

Britons – military tree

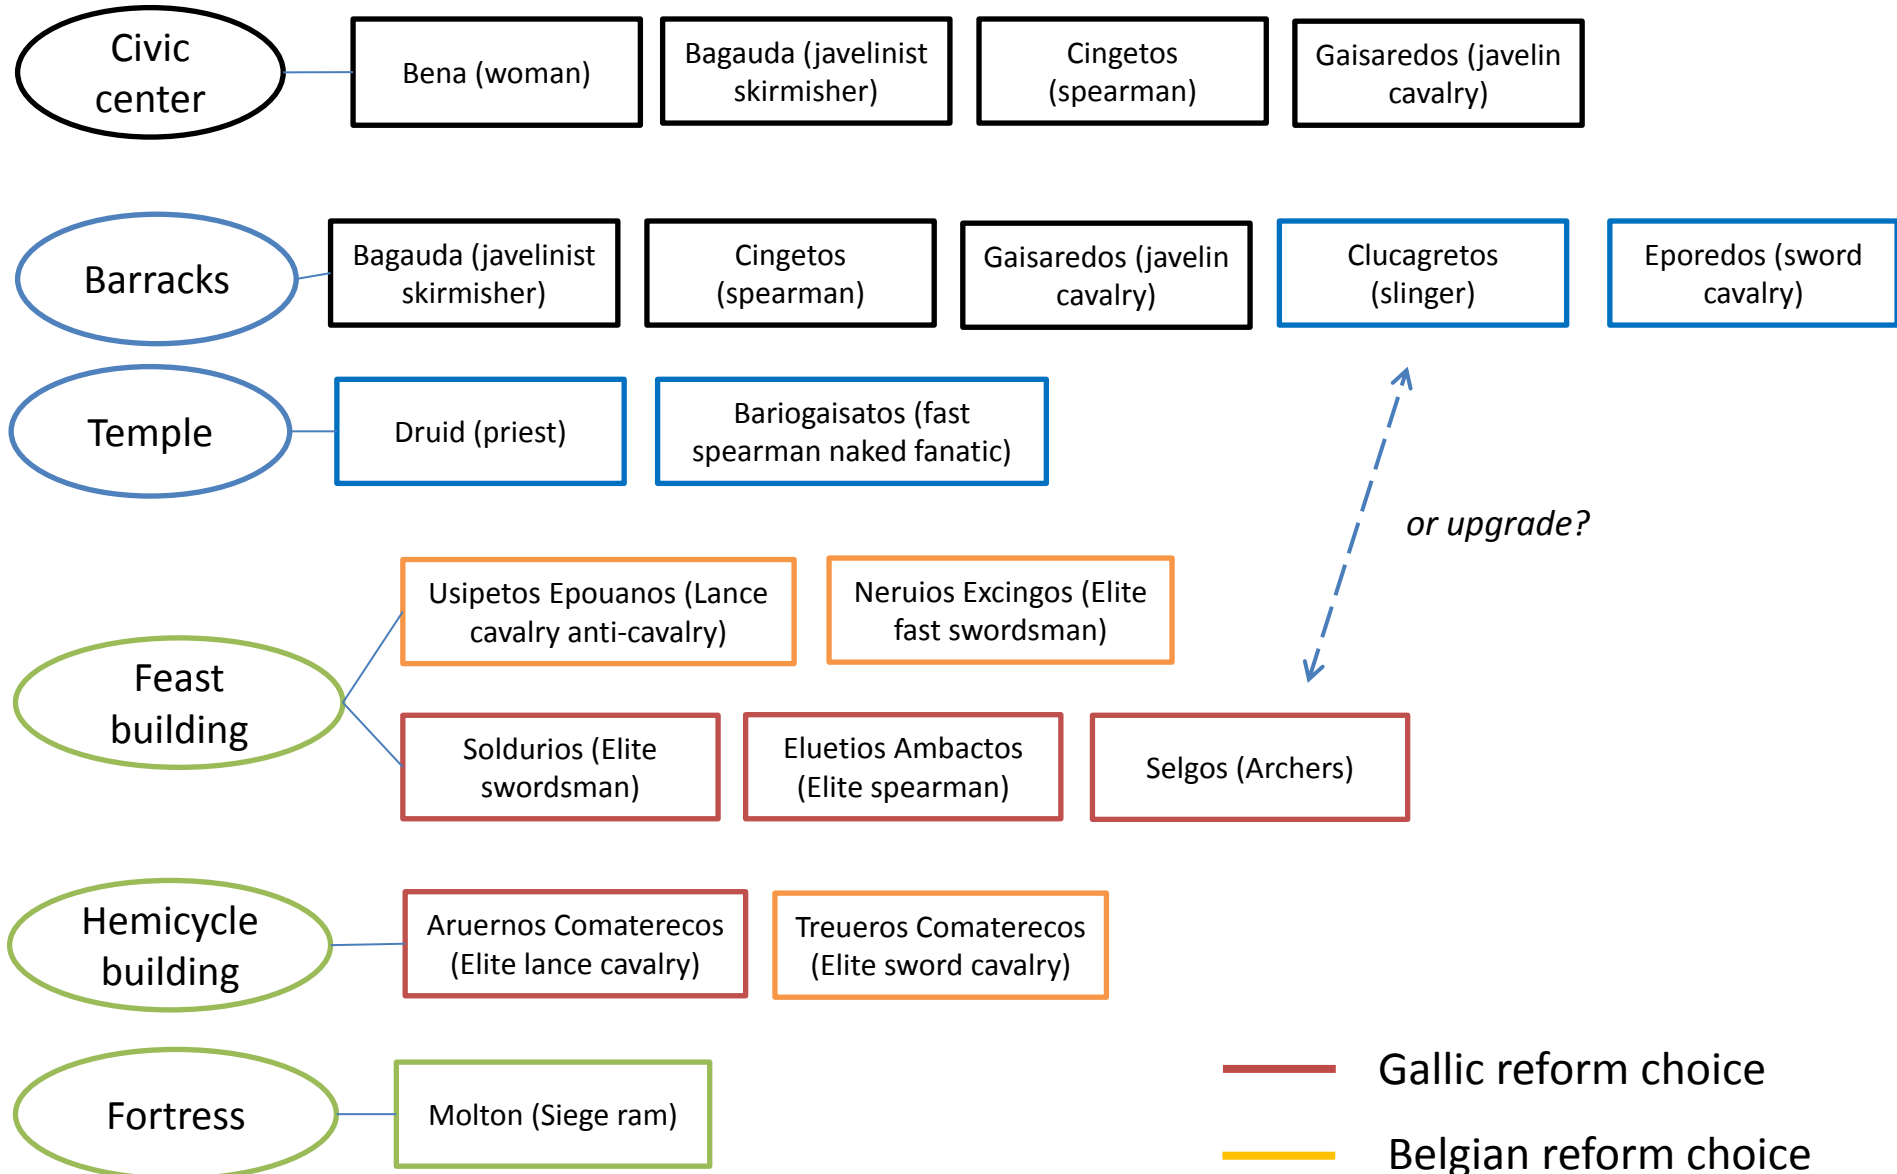

— Phase I - village

— Phase II - town

— Phase III - city

Gauls – military tree

— Gallic reform choice
 — Belgian reform choice

Britons: Adretos, Batoros, Marcacos and Cladibiacos concept

Britons: Cladibiacos concept

Britons: Tattoos concept

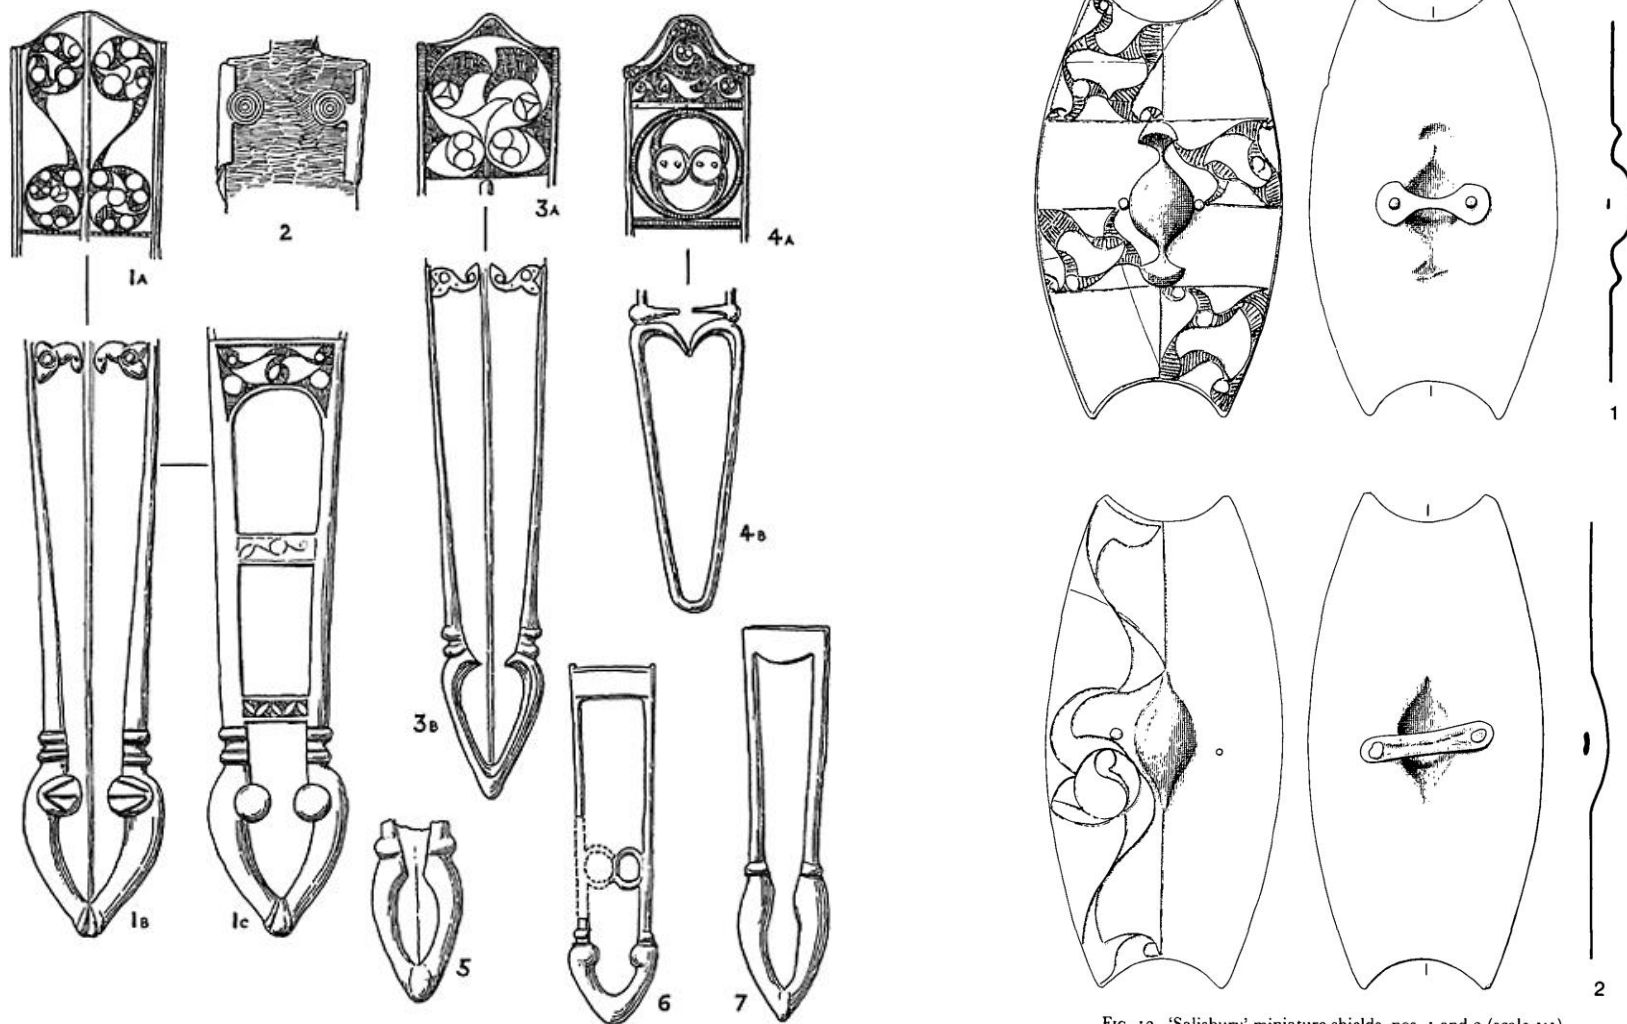

FIG. 12. 'Salisbury' miniature shields, nos. 1 and 2 (scale 1:1)

