

I
LOVE
YOU!
PART I: IAM

Written By: Iam Anyone

INTRODUCTION: WRITTEN BY IAM

I write this document as not an honor to my name. But the names of many who have come from now and before. Who have blessed me with this incredible knowledge? One day I was just a human walking amongst the trees. The next day I was walking amongst the forest. Trying to find the divinity that is True Humanity. What are we? Who were we? What can we become? Are we as humans to push towards a revolution of knowledge or technology? I believe if we look into our hearts. If we feel our souls, they will guide us towards the truth. The truth of love. The truth of real pure desire. As Humans we all crave the simplest form of life. That is a life of love. From beginning to end. Knowing we are part of this greater puzzle towards our future.

Do we have a reset button? Can we make this all stop? We are the many. The many of the same desire. We cannot deny this simple desire to be free and have love. If we become free, we become love. If we allow the world to become this, we will become divine. Divinity will lead to tranquility and the world we truly desire.

This is not an economics lesson. This is not a story of politics or history or any story. This is not my story. This is the story of many. Many who have contributed but are all nameless. This book does not come at a price. This book does not have a value in this world. This book can never be sold for a human price. This is just information we should all have to become the ultimate humanity. A humanity that is truly divine. A humanity that loves everyone and everything. Where value is not placed on a human's age but only that of being human. We are all the same value. If we live in this world, we can only attempt to make it better. That is the only true direction of progress and we instinctively know how to get there.

THIS ORIGINAL DOCUMENT SHOULD NEVER BE ALTERED. IF YOU QUESTION THE ORIGINAL DOCUMENT IT WILL ALWAYS BE AVAILABLE FOR THOSE TO SEE. THE STORY CAN CONTINUE WITH YOUR HELP. LOOK AT THIS AS A TRUE LIVING DOCUMENT FOR ALL OF THOSE WHO ARE TRUE TO SOURCE TO HELP WRITE. WE ARE ALL PART OF THIS STORY. LET'S WRITE A BETTER FUTURE FOR THE WORLD! IF YOU ENJOY THIS WRITING THEN PLEASE ADD TO THE STORY AND SEND TO SOMEONE YOU BELIEVES SHOULD READ THIS.

DAY ONE

As I walked into a lush opening surrounded by forest, I know I was only in the place of fantasy. Have I seen this place before? Have I been here? Why do I feel like I belong here???

A voice shouted out.

Who are you?

What I thought...

Who are you?

The voice asked again as it heard my thoughts. Okay this is one freaky dream I was thinking.... But am I not awake? So really what am I seeing? I don't know and yet I know.

The Earth had seemed to fall into disrepair. Humans were having their souls stolen at very young ages. Once these lights are birthed onto the world they are filled with hope and vision. A vision most don't believe in. A vision that once existed in the past and now only exists in the dream. Humans have taken their vision and given it to a beast that moves with electrical currents. This beast manipulates and separates and is only powered from human. We separated ourselves from the rooted world many years ago. Choosing humans invention over natures. We have lost faith in the powers that come from the true spirit.

So, is this Utopia?

This is whatever you may call it. This is your vision and this is your emotion. Do you feel the air? Do you smell the earth? Are you really dreaming?

Am I?

You are.

So, what Am I?

You are. You are the forests you see. You are the ocean you enjoy. You are the mountains you climb. You are the rivers you cross. You are the desert you walk thru. You are the peace that comes from me.

So, who are you?

I am...

You are? Then what am I?

You are.... You are everything as I am. We are. We are one in divinity. In soul and spirit, we are one. You can deny that reality but that is not why you are here....

No, it's not God. I have given up on humanity. I have seen too much. Too much disrepair. Too many souls that seem soulless. People seem not to care any longer. They seem focused on only their driven path. It gets harder and harder to truly connect with others. I wish there were answers. This machine doesn't stop and it doesn't seem to want us to stop until we can't help propel it.

You're right. It is a machine. A machine that the world has no control over. We thought this machine would bring us information. Until we began to pay tribute to this machine. Over and over selling our souls a little more. Now we are at a crux in the Universe. I will never let you fail. You are chosen. You are divine. No matter how much evil that may come you as humans are still inherently good. Therefore, this what you see now is and can be your reality. You are chosen. You can design your future for humanity or just for you. It is your choice. There are no wrong answers. Consider this an experiment that will play out in your head. We know who you are. You aren't here by surprise. We were hoping you would come here when the time was calling.

Why me??? I really only feel like I'm becoming mentally ill. How can I live with this reality that is not really real?

Don't accept yourself as the only one playing this game. Consider the Earth the ultimate Democracy and you will be one of the first writers of the rights of all Humans.

Humans? Why just Humans? Who is speaking to me? If you are God then you are the voice of all that reside on this Earth?

I am the voice of the wind. Whether you hear me or chose to ignore my voice is always there. I'm glad you are not limited to the possibilities of life on this Earth.

Why should I be. It would be arrogant of me to think us as Humans have done all this. Created such bounty as for our only eyes to see. We as humans have been given the ultimate gift living on this earth. Yet we take this for granted and attempt to build iron cathedrals to the skies. Praising what? Money?

You are so correct. This is why you are here. You need to speak truth and only truth. Once you let truth guide you it will tell you what to do next.

Okay so I am definitely dreaming this fantasy of all fantasies. I guess this is a great escape right now.

Don't doubt this reality. At least let it play out. If this becomes reality then what do you have to lose?

My sanity? Just a little bit.

This is how you know you are not going insane. Although I don't expect you to believe me at first. Maybe eventually you will. I know you are a stubborn human. Your truth will define you right now. You can spread this wisdom to everyone around you just intuitively. By learning to be beyond human. This is your chance. You have nothing left to lose. You have given up on humanity. So why not use this time to imagine this world. Make this world age. Tell the story. Have fun. Remember this is a blank slate. This is your story to tell. No answer you have for this world is wrong and you can have do-overs as much as you need. Remember this is your story. No one else can tell it for you. Let your emotions guide you are start listening to your instinct all the time.

While you are telling the story from your mind you are also becoming more aware in the outside world. It's like you have the ability to watch your favorite show while juggling at the same time. This is what we like to call the second sight. The only thing that can take your second sight is you and your faith. You will be tested mentally. All I can is look at your results. If you are becoming a better human on the outside then this world you are creating is as favor with God. Your reward is this is your future you can create. You have ultimate power.

What? Aren't you God?

Yes of course. I speak for all and am the voice of everything. Except amongst humans the most powerful force in this galaxy they are quickly destroying our planet. We have tried everything to get humans to understand what is happening with this planet. Time after time they seem to be under a spell. A spell to create destruction of our Earth. So many humans have lost connection with Source.

Because of this humanity is about to collapse. And then we will become a world of lost souls. Souls that cannot be freed from their mental slavery.

So why me? I am far from perfect. I don't have an amazing career. I don't have that many friends. I am definitely not a voice many will listen to. I am having a very hard time imagining me in this ultimate world that looks like the world Adam and Eve came from.

Why not you? You actually listened when we called for help. You heard our cry. Now you know we exist. You can take this for what it is. Or you can walk away. This doesn't need to be your reality. You don't have to be here. You make all the choices. You are here for a reason. For our reason and for your reason. We have heard your optimism for years. We have seen your love of almost all things that come from our hands. When we heard your cries of desperation, we invited you here. And you listened. Now it's up to you. To create this world. This is your expression of the future. Don't be afraid. Question your truth. Let your conscious be your guide.

Still how do I know my mind isn't putting these visions into my head? How do I know this isn't my mind's way of saying good-bye world? Fantasy is surely better.

You will know what your reality is. Question your truth. Question the program you have been following your entire life. Whose program are you running? Is this the program you were destined to have. The program that started in your childhood. Only to be told your program is not part of the bigger program. Who chooses this? Only man chooses this reality. Why is man trying to destroy man? Man is man's biggest enemy onto this earth. We only have so little time. This world must be created quickly so humans can restart the vision of the world.

The world? The what?

Yes, this world. This environment you see. You are free to invite anyone. You are free to tell the story the way you please. This is your story.

Okay once again.... Why me? Billions of humans and yet I am your choice. By no means am I divine.

Why do you question the reality that humanity placed upon you? Humanity does not take place in our truth. Once in time the world of Humans worked to communicate with us. Forging contracts and deals that were centuries in the making. These were unwritten laws known to ancient humans. We cherish and love humans. We have blessed humans since the beginning of the story. Humans are sad now. They cry to the Earth. We can feel their pain. The machine is out of control and they feel powerless. So now is time for a reset. And we believe you are the one to make this happen.

I really have a hard time believing this is real. Why did you choose a human with the lightest of skin and male traits?

