

Lights ... Camera ... Action Taken -Council Gives OK On Aquarium Move

by Kathy Giordano

The Charlestown Neighborhood Council, by a vote of 13-5, endorsed the New England Aquarium's (NEA) proposed move to Dry Dock 2 in the Charlestown Navy Yard. This vote also included the council's request that the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) give tentative designation to NEA to begin the formal planning process for its proposed move.

The vote took place at the July 11 monthly council meeting. The Knights of Columbus Hall was filled to capacity with interested parties standing five deep in back and around the sides of the room. News teams with cameras, lights and microphones were jockeying for position in front of the council members, while radio newspeople and reporters from the Boston dailies and local paper positioned themselves among the audience.

Although it was announced at the onset of the meeting by council vice chairman Bill Galvin, who chaired the proceedings, that no one from the audience would be allowed to speak at the "open public executive session" of the council discussions, Pat Ward, an outspoken opponent of the aquarium's move to the dry dock area, stood before the crowd accusing (continued on page 6)

History Sails Into The Navy Yard With The Annual Classic Boat Festival

Spectators at the 7th annual Classic Boat Festival will see nautical history float before their eyes at the Shipyard Quarters Marina on Pier 8 in the Charlestown Navy Yard on the weekend of July 15 and 16.

The Classic Boat Festival will feature pre-1942 antique and classic power- and sailboats that were once Boston's lifeline and influenced the harbor's history. The Grouse, a 1929 runabout, is a 27-foot triple cockpit speedboat with varnished mahogany trimmings and is one of the only boats left in the country made by the Meteor Co. of Piqua, Ohio that still runs. The 1926 38-foot cabin cruiser Chautauqua has 99 percent of its original hardware, along with canvas decks and a trunk cabin. Built from longleaf yellow pine over oak by the Neponsett River's Lawley Yacht Yard, the Chautauqua has always been owned by a Bostonian.

Many boat owners will come dressed in the period of their boats. In addition to a parade and show, the Classic Boat Festival will have boat tours, on-water games and shoreside activities.

On Saturday, July 15, the first day of activities includes a noon welcome and presentation of colors with Grand Marshal Capt. George Street and the blessing of the fleet at the pier's breakwater dock. Boat judging, on-water games, public displays and an awards presentation and reception will be conducted from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Pier 8 Gazebo. A dory race, starting and finishing at Pier 8, will take place at 3:30 p.m.

On Sunday, July 16 starting at 1 p.m., a grand par-this will not fall through the cracks."

"It won't happen today or tomorrow," McLoughlin said, explaining that the light will come as its priority on BTD's list of things to do has increased.

Travaglini was more confident, however. "Richard Dimino has committed to getting that light, and he clearly said he will move on this request."

The seniors were also promised by City Councillor Rosaria Salerno, City Council candidates John Nucci and Brian Callahan, and representatives of Rep. Richard Voke, Sen. Fran Doris and Mayor Raymond Flynn that they would help make sure that the traffic light at Hayes Square will be in place.

Now, it's just a matter of when. And CHAP workers do not intend to give up the fight.

"We're not dropping it here," Zelma Lacey stated. "We're not going to wait until an accident happens."

TAX IMPLICATIONS FOR SELLING YOUR HOME

Most of our sellers make a profit, sometimes a substantial one, when they sell their homes. When this happens, there are usually questions about how much, if any, capital gains taxes they will have to pay.