Britons: Tattoos concept

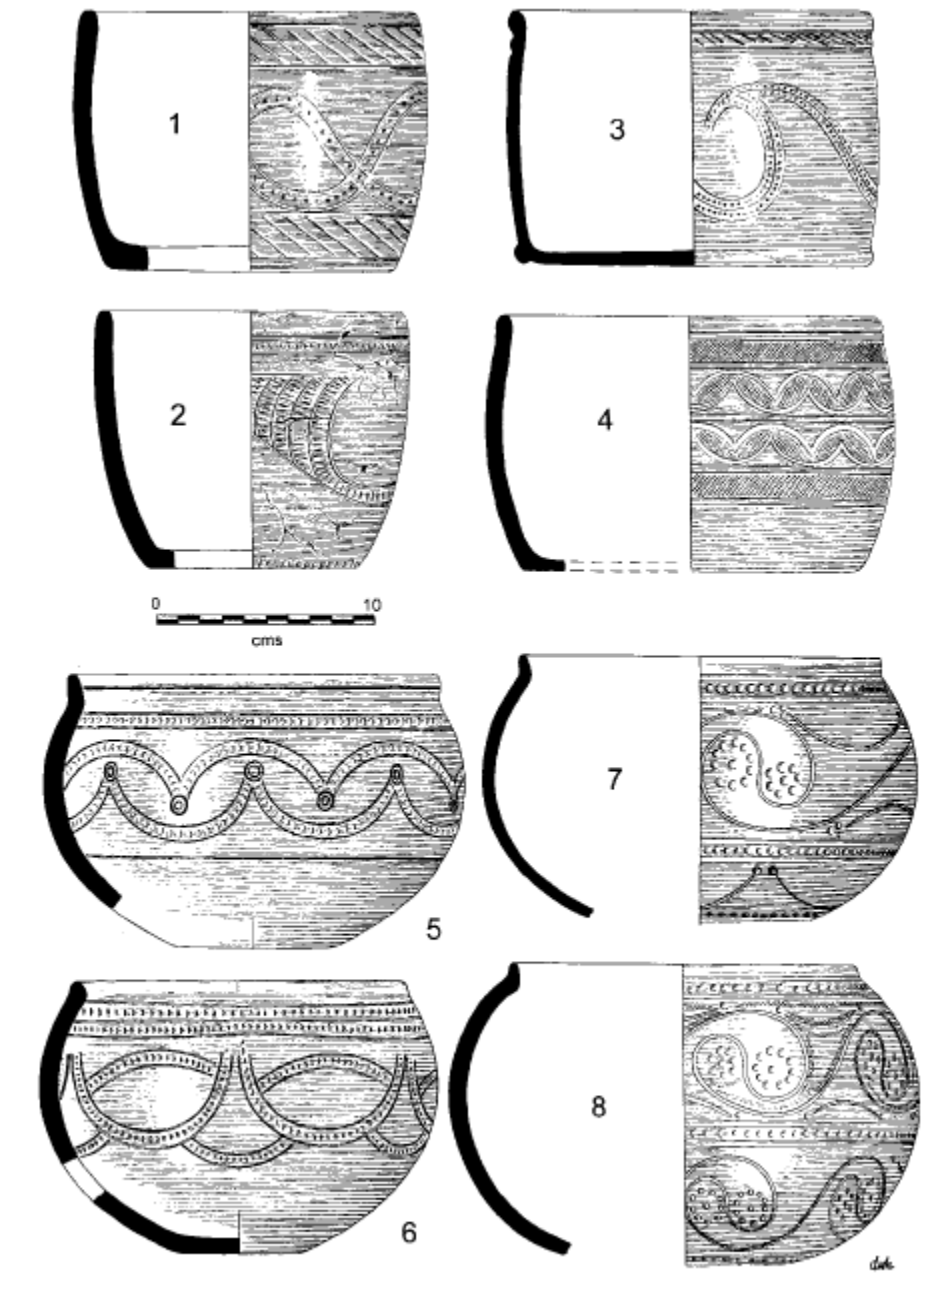

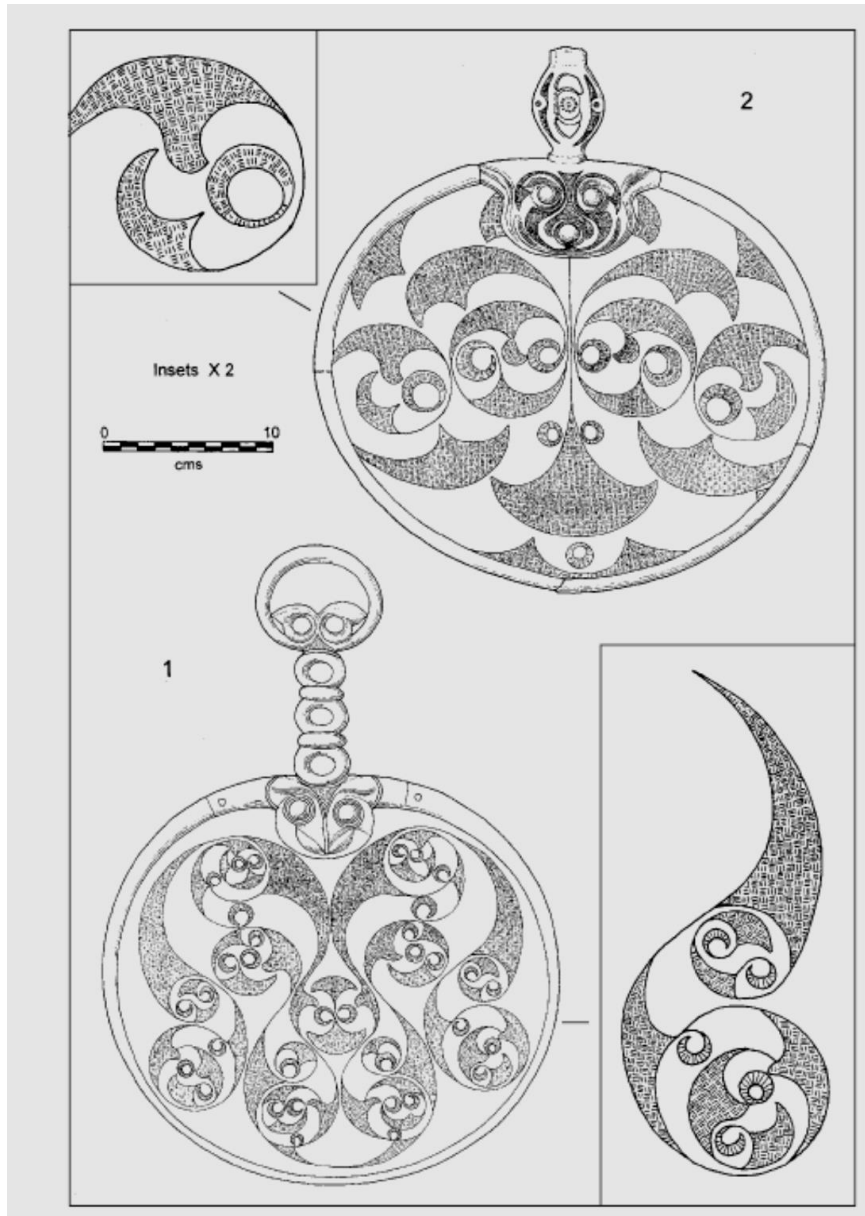

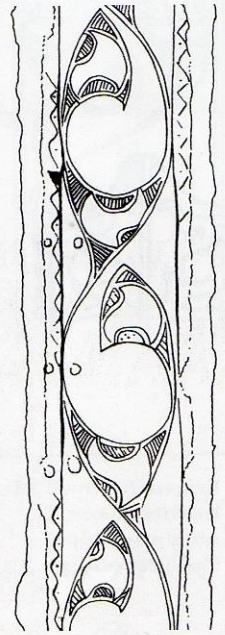

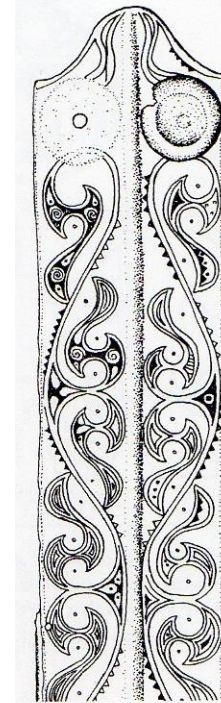

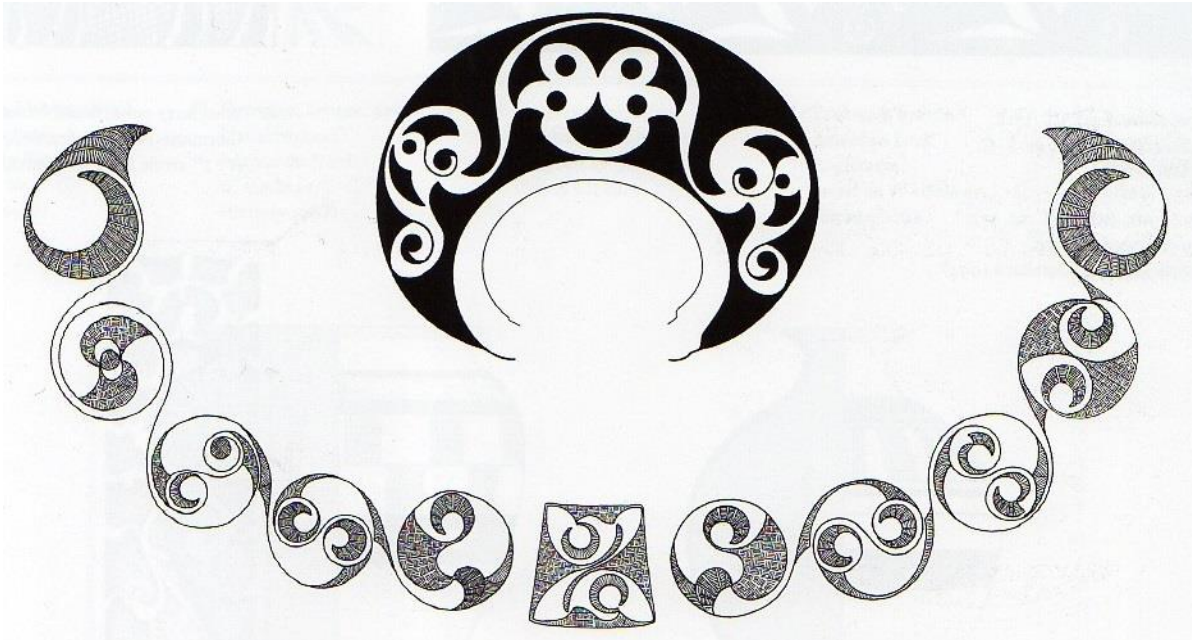

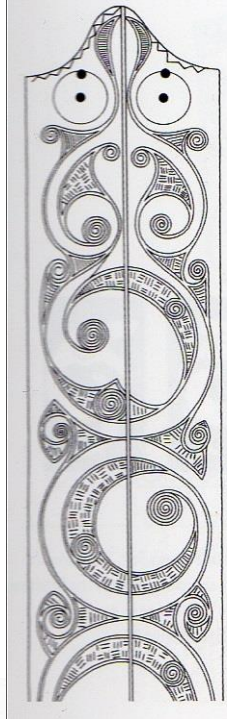

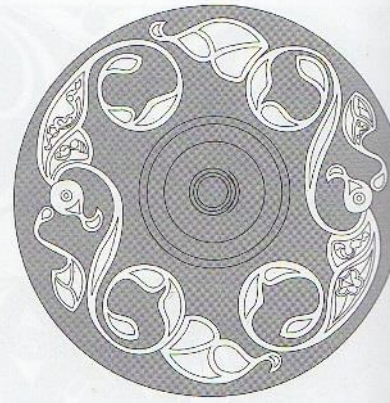