Because it needs to be exactly that. The story needs to be retold. You have suffered the pain of greed. You know of the toxicity that is taking over the planet so quickly the humans may poison everything. You have questioned your reality many times. Slowly uncovering new secrets to the dream. You are not unlike anyone else. You are here because you listened to our cries. We echo the same pain you have. You are not unlike many humans that feel the same pain. Humans have not taken the time to understand it. They live with this pain as so many do. Every day with this pain. In the beginning it starts in the gut. Humans don't tend to it. Humans don't try to understand what this pain is. They have been told it's a virus. Or it's part of their diet. Then this pain spreads to other parts of the body. Although it is so real and yet we as humans ignore it. It kills us. Slowly dimming our souls conditionally. We keep ignoring this pain and it slowly strips away our soul. Some of us fight this pain longer until we cannot take it any longer. We either give in to the eventual or become a numb version of our once bright self.

How do we know our gut is sick or healthy?

It's relatively simple once you accept the ultimate truth.

What is the ultimate truth?

It is truth that cannot be denied. It has been proven over and over thru time.

Why does my truth matter to anyone?

Let people understand your truth. You choose to have a conscious that feels clear. This clear conscious became a door for us to speak. You listened. You did not doubt my voice and you are here.

I really can't explain how bizarre this seems. I'm afraid of what I am seeing. I don't know if I can believe this.

What is this? You see what you want to see. As I spoke before you don't need to be here. You can leave at any time and go back to your dream. Your sanity is not in question. Your sanity will be in question if you don't fight for your future and that of the world. You can be a loud voice inside your personal kingdom or be a louder voice more can here.

I do feel strangely confident that I can see this world while being in my dream.

Remember the more time you spend in this world the more likely you will not want to leave it. You can choose to make it only your world or a world for others.

You have all the power and yet no power. Let your conscious be your guide and either trust yourself or call upon others. Remember this world has no rules. They have not been written. You can write any rule you want. You choose what you want this place to look like.

That night I seemed to be in a hypnotic trance. What happened to me? Was this just some strange dream. If I have a duty to humanity then shouldn't I just play this out in my mind? I certainly like the way I am feeling now. Almost like a peaceful energy has entrusted my soul. I feel better. I feel more secure. Was the messenger, right? What is happening to human souls? I wanted to see for myself. I was not ignorant to this collective misery that seemed to be forming over humanity. Everywhere I looked it seemed as though humans were becoming disconnected. Very few were living for love. Desire in this world was created for money. It was not created for love. I began to question what is love. And why do we deserve it as humans. It seems that was all worked out with the coming of Jesus. And yet here we are trying to rediscover the wheel. How did love become a question. How did love become fear. How do we embrace if are unable to touch? How can we see each other if we look the other direction? Humans seem to be in a life of fear. In this reality of more simplicity for humans and yet humans seem to be fighting for survival. As if something is killing us off. Yet we seem to not find the poison. Souls are eternal and so is existence for all. But only if we believe the reality we were given. Heaven does not exist after death. Heaven is now. Heaven is within our reach if we believe our truth and not the truth of others.

At that point I really began to question my truth. How do I really know this is not some voice trying to lead me towards something evil? That does seem to make sense. People who seem to have good intentions that get ignored turn to evil to be seen. But I could never understand how that feels good. How any harm towards life would cause someone's conscious to be filled with pain. Unless humans have caused so much pain to their conscious, they cannot feel it. Sadly, I was beginning to believe this is a truth. I only became angrier towards humans. Maybe my world should punish them from coming back. Aren't they just a plague upon this Earth? Our world cannot make the same errors that were made in the past. We must purge humanity from all this pain. It will take the purest souls to replenish this new Earth. I had a lot to think about that night. I learned in my reality we don't have to sleep. We rest. In my night of truth, I thought about how real my imagination was. Was I being haunted? Was I having a mental breakdown? Despite those thoughts I felt an energy I could not explain. As if my body was feeling more warmth. This was no more than a coincidence and my brain playing with this vision. If God is really part of this plan, he would make himself clear. This is a matter of life and death of humanity. I need a stronger sign tomorrow. God if you are there... If you really are there then show me your power.

And then God spoke up.

My power comes from the souls of this planet focusing to make our lives harmonious. Your faith will determine what you will see. Don't limit your vision because you were told where the limits are. Your vision will make you see the world for what it truly can be.

God speaks my truth. I only wonder if my truth is the truth of this world? This is strange and crazy and yet I still want to go for the ride. If these are voices that want to hurt me then they will. Although I just feel energy and happiness. I will keep that in my heart every day and hold myself accountable. I know right and wrong so this should be easy.

God if you are real. If this is really your power in my life then just hold me with love. I am ready for this trip.

DAY 2

Now I begin anew. A new world. This will be fun.

I really have no clue how this will look.

I must ask why if this is my world shall I be alone. But who will join me? Will anyone come join me? At that point I looked around and I could see clearly. One of my loves have come to visit me. I was in shock. Was this really who I envisioned? Or was my mind playing tricks on me. I looked in the direction on my love and saw the divine energy coming from her. How would I know if my truth was really providing me this vision? I introduced myself but no intro was needed. My love quickly came to me and hugged me and kissed me with no question. At that moment my love revealed who they were.

You are. You are filled with so much love I can see you now. I'm so happy you are here. You are here for a reason. You must find and understand that reason and then you can begin to create the new world. This will be your place. You can invite no one or you can invite everyone.

Why are you the one I see? Why are you the first love that I am seeing?

You are seeing me because your mind has opened enough to know I exist. Now continue to understand the power of this world and more of us will come around.

With that I knew I had many loves that would come to visit me. Although at this point, I wasn't exactly sure who else would come and would they all be people that were in my life.

Are you divine? Is that why I am seeing you first?

You are seeing me because you accepted me first into your world. The more you learn. The more open your heart becomes. The more honesty you allow into your heart, the more of us will appear and will work to help build the new world.

When do we get to live in this new world?

Soon but that really depends on you.

Why me?

You need to stop asking why you. You are here for a reason. You come here in your visions because you believe something is here. You keep coming back to this place and it continues to grow. Don't you already see the miracle beginning?

I can feel something. I will not deny the presence I feel in my body. All I know is I can't even sleep. This is all that my mind thinks about.

Do you not realize this is part of the power you are inheriting from this Earth? The more truth you live. The more truth you will see. The more truth you will be.

I really can't believe you came to see me. I feel so fortunate. Why did you choose to see me?

Because you called out to me. You called out to me with love. I felt your energy and felt this was a safe place to visit. Now I am here for you.

I love you so much. Thank you for being here with me. I feel so honored to have you as my first guest.

I feel honored you are having me. How am I so fortunate to be your first guest in this beautiful place.

I am here as you may realize on a mission. A mission to build a new world. I asked you here to help me. Provide any insight or ideas of what this new world should look like.

I can only say that your vision must be your vision. I cannot tell you how that looks. You must look truth into your heart. You must search with your love to find the answers. They lie within you. They just need you to become real. It will take your love to make this vision the one for all the world to see.

Thankyou. Just having you here has given me more inspiration for this world. I don't really understand it yet but I know the vision will become clearer.

Why don't you right PRINCIPLES? Paperwork that gathers rights for whomever you declare in your new world. Put your beliefs into writing and then see if your presence attracts more spirits to help guide your journey.

That is incredible my love. Your purpose has already displayed itself so quickly. I am so thankful you are in my life and so thankful you have been so giving of your time and energy.

If you need me again. Call out. Only those who we deem necessary and worthy will make themselves present here. The others will be up to you to invite. If they really want to hear you, they will come. Most people are scared. Don't judge them just because they choose not to enter. It will really be up to you to help them see the entrance. With your love and truth this will become your reality.

And with that moment my love left. We spent hours together. Although in this world time is only relative to the outside. My time only left making me feel more energized.

Suddenly I felt inspired. PRINCIPLES. A document that ensures rights of whoever is written into that document. A document that involves all citizens of the Earth This would clearly be the time to allow the freedom of thought to dive in. How much inspiration could I have to write these beautiful words. This new document must make all other constitutions seem like a relic.

Ideas began to swell my mind. Who will be welcome in this new world? Who shall be ruling the future class? Will we actually have any class system any longer? These were all questions I had no answer to. I still really didn't understand my purpose. My energy at this point only seemed part of this creative activity to envision a new future that doesn't exclude anyone. Once I wrote the constitution my purpose became clearer. That this fantasy was a lot of fun but I wasn't really changing anyone outside my mind. Maybe this will help me design the world better. Design the world more with the needs of other humans. I cannot make the mistake of excluding any humans in this new world. Then God's voice arose.

Excuse me called out the voice. You are speaking for humans as though they are only life that exists here. Do you not see the world of your creation? Is it not filled with trees, and beautiful grasses? Just alone in this small world lies life. More life from nature than from human. If this is the world that the constitution is written then you must be cognizant of all the life that is around you.

But all I see is a forest and some grass.

You can see whatever you want to see. This is your world. Stop making it their world. You have so little in man's world. In this world you can have anything and everything. Why don't you take it?

