Charlestown Town Council Meeting To Deal With Citywide Public Safety

By December 5 another 500 firefighters will be laid off and these cuts place Boston in jeopardy and mean no more than 225 men will be on duty at any given time. What kind of reaction do the people in Boston's neighborhoods have? Will people just keep on accepting this unacceptable behavior from our city officials charged with providing adequate public safety? Can people really be protected with only 900 firefighters?

On Tuesday, November 17 at 7:30 p.m., the Charlestown Town Meeting will tackle these and other questions at a special single issue town meeting at the Legion Hall on 27 Chestnut Street.

Groups from across the city — from East Boston, South Boston, Allston-Brighton will be coming together in unity to see what the citywide citizen response should be. Invited to speak at this meeting are Rep. Sal DiMasi (D-North End), co-chair of the Boston Delegation, Rep. Kevin Fitzgerald (D-Mission Hill), City Councillor Ray Flynn and the People's Fire House No. 2 Committee.

This meeting will be open to the public from across the city because the issue of public safety — police and fire protection — is a citywide issue affecting every

In Honor Of Veterans

VETERANS DAY MASS: Officers and members of Bunker Hill Post 26, American Legion and Unit 26, American Legion Auxiliary along with clergy from St. Francis de Sales are shown on the steps of St. Francis de Sales Church following the Annual Veterans' Day Mass last Sunday, honoring the deceased veteran of all wars. The sermon was delivered by Reverend Leonard T. Duffy, OFM, Post Chaplain. He was assisted in the service by Rev. Daniel Mahoney, Pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church. The delegation was led by Post Commander Patricia Farris and Unit President Mary Luce. Chairman of the event was P.C. Glenn W. Luce, Jr.

Rep. Voke And Colleagues Stand Fast Against White's Blackmail Tactics

Representative Richard Voke (D-Charlestown) today announced he will support the newest version of the 75 million dollar Boston financial plan because the City Council finally included language guaranteeing that laid off police and firefighters will be rehired and maintained in their jobs.

"Now for the first time the City Council agrees with the Boston delegation that it is too risky to rely on promises and secret agreements to bring back our public safety employees. We wanted it written down in black and white to protect the people of Boston from future abuse of power by Mayor Kevin White," declared Rep. Voke.

"I'm proud of my colleagues in the Boston delegation who have stood their ground and refused to be blackmailed by the ruthless scare tactics being employed by the Mayor of Boston," stated Rep. Voke.

"The fiscal facts of life in Boston are that the Tregor indebtedness must be bonded but I have withheld my support until now because of my belief that it would be wrong to issue a 75 million dollar blank check to a man with the track record of Mayor Kevin White," said Voke.

In conclusion, Rep. Voke stated, "Although this latest bill does not contain all the safeguards I would like, it does guarantee a better level of basic public safety services. For these reasons, I pledge to support the bill and to work for its passage in the House of Representatives."

Nominated To Selective Service Board

Governor Edward J. King has nominated 225 Massachusetts residents to serve on area Selective Service Boards. The nominations have been forwarded to President Ronald Reagan for his approval. That action is expected to come in the near future.

There are 45 boards across the state. All told, there were 1050 applicants for the 225 slots. That ratio of applicants to nominees, more than 4-1, is significantly higher than the average nationwide, which is 2 1/2-1.

Local nominees include Jean M. Babcock of 24 Austin Street and Atty. Timothy P. O'Connell of 399 Bunker Hill Street.

Applications Closed For Job Program

The Charlestown Board of Trade is unable to accept any more student applications for jobs at this time. Students who have already applied for jobs will be called for an interview in the next week.

Thinking About Selling Your Home?

CHARLESTOWN PRICES ARE HOLDING UP WELL

If you have been following real estate news over recent months you've seen headlines such as "Prices plunge as housing market stagnates" (Boston Globe, 10-11-18) While many market area are suffering a very serious slump because of high mortgage rates, Charlestown prices have held up well.