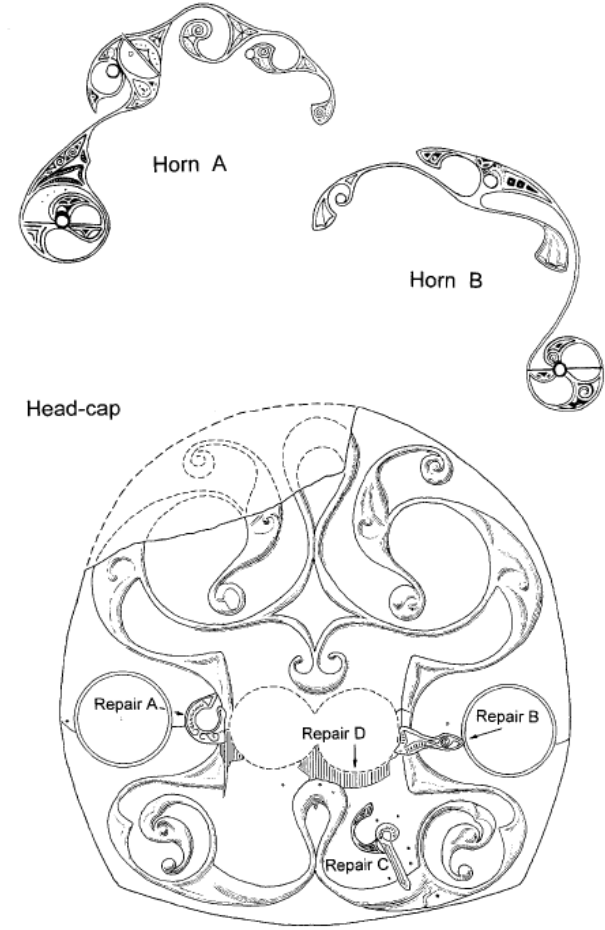

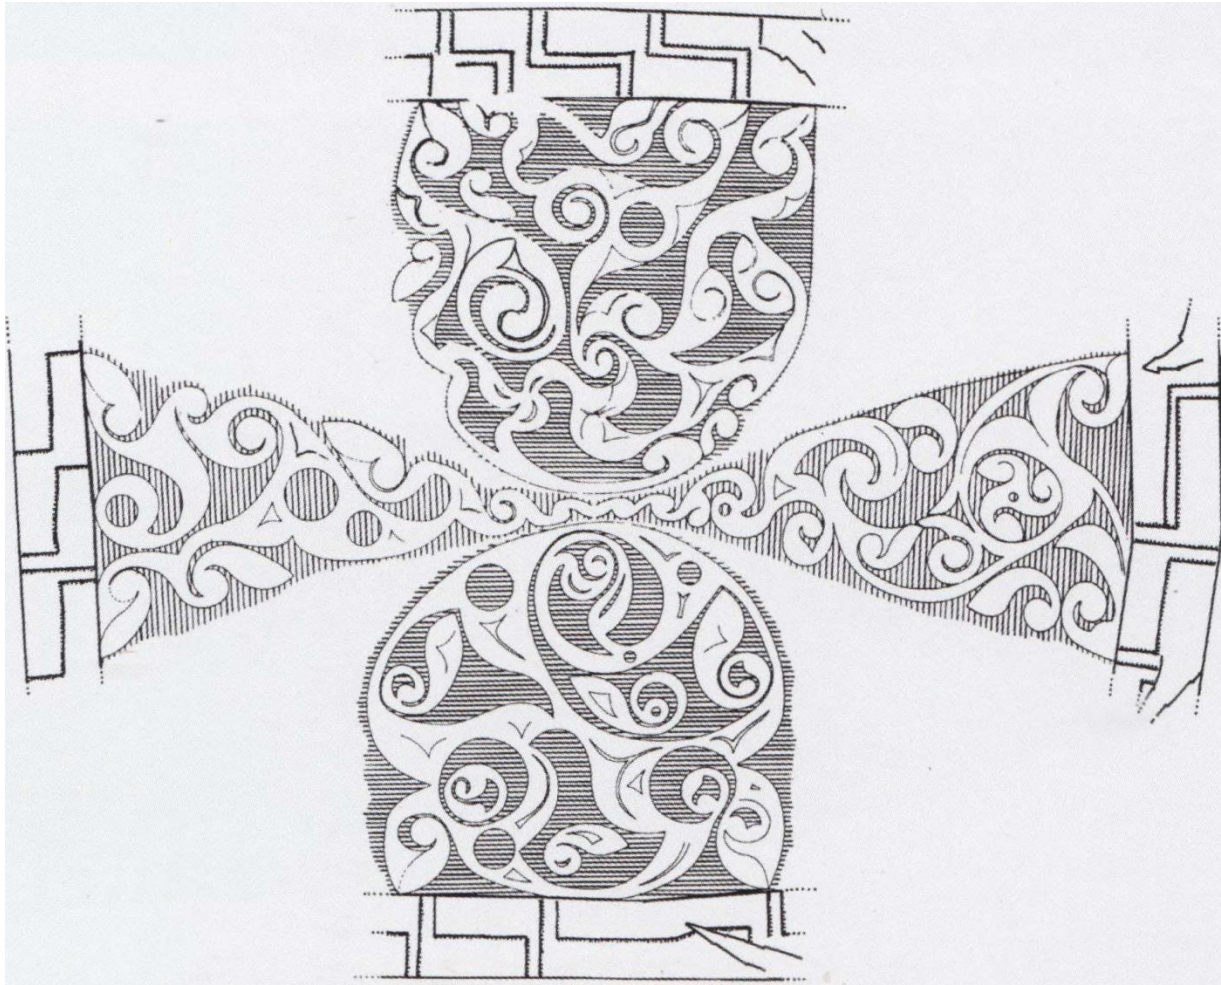

Figure 7.5 Iron Age decorated pottery from Southern Britain. 1, 2, Blewburton Hill, Oxon (Berks); 3, Caburn, Sussex; 4, Meare, Somerset; 5, 6, Frilford, Oxon (Berks); 7, 8, Hunsbury, Northants. Drawings by D. W. Harding.