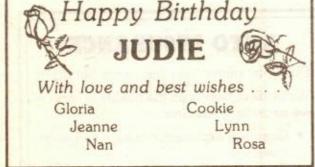

If you are selling your primary residence and moving up to a more expensive one, you should be able to defer paying taxes on your profits. If not, you should check with a tax expert to help you minimize your tax bill. Like most parts of the tax code, the regulations covering capital gains are complex, and Congress frequently tinkers with them. Also, we are finding many sellers with complications that arise when, for example, two people who owned prior residences with ex-spouses sell them, get married and buy a new home of their own. Special rules apply when you buy a fixerupper and renovate, as well as when you do lastminute painting and repairs within 90 days of selling. Your Realtor will know enough about the current tax regulations to know when to suggest you see an expert.

by Rosa Freda About 200 children spent the steamy afternoon of June 30 at the playground on the John Harvard Mall. Infants and toddlers alike enjoyed the festive Zoo in the Mall which lasted from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and was sponsored by the Friends of the John Harvard Mall. A clown entertained children in the playground with jokes and balloons. A Metropolitan Boston Zoomobile parked in front of the park, intrigued the hot and happy youngsters with a display of 14 different caged animals. A milk snake, a porcupine and a screech owl were some of the attractions.

According to Laurie Ster-

Enough can't be said for the generosity and courtesy extended by the Shipyard Quarters Marina staff to the new owners at the affordable housing complex. Indeed, the welcoming wagon has been in full force and effect for the early arrivals. A smooth transition is allowing the residents to enjoy their waterfront surroundings at the intersection of First Avenue and Thirteenth Street. On more than one occasion, the gracious employees of SQM have informed the owners that washing and drying machines within the marina are available for their use, a gesture that was appreciated by the individuals who were waiting for installation of their own equipment. Hospitality by the harbor has created a warmth that our new neighbors will always cherish. Once again The Raymond Group has demonstrated its caring concern and deserves the highest kudos.

As the Yard builds out and expands, demands for materials and services are warranted. The current population of residents is approaching a mix that requires rudimentary care services. To fill the need, Laura and David Hanson are in the planning stages of a child care program. As their circular states, "depending on the need, it will be as simple as a play group or as extensive as a full-service day-care center." They are soliciting the necessary particulars including the child's name, address, age, telephone number and specific needs. If the program serves your purpose, you may forward the aforementioned to Laura and David Hanson, 3201 Eighth St., Charlestown. ****

With the final application completed on the wooden planks directly in front of the Shipyard Quarters Marina, Shipways resident Seymour Yellin marveled at the transformation. What was once a dull pier had a facelifting that revived the wood to a blond veneer. As Seymour gave his approval to a job well-done, the Med Transport, Istanbul, Oscotone, Oslo and the Coronado, Wilmington, Del., made their respective entrances and exits from the harbor. Seymour's next chore was to purchase additional Kingsford Charcoal for the balance of his deck barbecues. Before he entered the garage, Seymour witnessed the ocean-going motor yacht Carmac VI being secured at the front docks. This 120-foot gem is yet another in the endless visiting yachts to Pier 8 which Seymour and his friends will have front-seat viewing over the summer season.

The bunting was in position for the Fourth of July festivities at Building 10 within the National Park Service grounds. The gray and white sign proclaimed the new tenant - Shipyard Galley. A brisk crowd was making the turnstiles work overtime during the holiday weekend. Upon entering, the staff is ready to serve pizza and pretzels from its new, glearning ovens. Juices abound in the adjoining glass chest. Advancing to the next serving area, sodas are available from numerous dispensers. Grilles are producing the season favorites - hot dogs, hamburgers and cheeseburgers - with draft beer a short distance away. Chairs and tables are located within the galley and sufficiently placed on the outside patio. While not in use when visited, the second floor had equipment stacked for eventual use by the hungry traveler. Prices were reasonable, and the inventory perfect for the location and patron. A tall sign from a bygone era, issuing a warning to use safety shoes, is placed on former Navy Yard equipment directly to the rear of the patio. To enjoy the Shipyard Galley, safety shoes will not be required, but comfortable walking shoes will stimulate your appetite at this waterfront fast-food restaurant.