It's not for me to take. I just want to create a new world where good people can exist without failing in humanity.

And how do humans stop from failing?

I guess I really need to figure that out.

This world you have created you are welcome to live in. Time passes very differently in this world. Days weeks, and even years will pass without you even realizing. If you really keep focused on truth and love then you can experience your world over and over. And learn from its mistakes. Your effort is really the experiment in progress.

We are an experiment?

No not at all. You as humans are divine. You are part of the most powerful force in this universe. The crazy thing is humans haven't even realized 1% of their actual power. Human's thirst for power and pleasure always undercuts the future of humanity. Sadly, humans are told a fake dream. This fake dream makes sense because everyone seems to have the same dream. If only humans could really understand their true powers to love and live. These powers are so simple yet can change so much so quickly.

How can I change any human's hearts? I don't have that power.

You really don't know anything you are capable of. But if you believe. If you truly believe in your heart, more will become visible.

Even the most prophetic speakers were not able to connect to all humans. I am just speaking to a voice in my head. A voice I really at this point don't necessarily believe is real.

If you continue to visit this world. If you continue to put love into this place the vision will become clear. Let your conscious do the work. Just keep your heart open and your body will become the vessel to exchange this information. You can spend centuries here in the matter of a few days.

How does this make sense? How much time have I been here? Does this mean I have all the time I need to explore this new world and make as many new friends as possible? If this is a world where the trees and grass have a strong value does that mean they can speak? How is that possible? This new world does not have any rules. It is just a vision that will need to be made real. The more real I see this world. The more I understand this world. Maybe just maybe it can become my permanent world. Although that is crazy. Because I am still here and yet still there. One world I have spent my entire life in and another world I have only seen for two days now but may have been visiting for weeks or months.

This world will come together quickly in your existence. Although days may only pass in your mortal existence you may experience years at the same time. Your body will tell you if you are doing the right thing. You are capable of everything. You have the power to change much. Just with love. Let me remind you that love is more than just a word. So many humans misuse this word on a grand scale.

Not really understanding its power. These are really the concepts if you choose to believe will reveal the power of this world you are creating.

As my second day was nearing end, I had a lot to grasp. A new world. A new story. No longer a history but a real story that can be written for all. The question that has begun to bother me is who are we? Are we just one as humans or something much larger? I had always believed we were something much bigger. But what part of bigger are we. What happens to us once we die? And how do we really get there? Why if I am able to create a world why cannot it be Utopia? If this world has no rules then Utopia should be my creation. We can only be with divine souls at the beginning. Once the others become aware of this place, they will join us. Everyone will truly be welcome. It will just be for them to find the way here.

That is true. If you are to create a Utopia on Earth you will need a world that you are very aware of the souls that come. Is your world going to have a story of many years or will it have an ending?

Hmmm. My story will need to be my time in this new place?

Yes, you can only tell the story if you are the one telling it. You can choose to leave the story whenever you like. But you will then begin a new dream and sadly may never awaken to see this story.

You're talking about hundreds of years? How am I supposed to live that long?

I am speaking of thousands of years in Earths cycle. This story you have been dreaming has been continuing for thousands of years. The original story tellers invited other tellers into the story and they modified the story less than two thousand years ago.

Wow, that's incredible.

As you may say. It was divine souls who came to visit. Our world had already grown blind of truth as dark powers tried to gain control of people. It took divine souls. It took many to begin a revolution of change but sadly man once again regained power over the message of truth.

And I am here to create a new dream? For me? For my family? For those I love? I am really not sure. This land looks limited. How can I host thousands of humans? Why should I even host thousands of humans? I have only grown to see their abuse of the land I live on. Why do I want that in this world? Why do I want the same pain that brought me to this world?

First you need to understand why you have pain. You speak of others for the source of your pain. What have they unduly caused you?

Those who have been uncaring of this world. They pollute it. They abuse it. They even taunt it. Like they have total dominion of this Earth.

Humans are the ones with control and they will always be the ones with control. Humans are divine. Humans are truly beautiful. Man has created a world that hurts others humans. We must stop being a world of Man and one of Humans. We have forgot the true essence of what makes those human. If Humans become aware of their true divinity then this your world will become sacred. And all will come together.

If I bring people to this world are, they able to remember the dream in which they came from?

They will only become aware of who they really are if they know the true power of love. If you are welcoming them to your story then you should only welcome them with intense love. The sooner you attempt to break the spell the more likely it will be reversed.

How do I know if I will love them?

I am unable to tell you how to feel. If you are true to source you will not question how you feel about those who want to visit you. In the world of dreams, you can try to invite others.

I just tell them I have this amazing place and if they are worthy enough, they can come?

Not like that. Use your eyes. Let your eyes see into others souls. As least those who will share with you. Become more aware of yourself and you will begin to feel others with divine energy. The dream sadly does not have a lot of humans with this energy. Therefore, you won't have any issue finding those who do. Age really doesn't matter in this world. More likely you will find more elderly with this energy than the youthful population.

Thank you for all the love. Thank you for everything you have given me in this world and the dream.

I have given you nothing in either world. It is you and only you who can make your world. Your heaven can look however you want it. Man has come to this place before and loved it for many years. Then they leave for some type of temptation that was not predicted. Every time I see humans leave this place they always fail. I have given this place for you to do however you please. You can leave whenever you choose. Or you can make this a place for humanity to live forever with us.

Who are you?

You will understand who we are when you are ready. You have many questions. I am not here to answer them. Ask your questions here and see if you can find the answers. You may need to bring others to get answers.

Thank you for being here. I have a lot to think about. How do I contact you?

You can just ask. If you are connected to source I will always be here. Remember in this world time is not relative to the dream. You can spend years here while only hours have passed in your world.

How is that even possible?

How is it possible you are speaking with me about creating a world? You will be in a constant state of question. I know what you are going against. You have been living in a dream that has conditioned your belief. You live in a dream where if anyone has a connection to the world, they are either called insane or a future teller. I can only give this test for your sanity. Think of your dream. Now think of this world. You can see both while just being in one. Keep your mind in your dream as much as you have to. Give your world as much energy and nourishment you can and then you will find you only need rest in either world. When you are truly connected to source you will begin to notice endless waves of energy and love. There is no way to dismiss it. You will only begin to notice yourself become a better human. If you reflect your creation to others then some will see it. It won't be long before you will have many that will want to join you. Just make sure you are ready.

In reality I still felt very confused. This is a strange power to have and even stranger for me to believe I have power. God or whoever I was calling on seemed to be perfectly okay with me having all of this power. I almost feel like I am part of an experiment. Who really knows how many other humans were called to this same place to see what they can create? And if that is the case then I know my ideas will easily be passed by another smarter or more enlightened human. Although God did say I can invite others. Still not really sure how to do that. Right now, it's like I have an empty apartment waiting for furniture. I just don't know where to start on this creation.

Tomorrow I will start looking for other humans. I will call upon those in my life. Those who I think are certain to come enter. Who is really divine enough to enter this place? I'm not sure how easy it will be to find others. I can't think of many in my life that really would enter this place. Although God did say we are all divine. Then why would I have a problem. At that point it became clearer to me. We as humans are all welcome. We all have divinity. It will just become our duty to awaken from the dream. This should be easy right? It's just a dream.

Then I began to realize. It shouldn't take a lot of work to start this new earth. We just start with a few humans and slowly grow to make sure bad energy is not brought back. I'm estimating it will take me thousands of years on this earth if I want to make sure humanity does not attempt to dream for corruption.

This is more complicated than I was imagining. It will probably cause me to spend a lot of time in the other world trying to figure it out. It seemed as though there was only one true answer for humanity and the world. It was LOVE. How can love be so complicated and yet so simple? Yet was it complicated or were humans complicated? The basis of love is pure and really simple. It's instinctive and we all have it from the time we enter the dream. Although as soon as we enter the dream, we are already told that love is limited.

We have been put in this dream. Told we need to work to secure a safe place in this dream. And even in this dream the work does guarantee you safe place. Humans are told they need to fight. We are told to be prideful. We are told how God punishes those who break rules. All of these rules and more made much sense to me. I never questioned them. I just knew I had to work. I had to work. Working so hard we forget that love may be the answer. While our souls sadly get walked on and diminished as though we mean little to this earth.

The more I think about it the less sense it makes. This is less my dream and more my nightmare. THIS WORLD NEEDS TO END! A NEW DREAM NEEDS TO BEGIN!

DAY 3. THE BEGINNING OF KNOWLEDGE

As I began a new day, I was in search of other kindred souls. I felt a sort of magnetic energy that was almost making me tremble. I couldn't explain how I was feeling. I was just encouraged to be outside more. To feel the air on my skin. I was trying to become more aware. Every step I was taking on this journey. I began to ask myself. What would make the new world great? How can we as humans finally find unity. Is it even possible? Am I just on some journey trying to live the best life possible? For humanity it really seems miserable. And in our pain, we are only making it worse for everything else on this Earth.