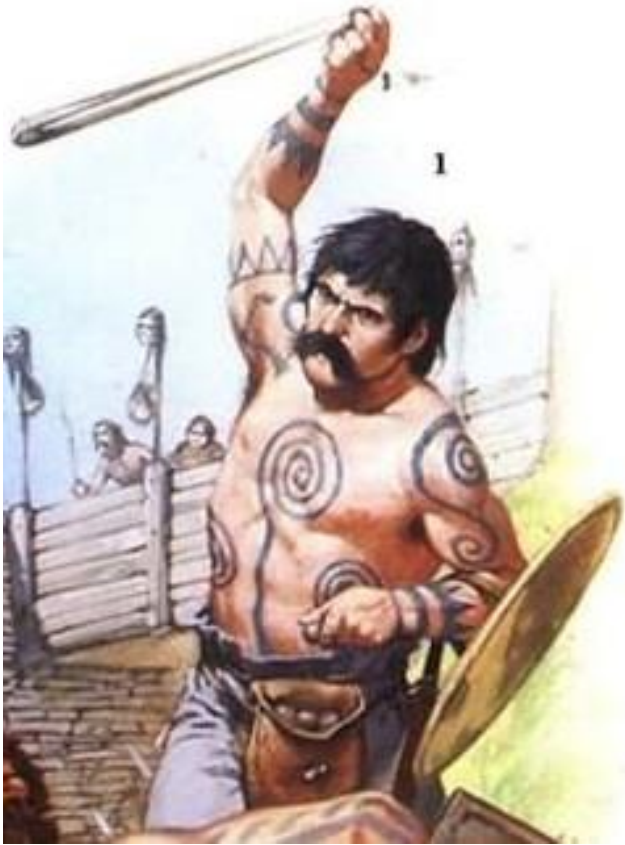

Britons: Tattoos concept

Britons: Tattoos concept

Britons: Clucagretos concept

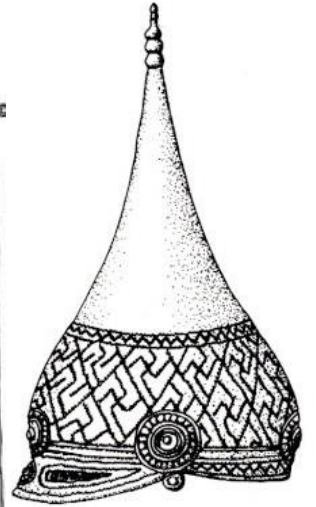

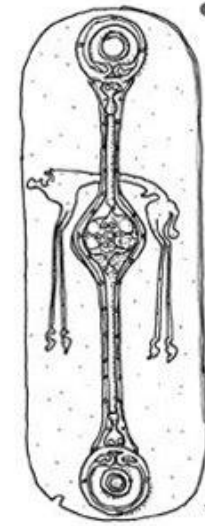

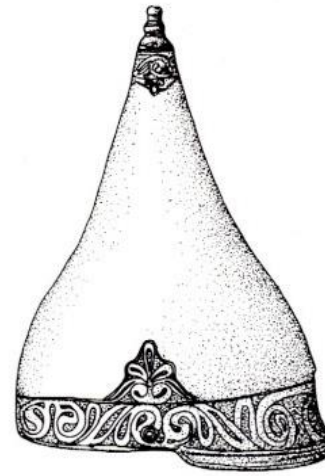

Britons: Essedon concept

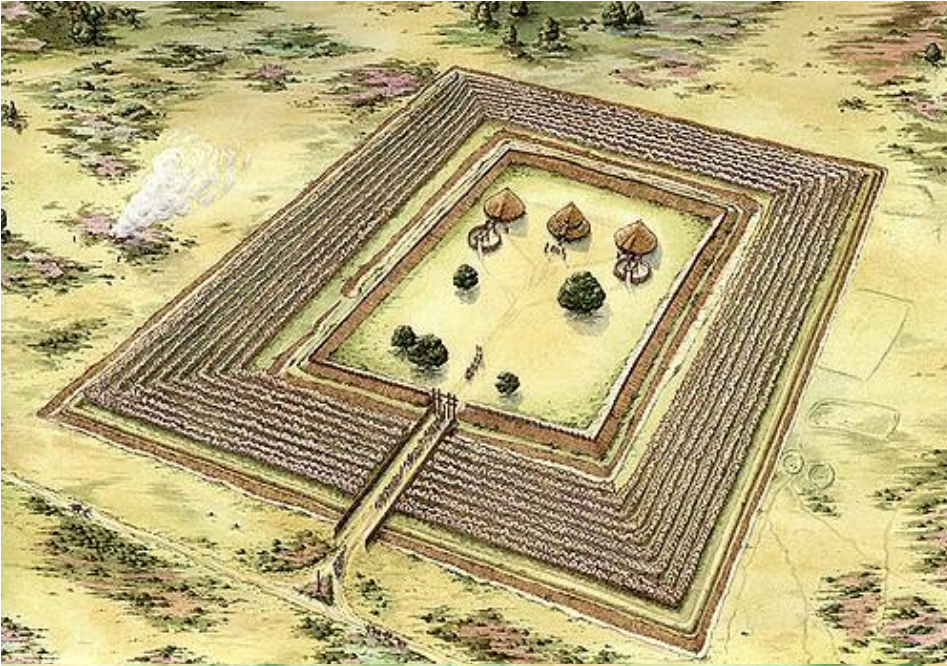

Britons: Essedon concept

Britons: Arios concept

Briton sanctuaries of Gallows Hill, Thetford, Fison Way

Adgarios

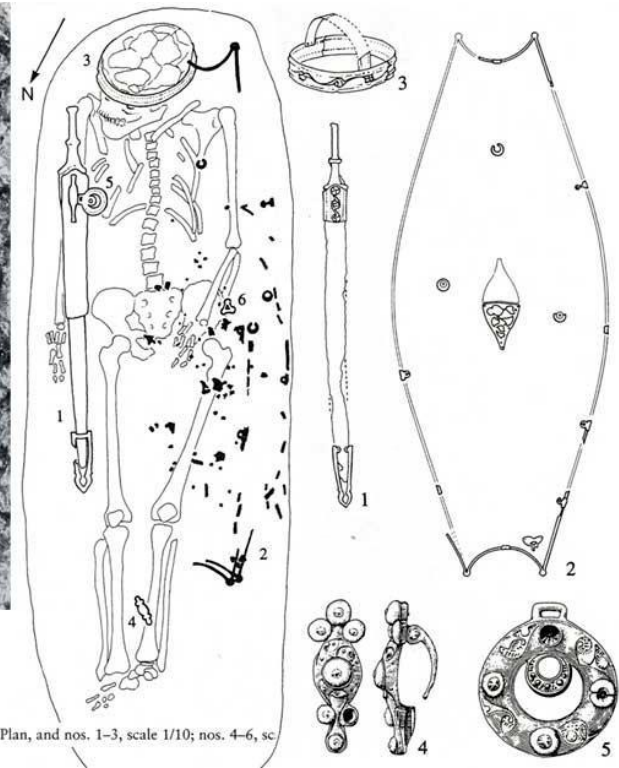

