates more, the Kallicks will enjoy a sojourn to Pocasset on Cape Cod where Jake can dominate his jungle gym and Harold can contemplate early retirement while grooming Jake. For Molly, may she enjoy her status as the youngest resident of the Yard for now; but she will always be daddy's little girl.

The Good News About Today's Teens

Adolescents. Teen-agers. High school students.

It is typical, if not unfortunate, for these words to conjure up all sorts of negative images in the public's collective imagination. Constantly hit with stories of adolescent violence, drug use, pregnancy and other social ills, observers are prone to judgments about an entire generation based on the exposure given to the squeaky wheels.

Part of the reason for the myth of adolescents is because adults fail to take the time to notice and remind themselves that the majority of that generation are bright, productive good kids.

There is one group of teen-agers who are doing what they are expected to do in a way that exceeds those expectations. The seniors of North Cambridge Catholic High School are offered a unique opportunity to participate in a Senior Service Internship in the spring of their senior year. It is a means of giving students experience in fields they consider important for personal, academic or career reasons.

Each senior chooses a site at which they would like to serve, interviewing there as if they were applying for a paying position and eventually working in a position that best suits his or her needs as well as those of the employer.

One of the school's seniors is Cheryl Lynch of Charlestown. She is utilizing the program to gain a sense of the travel industry in which she intends to work very soon. PUBLIC NOTICE

Massachusetts Department of Public Works • Federal Highway Administration • U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

will conduct a Public Hearing

Thursday, June 21, 1990 from 9am to 10pm*

Federal Reserve Building Auditorium • 600 Atlantic Avenue • Boston, Massachusetts

Central Artery (Interstate 93)/Tunnel (Interstate 90) Project

Public Draft Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement/Report

A Public Hearing on the Central Artery/Tunnel Project will commence at 9am on Thursday, June 21, 1990, at the Federal Reserve Bank Building, 600 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts. The Public Hearing will include three formal informational presentations of approximately 30 minutes each at 9am, 1pm, and 6pm, which will provide an explanation of: the project's purpose, need, and consistency with the goals and objectives of local urban planning; the project's alternatives and major design features; the social, economic, environmental, and other impacts of the project; the relocation assistance program and the right-of-way acquisition process; the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' permitting role associated with the project, and the MDPW's procedures for receiving both oral and written statements from the public.

This public hearing is intended to be a joint public hearing of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Massachusetts Department of Public Works and the Federal Highway Administration to solicit public comments and input about the proposal. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will also issue a separate public notice regarding permit applications associated with the Central Artery/Tunnel Project.

A comprehensive informational project exhibit will be available for viewing by all interested parties from Monday, June 18 through Friday, June 22, 1990, on the fifth floor of the Central Artery/Tunnel Project offices at One South Station (Atlantic Avenue entrance) between the hours of 9am and 5pm. Project staff will be available to discuss the project with interested persons.

Description and Purpose of the Proposed Action

The Central Artery/Tunnel Project will depress and widen the Central Artery (I-93), an existing multi-lane limited access roadway, from south of the interchange of the Southeast Expressway (I-93) with the Massachusetts Turnpike (I-90) to an interchange with U.S. Route 1 in Charlestown, and extend I-90 from its current terminus at I-93 to a new terminus at Logan Airport in East Boston. The purpose of the project is to improve the flow of north/south traffic through Boston using the Central Artery; improve cross-harbor access to and from Logan Airport and Route 1A; improve seaport access from regional expressways in order to reduce truck traffic on regional streets in South Boston; and provide beneficial landfill capping material and material for the creation of a new park at Spectacle Island.

Individuals and representatives of organizations who wish to speak at the hearing should submit their names and affiliations to Margaret Austin, SEIS/R Information Representative, One South Station, Boston, MA 02110, (617) 951-6022. Requests to speak should be received before June 19, 1990, in order to allow sufficient time for proper scheduling of the meeting. Attendees at the hearing who desire to speak may do so following those on the previously established list. If many speakers submit their names, a reasonable limitation on the amount of time allotted to each speaker may become necessary. Brochures and forms for written comments will be available at this hearing.