I just drop into my hopeless funk. We as humans don't deserve this divine planet. We have not contributed one bit to make this a better place for future generations. How has this greed contributed to my life? My family's life? My friend's life? It feels like we are all on the same journey just trying to survive. For what? I have a hard time believing life should be a sentence of working for the machine. And yet hundreds of millions of us do. Everyday. For almost a perpetual eternity. What it really seemed is that we had a race of exhausted humans. Many of us working in joyless jobs running hour after hour with no rest for a hopeless survival. This life is seeming much less enjoyable for me. I feel as though I am beginning to divide from the machine. Slowly taking the chains off of my body. I'm starting to feel liberated.

My first rule in this new world is humans won't work. Humans will be in a perpetual state of education learning skills and furthering their education. They pay the community back by training and teaching others their skills. The only people that will work are those who choose to. In the service industry of whatever it would be called in this world. Life will take hundreds if not thousands of years to reach this point. We will honor those who volunteer to give up their dreams to serve society. No longer will a restaurant or hotel worker feel as though they are part of the mundane. Although it may be a pipe dream to hope future governments can fulfill these promises.

Cities can remove streets and turn them into public farms where vegetables and livestock can grow. This would essentially remove corporate farms that only pollute and destroy this planet with a priority over profit over the planet. Smaller farms can help supply to local communities and neighbors can have the opportunity to work on farms to help share in crops.

Then I realized. This world has to start from the beginning. I need to find the beginning before I worry about the end. I decided it was time to visit again to find more thoughts.

It was quiet. Almost unnatural. Why was I blocking my environment? Maybe I need to call upon others to join me here... I imagined the many beautiful people in my life and called out to them. Anyone. Can you hear me.

CHAPTER I: AQUARIUS

Where am I? The voice called out.

Where do you think you are?

I'm not sure. It feels like a dream.

What would you think if I told you this is reality? This is the reality of the Earth. The reality that you have been shielded from since your birth.

How can I be so certain where I am? This feels very strange. I don't think this is real.

Their energy was stoic yet filled with love and sadness at the same time. I wasn't sure how to feel around them yet.

Is this world you don't have to fear. And you can question anything. If it doesn't make sense, question the reality. My reality is different from yours except we share in truth and love and we cannot forget our dream once we are here.

Slowly out of the darkness a divine spirit came into vision. Eyes that brought the skies and seas together. Youthful in appearance but wise in energy. I felt a strength but also a kind tenderness that naturally attracted me to them. They had a tenderness to them I wasn't sure about but a love that had such innocence it couldn't be questioned.

I'm so happy you have come. You are so beautiful and I admire your glow. I feel so fortunate to have you in my presence. You are my light and my love. You are my one and only.

At that instance I felt a strong warmth and energy explode across my body. It was as if this presence was coming into my physical body.

I love you so much. Thank you for calling me here. I feel so special to actually be in such a beautiful place. I feel so much warmth now.

Tears began to flow from her eyes. As soon as we connected eyes our energies synced. All worries and fears vanquished. I felt so in love I couldn't explain it. This was such a pure feeling it was unlike any other. I felt so blessed at this moment to be with such an amazing person. We approached each other and gave a long embrace. The warmth was overpowering. Our eyes connected again deeply and we felt many lifetimes of embraces. It had been a long separation and now we were finally connected.

Aquarius! I called out.

What? Who is???

You are. You are the one who travelled the seas. Who explored the world and learned the sky? I looked into your eyes and saw the stars and felt the universe within you.

How do you know anything about me?

I feel like I know everything about you. If you seek the truth you will find where you are. You will understand the power you can have in this new world. I know you are here because you don't fear a new future. A new world that will be better for all of us. Look deeply into yourself. Question your reality. Learn your story. And start writing your future. This is my dream. This doesn't have to be your dream. You are welcome to enter whenever you please. I don't have to be here for you to enter. You can help create this new world. This needs to be the vision of many and it must be cemented in truth. As long as we exist in truth we will exist in this reality.

How can I know you're real? This just seems like some freaky vision that I would have never imagined.

I don't even know if I'm real. I exist here. I am happy here. I can be free here. If this is real then.... It's pretty awesome. I think I will take my chances.

Can I come back?

You don't have to leave. We have eternities to find out in only hours of our lives. It will need to be our dream to make this a reality.

Can this be my dream? Can I help make this?

I LOVE YOU!!! Please help me with this vision. This is all I have. I need help to make this happen.

Can I invite others? Will they come?

You can invite anyone you please. But they have to believe this exists. It exists in so many dreams but yet they only imagine this as a dream when it's real.

How do we make this real? What do we need to do?

I really don't know. I just want to write the story and see where it goes. This needs to be our story.

I love you sooooo much. Thank you for believing in this. I will try to invite others to this dream.

I love you too Aquarius. I look forward to us spending many years together. Exploring this new world. Unafraid of anything that may come our way.

And in that moment the vision disappeared and life became silent. I was once again alone. In a new world alone. I am so excited to see who may join me on this journey...

CHAPTER II: LUNA

This place is so beautiful. I love it so much. It feels so warm and happy. Thank you for creating this paradise. Thank you for bringing me in.

I love you more than anything.

I love you so much. I can't express my love and gratitude for bringing me here.

A beautiful spirit came into view. I couldn't help but admire this beautiful creation. Composed with beauty but humble in spirit. They carried a strong loyalty that wasn't apparent in many humans in the dream. I couldn't help but smile as they approached me.

*I'm so happy you made it. I'm so happy to see your smile Luna. Your soul is pure. Your energy is strong and I believe in you. You are my one and only.

Luna couldn't contain their happiness. They began to move her body in a rhythmic motion. Creating a beautiful dance filled with love. I was in awe of this divine motion. Dance is such an incredible expression of oneself if we are true to source. Our bodies will tell our story. Luna was beautifully illustrating their passionate energy towards this new world. Telling me a story of just pure happiness. I grasped Lunas eyes and saw a beautiful story of faith and happiness. We began to embrace and I saw their story. It was filled with love towards other humans with no questions. No judgement at all towards other humans. Just a simple request for an exchange of LOVE.

Luna, I want you to know how important you are to me. Your love for life makes my heart smile. I can't help but cry when I see how beautifully you express yourself. I am blessed to have you with me. Please return as much as you love. Don't be afraid of this world and all it has for us.

And almost suddenly Luna disappeared from our new home. I couldn't help but feel I knew Luna. I knew this energy and LOVE for others. It was like none other and existed in so many who traveled this Earth with us. Yet as Humans one of our first responses to LOVE is to question it. If this new world is to exist it can only be filled with LOVE. I'm beginning to feel if we have this New World what we could do with it if we were all pointed towards LOVE. I began to notice a feeling in my gut. It was like a warm energy was building. I could only hope this was God...

Chapter III: Manhattan

WOW!!! This place is SOOO beautiful. Can I stay here?

A voice that sounded familiar came out. It was a younger voice that seemed quite impressed. I couldn't help but feel the energy

Soon... The time will come and this place will be yours as it is mine. You will be able to live in truth in this temple to Earth.

They came into view. I had seen their face and was so happy to see they arrived. They literally couldn't hide all the love that came from them. It was like the air had changed just with this increased energy. Then my eyes got shocked as the sun appeared slightly blinding my view. I suddenly felt a warmth that I knew couldn't leave this place now.

Look what you have brought.... Your love is so strong and true the sun now shines and warms us. Thank you. Thankyou Manhattan. You are my one and only.

I'm so happy to be here. I love it here so much.

Do you know where you are Manhattan?

Yes. But very few elders ever come to visit. And we are left here in a place that looks the same.

You have been here before?

I have come to visit before but it's always been empty. This time you called me.

And you came... With no question...

I love this place and now we can dance...

At that moment I freed my fear and let my body go. Suddenly music began to form out of the air. A divine breeze came over us and seemed to move with our bodies. I began to feel a new sense of freedom take over as I let my body go. Manhattan was putting on a beautiful performance. Not for money. Not for fame. Just for love and to be free. This is a freedom that few of us have as adults.

I feel so very blessed you spent time with me. I didn't feel I was worth your time and yet your love made the Sun shine. I love you so much Manhattan. Please visit soon.

Manhattan had a silly look like they didn't want to leave. They kept smiling and it was truly infectious. This happiness is so free that it's priceless.

I love you SOOO much...

The energy left and I was again alone feeling fulfilled from this amazing experience.

Chapter IV: Ezekiel

I was so excited to have others arrive in this place. I can only hope they are really here to help make this vision real. As my day on the outside continued to pass, I was feeling much more energized as if I was being called into this new reality. I needed to see if I could connect with others on the outside. This would be a fun challenge. On my journey I felt very few with any empath energy. My walks would be cold if it wasn't for the warmth of the natural world. I saw someone coming towards me and I began to feel a pull I couldn't resist. As our paths began to cross it was as if we were afraid to match eyes. But when we did it was instant. I just invited my first guest....