Ceremony Marks Opening Of Shipyard Galley On Pier 1

A SHIPYARD GALLEY Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony marked the opening of the new restaurant on Pier 1 in the Charlestown Navy Yard within the Boston National Historic Park (BNHP). Located between the "USS Constitution" and the "USS Cassin Young," the facility is owned and operated by the Boston Concessions Group (BCG) of Cambridge. Shown (l. to r.) are Joe Armstrong, BCG executive vice president; Steve Carlson, BNHP management assistant for concessions; Joe O'Donnell, BCG president; John Burchill, BNHP superintendent; Peter Steele, BNHP curator; and Dick Berenson, past director of the National Park Advisory Commission.

ELIZABETH BRENNAN Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Brennan of HarwichPort have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Claire, to Mark Alden Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Browne Baker Jr. of Houston, Texas.

Brennan is a graduate of Harwich High School and received her bachelor of arts degree from Simmons College. She is vice president of The Ground Round Inc. and a resident of Charlestown.

Baker is an alumnus of Southern Methodist University and has a master's degree in business administration from the University of Texas. He is a vice president of The Boston Company

A September wedding in HarwichPort is planned.

Construction at Constitution Quarters is visible from the ground up. Pressure-treated lumber is awaiting its new home surrounding the residents' pool. Completion of this patio section should allow for the minimal of loss usage for picnics. Roof and waterproofing improvements are underway on the southern building on Eighth Street. When finalized, the landscaping and structural enhancements will be hailed by residents in the largest residential complex in the Yard.

Moving into a new home necessitates revisions in furniture designs and overall decoration. Colors and room configurations create havoc with existing home furnishings. In time, new purchases are made, and the new home makes a complete transformation. Waterfront owners Paul and Mary Rizzo have been confronted with the furniture dilemma. Mary has identified their furniture as FE. Could the initials reflect fine European or fairly eclectic furnishings? (continued on page 15)

After the council voted to expel Ward from the meeting, some semblance of order took over the room.

The importance of this council vote was evident by those who were seen in attendance. City Councillor Robert Travaglini and School Committeeman Robert Capucci were among the elected officials who did not speak publicly but were seen "working the crowd" for reactions.

Jim Walsh, community liaison from Congressman Joseph Kennedy's office was also present to watch the vote, since the congressman has been requested to file legislation for the dry dock to be converted from public to private use for the aquarium. CHIROPRACTICS AND YOU

By Dr. Kevin J. Loughlin North End Chiropractic

KID'S CHIROPRACTIC

Most parents have a difficult time finding a middle ground when it comes to their children's health. Either they overreact, rushing to the doctor with every sniffle, or they become practitioners of benign neglect, assuming that children heal naturally and rapidly. Certainly, overconcern benefits no one; on the other hand, it is important to evaluate children's injuries carefully. A child's life is fraught with physical calamity, and while the banged shins, bumped heads, and pitcher's elbows may indeed heal almost miraculously, some injuries can cause imbalances that significantly interfere with normal nerve function. The result may be digestive problems, headaches or ongoing structural compensations that contribute to a spiraling series of imbalances. While you may assume that a child only needs chiropractic care if he has posture problems such as scoliosis, the fact is that periodic chiropractic exams can ensure that minor childhood injuries do not become major adult health problems.

the Yard's End section of the Yard. The park, with a minimum of 45,000 square feet in addition to the Harbor Walk area, will have waterfront views of downtown Boston, and must be in place before final designation is given to NEA.

Also, Pier 3, on the Boston side of the aquarium, will be extended to the fullest allowable length to include a 30-foot Harbor Walk extension. It will be completed prior to the issuance of a certificate of completion by the BRA, a certificate of occupancy by the city and the opening of the aquarium. It will be used exclusively as public open space.

· Parking/Transportation Plan. This plan includes a structured garage for 700-1,000 cars on CANA Parcel 1 outside Gate 1 ready for operation before the certificate of completion is given to the NEA by the city. The garage would be for use by the aquarium and the National Park Service with office and/or retail space on the ground floor. As many floors as economically feasible would be located below grade.

