

Does Bend Dentist Suggest Home Remedies For Maintaining Oral Hygiene?

Maintaining oral hygiene is one of the most important things that you must do to keep your teeth intact. The methods are not difficult and it does not take much time as well. However, many people tend to ignore this aspect and end up with major problems that are not only difficult to cure but can cost you a lot of money. Some of the oral health problems include bad breath, decay and stains in the teeth along with mouth ulcer. Although visiting the chamber of a Bend Dentist once or twice a year is a good option, home remedies are extremely useful for curing the common problems of the teeth.

Turmeric and guava leaves

Turmeric has anti-inflammatory and anti-bacterial properties which help in providing relief from the common problems. It is essential that you care properly about the health of teeth and gums for which using this ingredient is a good option. Turmeric can be mixed with salt and massaging the teeth with this mixture can prove beneficial. Additionally, you can boil water with turmeric powder in it and allow the mixture to cool down. This solution works as a mouthwash that you often buy from the retail stores. Similarly, it is easy to grind and crush the guava leaves which prevent plaque and development of bacteria. However, if the problems persist after using the home remedies, you can always fix an appointment with Bend Family Dentist to find out the root cause.

Licorice and bananas

According to research and studies, licorice contains two important compounds licorisoflavan A and licoricidin which destroy the bacteria that builds in the teeth. While dried licorice powder can be used for brushing the teeth and a soft licorice stick can be used for massaging the teeth using proper strokes. Although you can consult Bend Dentist to get relief from the dental problems using the natural ingredients for maintaining oral hygiene can make a lot of difference. If you are not aware of the benefits that you can get when you rub your teeth with banana peel, you can try it at home to get sparkling white teeth.

Green tea and vinegar

You must have heard about the health benefits of green tea but no one must have told you about its effects on the teeth. Before visiting a Bend Family Dentist when you are suffering with severe toothache, you can try chewing green tea or simply drink three to four cups each day to promote oral hygiene. Vinegar has acidic properties and you can use it as mouthwash after mixing it with equal amount of water which destroys some of the bacteria that cause tooth problems. This is one of the most prominent ingredients that help in curing the teeth problems to a great extent. However, oral health maintenance is something that must be carried out throughout the year and not just when you face minor teeth problems.