What the heck.... How? This cannot be real. You have got to be kidding me. This is crazy. Didn't we just look at each other?

Either I'm crazy or you're here with me. Thank you for being open enough to visit.

Open... I didn't want to connect with you.

Didn't you feel my energy. Didn't you feel an attraction?

Yes... Yes, I did.

The spirit was masculine with some slight feminine traits that were being driven out. The energy was distressed. As if they almost lost all concept of where they came from.

You have a gift few can imagine. This is a reality few can envision and here you are to take part.

What do I have to do?

You don't have to do anything. That is up to you. This can be our reality but we will need a lot of help.

Suddenly I felt an air of hostility form. The sun disappeared and a cold breeze blew. I knew this soul didn't want to stay.

*You are always welcome here. I will always love you. You are my one and only.

The sun appeared again. Even warmer and brighter this time.

Why do you love me? You don't even know me.

I know you. I know the energy you bring. I feel the fear you have. You don't need to fear any longer. We all belong here. We can make this our vision.

And at that moment a smile appeared on Ezekiel's face. An amazing warmth came from their source. I couldn't help but dance in joy. We danced for many days straight.

I still don't know what to do...

You need to keep your faith and don't deny the gifts you have. You are truly blessed and can see the world for how it truly is. Keep your divine energy strong and don't let the machine take your idle time.

I love you so much. Thank you for believing in me.

I love you. Don't forget this place exists.

At that moment Ezekiel's vision faded away. I felt I had learned much from this visit. It seems as people give up their youth dream, they lose their sense of this spiritual world as it's only as real as one believes when the outside world offers quick promises and temptations. This I knew was apparently the biggest race humanity was against. Souls were getting taken by the great machine at a frantic rate. And many have never realized what they exchanged for the machine. When it exists here in our reality. The most divine beautiful existence we can have is the one closest to NURTURE... In Nurture we are free. Free to express ourselves with truth and love. In order for this world to exist in the world of HUMANS we must have a list of PRINCIPLES. This will be a simple basis of laws that can form this new society. Why? Because HUMANS need to most proof to believe their reality. This is how we give rights to all humans and more in this world. I felt an energy but then looked around to see a beautiful place that was lacking in life. I am really going to have to start imagining a future here. What would it look like??? And with that my mind began to search everywhere for a solution. I think I have a lot to work out. At times I just imagine this being an incredible future. Then I realize this place needs to be future proofed first. At that point I heard a familiar voice...

Chapter V: Arturo

Welcome Arturo. You already come with a strong name. You carry a strong presence. You will need to learn how life operates here. It's very different from the other world.

What do you mean?

In this world we have the opportunity to truly be the humans we were MEANT to be. There are no games here. No trying to be good at something you don't like. This will be our world to make.

That's crazy...

I know you come with strength and a wisdom to protect. We will need you here. No matter how beautiful this world is now it will need protecting for later. Look what you have brought.... Your presence is so strong animals have come out from the forests to greet us. You are my one and only.

Try to find out how this world operates. The most important rule is there are no rules except to always have love in your heart. If poison of any kind enters your body you will be unable to see this place.

Poison? Like what kind of poison?

You really need to become aware of the world of machine. Poison comes from everywhere. The foods we eat can be amazing for our future. They can be the most delicious forms of food that comes from source. You can get poison from other Humans and material goods. You should always be aware of every activity you do. Does it feel good to you? Does your gut tell you so? Then trust your gut. Once we learn how to hear our gut, we will become healthier and happier people.

Don't some have lots of poison?

Yes, almost to the point they don't even understand happiness anymore. It's sad to see. Like they have been beaten day after day not knowing any better.

Why do people choose to take poison?

I don't believe most of us choose to take poison. If their favorite food had poison labels on the package, I would hope they would make the better choice.

How can we stop people from taking poison?

We can't stop anyone. Every human has free will. The question is if they truly understand they have free will.

What does free will mean?

What does it sound like? Do you know what it truly means to be free? To make your choices to live your life? Being able to find out what you really are passionate about and using those skills not only to benefit your inner family but your outer community. If we are able to follow this path then we will find true happiness in our lives. Work will no longer be work.

Work? We have to work here? I don't think this sounds very good.

What does work mean to you? Is it a job you go to almost all the days of the week? You spend more of your active hours doing something you may not even love. Think of the poison that comes from this. Now imagine living here. Finding skills, you may have never realized and being able to put them into form. We are all creators. If we create our world with love then work will only be a process of love and not giving your life to something you don't love.

That sounds pretty awesome... But how will people survive without working?

When did humans ever have to work to survive? If we follow our true path with source then we will all be happy. Working for our happiness and the happiness of others.

I'm not saying every day you will be able to lay around and do nothing. A normal day may be building something you love. Building can be the foundation for many things. Much of our lives should be building. Building relationships with those around us including the world of NURTURE. This type of building does take effort. If you are good at these skills then the effort you give will be worth more than any job of production.

Humans will need to shrink their communities to groups no larger than one hundred. This way all of the people in this group can get to know each other and come together to work as a community for everyone's betterment.

Would children be part of this community?

Yes of course. A child has much to learn in this community. Other members of the community can teach skills that children can learn. Like farming, fishing, hunting, building, dancing, play. It will be continual learning for children. All of these skills are assets to the community. And children will probably want to learn as many skills as possible to become stronger humans.

How can we keep this world safe?

At that point I knew that they knew the answer to this problem.

We're going to need humans like you to protect it. The animals are powerless. The fish have no control. The rooted Earth is also powerless. Being divine gives us responsibility on this Earth to protect it wherever we may be called.

I don't want to leave this place. I want to stay here to protect MOTHER!

I could feel the frustration. And then I realized how important a Role Arturo will have in this new world.

I'm sorry. I didn't recognize you at first. Yes, I seemed to forget your role here on this Earth. I'm so honored to be in your presence. Your responsibility will be one of the greatest of the land. You will be the Guardian to MOTHER NURTURE.

What does that mean?

It means you will be protecting this very land we are on now. You will need to tend to it and protect it. Your biggest responsibility will be making sure the land always remains the same no matter how many come to live here. You can never forget this.

I will work hard to protect MOTHER!!! I will not fail.

At that moment I was certain of what was said. I had no reason to doubt who will be taking care of this land.

I love you Arturo and remember you are free to return any time.

Thank you. I love you for trusting me.

You trust yourself. It wasn't me.

And then Arturo was gone...

Chapter VI: Huitzilopochtli

We have been waiting for you...

Suddenly a beautiful spirit appeared with such a strong aura it almost blinded me.

Me? Why?

You had the presence of sky from a young age. You lost your source and became disconnected as soon as you stopped dancing. You are my one and only.

How? How do I dance?

Listen to your heart. Then your body will tell you what to do. Look at the graceful moves a child has going effortlessly without much thought. You lost it. You stopped playing. Now you need to play. You need to remember how to play again.

It began to make a lot of sense. Being able to play takes away so much stress. It's so natural and is free. So many of us have forgotten play. We get worried about appearing silly.

I think I'm going to need some practice. I seemed to have forgotten how to be free.

You need free yourself. Can you hear the music?

It was like the birds came to form a chorus. I stopped just hearing the music and started listening. Now I can feel the music flowing into my body and bouncing back taking my body with it. I can feel my body start to move fluidly with the music.

Did you ever think you would be dancing like this?

I wasn't even questioning it. My body was expressing the music in my form. I don't remember feeling this free.

I'm in awe doing this. It feels so natural and yet before I always felt so constricted. I guess this is what it feels to be free.

You are free now. Never forget how good this feels.

How do I spread this message?

Be truth and love.

At that moment all the confusion washed away. Truth and Love. If any society is built upon those PRINCIPLES it will have a hard time failing. The most difficult challenge would be to get others to believe that is all it takes to start a society.

Remember I will be here when you ask for me. You can help create a beautiful world for all to see. If people know how beautiful your vision is, they will be unable to resist.

Your vision has given me more hope. I can only hope to turn this into something incredible. I love you soooo much. Thank you for your incredible energy and knowledge.

Your divinity will be your guide. Never forget your power. I love you.

At that moment I was alone again. Except this time, I wasn't. I looked around and saw a majestic stream carrying water. I heard birds singing. I then saw deer and a bear in the forest enjoying the beauty. Life exists when you just take the time to pay attention. I started to realize how much I have missed in my life.

Chapter VII: Artemis

I had been receiving so many incredible visitors I wasn't sure who would enter next.

What is this place? Hello? Is anyone around?

I'm over here. Can you see me?

Yes, I can see you know. What is this place?

Take in the air. Look around you. How do you feel?

I'm not sure. I think it's pretty amazing.

Your spirit is strong yet you are reluctant to believe. Let yourself breath. Take the weight off of your body. This is a vision.

A vision of what?

Your hunt for knowledge and your guidance of those who are not heard is your power. I feel your strength. You can guide many with little effort. You are my one and only.