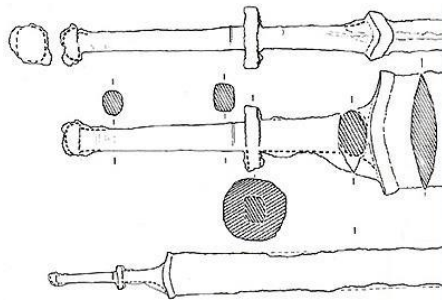

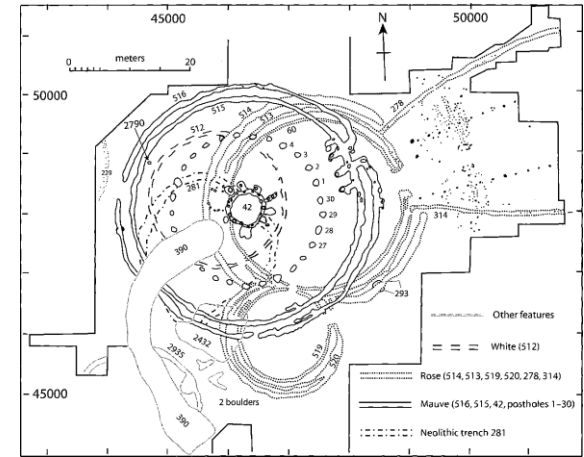

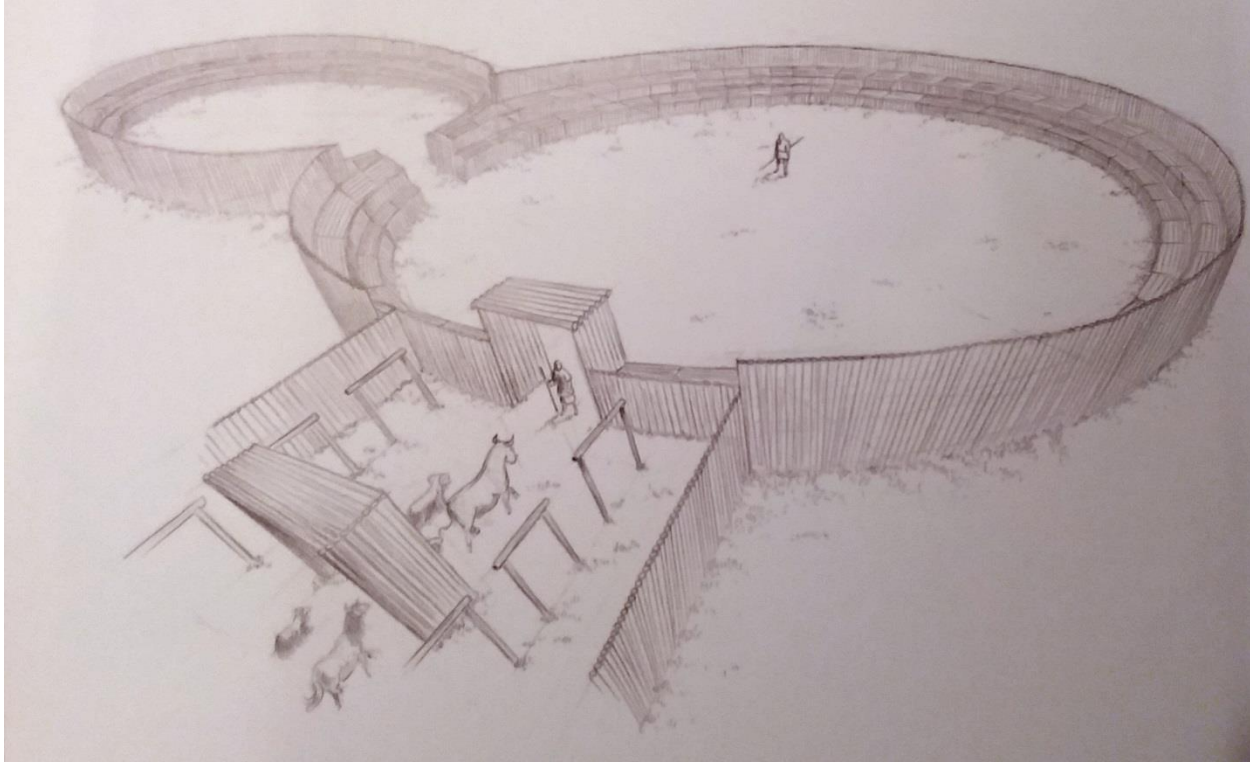

Figure 3. Grave 112 in plan, and the grave-goods. (Plan, and nos. 1-3, scale 1/10; nos. 4-6, sc

Religious warrior giving bonus to nearby troops? Or healing?

Irish sanctuary of Dun ailinne

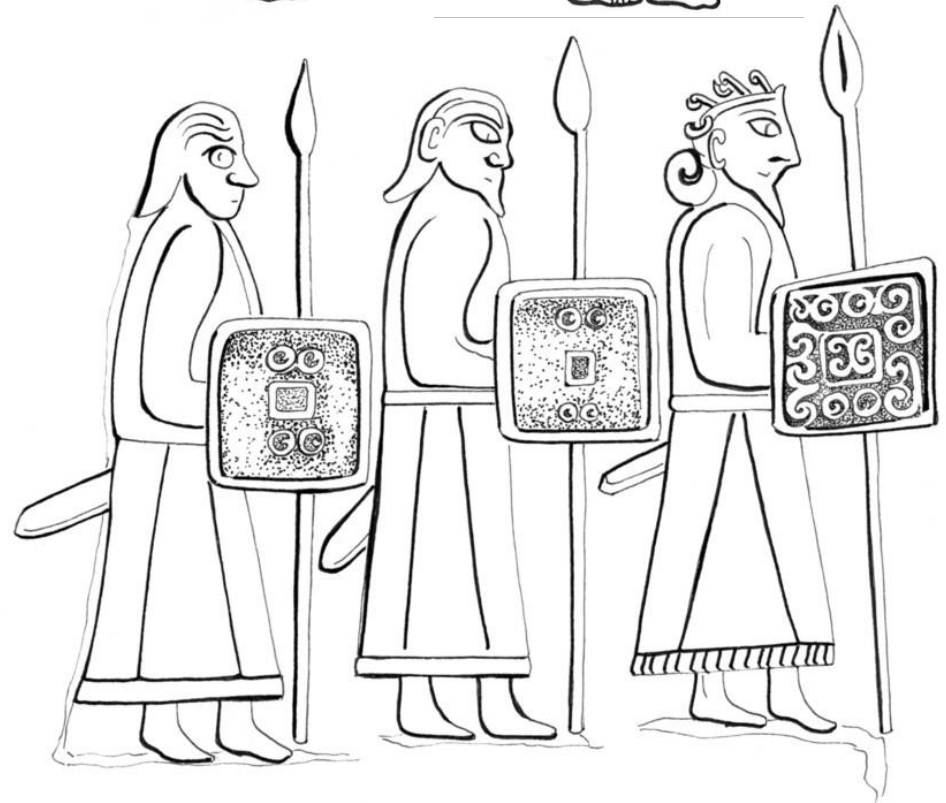

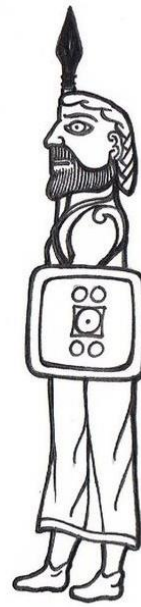

I propose it to be a place of religious fighting/wrestling/tournament where irish iron age champions are trained