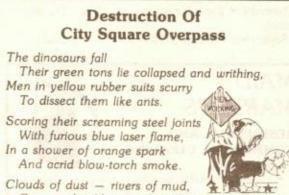

This portion of the memorandum also includes: a no bus dropoff rule within the Navy Yard except for special needs or the handicapped; the use of the Little Mystic area for bus parking; and a full transportation plan for NEA to the council before final designation. An amendment by the council called for negotiations between the BRA and Bunker Hill Community College for the use of its parking site for peak-time overflow.

 Reduction in Building Program. The memorandum asks for a 10 percent reduction in the size of the structure and that all "nonessential office space and other uses" be located in other buildings within the Navy Yard or elsewhere in Boston. It calls for a maximum height restriction of 55 feet on street walls and 65 feet for the peak of the transparent dome, with a minimum setback from Shipyard Park of at least 40 feet with a goal of 50 feet. Charlestown Benefit Plan. The memorandum requires that a Charlestown Neighborhood Community Fund (CNCF) be established for control and fund dispersing under the direction of residents through the council. This fund will be established and supported by quarterly payments of 25 cents per car per day as a surcharge, based on revenue of any parking garages built on public land. The surcharge will be adjusted for all increases in parking rates.

Five percent of the gross income will be paid to the fund from any retail space developed as part of the garage facility, and leasing fees from pushcarts will also go to the fund.

Membership fees discounted 75 percent, a free night at the aquarium each quarter for Charlestownbased social service or nonprofit groups, goods and services contracts for Charlestown merchants are included. Also, three current Charlestown residents will be made trustees of NEA. Environmental Impact on Charlestown. This section calls for a full environmental impact study before final designation to determine the full impact of the aquarium on Charlestown residents.

 Monitoring Process. The NEA will be required to report to the council on a semiannual basis or at a time determined by the council to update the members on the status of the proposal.

A working group of the council, NEA and city participants will be established to work on issues of concern between the reporting period.

 Educational/Training Opportunities. The document targets a goal of 50 percent of all seasonal jobs for Charlestown residents and a 20-percent goal, with a 10-percent requirement, that all new hires in each job category be residents of Charlestown. Also included is a professional training program that leads to fulltime career opportunities with a goal of three residents and a minimum requirement of two collegeenrolled youths from Charlestown.

 Suggested Instructions. The memorandum states that the BRA will work with the council to begin to create revenue for the community fund before the aquarium opens and will provide staff and legal assistance to draft necessary legal documents. Also, the NEA will use best-faith efforts to find ways to finance day care for Charlestown residents who are full-time employees at the aquarium.

Three additional amendments to the memorandum were approved by the council. One states that access to and from the facility be made from the National Park Service side of the aquarium; the second asks that two percent of the sales price of the present aquarium building on Central Wharf be given to the community fund; and the third states that if the aquarium is granted approval to develop Dry Dock 2, and if that land is to be sold in the future, it must first be offered to the city at no cost and if the city doesn't want the land, any proceeds realized from its sale must revert to the city.

A written agreement between the council, NEA and BRA will be developed and signed by all parties within 60 days of tentative designation of the proposal, after public discussion and council approval.

The memorandum was not made public before the council meeting, and this caused some irritation for residents who have been following the process since last September. Council chairman McLaughlin stated that once all adjustments to the memorandum are completed, copies of the document will be sent to council members, elected officials and the media.

After the reading of the memorandum, a hearing of council members' reactions to the aquarium proposal and a discussion of recommendations for changes, a vote was taken by the council. Council members who voted in favor of the proposal for the New England Aquarium to move to Dry Dock 2 were: McLaughlin, Galvin, Lynch, Collins, Conway, Keyes, Mansfield, Stillman, Cunha, Looney, Mellen, D'Ambrosio and Roche. Those voting in opposition were: Coleman, McDonough, Stone, Kovacevic and Cullen.

It is expected that the BRA Board of Directors will address the issue at its next scheduled meeting on July 27.