Written statements and other exhibits in lieu of or in addition to oral presentations at the hearing may be submitted to Mr. William V. Twomey, Attn: Ms. Pat Labau, One South Station, Boston, MA 02110 until July 5, 1990, in order to be included in the "Public Hearing Transcript." This transcript will be available for review approximately three weeks following the hearing at the locations listed below.

Beginning on May 11, 1990, the Public Draft Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement and the Final Environmental Impact Statement/Report (FEIS/R) which it supplements will be available for inspection, Monday through Friday, at the locations listed below.

Some Charlestown Residents Eligible For Residential Soil Deleading Program

Charlestown residents who own private residences within 100 feet of the Tobin Bridge are eligible to participate in the Massachusetts Port Authority's Residential Soil Deleading Program, which is due to get underway this spring. The program only covers owners of private property, since city of Boston and Boston Housing Authority sites have their own deleading programs available.

The program, recently completed on the Chelsea side of the Tobin Bridge, offers qualified Charlestown homeowners the opportunity to have their property treated for potential lead content. They can select one of three possible options: to leave the soil intact, to have it excavated and replaced with loam or sod, or to have it hot-topped and encapsulated.

Although Massport will select a contractor to handle the excavation, replacement and hot-topping based on competitive bids and will assume the costs of the work, the homeowner will be responsible for selecting an option and signing a contract with Massport's specified vendor to have it completed. This process allows the homeowner to have personal oversight of the work being conducted on his/her property, while Massport ensures that the work will be done by a reputable contractor at a competitive rate.

Private homeowners whose property is within the 100-foot eligibility requirements will be notified by Massport of the program and the process they need to follow to take advantage of it. For more information, contact Massport Community Liaison Dorothy Connolly at 973-5691.

The Headstart program, housed this year at St. Catherine's School, will be moving back into its Moulton Street building after a 2½-year absence, the result of a fire set in the facility in December 1987. The multimillion-dollar fund-raising project has resulted in the total reconstruction of the three-story former Kent School in Hayes Square.

Four Weeks Of Low-Impact Nightwork Scheduled For Tobin Bridge

Starting tonight, Thursday, May 17, from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m., workers are scheduled to begin nighttime debris removal from within the center lane work area on the lower level (north-bound) of the Tobin Bridge. Generated from redecking work on the Tobin Bridge's upper level, the debris will be loaded on a dump trailer enclosed by pipe staging in the lower deck's center lane, which has already been closed to traffic as part of that same project.

The nighttime Monday through Friday schedule was selected because of serious concerns both for motorists and workers during heavy daytime traffic hours. Since no heavy machinery will be needed, noise levels should be extremely low, while lights will face up toward the center span away from the Charlestown community. All workers should be out of community range within the first four to five working days of the four-week debris removal schedule. Little if any traffic impact is anticipated, although a State Police detail will be on hand to assist as necessary.

DiMasi Targets Gas Tax Fund For Charlestown As Impacted Community

Rep. Sal DiMasi successfully amended the state's new gas tax targeting funds to establish grants and programs for Charlestown and other communities impacted by the Central Artery. "Funds generated by any of the newly proposed taxes should directly benefit the people of Massachusetts. My amendment to the gas tax is one way a significantly burdened portion of our society can be protected," explained DiMasi.

According to the representative the funds will protect impacted neighborhoods by addressing issues such as: noise and air pollution, access to and from the impacted areas; unimpaired sale and/or rental of available property; prevention of and restitution for any and all damages by the project to property; traffic and parking alternatives; prevention of and restitution for any and all harm caused by the project to neighborhood businesses; control over the project's working hours of operation; appropriate routes for heavy equipment vehicles connected to the project; securing any and all land made available by the project and to use it to stabilize and improve the impacted residential areas; and assuring citizen participation in the siting of vent shafts, as well as other situations related to the project.