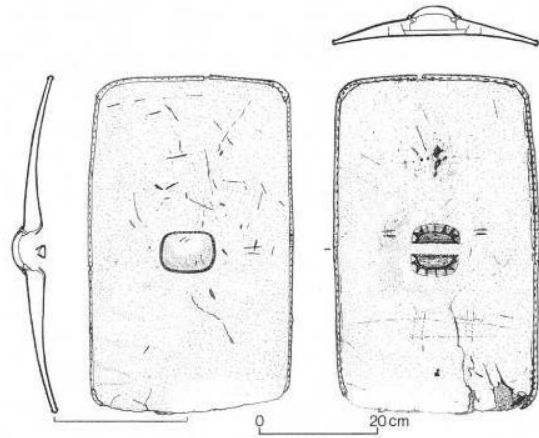

Britons: Equoreda concept

Britons: Segurina and Caur concept

Britons: Seguorina and Caur concept

89 Leather-covered wooden shield discovered at Clonoura in Co. Tipperary. Battle scars are clearly visible on the front.

Gauls – General concept

Early and middle La Tène equipment for:

Cingetos	Bariogaisatos
Gaisaredos	Bagauda
Eporedos

Late La Tène (Gallic wars) equipment for:

Usipetos Epouanos	Eluetios Ambactos
Neruios Excingos	Aruernos Comaterecos
Soldurios	Treueros Comaterecos

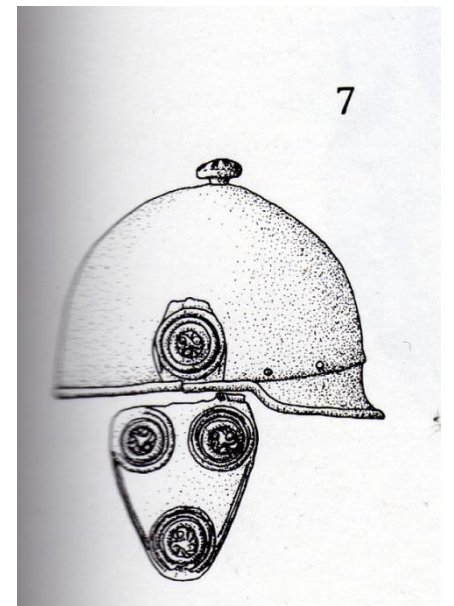

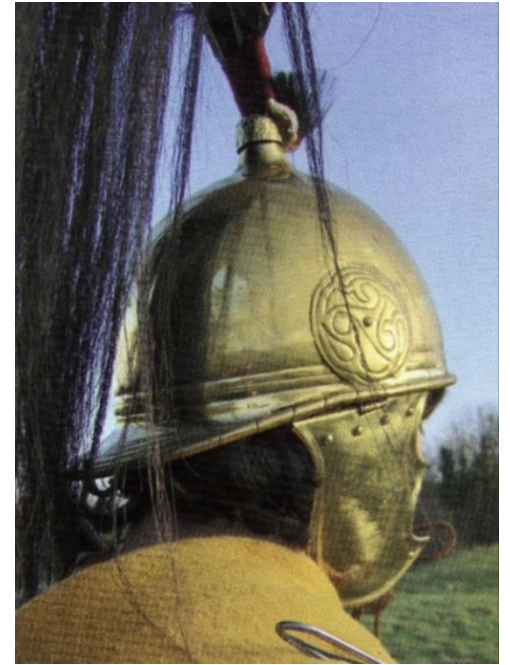

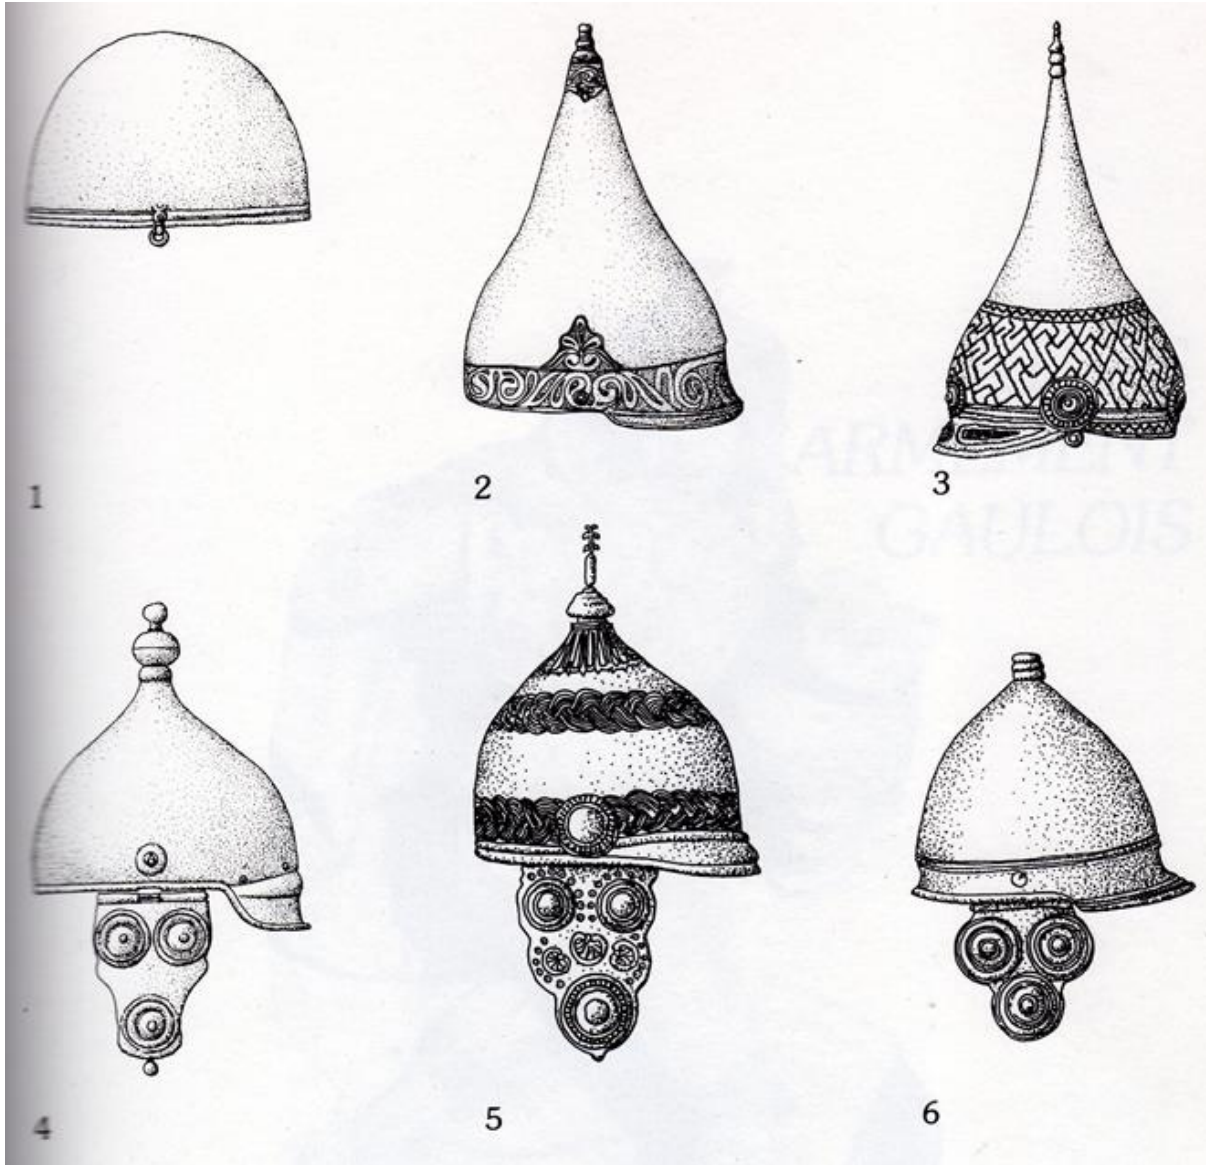

Gallic wars reform gives the possibility to the player to choose between:

The Gallic coalition (Southern and Central Gaul).

The Belgian coalition (North-Eastern Gaul).

Southern and Central Gaul is more urbanized with numerous oppida and a more intensive trading in comparison with the Belgian region (North-Eastern) where the oppida are less common and the fortified farms and fortresses more frequent. It seems the Belgians keep their old tradition to rely on mobility and aggressive tactics in comparison of the Southern Gauls where the account of archers and organised battlefield tactics are more frequent (phalanx for exemple).