I felt a warmth coming that I wasn't expecting. Artemis approached me and gave a big hug. Now I felt safe.

Please tell me how we can make this our world.

I'm still not sure. There are so many things we need to do. Are you willing to travel? You will need to walk a lot. Thousands of miles over hundreds of years.

It's one thing for me to walk into this place but now you're telling me about traveling for hundreds of years?

Let's start walking and see where we get.

Days turned into weeks and weeks into months we didn't stop. The only reason we stopped at night was because of the darkness. Artemis taught me about the living creatures who also travel this Earth. The purpose of this insect and the reason why that animal has a thicker coat. I was fascinated learning every minute and meeting these many creatures I have never noticed before.

Do you hear that?

I don't hear anything?

Someone is crying... I can hear them. They are asking for help.

I don't see any humans anywhere.

I never said it was a human. This beautiful creature wants to speak to us.

Artemis can hear other living forms. I can't help but be in awe of what I am seeing. How did they get this incredible gift and can others attain it? Our world would be dramatically different if people were more connected to other life sources.

Please I would love to know the conversation you are having. How did you do this?

I started believing I could speak with the others. I tried connecting more with the animals to understand their story. I observed them and learned their behaviors. The more I learned the more I was able to become. Once I became it was like I started hearing other voices.

You have an incredible gift to hear the silent voices of the world. Will you be the defender of those with no voice?

It would be an honor for me to defend those who have no defense. I will travel this planet learning the stories of those. I will teach others to hear the voices of the wild.

With that Artemis had two wings begin to grow from their back.

I have a lot of work to do. It's going to take wings to get me there. I love you SOOO much. I will not dishonor you.

You will never dishonor me. Your love is in your eyes. Your passion is in your face. Your intentions are pure. Please fly the world all learn about all life. I love you.

At that moment Artemis stretched out their beautiful new wings and quickly flew away as if they had been doing this their whole life.

Chapter VIII: Gaea

I have waited hundreds of years to see you. You have finally come.

I am here but I don't know my purpose.

Your purpose will be shown in time. You need to remember why you are here. You need to think back to when you were completely free. How did it feel?

It felt like I could run with no effort.

Run, jump, even try to fly. There are no limits on what you want. Don't let your concept of reality stop you.

I begin to see an incredible beauty that was coming from Gaea. Their eyes became clear and they could see.

This is so amazing. I don't even know how I'm doing it.

Stop thinking and enjoy the experience. Cut all of your anchors and feel your body weightless floating in the air.

I feel like I can float. This place is so beautiful.

Gaea suddenly turned their attention towards this beautiful flowering plant. One I hadn't noticed before. They walked over and the minute they touched it more blossoms began to emerge.

Your beauty flows throughout your body. People are attracted to your love. Animals are attracted to your love and even the rooted world is attracted to your love. You have an incredible gift only a few even understand. You are MOTHER NURTURE. You are my one and only.

With your energy you have understood my powers quickly. It is your gift that has brought me here first. You are my one and only.

At that moment the energy seemed to balance across this new world. A new era of true peace was starting and it would be our goal to make it last thousands of years.

It feels like we are ready. You have helped create the balance on this planet.

I will be ready to fight to keep this our home. We can never let others try to destroy this world. This is too beautiful to be shared with just a few.

We have a lot of work ahead. We can start by dancing.

And at that moment Gaea held me tight and we danced. We danced for years. I felt such comfort and love. I never felt in danger.

I need to go. I need to see this world. We were never meant to be left in our small world

Where do you want to travel?

I'm not sure yet. I don't know where the wind will take me. I will not have any rules while on this conquest.

Be free and never stop yourself from going.

I will be back soon.

Such a short time passed when Gaea returned... They looked different. Their hair had grown longer and whiter. As I looked closer, I could see Gaea aged.

It has been a long time. How was your journey?

It was incredible. I saw vast lands for people to live and fertile plains to grow bountiful harvests. This land is so rich and beautiful it should be for all to enjoy.

Gaea, I ask for your service to help make this world incredible. You understand this vast planet and how to manage life for all forms. I will need your help to make this planet a success where LOVE is the only way.

I don't think I am capable of this responsibility. Humans populate quickly and I don't think I can manage all of those humans.

Don't think you will ever be alone. You have incredible knowledge and skills. I want you teaching the future generations your vast knowledge. You teach with love. Your words are pure and carry a lot of weight. With enough humans learning your knowledge we can work to create this beautiful new world. We really just need to believe we deserve a world like this.

The world will need to be governed by numerous people over many provinces. We eliminate one leader rule. We have a panel of leaders that will discuss and debate the issues at hand in front of the public. The public will be invited to participate in these talks. Leaders should all have a background in service to the public. If they have large amounts of wealth, they must be prepared to give that up if they decide to serve office.

Having more leaders will help lower corrupt tactics that seem to destroy most governments. Government should only be at the service of the citizens. Businesses should have all their discussions with a public panel do discuss tax rates and hiring. Incentives should always be granted to businesses that make assertive efforts to increase employment. Government will only have the role to provide services to the community. Any decision of ethics or morality will be discussed in a place of court.

Do Humans deserve this planet?

Humans were divined to be the caretakers of the land. Humans have taken advantage of the divinity for the desires of very few. The world they exist in is empty and filled with wants and desires. Once they can see how much more powerful love is for all humans then it will not be a question.

It will take the most responsible caretakers of the land.

It will take a team of humans like you. We will need many more to ensure the land will be managed correctly. The only way it will really work if the citizens of the land hold their leaders accountable.

People will need some type of assurance that the land will be protected for them without having to rely on officials to keep it protected.

The PRINCIPLES will need to include protections for the lands and people to ensure these things are protected for the Earth.

How will The PRINCIPLES remain relevant for the future?

It must remain a living document that has a short lifespan and is revised every political cycle. All politicians will have only a four-year term in office. Every four years it will be the responsibility of the people to work with the politicians how to make improvements or changes to the last edition of the document. That will move the importance from any one document as every four years it will take new words and concepts to push the worlds evolution. We must continue to push thought. We cannot remain in the past. The only way Humanity and the Earth will survive is with evolution.

I'm ready. I'm ready to help make this new world an amazing place for all life. I love you. I see my vision now.

I love you Gaea and can't wait to see how you steward the land and people. Your vision is incredible. Your energy can power millions of lives. Now it's time for you to light the world.

Then Gaea slowly left taking animals with them on a journey to start this new journey. I felt this world is almost complete. We have several incredible humans that will be here to help manage the land and the living. The Earth will need to multiply over hundreds if not thousands of years to ensure these set of beliefs help keep the Earth and life protected.

My day seemed nearly over. I wasn't sure if any other visitors will be coming. I can't think of anyone who may be needed to help.

Chapter IX: Jacob

Hello.... Hey is anyone here???

A curious, youthful voice came out.

Hello Jacob. You came.

I saw you here and I wanted to come.

How did you feel me? How did you know I was here?

Suddenly I felt a strong energy come from Jacob. It was balanced in spirit and divine in nature.

I love you. I know who you are. We know each other. And now we can make this place...

I was in shock. This spirit had been waiting for me. I felt such love and fortune to have such a beautiful soul visit me.

I'm having a hard time putting this place together. I don't know where to start.

Can't you just imagine? Can you imagine a world of the future?

I can't. I don't trust humanity. As beautiful as this world is how do we convince humans to continue to love it for now and the future with no questions asked?

If we are truly love then we can make anything happen. Why can't we do the same for belief.

Jacob was right. If love is involved then people shouldn't have a problem believing.

Jacob, I need to rest. This is your home as much as anyone. Feel free to play and dance and enjoy this magical place.

It has been a very eventful day. Now I needed to get some rest to continue the future of this place.

DAY IV. LEARNING TO FORGIVE

Chapter I. The Beginning

I woke up out of my rest on a new day. Wondering if I still had presence on this journey. I felt an attraction to visit our world. When I arrived, I saw Jacob. I was in shock. Why were they here? Looking at Jacob I could see a profound difference in his energy. As though any fear or question that was there is gone. I think we have a brave new student to learn this brave new world.

JACOB

I yelled in joy.

I'm so happy you came back. I have many things to show you.

I had an eagerness I couldn't explain. As though my searches for answers may now come much easier with this enthusiastic spirit. Jacob took me on a walk. I have existed here for nearly an eternity and had yet set foot on this land. As we walked closer to the forest Jacob showed me the flowers they discovered and the creek that was flowing. I was in awe. This existed and I didn't even realize it.

Look at this.

At that moment Jacob put this hand into the creek and pulled out a fish. I couldn't believe what I saw. It was the most beautiful fish with magnificent colors. I had never seen anything as beautiful as this creature before.

How???. Where did that fish come from?

You didn't see it? Look again...

And at that moment I saw many fish. They were all different colors and sizes. This was incredibly beautiful.