DiMasi said: "It is important that the persons most affected by the project be protected on all fronts. The issues that have been highlighted are not the only ones that the money can be limited to; as the project progresses, if new unforeseen problems arise, grants and programs can be established from these funds to address those problems."

Areas cited in the amendment as neighborhoods impacted by the project and thereby having claim to the generated funds are: Charlestown, the North End, Waterfront, West End, Charles River Park, Chinatown and East Boston.

The efforts to keep Camp Bunker Hill alive has gathered more steam as a group of community representatives and elected officials met again last week to discuss strategies to keep the therapeutic summer day camp operating.

Charlestown's Bob McGann from the Community Schools program is working to allow Camp Bunker Hill children use of its facilities since Camp Joy, a

New Vitality In The Community For Continuing Camp Bunker Hill

Community Schools-operated day camp, will not be in Charlestown this year. He is also looking into the possibility of providing staff members for a smaller Camp Bunker Hill.

Other members of the group will seek resources, such as alternative sites and technical assistance. Jim Walsh of Congressman Joseph Kennedy's office committed to long-term fundraising for next year, when the camp is expected to be back to its original 80-child capacity at Hale Reservation in Westwood. Charlie Clabaugh of City Councilor Robert Travaglini's office has drafted a letter in the meantime from The Friends of Camp Bunker Hill aimed at raising financial contributions from organizations.

The recently formed coalition includes residents Dan O'Neil, Mary MacInnes and Peg McNeil, who works for the Department of Mental Health which has provided some assistance before and may be willing to sponsor two or three children. Peter Looney, chairman of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council's Basic Services Committee, has been working the last few weeks to patch together Charlestown's resources for a scaled-down Camp Bunker Hill for the neighborhood's most at-risk youth.

Drs. Roger Sweet, Lorenzo Lewis and Michael Cawley, organizers of Camp Bunker Hill, told residents recently that the camp would close this year because of its budget deficit and lack of funding.

At a May 10 morning meeting at The Raymond Group offices, Cawley and Sweet stressed to the coalition the need for the patch work to be viable and safe for the 10 to 20 children the program would be able to carry this summer. While the coalition seemed positive about the progress made so far in keeping the spirit of the camp alive, there is work to be done.

"For the first time we have a coalition of people who are concerned," Sweet said. "That is powerful for the long run."

The group will meet again in the coming week to organize fundraising possibilities, within the community and from outside organizations.

Four Charlestown youngsters had the opportunity to participate in the Tour de Tots tricycle race in Copley Square on May 13, prior to the conclusion of the 1990 Tour de Trump cycling event.

The local youngsters, all from the Charlestown Community Schools Tiny Tots program, included Patrick Rose, Joe Connolly, Meg Gallagher and Madison Getchell. They joined children from throughout the city at the race, maneuvering tricycles through an obstacle course of adults holding flags of various countries.

The children were then treated to lunch at Champion's Restaurant where they were presented with the tricycles they rode in the race.

1989 First Anniversary 1990

God saw you getting tired
And a cure was not to be.
So He put His arms around you,
And whispered "Come to Me."
With tearful eyes we watched you
And saw you pass away.
Although we loved you dearly,
We couldn't make you stay ...
So your golden heart stopped beating
Your tender hands at rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us,
He only takes the best.

Junior Rangers Test Their Skills At Field Trip To Washington, D.C.

Fourteen Charlestown Junior Rangers of the Boston National Park recently enjoyed a four-day adventure in Washington, D.C. touring National Park Service sites, camping and meeting with officials.

Accompanied by local Ranger Jonathan Schaffer, who organized the Junior Ranger program last year, and parent chaperones Mina Anzalone and David Kilmartin, the group included Shannon Anzalone, John Cowen, Gordon D'Ambrosio, Nicole DeRoeve, Sean Getchell, Peter Golden, David Hurley III, Alicia Kilmartin, Michael Larson, Desiree McGrath, Melissa Pacheco, Victoria Pinder, Shawn Porter and Christine Southern.