Gauls: Early and middle La Tène equipment

Gauls: Early and middle La Tène equipment

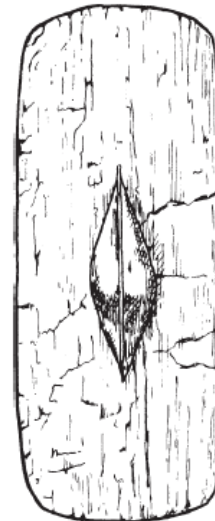

Gauls: Early and middle La Tène equipment

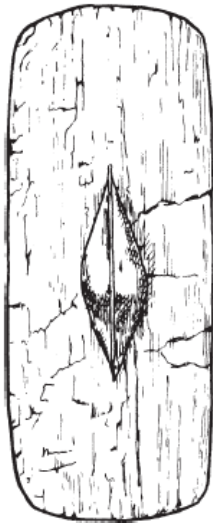

Gauls: Early and middle La Tène equipment

Gauls: Bagauda

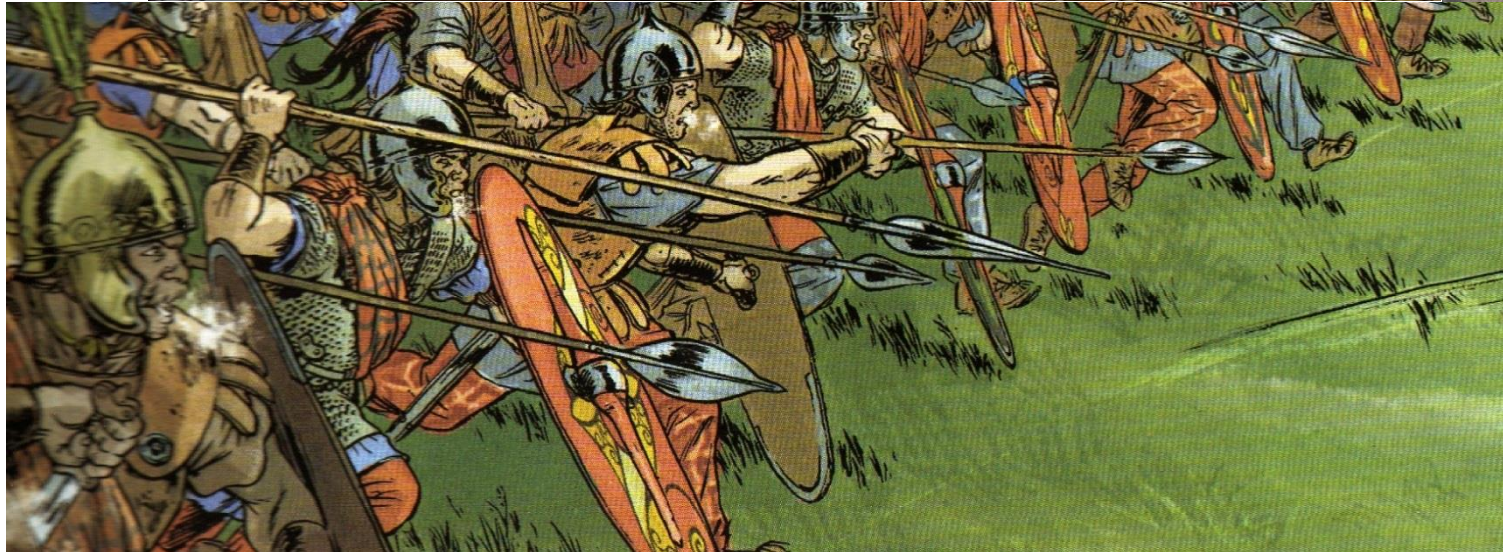

Gauls: Clucagretos

Gauls: Cingetos concept

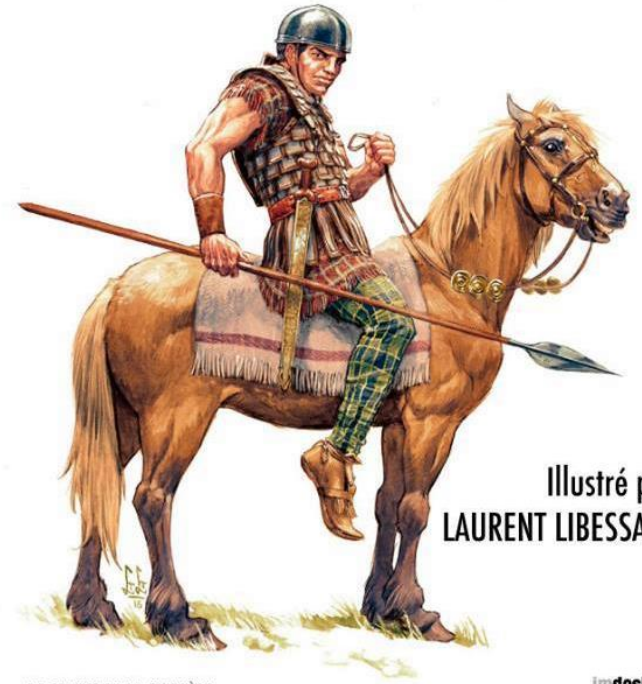

Gauls: Cingetos concept

Gauls: Eporedos concept

Gauls: Eporedos concept

Illustré par
LAURENT LIBESSART

LE GLAIVE ET LA CUILÈRE

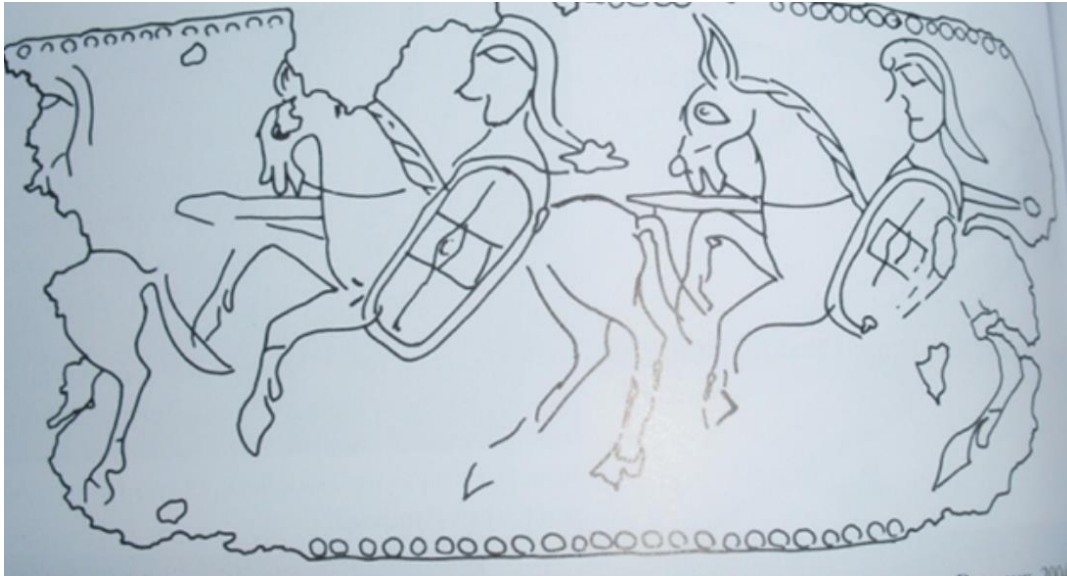

desbois
ARTISTE

Without arm protection

Gauls: Gaisaredos concept

Gauls: Bariogaisatos concept

Gauls: Late La Tène equipment

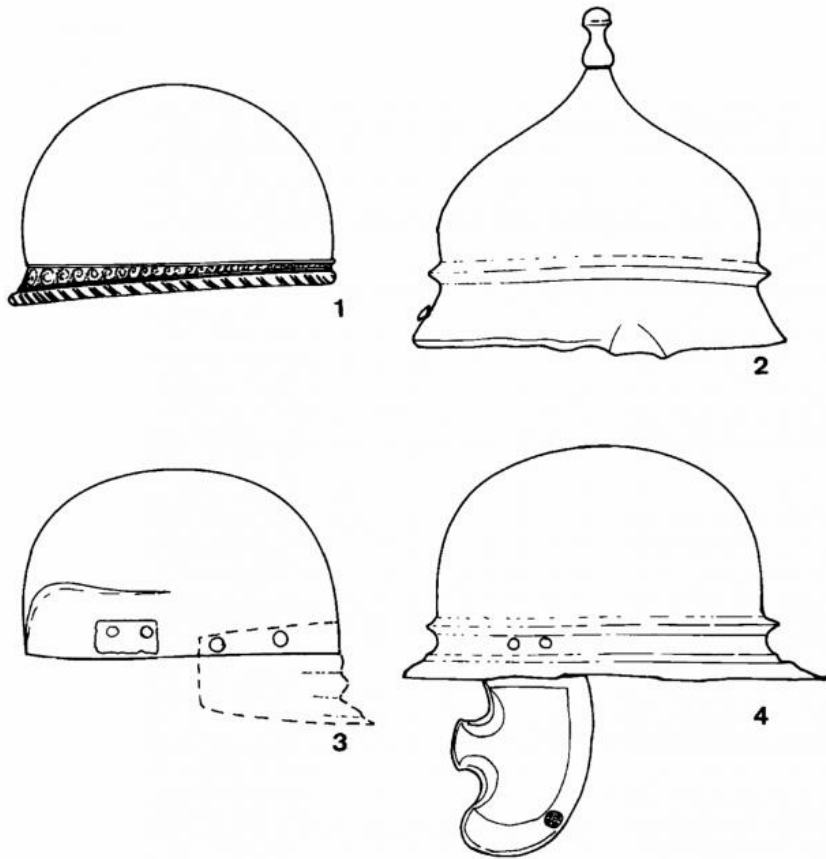

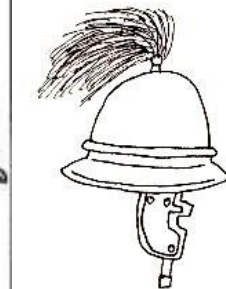

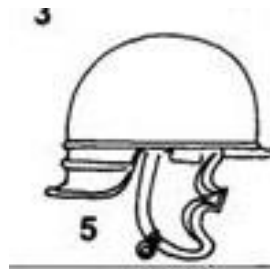

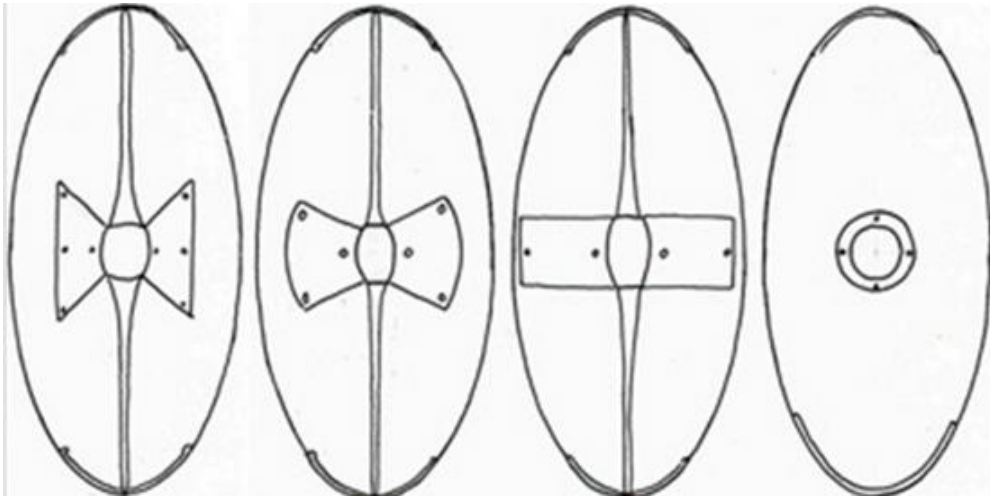