In fact, Betty Gibson Associates brokerage in Charlestown has never been better: Our average 1981 Charlestown sale price is $85,000 (compared to $72,000 in 1980) with 10 sales in the $100,000 to $150,000 range. We've closed on over 2 million dollars in sales, with slightly less than 1 million in pending contracts.

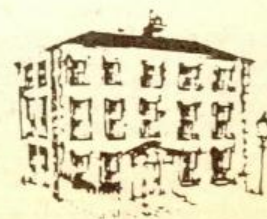

If you are considering selling, don't let high mortgage rates scare you off. We'll be happy to discuss market conditions in detail with you: prices, potential buyers, and interest rates. We will provide an estimate of the selling price of your home and explain the many ways to finance a home sale. Call JOEL CLAYDON at:

NEW HOUSING FOR THE ELDERLY AND HANDICAPPED

Peabody Square Development
1879 Dorchester Avenue
Dorchester, Mass.

On WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1981, the Boston Housing Authority will begin accepting applications for the Peabody Square housing complex for the elderly and handicapped that is presently under construction and which is located on Dorchester Avenue at the intersection of Talbot and Dorchester Avenues. This location, commonly known as Peabody Square, is situated directly across from the Ashmont MBTA station.

The development consists of 103 units, including 98 one-bedroom apartments and 5 two-bedroom apartments, some of which are designed for the physically handicapped. This complex offers recreation areas, a community room, intercom system, master TV antenna system, smoke detectors, laundry facilities and all-electric kitchens.

Peabody Square housing for the elderly is ideally located because of its close proximity to all vital services such as transportation, churches, shopping and medical facilities.

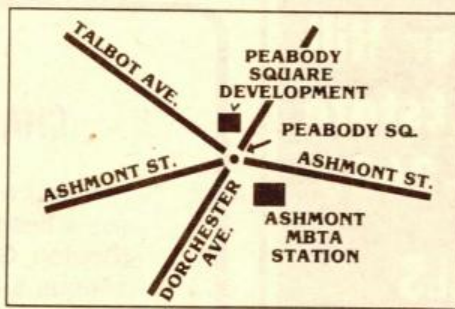

Interested persons, INCLUDING CURRENT BOSTON HOUSING AUTHORITY RESIDENTS, should submit applications at the Boston Housing Authority's Department of Occupancy, 52 Chauncy Street (third floor), located behind Jordan Marsh, in downtown Boston. Persons with physical handicaps may also apply at BHA's Handicapped Services office, which is located in the Washington Manor elderly complex, 1701 Washington Street (5th floor), Boston. Applications will be taken between the hours of 9:00 AM and 4:00 PM, at both locations.

All interested persons, including present BHA residents, MUST submit applications in order to be considered for housing at Peabody Square. Assignments will be made in accordance with the provisions of the BHA's Tenant Selection, Assignment and Transfer Plan.

Occupancy is expected in April of 1982.

The Boston Housing Authority is an equal housing opportunity agency and selects its tenants without regard to race, creed, color, religion, national origin, marital status, sex or handicap.

For further information, contact the Department of Occupancy, Telephone 451-1250.

Public Urged To Participate In Drawing Districts

Boston City Councillor Rosemarie E. Sansone one of the proponents of district representation has called upon all interested citizens, community groups, and local colleges to offer their suggestions and ideas for how the districts should be drawn under the new structure of city government accepted by voters last Tuesday.

City Councillor Sansone has also filed an order with the City Clerk to establish a City Council committee to begin holding public hearings across the city so that the districts can be drawn within the 90 days mandated by law.

"In order for this process to be fair and equitable, all interested citizens and community groups must participate. I will make every effort to encourage and facilitate this participation," said Sansone.

The two binding ballot questions, provided that members of the City Council and School Committee be elected from nine districts with four at-large members and will take effect in 1983. The two referenda which were narrowly defeated in 1977, picked up support across the city, passing in this year's municipal election with 54.5% of the vote.