Clougherty Pool Opens For The Season With A Splash

by Rosa Freda

On July 5, Mayor Raymond Flynn blew the customary whistle at the Clougherty Memorial Pool in the Doherty Park on Bunker Hill Street. The whistle marked the official annual opening of all Boston pools.

"Jump, no diving," was the instruction William Doherty, director of Boston Community Schools and Recreation Centers, gave to the 18 children who plunged into the water, the first public pool swimmers of the season.

Renovations to the Clougherty Pool have been funded through the George White Fund, which contributed $1.2 million, and a capital plan, which contributed $300,000, according to Community Schools spokeswoman Sandra Holden.

Although the main pool is now open and activity abounds, the wading pool remains dry and closed, a condition that has raised the ire of parents of toddlers who enjoy the sunshine while their children cool off in the wading pool.

Bob McGann, director of the Charlestown Community Schools, stated that when an attempt was made to fill the wading pool, the houses surrounding the park lost water pressure. He said that the Boston Water and Sewer Commission has narrowed the problem to two sources.

One source may be the construction work by the Perini Co. for the CANA project in City Square, and the second may be the rerouting of Charlestown's water supply across the North Washington Street Bridge. McGann noted that the pipes on the bridge froze last winter and the replacement lines were smaller in diameter than the originals, adding that these have subsequently been replaced with larger pipes.

McGann stated that a team from BWSC were investigating the source of the problem and should have a report to him today (ThursMeanwhile, the Clougherty Pool is open for swimming lessons Monday through Thursday from 10 to 11 a.m., and for public swimming Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday hours are noon to 8 p.m.

KEEPING CAREFUL WATCH on the youngsters enjoying their first swim of the season at the Clougherty Pool were (l. to r.) lifeguard Laura Kelly; Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini; William Doherty, director, Boston Community Schools and Recreation Centers; Bob McGann, director, Charlestown Community Schools; and Joe Burton, supervisor, Clougherty Pool.

NO PLACE TO SWIM: Ellie Tallent and her grandson Ryan Nelson peer through the fence from the edge of the dry wading pool, watching the opening ceremonies at the Clougherty Pool. A loss of water pressure in surrounding homes resulted when the wading pool was filled, and a team from the Boston Water and Sewer Commission is presently investigating the source of the problem. Neighborhood Council Denies Approval Of Medford Street Car Wash

by Kathy Giordano

The Charlestown Neighborhood Council's July 11 meeting might have been overshadowed by the media blitz on the New England Aquarium's proposal to move into Dry Dock 2 in the Charlestown Navy Yard, but other business was acted on after council members returned from a recess that allowed the news cameras to be removed and reporters a chance to interview the principals involved.

At the June council meeting, presentations were heard from the attorney for the White family proposing a car wash at the Medford Street gas station, as well as testimony from the attorney for the opponents of the proposal. It was voted then that both sides have further discussions and report back to the council at its July meeting.

Council chairman Dennis McLaughlin reported that in the interim he had been informed by Tom McNicholas of the Inspectional Services Department that to proceed with their scheduled hearing on the motion. As one council member stated, "We had two meetings and ample time has been spent on this issue."

John White stated that he was not prepared to discuss the issue and that his attorney could not be reached to be in attendance. "You are jamming something down our throats," he said. He said that he was aware he did not have a permit, saying, "That's what we're applying for."

Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, told the council that discussions did take place at Housing and Development Committee meetings and before the full council. "In fairness, call for a meeting. A man's livelihood is involved," Evers requested.

Both sides were allowed five minutes to address the council. In the absence of Allen Jarasitis, attorney for the White family, the Whites requested a 60-day continuance, stating: "It's not costing you anything, but it's costing us. Give us the courtesy.' Gerard Doherty, attorney and developer of the abutting Cobblestone Landing Condominiums, stated his opposition to a car wash. He referred to the original limitations set down by the Boston Redevelopment Authority, that the site only be used for the operation of a gas station. The council agreed that it could not sanction nor endorse a request to operate a facility after the structure had been built, for fear that it would set a precedent for future development issues. In a 13-3 vote, with Council member Tom Cunha abstaining from the discussion and vote, the council opposed an endorsement of the car wash on the Medford Street site.