Their busy agenda included tours of the White House, the Washington Monument, beneath the Lincoln Memorial where the public is excluded, and visits to the National Museum of Natural History and the National Air and Space Museum. The Junior Rangers learned about war at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial. Discovering the name of a Charlestown resident who died in the conflict, they had his name rubbed on a special paper to give to the family. They camped with a fire one night, bunked at Fort Myers Army Base, bowled, played basketball and bought souvenirs.

But it wasn't all play for the Junior Rangers of Charlestown, who represent one of only two community-based programs like this in the country. A meeting with NPS Deputy Director Herb Cables tested their knowledge. They remembered the 1906 Antiquities and 1916 Organic Acts, who the first NPS director was, and could name all 16 kinds of sites in the system and more than 30 parks. D'Ambrosio, Pacheco and Hurley presented the group's community outreach slide show. Anzalone awarded Cables with a plaque and cap naming him an honorary Junior Ranger. NPS Director James Ridenour received the same honor from Kilmartin, and Golden presented Secretary of the Interior Manuel Lujan Jr. with his plaque.

One of the vans broke down in Maryland on the way back to Charlestown, but, according to Schaffer: "The Washington, D.C. trip was a complete success. We saw everything we set out to see and more. The Junior Rangers learned about history, team work, the National Park Service and had a great time doing it. Boston National Historical

SALVATION OR EMPTY RITUALS?

Jesus speaking to those who put more faith in their traditions and rituals than the Word of God, said, "Full well ye reject the commandment of God that ye may keep your own tradition . . . making the Word of God of none effect through your tradition which ye have delivered; and many such like things ye do" (Mark 7:9,13). There is so much ritualism in our churches that one can hardly hear the clear Bible plan of Salvation. People are so steeped in forms, ceremonies and fair speeches that they think that these things make one a Christian. One becomes a Christian when he acknowledges his sinful condition and repents of his sins calling upon the name of the Lord for forgiveness and salvation (Rom. 10:9-13). Nowhere in the Bible are religious services, infant Baptism, catechism, church membership, observance of holy days, communion, confession, penance or giving of money able to purchase eternal life. Only faith in what Christ did at the Cross can save your lost soul. Do you have Salvation or Empty Rituals?

formed the board that the Charlestown Neighborhood Council voted unanimously at its May 7 meeting to endorse granting the aquarium tentative designation for the site.

Aquarium President and Chief Executive Officer George Lovejoy and Executive Director John Prescott, joined by other key players on the development team, requested tentative designation of Parcel 5/Dry Dock 5 through verbal and visual presentations that included not only the dimensions of the proposed site, but also its educational use, job opportunities and potential benefits to Boston, especially the community of Charlestown. Prescott outlined the community outreach process that had taken place in Charlestown that included over 50 meetings and conferences. "We shared our dreams and concerns and have reached a consensus to go forward in good faith and good will," he stated.

Lovejoy defined three reasons for the board to grant the request for tentative designation: (1) "Our record speaks for itself. We said we could do it before (build an aquarium) and we can do it again." (2) "In the 1960s the New England Aquarium helped develop Boston. Parcel 5/Dry Dock 5 will be an integral part of the Navy Yard development," and (3) "We recommit our commitment to Boston and Charlestown and look forward to being in their neighborhood for years to come."

Board Treasurer James Flaherty asked Lovejoy how the aquarium would finance this multimillion-dollar project. Lovejoy stated that the sale of the Central Wharf site would hopefully realize 50 percent of the necessary funds; a capital fund-raising drive would begin with aspirations of yielding another $35 million: the sale of the Discovery Ship could raise another $6 to 7 million; research grants and federal government support; and if necessary, they would borrow the balance of the needed capital. Lovejoy also informed the board that a 1995 opening date of the new aquarium is hoped for.