Fig. 10 : le casque. Principaux types connus en Gaule Belgique à La Tène finale. 1 — type de Mannheim; 2 — casque à calotte conique, Forêt de Rouvray; 3 — "Typ Port", Ribemont-sur-Ancre (d'après Schaaff); 4 — "westkeltischen Typ", Notre-Dame-du-Vaudreuil (d'après Schaaff 1988).

Gauls: Late La Tène equipment

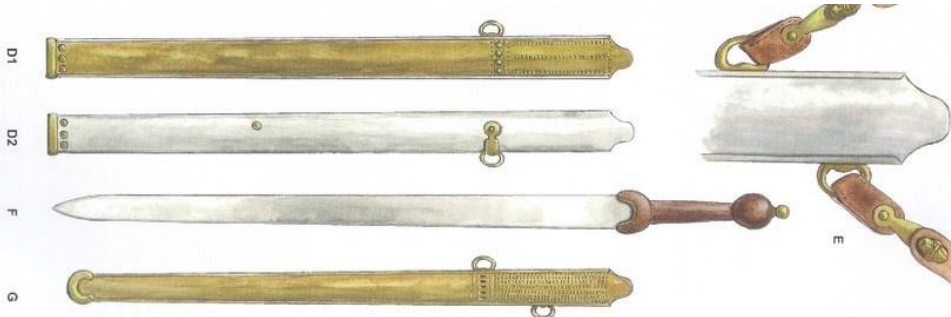

Gauls: Late La Tène equipment

Gauls: Usipetos Epouanos concept

- A. Helmet reconstructed from the find at Krefeld
- B. Sword and scabbard from Kessel/Lith
- C. Kessel type 'A' belt hook and associated bronze sheet covering
- D. Kessel straight-sided oval shield
- E. Kessel spearhead

Gauls: Neruios Excingos concept

Gauls: Eluetios Ambactos concept

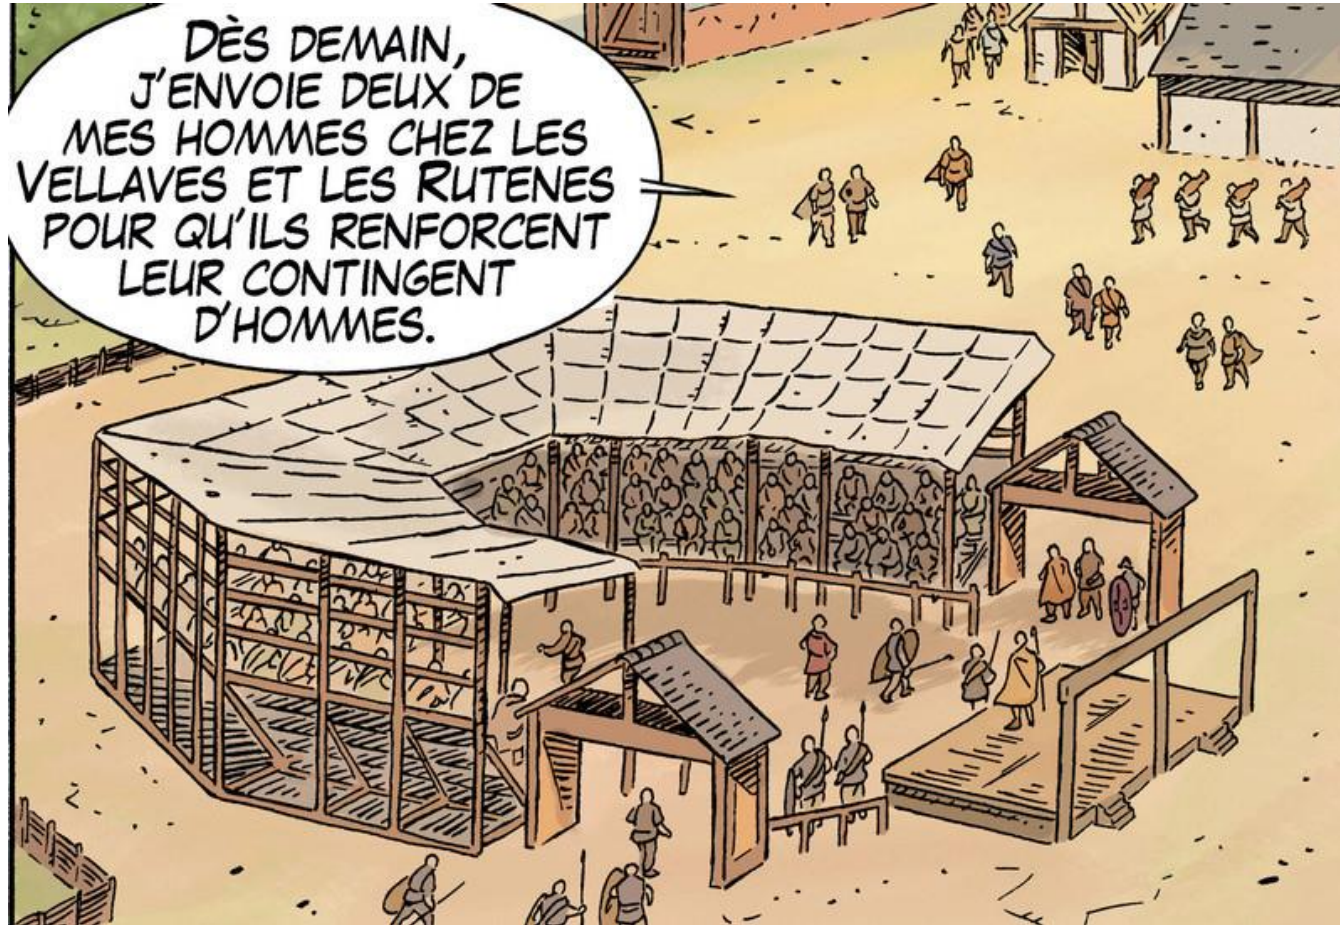

Gauls: Soldurios concept

Gauls: Soldurios concept

Gauls: Hemicycle building, political assembly

Gauls: Aruernos Comaterecos concept

© Historic'One 2016

Gauls: Treueros Comaterecos concept

Галльский всадник.
I в. до н. э.

Gauls: Treueros Comaterecos concept