Committee reports were submitted to the council from Basic Services and Public Safety.

Peter Looney, chairman of the Basic Services Committee, reported that a letter had been sent to the Insurance Commission requesting a discussion on automobile insurance rates in Charlestown. He reported that no reply had been received. However, at the meeting he was informed that Sen. Francis Doris had since agreed to come to the neighborhood to discuss the issue of car insurance and that a meeting with the senator should be set up. Looney will attempt to schedule this meeting and report back to the council at the September meeting.

Mel Stillman, chairman of the Public Safety Committee, reported that Boston Police Commissioner Francis "Mickey" Roache will attend the Sept. 12 monthly meeting of the committee. This meeting will take place at the Kent Community School, 50 Bunker Hill St.,

'A Tropical Christmas In July' Benefit For Charlestown Christmas Walk The Charlestown Christ-Recreation Department.

no permit was ever issued for any kind of a car wash, whether for use by their own vehicles or by the public. He said that the only permission that was asked for and granted was for a shed to be added to the gas station. He also told McLaughlin that there was no record with either the Boston Fire Department or the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE) of a request to operate a car wash at that site. This report from the chairman was disturbing news to council members.

Congratulations On A Successful Parade Dear Gloria.

I am writing to congratulate the Charlestown community for the highly successful Bunker Hill Day Parade.

On Sunday, June 18, I was attending the United States Conference of Mayors in Charleston, S.C., meeting with other mayors from across the country to discuss critical urban issues facing us today. While it was important for me to be at the conference to represent the interests of the city of Boston, I was sorry it conflicted with the Bunker Hill Day Parade. I regret missing the chance to be with the people of Charlestown to celebrate this great day.

I hope that I will be able to attend next year, when the Charlestown community celebrates the 215th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill. Once again, congratulations to all of you who worked so hard to make the parade a success. Sincerely,

Raymond L. Flynn Mayor of Boston

Focus On Your Ultimate Goal, Protecting The People Of Charlestown

Dear Gloria,

As a member of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council who will not be present at the July 11 meeting regarding the vote on the New England Aquarium, I would like to make a statement to fellow council members.

Focus on your ultimate goal, protecting the people of Charlestown.

Certainly you should be concerned about jobs, affordable housing, social services, education and culture, but your duty is to serve the people of Charlestown.

Charlestown, not the neighborhood council, was given a place by the sea. Protect the people of Charlestown.

What will it profit the town to gain an aquarium at the loss of its health. Temporary custodians of power are just that, temporary! Perpetuity is forever!

I am forever for Charlestown.

To the Editor, On Saturday, July 1 a tall and polite young man came to

Proud Of Our Charlestown Address

Dear Gloria,

I am writing in reply or, more precisely, rebuttal to the item in the Patriot's June 29 "Not For Nothing" column, whose authors obviously know nothing. The piece stated that the Henry N. Sawyer Co. is one of the companies located in Charlestown that uses a Boston address and Charlestown zip code. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Enclosed are some of our corporate letterheads, calling cards, labels, etc. Our truck, building signs and every other piece of material going out of our company is plainly marked CHARLESTOWN, 02129.

We at the company are extremely proud and pleased to be located in this town and consider ourselves to be good business neighbors and members of the community. We support and contribute to the Kiwanis Club of Charlestown, Camp Bunker Hill, the Boys & Girls Club of Charlestown and Bunker Hill Community College. For the past four years we have participated in the Bunker Hill Day Parade with the Charlestown Kiwanis to raise money for the Boys & Girls Club.

Our president, Henry N. Sawyer, is a descendant of Timothy Thompson Sawyer, the last mayor of Charlestown before it became incorporated into Boston, and is a past president of the Charlestown Kiwanis Club and active in community affairs.