All interested parties are urged to call 725-3115 or write Councillor Sansone at her City Hall office with ideas and suggestions.

Conference On Crime Prevention - Neighborhood Strategies

Charlestown residents are invited to participate in a unique, one-day conference presenting a wide range of strategies which a neighborhood can use in focusing its crime prevention efforts. These include: Block Watch, Victim/Witness Assistance, Arson Prevention and Mediation.

The emphasis is on practical techniques and solutions. True-to-life situations will be dramatized through live performances, films, slide presentations, and workshops involving audience participation.

Specific information will be presented on: Police Priority Call System, Witness Skills, Street Safety Skills, Home

Security Methods and Children's Safety Skills.

The conference will be targeted to: Apartment dwellers, Home owners, youth, community leaders, young children, elderly and disabled.

Panel discussions and Technical Assistance Workshops will be offered, including: The roles and mutual responsibilities of businesses and citizens in crime prevention efforts, intra-organizational skills, evaluation and documentation of community-based programs, and Volunteers - How to enlist and keep community volunteers.

This conference will be held starting at 8:45 a.m. at Horticultural Hall, 300 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, on Thursday, November 19, 1981. Residents may attend for any part of or the entire day at no cost.

It is hoped that this conference which is sponsored by the Judicial Resource Institute, will spark and help focus community activity in crime prevention at a time when, in light of shrinking resources available, neighborhoods must share in the responsibility of crime prevention.

be on "Employee Supported Day Care."

"Shaping the Future" is the theme of the 1981 New England Kindergarten Conference, which is the largest event of its kind in the nation. Sponsored for the past 20 years by Lesley College Graduate School, each fall it draws over 2,000 early childhood professionals to an array of workshops, seminars and practicums in the field of early childhood education.

To Talk Of Many Things

by Sal Giarratani

CAN'T FIGURE IT OUT

You know, I'm so tired of hearing how all the trouble we're facing comes from the effects of Proposition 2 1/2. What a copout! Police stations shut down, fire houses closed, engine companies deactivated, police and fire layoffs . . . all these things are the result of politics — pure and simple!

If anything, Prop 2 1/2 showed taxpayers, homeowners and renters just how much of a real negative force government is.

I can't believe how, through all this garbage, people voted for District Representation. How people could believe our urban problems needed more politicians at the public trough. Someday, people will learn . . . someday!

BOSTON TENANT GROUP PRAISED

Boston has a new political force . . . in its city renters. The Boston Tenants Organizing Committee did an outstanding job of educating the public on housing issues like rent control and condominium conversion. Two of their endorsed candidates, Ray Flynn and Mike McCormack came in first and sixth respectively. The BTOC is a political force in the city to be reckoned with for years to come!

They woke up a lot of people who never even registered to vote before!

NOW, WHAT?

The elections are over but the issues identified still have to be addressed. Issues that affect working people, poor people and older people. Most of these issues end up in the trash can after a candidate wins or loses but this time people should insist, they are dealt with.

It's a crime to see people displaced out of their apartments and neighborhood because a condo is more economically beneficial to a landlord. It's wrong to literally throw people into the streets because they're in the way of "progress."

And I don't know what any politician can do about it except make rhetoric . . . talk is a commodity no politician is short on!

Another thing that upsets me is the way so many older folk have to live on fast food junk diets. Somehow, in the richest nation on earth, I find this obscene!

The government taxes and taxes and the people pay and pay and pay! It's time to let our servants know, the people are the bosses in this democratic republic!

PLEASE ATTEND NOV. 17

Please attend the Charlestown Town Council's Town Meeting on Tuesday, November 17. We pay for our public safety and we should be getting it, instead of GETTING IT!

BOTTOM LINE

Together, We the people can make the difference if we keep on keeping on!

Films For Children

The Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, continues its Winter Films For Pre-School and School-Aged Children this Tuesday, November 17, 1981. Are You a Drug Quiz Whiz?