Testifying either in person or being recorded by letter in favor of the proposal included: City Councillors Thomas Menino, Bruce Bolling, Rosaria Salerno and Robert Travaglini. Boston Building Trades President Joe Nigro, Governor Michael Dukakis, Neighborhood Council Chairman Dennis McLaughlin, Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services Community Liaison Judy Evers, Life Focus Center Administrative Assistant Jim Conway, Massachusetts Cultural Alliance Executive Director Nancy Finkelstein, and Randy Warren from the Charlestown Working Theater.

Giving her "qualified support" was ad-hoc coalition member Phoebe Blake, whose testimony was cut short by Board Chairman Clarence Jones. Blake, however, was able to get a few points of concern across to the board and then presented each of them a draft of her comments containing the coalition's position on the proposal. Highlights of the draft include: traffic and parking impacts of the Navy Yard development; transportation access and management; Gate 5 and/or Gate 6 access; Medford Street traffic control; Haul Road completion; traffic management within the Navy Yard; parking for the aquarium's use; parking for visitor buses; visible parking not being allowed on Parcel 5; water transportation connections; and ample local public transportation connections.

Blake stated that the coalition supported the aquarium's petition for tentative designation as the developer of Dry Dock 5/Parcel 5 "with the understanding that between tentative and final designation, traffic, parking and public transportation issues would be resolved."

Jones stated: "This is not final designation. Those is-ssues will be addressed by the aquarium. We won't ignore them and expect our staff to work on them."

After all testimony had been heard on the request for tentative designation of the New England Aquarium for the Navy Yard site, the board voted to take the matter under advisement. Barrett later stated that the board is "expected to act on the request within the next 30 days."

Another Navy Yard development proposal before the BRA Board at its May 10 hearing was the request for a license agreement with the Massachusetts Korean Veterans Committee to construct a veterans memorial at Shipyard Park. The request was granted.

The Veterans Committee sought permission to secure approval of the site so that it could begin its fund-raising activities to cover the estimated $300,000 cost of the memorial. This memorial will be dedicated to all Massachusetts veterans of the Korean War with special emphasis on the 1,620 killed, 107 missing in action and Medal of Honor recipients. Along with its fund-raising efforts, the committee must also secure approval from the Department of the Interior/National Park Service to construct the memorial on the site. Final designation for the location and design of the memorial is subject to future BRA Board approval.

The committee stated that a July 27, 1993 dedication of the memorial is being planned.

New England Aquarium Thanks The Charlestown Community

Dear Ms. Conway,

Any new undertaking that has the good fortune to receive thoughtful and constructive input from an involved community becomes better, stronger and more exciting as a result. This has been exactly the case with our plans for a new aquarium in the Navy Yard.

Thus, to our future neighbors, the residents of Charlestown, the New England Aquarium extends its warmest thanks for your willingness to raise issues of concern about our initial proposal for Dry Dock 2. Your input, together with encouragement from the city of Boston and Mayor Raymond Flynn, gave us the impetus to rethink our proposal,

Think Of The Children

This is an open letter to the person or persons responsible for the destruction of the water-shower equipment in the Training Field.

These showers have been a source of enjoyment for the children of Charlestown for many, many years. The theft of the pipe and sawing off of the fire hose has angered many of us who have come to enjoy this source of family recreation each summer.

The Training Field is a city park and intended for the use of all who care to visit. These showers have also been a source of summer pleasure and relief from the heat to the children of the Headstart Program and other summer camps in the community.

We urge you to return the missing portion of the pipe so that before the first heat wave of June hits us, the showers can be put back into service for all to enjoy.

A Very Distracted Parent

especially within the framework of the Navy Yard Master Plan. The result was a decision to focus our plan instead on Dry Dock 5, and, we are delighted to report, the response to this new proposal has been overwhelmingly positive.

The New England Aquarium looks forward to becoming a supportive new member of the Charlestown community and to welcoming you, our neighbors, to a facility which we think will offer one of the most remarkable aquarium experiences in the world.