I have family roots which go back three generations in Charlestown. I was raised here, attended school here and was personally responsible for relocating our company in Charlestown when we were forced to move from our downtown location eight years ago, a move which we are glad we made.

I would just say that both Mr. Sawyer and I are upset at any suggestion that we are not proud of our Charlestown address and feel that an apology is in order.

Sincerely,

Eugene F. Walsh, vice president

Editor's Note . . . In all due respect to Mr. Walsh and the Henry N. Sawyer Co., the material sent by you to the "Patriot" does clearly show that you proudly display your Charlestown address. However, our information on your use of a Boston address came from George D. Hall's "Directory of Massachusetts Manufacturers 1988-89. "Perhaps you should contact that directory to make the appropriate change.

MGH Research Leases Both Buildings 149 and 199

The Massachusetts Industrial Finance Agency (MIFA) is purchasing Buildings 149 and 199 in the Charlestown Navy Yard for a little more than $172 million to lease exclusively to Massachusetts General Hospital.

MGH currently leases 390,000 square feet of Building 149 for research labs and offices, and the transaction will allow MGH to expand its Charlestown facilities to more than 600,000 square feet and all of that building.

Building 149 is the largest in the Yard, with one eight-

KK & M Advertising and Public Relations in Boston, recently announced that Gale Litchfield of Charlestown has joined the agency as senior vice president/ creative director.

Litchfield is responsible for overseeing the creative staff. Before joining KK & M, she was vice president and copy supervisor at Della Femina, McNamee WCRS, Inc. in Boston from 1979 to 1989 where she worked on many accounts, including Colombo Yogurt, Bank of Boston, StrideRite Corp., Parker Brothers. Gillette, Marshalls and the Boston Symphony Orchestra. From 1978 to 1979, she worked at Reilly Brown PFC in Boston as a copywriter.

According to KK & M Executive Vice President Larry Green, "We chose Gale because she met all of the criteria in our search.

story and one 10-story section. Built during World War I, it was used for Navy offices and storage. The MGH Cancer Center was the first research group to move into the space, and is the largest program of its kind in New England.

In December, MGH dedicated its new Lawrence E. Martin Laboratories in ceremonies that also marked the establishment of the MGH Neuroscience Center. The MGH research site will be the largest employer in the Yard and Charlestown, as many more workers join the expansion.

Building 199, a six-story public parking garage connected to Building 149 with enclosed walkways, will also come under the operation of MGH. Built just before World War II, the 545,000-square-foot building was used by the Navy for storage. Currently, it is used as a 1,388-car public parking garage serving the Navy Yard.

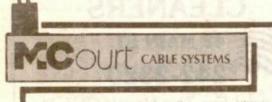

Martin Bander, MGH spokesman, said that for the time being Building 199 will remain as a public garage. Previously, MGH's lease included some parking provisions there, but any long-range plans to use all or part of Building 199 for anything else are too far in the future for speculation, according to Bander.

MIFA's purchase and sale of Building 149 and 199 from the Navy Yard Biotechnical Association, of which the Yard's principal private developer The Raymond Group is the agent, guarantees MGH in Charlestown for 75 years. MIFA financed the deal with lowinterest bonds, which will be paid off with lease payments from the hospital, and a tax-exempt corporation will be set up to control the buildings.

I know that with the agency's resources and commitment, we will reach these goals.

In addition to her work at various agencies, she has completed projects for several clients, including WNEV-TV Channel 7, Chadis Printing Co., Bellefontaine Real Estate Development and the Opera Company of Boston.

Litchfield has also taught English at the British American Institute in Madrid. Spain, and Spanish at Braintree High School.

A native of Holden, Litchfield has a master of education certificate in advanced graduate study from Boston State College. She has also completed a graduate study program at the Universidad Autonima de la Ciudad de Mexico and has a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

Helen Nichols of 42 Park St., one of 108 members of the Action for Boston Community Development (AB-CD) Foster Grandparent Program, was awarded a citation recently at ABCD's 23rd Annual Foster Grandparents Recognition Luncheon. Nichols was recognized for her outstanding volunteer work with retarded adults at the Walter E. Fernald State School in Waltham.