Here are 8 questions to test your knowledge about drugs and drug abuse. It is not important that you answer all of the questions right. You might be surprised when you check the answers. But they are the facts.

What is important is that you start thinking about the impact of drugs in your life. This quiz will increase your awareness of the drugs most often abused or misused and how drugs can affect you. If you have any questions or concerns about the answers, you may want to discuss them with your family physician, counselor, or call a drug information hotline, if your community has one. To learn more, send for a free booklet:

News From The Mount

The Public Relations Corps of student volunteers in school communications at Mount St. Joseph Academy in Brighton, recently held elections. Officers for the 1981-82 year are Patricia Collins, senior, West Roxbury, President; Anna Lauretti, senior, North End of Boston, Vice-President; Mary Ann Creavin, Senior, Roslindale, Secretary and Michele Frost, sophomore, Dorchester, Treasurer. Co-Directors of the Graphics and Art Crew are Karen Sullivan, senior, Charlestown and Alicia O'Brien, junior, So. Boston.

The P.R. Corps boasts of the largest membership of all extra-curricular activities at Mount St. Joseph Academy. 120 students on all grade levels meet monthly to discuss communication topics and participate in mini-workshops for personal skills or future careers. In addition, these students perform on-going service as liaisons between the school and their community newspapers, parishes, outside youth programs and M.S.J.A. clubs and activities. Members participate in school promotions and special exhibits, appear on local radio and television talk shows and public affairs programs, and plan a large-scale Media-Awareness Program for the entire school each spring.

Moderator for the Public Relations Corps is Mrs. Linda P. Tramontozzi, Brighton freelance writer and Public Relations Consultant.

A Reminder: Mount St. Joseph Academy's annual old-fashioned

"Country Store" fundraiser will be held this evening, November 12, 1981 from 7 to 11 p.m. at the school gymnasium. Admission is free and chances are 100 for $1. There will be games, raffles, refreshments, prizes and surprises. All are welcome. Proceeds will benefit the P.S.T.A. Mount St. Joseph Academy is located at 617 Cambridge Street, Brighton.

Recently Married

MR. AND MRS. JAMES M. WOODS

Miss Joan Frances Walsh of Medford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh, Jr. recently became the bride of Mr. James Michael Woods of Charlestown, son of Mrs. Grace Woods, at a ceremony at St. Clement's Church, Medford.

Following a wedding reception at the Chateau de Ville in Saugus, the couple left for a two week wedding trip in Hawaii.

Mrs. Woods is a graduate of Medford High School. Mr. Woods graduated from Charlestown High School. They will live in Medford.

Parents'

Discussion Group

The Parents' Discussion Group at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, will conclude its series on "Understanding Your Child" this Friday, November 13, 1981 at 10 a.m. Guest speaker for this series is Lynda Gratt of the Family Service Association of Greater Boston.

Pre-School Story Hour for children who are at least three years of age will be held at the same time. Child care will be provided at the Charlestown Community Center across the street for children too young to join the Story Hour.

Card of Thanks

The family of Bobby Smith would like to thank all of Bobby's friends from Charlestown and elsewhere for the fine tribute paid to him. It was so tremendous that it helped make things a lot easier for our entire family. Again thank you Townies and friends.

People's Fire House Number 2

DAY 188 FREEDOM

WE'RE STILL HERE

The People's Fire House No. 2 Committee met last week at the fire house to make some decisions regarding the public donations made during the occupation and it was decided to keep the money in reserve in case either Engine 50 or the Winthrop Street Fire House become endangered again . . . If the worse happens at least we'll have some base to work from.

However, once the public safety crisis in the city has ended, all monies donated by interested citizens will be pumped back into the community.

TREGOR, SON OF TREGOR, TREGOR'S COUSIN

Tregor is back again for the third and surely last time. When hearings are held on it, People's Fire House people will go to Beacon Hill to testify. We will remain active in this crucial fight.