Sincerely,

John H. Prescott, Executive Director
New England Aquarium

It's A Girl . . .

The paternal grandmother is Martha Louise Prince of Charlestown.

The maternal grandmother is Barbara Clark, and the maternal great-grandmother is Hazel Smith, both of Somerville.

Thanks To The Teen Connection

I would like to give a big thank you to the Charlestown Community Schools Teen Connection for the supper they served to the elderly at the Golden Age Center on Main Street on May 10.

The menu consisted of chicken salad, potato salad, chips, tea or coffee. Dessert was a big piece of cake frosted with roses.

The Teen Connection is a tribute to Charlestown's future. A good time was had by all. Thanks again.

Crew Removes Asbestos

AN INVASION of asbestos removers arrived last Thursday morning at the Bunker Hill Housing Development to cart the health hazard out of Charlestown. The asbestos was discovered underground Monday morning by the current contractor doing renovations between Buildings 14 and 15. Work was stopped and the asbestos covered with dirt. Residents are glad that the cancer-causing asbestos has been removed but were angered that officials took four days to respond.

From the desk of
Deputy Superintendent Robert T. Hayden
Area A, Boston Police Department

Monday, May 7

A stolen automobile was recovered on Sherman Street at 10 a.m., and another was recovered at that site at 11 a.m.

Detectives Donahue and Langlois arrested a 19-year-old resident on a warrant issued at Somerville Court for armed robbery.

Tuesday, May 8

At 2:30 p.m., Officers Hennessey and Hogan responded to Seventh Street on a report that two juveniles were breaking into automobiles. Upon arrival, they observed a 17-year-old resident and a 16-year-old resident who had attempted to break into an automobile and discarded a screwdriver. Both were placed under arrest.

Wednesday, May 9

At 7 a.m., officers responded to 118 Medford St. where they found a woman who had been stabbed in the chest. She was pronounced dead at the scene. A short time later, a 42-year-old Dorchester resident was placed under arrest for the homicide.

MDPW To Hold Meeting On CANA and Central Artery Projects

The Massachusetts Department of Public Works will sponsor a joint Central Artery North Area (CANA) and Central Artery/Tunnel (CAT) informational meeting for the Charlestown community tonight, Thursday, May 17 at 7 p.m., at the Bunker Hill Museum, 43 Monument Square (please use the side entrance located on Monument Avenue).

CANA project engineers will provide an update on the progress of tunnel and viaduct construction underway in the City Square area. CAT project officials will present a scale model of the project's Scheme Z ramp design. Residents with questions, comments or suggestions are urged to attend.

The CANA project is designed to provide major safety and traffic improvements to the most accident-prone stretch of highway in the state, the interchange of Route 1 and I-93 in Charlestown. The project will also reunite Charlestown with the historic Boston waterfront and provide 10 acres of land for parks and development.

Salute To Charlestown Lottery To Be Held Saturday Morning

Commander David M. Cashman, USN, commanding officer of USS Constitution, invites all Charlestown residents, especially those who registered for the lottery, to be selected to board Old Ironsides for a special Salute to Charlestown turnaround cruise, to come down to the Charlestown Navy Yard for the drawing on Saturday, May 19 at 10 a.m.

William McCabe, commissioner of Public Safety for Massachusetts and Chief Marshal of the 1990 Bunker Hill Day parade, will do the drawing.

One hundred registration slips will be drawn containing the applicant's name and address and that of a guest (each applicant was allowed to enter one guest).

The drawing will be held on Pier One, next to USS Constitution. In the event of rain, the drawing will take place at the Preble Room, Building 5, adjacent to USS Constitution.

Sunday, May 13

At 8:30 p.m., officers responded to the Doherty Playground for a group drinking. They placed an 18-year-old resident under arrest for public drinking.

These incidents are under investigation by the detectives of Area A.

Residents are reminded: If you know of any drug activity in your neighborhood, call the Boston Police Hot Line at 247-4697. It is not necessary to give your name, and all information will be investigated.