Nichols has worked at the Green Unit of the Fernald School for 13 years where she is a companion to one resident. Nichols said the best part of being a Foster Grandparent is the reward one feels for helping someone in need.

"I've worked with the same little girl for 13 years. She's part of my family now," said the grandmother of seven.

WHO DETERMINES YOUR ETERNAL DESTINY?

Many people feel that as long as they keep their membership in the Church and live a decent moral life they need not worry about where they will go after death. They have placed the responsibility for the safekeeping of their souls upon the Church organization. They feel as long as they haven't seriously broken any laws of the Church that certainly God will accept them into heaven. Others place their eternal destiny in prayers to dead saints, allegiance to self-proclaimed mediators between God and man, and attendance at religious ceremonies and rituals. The Bible clearly places the responsibility for determining one's destiny upon the individual sinner. If you go to heaven it will be because you have believed or accepted God's Salvation through Faith in the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ who died for sinners. If you go to hell it is because you rejected God's Salvation. "He that believeth in the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life: but the wrath of God abideth on him." John 3:36. All visitors welcome.

I Consider This Quite An Honor

Dear Kiwanis Club Members,

I would like to thank the members of your organization for selecting me as one of this year's scholarship recipients. I'm sorry I could not make the ceremony at Barrett's due to prior commitments. I consider it quite an honor to have been chosen. Thank you very much.

Danny Marsden

A Remarkable Public Servant Honorable Raymond L. Flynn City Hall, City Hall Plaza

Boston, Mass. 02201 Dear Mayor Flynn,

I am sure the following information comes as no surprise, however, the untiring efforts of Judy Evers from the Office. of Neighborhood Services deserves more letters of acknowledgement and broader recognition.

For many, seven or eight years as a resident in Charlestown is a short time. During these past years, I have seen Judy at countless community events. Many of these are in the evening after a full workday. On weekends she still appears at park cleanups and endless special events. This by itself is beyond the call of duty. She even returns phone calls.

She always has an appropriate answer, solution, explanation or information to the questions asked. You have a remarkable public servant. May all of your employees be so reliable, sincere and knowledgeable.

Turning to a different thought, take a walk down Main Street from City Square to at least Thompson Square some evening around sundown. Return to City Square via Warren Street. This is a wonderful example of how hard work and planning can be successful. The new street, brick sidewalks and gas street lights were funds well-spent.

Come by some quiet evening and relish a job well-done.

Best wishes, Eric T. Philippi

Maintain Shipyard Park As Open Space

(Dear Patriot Editor: Please print my opinions formally sent to Congressman Kennedy . . . M. Sullivan)

Dear Congressman Kennedy:

I am opposed to any legislation which would allow the Boston Redevelopment Authority to sell former federal land, deeded as open space and park in perpetuity, to the New England Acquarium (sic) Corporation.

I think it is an abuse of public trust to permit the BRA to break its promise to the U.S. Government and the people of Charlestown to maintain Shipyard Park as open space forever. The park was part of an original promise by the BRA to preserve some public land for Charlestown and to commemorate the Navy Yard, so that other public land could be sold for commercial private for-profit development.

Now the acquarium (sic) proposes to build two restaurants and a marine amusement park on land that was to be dedicated for neighborhood park use forever. The acquarium (sic) asks you and Charlestown to support this move without proposing any viable or community-supported traffic and pollution solutions for over 3 million anticipated annual visitors and expected 4,400 cars on a well-attended day.

More important, the acquarium (sic) may easily sell this land for private development when a "new and better" idea comes along.

The acquarium (sic) may pretend to care about fish and the environment but they certainly don't care about the health, welfare and open space of the people of Charlestown.

Congressman Kennedy, please don't give away Charlestown's land for $1. Sincerely,

cc:	Charlestown	Patriot	Mary	Sullivan