DID YOU KNOW?

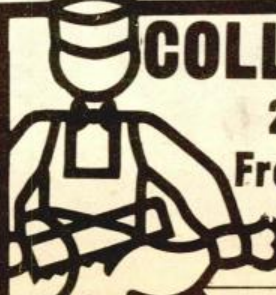

. . . That Engine 37 out of Huntington Avenue responded to a fire at a Brigham Circle area hospital with a two-man unit?

DON'T FORGET

The next Charlestown Meeting will be Tuesday, November 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Legion Hall. Sole topic on the agenda will be public safety. Please attend . . . stand up and speak out for better public safety standards. If you're concerned about the cutbacks and how they affect Charlestown, come on over.

Ray Flynn will be there as well as a number of state reps in the Boston Delegation.

We commend the Charlestown Town Council for organizing this special Town Meeting.

In the mid 1950's an energetic young Frank Power helped take a floundering athletic program at Charlestown High School beyond the area of respectability and into the prestigious neighborhood of dominance.

From doormats of the Boston district league, the Charlestown High School Football Squad emerged as 1955 Class D State Champions. For the next decade the athletic fever spread from the student body and infected the entire town. In 1959 the basketball squad captured the class B tech tourney championship, and in one calendar year the various athletic teams managed to win the district championship in five major sports. They were the glory years for Charlestown High School, and if there was a catalyst, it was Mr. Frank Power.

When the opportunity for advancement within the system presented itself, Mr. Power moved on. But his absence was only temporary. In the late 1960s he returned to his school as its headmaster.

Over the next several years he devoted his energies toward making Charlestown High School a respected neighborhood school academically. His efforts

Open House

High school students interested in nursing careers, their parents and guidance counselors are invited to attend the annual Open House at St. Elizabeth's Hospital School of Nursing, 159 Washington Street, Brighton, on Monday, Nov. 16, from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Visitors will be greeted at the Monastery Parking Lot and conducted to Our Lady's Hall where the introductory portion of the evening's program will be held.

Those planning to attend are encouraged to register in advance by calling 782-7000, ext. 2363.

The Night Mr. Power Came Home

paralleled those of earlier years on the field of athletics.

When the possibility of a new high school, complete with modern sports facilities, laboratories, and electrical shops became more than just a dream he spent countless hours helping to plan the complex. Its completion, and his contribution toward this end, would be his gift to the people of Charlestown.

Sons and daughters of his first students would now be able to reap the fruits of his efforts.

However, school desegregation laws of the mid 1970s dismantled the neighborhood school system, and with it, Mr. Power's dream. Under a cloak of reluctance, disappointment, and sadness, Mr. Power again left Charlestown High School.

For reasons very personal in nature, he avoided returning to the town and to the people who meant so much to him.

Last week at the Knights of Columbus Hall, the Charlestown High School Class of 1971 held its tenth reunion. Perhaps because they were the first group to go through the school entirely under his tutelage or perhaps because he knew he had a need to return. Mr. Power came home.

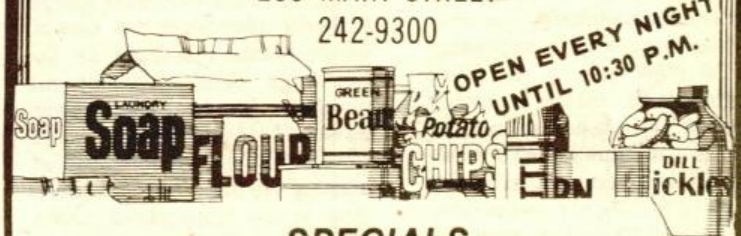

In a brief statement, he spoke of his love for the town and its people. It was not difficult to detect the shattering effect the realization of not seeing the fulfillment of his dream, a new high school for the people of Charlestown, has had on him.

There are two generations of people in this town who have had the opportunity to benefit from these things Mr. Power was able to give. They are all better men and women for it.