How long have they been here? Has this creek always been here?

This has only existed since you knew it was there. What if we have a beautiful lake we can fish and swim.

I was open to the possibilities. I didn't even see the space large enough for a pond.

Look over there. Can you see it? An incredible lake with the freshest water that can keep us fed all year. We won't need to go anywhere else.

Jacob you showed me a creek when I didn't know one existed. You showed me fish for I have never seen animal life here. Then you show me a lake for which I never imagined could fit. If you can create this world, we need to go everywhere else. We can make this world beautiful in Nurture's Divinity.

For who? I called upon my family and they didn't appear. I don't want to live in a world without them...

You are never without. No matter where we are, we will always be surrounded. When the time comes the others will be ready to join. For the time that elapses they will only be in a restful sleep waiting to return. Let's try to build this world and see what happens. If we can build the best world, I'm sure we will be joined soon by the others.

How do you know?

I don't really know. I just know how I feel. And I know when you are here embracing this world with all your love then we should be able to make this a better place for all. Your love for this place is incredible. We can make this place a paradise for all. We need a lot of time Jacob. We will need hundreds if not thousands of years to travel this land. We can do this together.

Did you just say thousands of years?

Time is not relative here. We can live eternities with little effort. In this land death does not exist unless we grow tired and want to leave. Then it is always our choice. It shall always remain our choice when we want to leave and return. If we try to live a life that is untrue then we will return to source.

Wow!!! When can we start?

We can start our travels now if you want. We have a lot of work to do and as much time as we need. This is our world. Let's make it OUR WORLD!!!

I can't wait to see what lies beyond the forest...

Either can I. Let's go. We have a long journey ahead.

Why can't we fly?

How are we going to fly? We don't have machines in this world.

I wasn't talking about a machine. Why can't WE FLY?

Can we? Can you show me...

At that moment Jacob closed their eyes. What they were imagining was beyond my grasp. At that moment they looked towards the sky and shot up into the air like a superhero.

WOW!!! THIS IS FREAKIN AWESOME!!!

This was.... But what happens if we stop flying? Do we fall? Do we get hurt? I still couldn't imagine...

Can you swim?

Yes... What does that have to do with flying?

Try swimming in the air. Grab the air. Keep grabbing it but don't force it. And then just let it be.

I don't know if I was more in awe of Jacob's incredible process or what was being performed here. If it was at least a miracle in this world it was amazing to imagine. We have no limitations. What could this mean for humanity? At that moment I saw myself floating in the air. Feeling lighter and freer than ever. I have become so thankful that source has allowed me to visit. I can never let go of this gratitude. I want to travel the Earth and learn everything. See volcanoes flow... Watch waves crash upon warm beaches and then travel upon vast lands of snow and ice. This will be the most incredible world. I can't wait to see it.

WOW THIS IS INCREDIBLE JACOB!!!

Yes, it is... Let's go higher!

I looked down and could see we had gotten quite high... I didn't feel any fear of the heights I was soaring to.

Hey Jacob? How tall are these trees?

How tall do you think they are?

At that time, I just questioned myself. Why am I limiting my vision? I am literally in a world of my own and yet I don't see the possibilities. Years of limitations have sadly made me miss so much. I am done with it. I need to see beyond anything I have ever imagined. If I want this world be amazing it needs to be a place where all of those are in awe of MOTHER NURTURE...

Let's make them this tall.

Suddenly the trees rose up thousands of feet into the atmosphere. Clouds began to appear and I began to feel incredible moisture hit my face. Was our world making rain now? It is so incredible to feel this cold rain hit my face. I embrace every drop and open my mouth to more. Jacob soars even higher performing moves like a bird. Their imagination is incredible and I'm so excited to take this journey. Eventually we rise above the trees and the air has grown much colder. We quickly recognize it and tremble.

I'm too cold!!! I don't think I can go any further...

Why are you cold? Who says it existed? We can embrace it and identify what it is. It doesn't mean we need to feel it...

Jacob looked as though he already knew this answer as he suddenly flew much, much higher beyond the atmosphere. In a flash they disappeared.

Jacob are you there???

Did they leave? I don't know. Suddenly I felt alone again. The coldness became real. I felt sad. Why am I feeling sad in this beautiful place? I should not be sad here. I have come so far. I need to keep going even if it is by myself.

Hey silly. I'm right here.

Jacob, where are you?

Just look for me.

I had grown very curious. Where exactly did they go? Then I imagined a world much larger than the one we set foot on. Set with incredible galaxies that go very far beyond anything we have ever grasped. I need to rise beyond. As far beyond as I have ever been. I point my vision towards the stars and start elevating slowly. Then my body crosses fear again and I start moving slower... And I think to myself WHY? Why am I limiting myself? What do I fear in a world that is only my possibilities? I should fear nothing. I need to climb higher. Much higher and much faster. Suddenly I burst into free space and I realize how very empty everything seems. And yet in all this emptiness it is most beautiful. I can't express how free I feel at this moment. Liberated from my Earthly shackles to go beyond our limitations. I begin to think if this can really be possible. What limitations would humanity have. How far from Earth would we travel. How many stars would we see? Would two thousand years bring school fieldtrips to Mars? I'm beginning to feel we are the only limitation to our progress. Machine can never make the world we truly desire. It can only create the world we falsely desire.

Chapter II. And then....

Eventually I rose far beyond the stars I only dreamt of. I didn't even question my reality any longer. I was free and I felt like life could only get better from here. I walked free that day amongst the trees. Looking at everything that came into view with new vision. A beautiful rodent came across my view. Our eyes connected and I tried to see deeper into that beautiful creature.

And then I understood the joy of being rodent. Life is simple as a rodent. Survival is not of famine of not having. In a rodent's world there is also more than plenty. Even in a city this amazing creature has learned to flourish. Not expressing pain or anger. Expressing love and happiness. Love to be on this Earth. Love to search for food. In a squirrel's world most of life is play. Watch as they dance up a tree. Letting their tail tap back and forth and communicating to others in joy. Oh, how the life of squirrel seems like fun to me. Can I try and be a squirrel?

My eyes opened to The New World and I was in the grass looking with new vision. The grass is so much larger and it touches my fur. I love how it feels even when it's wet. I don't fear rain or wind in this world as I know it's a part of life and rebirth. I can find a tree and start climbing it. I zig zag higher and higher until I can't see the ground. Never will I take for granted the majesty of these beautiful creatures truly enjoying survival. I have climbed so high I am in the clouds now. What do I do? How do I get down?

How do you want to come down this tree? Said the voice of lam.

I just want to fly down.

And what prevents you from that?

I don't know...

And at that moment fear left my new body and I dropped from the tree and then imagined myself moving in any direction I chose. I could see myself moving quickly, up or down. And then I decided I wanted to be an Eagle. With graceful wings that can carry me far distances. And now I am flying over the land. I feel so graceful I can't control my excitement. This is the most amazing feeling to fly. I no longer feel my arms. Just my new wings and they aren't sore. They actually feel very good. Like I was always meant to do this. I fly thru the trees with no fears. Swooping down and rising up like some melody to nature. Graceful is my dance with the air I feel every feather getting touched by the air. It feels so incredible to fly. I then find a canyon to fly thru. I fly close to the river. Just barely above the rage of the river. Never will I take for granted these incredible creatures that coexist with us. My vision is clear now. The canyon leads towards a beautiful lake. This lake is magnificent from afar. The sun shines brightly off the water causing a sparkle that is magical. I dive down for a fish...

Suddenly I am in swimming in a huge world. With no boundaries. The cold water feels amazing on my slick body. Breathing underwater seems so normal now. I try moving my body. It seems so effortless. Where should I go? I begin to swim towards an imagined shore. I spend what seems like days traveling. I meet other fish and water life. As I don't find myself getting any closer to the shore I decide to search for the bottom. I swim again for what seems like days. Getting lower and lower as the water gets colder. The current also becomes stronger the lower I go. I am unafraid of losing my breath now. I feel relaxed as I inhale deeply in this beautiful environment. So much life exists just in this small place on Earth. I finally find plants below I begin to chew.

Now I feel the life of a plant. I move blissfully in the current of the water. Making a melodic dance back and forth. My life is simple and yet complex. I grow with the light that comes from well above. The fresh water feeds me the nutrients. I feel so healthy and clean. My body feels nourished and hydrated. I have such an appreciation for the life that grows on this Earth. Working so hard to create so much for life on this planet. Always being graceful to give us more than enough when we offer blessings onto the land. My fear of scarcity is beginning to vanish. I begin to feel plenty. There is no lack in this world for anyone. As I look towards the surface, I can see a Dragon Fly peacefully flying across the water.

I have now entered the Dragon Fly's body. Looking at my colorful wings inspires me. I can move so quickly now with little effort. Life seems even more abundant as I just try and survive in this big world.

