

Minecraft Trident: Enchantments, Recipe And How To Farm

The Minecraft trident has been available in Minecraft Java Edition since the Aquatic update (Java Edition 1.13) as an uncommon drop from enemies who have drowned. The trident is without doubt one of the top Minecraft weapons because it can be employed in melee and ranged combat, but even its non-enchanted form can be used to slay more than a diamond sword though its attack speed is a little less. If you concentrate on your aim, you can throw a trident as far as 80 blocks away.

A Minecraft trident is not made, so it is impossible to locate a recipe. Instead, you'll need grab one of these from the dead, cold, soggy hands of a Drowned mob one of the new zombies introduced in the Aquatic update.

The trident is a weapon that can be used by mobs and is as powerful as a sword which makes it a great weapon for your Minecraft adventure. However, you have to be strong enough to take out a Drowned. Below we'll walk you through how to acquire your own Minecraft trident as well as what Minecraft enchantments you can upgrade it with.

How can I obtain the Minecraft Trident

Check the underwater for Drowned Zombie mobs. Sometimes, these gangs appear on the surface with a trident in their hands, so you'll need to take on them to be able to get dropping a trident, but that chance is very small at 8.5%.

If you are playing in Pocket Edition or Bedrock, there's a slight chance that the Drowned will drop an axe. Strongcraft.Org killing any Drowned you find when trying to collect one. You can also use Minecraft seeds to build underwater worlds in order to spawn Drowned zombie mobs.