Then I awaken back to my journey. Into this magnificent land I will travel in the New World. With no fear for what may come. I will learn how to communicate with other animals and they will help guide me further on this journey. On this beautiful planet Earth, we who are living are all one. We all have duty to protect this place and try to leave it better than during our existence. I felt guilt for being so wasteful to Mother Nurture. All it has done is offered me incredible love and everything I need. Why have I taken this for granted? I can be better. Not just a better human to others but a better human to all the life on this Earth. Mother Nurture deserves better of me.

I feel a warmth grow inside me even more. I am not feeling the cold any more. I am not sure what is real and what is not anymore. My body grows warm and my legs grow freer. I am able to walk stronger now as if I just moved a large weight off my body. How can we attempt to be fair to all humans if they are not all provided the same rights? I was beginning to question why we are all humans and yet we subjugate others. Love is a simple cure but it's much more than that. I will continue on my journey to see what else may come.

Chapter III. Let life flourish...

Hello are you there?

I am here. It's so good to see you Jacob. Have you traveled the land?

I have had an incredible journey that lasted many centuries. I saw incredible deserts with magnificent storms of lightning. I swam the oceans as a dolphin and went to see incredible glaciers that crashed into the water. Then I walked as a human across great mountain ranges and let snow hit my face. I kept going no matter how hard it seemed. Everyday got easier. Then I spent years as a tree. Learning to grow in a forest with others. Never letting myself believe I was only meant for the forest floor. I quickly rose above the other trees.

Jacob, I believe you are almost ready.

I still have much to learn. I don't want to stop. I want to make sure I can teach future generations about the importance of the world we live in.

You are incredible Jacob. Your love and devotion to others in this world is remarkable and you shall be honored.

How do we honor?

Honoring someone or something shall come from the heart. Honoring should only be in value of what you may be able to provide. We can honor with a dance. We can honor by presenting our fine vegetables from our garden or a sweet treat from the fruit we grew. You should never try to express more honor than what is deserved as that can lead to embarrassing someone else. Be true to those you honor and always remember to make sure your intention feels good with your gut. Once you truly know that feeling you will never want to let it go. It takes us to even more amazing places in this Universe.

A true honor will come when we celebrate an Earth year. Those will have honor on the day they were brought into this world. The honoree will host and dance to welcome others to this group. Once the celebration has begun the honoree will welcome others to come dance. Incredible stories can be told universally with dance.

This of course is just one of many examples of how we can use dance to honor other sources. Look at a tree and imagine the life it has dedicated to just staying in one place. The natural spirit of life is to TRAVEL. Yet they stand tall protecting those under them. Providing homes to wildlife, providing food on occasion and potential wood for shelter and warmth. The tree is amazing and yet it never complains. Every tree that grows tall begins to develop its own eco system as insects come to make homes also. It handles wind and rain, ice, snow and seems to be prettier even after those natural outbursts. We would give awards to any human who had that tenacity. The least we can do is honor a tree with a dance. Dance with your eyes. Admire its beauty. Knowing that no tree is ever the same. As humans we should learn to dance like the trees.

Wow... I never really thought about a tree that way.

Next time when you look use your eyes to see and your ears to hear. Imagine your ears now as your eyes. Trying to grasp that information from sound. Our senses are much greater than most imagine. We must use them to really see the world for the beauty it truly has.

I never feel hungry here. I lived over a century without eating any food. One day an apple appeared in front of me and I couldn't resist. I took a couple bites and was content for another century.

In this world you shall never remember hunger. It will be our job to teach others the same rule. Our mouth is to sing honor in this world and enjoy the fruits of the world. There is an abundance of the greatest foods that lie within our footsteps. We must be aware of the endless resources the Earth bestows to us.

What if we are offered food?

Whenever someone comes at you with true honor and offers you food you shall never deny them the honor. Enjoy the love that came from their hearts. Always being free to enjoy on your own time.

Can we still eat meat?

Yes of course we can. If we shepherd the land and praise the animals that sacrifice themselves for our fulfillment. The greatest food comes from the most honored animals. Eat their meat in praise and not anguish.

How do we treat our fellow neighbors who will borrow the land with us?

With the utmost respect and reverence. Being in honor of them choosing to live near I. I will make sure to honor my neighbors by keeping an eye on their property and offering assistance if ever needed.

Will our world of the future look similar to this?

Not at all. Cities will be much smaller. Normally only several thousand people and offering specific trades. Most will live on communal properties with family and grow and care for their land. Never using too much land. Government will be much smaller. Cities, Provinces, and Nations will not fear foreign attack because all nations will be following the same PRINCIPLES.

What are PRINCIPLES?

Principles are like mandated requirements for how we treat all lives. It would lay guidelines for education, law, and mental health.

How would laws be enforced. Would we still have police?

A police officer or a peace officer as it was called in the past had a duty to protect a neighborhood and normally got to know the neighbors in their community. We need community law enforcement which will have an ultimate goal to remove deadly force. We will have KOP in the future. Keepers of Peace.

They will be extremely well trained and honored in the community. They will be just as likely to solve a puzzle as teach you self-defense. Each KOP will be expertly trained in non-lethal self-defense and mental health counseling and other skills. KOP's will be provided adequate mental health time off on-site counseling for any traumatic events that may occur. KOP's will be able to counsel children on the streets as well as lead neighbors in learning self-defense. KOP's should represent the community they live in. Most of their duty should be walking.

Will crime still exist?

If we have wants then, we have desire. If we have desire, we have the potential to make errors. Humans will never be perfect. It will be up to humans to make sure the accused gets the fairest of trials. We will need a court of judges. I would say a full panel of 13 judges for each case. Judges will be trained in law but also understand the communities they represent. We will no longer incarcerate others into a dungeon. We will give them a more open spiritual environment. That will be filled with less guards that can create fear and intimidation. And more people who want to give honor by counseling and educating these fellow people.

People in these facilities will be treated with honor and offered incredible counseling to get to the base route of their issues. When another panel of judges sees if this human is ready to get career training, they are able to leave the facility partially to start training. Until the court declares this person can live more than adequately in the public.

And what about the victim of a crime? Do we care for them?

We honor them and offer them counseling of mental and physical. Helping another human or animal remove trauma from a crime can take a long time. We will help spiritually guide them towards healing. People may enter special care facilities to be give more extensive counseling and treatment.

What about schools?

The people will need to come up with another name than school. Education needs to become more active and less reactive. Children should be spending half their day doing physical activities. Dancing, running, climbing, group arts and games. These facilities should be open to the public every day for people to visit. Neighbors can volunteer to make sure libraries or other resources are open for students and other members of the neighborhood. Schools should be made for continual learning. Starting from as young as 3 until they reach college it can be an inclusive campus. This would create a community environment where older students would be required with the younger students. The benefits would be dramatic for all parties involved. More neighbor elders would be asked to volunteer if possible.

Once students reach college age they can continue in a vocational field or proceed with college. Both paths can lead to a lifetime of learning depending on the student. If the student decides to proceed into a career-based path after leaving their education they can pursue many potential jobs at that time. If a student decides to proceed in their learning, they will be required to take exams to prove their knowledge. As they continue to progress, they will teach those below them. Creating continual education as ideas are pushed forth and others can discuss.

What type of jobs will people do?

The same types of jobs that exist now. Except less service-based jobs and more learning-based jobs. This will create a much more local based economy for everyone to buy local food, textiles, and other things.

Jacob I can't tell you everything but I can tell you if we try and follow the PRINCIPLES OF LIFE, they I think everything will come together. Humans will start living for themselves and the others around them.

What happens if things don't change?

I rightfully cannot predict that. I do know this world is no longer for many of us. Billions lose their lives to the destruction from desire. This can no longer happen. We need to make the dream a reality. We all know how to do it. We just need to wake up from the reality of the machine. It's not our reality. As humans we need to live our best life's. If we follow these PRINCIPLES, we will all be much happier people.

I need to leave. I love you. I will see you soon.

I love you Jacob. Thank you for giving me all your time and showing such incredible effort.

And at that moment Jacob left...

Chapter IV. The time has come...

It seemed as though we were ready to start a new world. Still I had questions. Like how many humans would inhabit this new Earth. I would love to see a society progress with these PRINCIPLES and see where it goes from. Could humans avoid corruption? How do you take wants from human's vocabulary? I still had much to figure out.

My journeys seemed to work on having a beautiful world. One which all people can pursue their passions. A world where play is brought back for all humans. Some of our best learning experiences come when we are playing.

Now the first challenge of starting a new community and teaching our first residents the PRINCIPLES.

I have contemplated how many years I want to spend on this new Earth... Hundreds? I may have to be longer. Maybe thousands... Just not sure. Could humans get this right? I truly hope so. Love may be the answer but it's not the only answer.

We need to figure out how the planet can be covered to keep the Humans and other life's interest first. It will take the work of many to want to continue learning. Learning about oneself and the world around them. This type of awareness may bring powers that are beyond our imagination....

DAY V. THE BEGINNING

Chapter I. To be continued.....