338 MAIN STREET, CHARLESTOWN, MISHAWUM PARK

SECOND AVENUE is not only for cars. One segment of the street will be a granite paved promenade for window shoppers and visitors. The First Charlestown Development Group, Inc. hope to land a development bid for the buildings which line Second Avenue.

A PUBLIC PROMENADE will tie all piers and the park together. To the lower left, a section of the promenade can be seen. Visitors will be able to sit along this promenade and enjoy the harbor view.

A New Community Grows In The Old Charlestown Navy Yard

by Maria Girvin

Unless you are a resident of Constitution Quarters, you may be wondering what is happening on the other side of the Navy Yard wall. The answer is obvious if given the chance to marvel over one of Building 42's (Constitution Quarters) triplex apartments or to walk across the lawn of Shipyard Park and smell the honeysuckle, because the Charlestown Navy Yard, as the shipbuilders once knew it no longer exists. Instead a small community of renters and condo buyers and blue collar business men are slowly coming together to create a very important and throbbing section of the city.

The Navy Yard is one of the largest and most ambitious recycling projects ever undertaken in this country. With Immobiliare New England being the chief developer of the 105 acre yard and following strict Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) guidelines, $200 million will be spent in the development of the yard. Hopefully, out of all this will come 1200 more units of residential quarters to buy, rent and supply approximately 120 housing units for the elderly through Section 8 funding.

With the development of the yard's Historic Monument Area, Charlestown merchants will have the opportunity to expand their businesses and Charlestown residents will find jobs in construction and permanent jobs in the new businesses and light industries that will take over that section's massive granite buildings, some which date back to the 1820s.

The First Charlestown Development Group, Inc. made up of 18 Charlestown businessmen, including Charlestown Board of Trade President Joseph Flaherty (developer) is one of eleven bidders looking at the buildings. The development group has submitted proposals on each of the buildings and Flaherty is very optimistic about winning the bid — the final decision to be announced today (Thursday). "I'm a firm believer that this will work. The BRA has recognized us as the only serious Charlestown group of developers. They're very enthusiastic and have almost told us we have it, if not, at least being strongly considered." If First Charlestown Development is awarded the parcel, Flaherty says they will be the contractor and construction supervisor which means jobs for Charlestown residents. The Codman Company and Boston Architectural Team, Inc. were enlisted by Flaherty to help design his proposals.

Building 42, or rather "Constitution Quarters," is the only building open in the yard. A total of 367 apartments have been designed into the old machine shop, with few apartments looking the same. Not all of these are open yet but of those being shown, 50% have been rented out, according to Codman Company's Sally McGonagle. This would mean about 30% of the 367 apartments that will be available in Constitution Quarters are occupied.

The apartments are not affordable for the average Charlestown resident with the rental breakdown of prices as follows: studio $475-$600; 1 bedroom $600-$775; duplex with 1 bedroom up to $800; 2 bedroom up to $700; and triplex $1250.

However these rents come with a breathtaking view of the Boston skyline, stretching across the inner harbor or twinkling through the cool damp atmosphere of night. All types of recreational facilities are provided including an outdoor swimming pool, a squash and racquet ball court, an exercise and weight room, and an art studio and community room for private parties. Tennis courts and a convenience store are expected to be new additions in the spring of 1982. Building 40, next to Constitution Quarters, provides parking.

The public's curiosity on these apartments has been channeled into a fundraiser for the Eunice Kennedy Shriver Center. Until November 20th, six apartments, dressed up for Christmas, will be on display to the public for a small donation. The Shriver Center is a non-profit organization to fight mental retardation.

Next to be renovated for condominiums is Building 197, with work slated to begin in 1982. Building 103 will provide 120 units of Section 8 housing. Money for the elderly housing was applied for in 1980, but President Carter left the White House without releasing this money to Boston.

THE ROPEWALK gets new, oversized slate shingles before it meets the public. This will restore the ropewalk to its original 1834 appearance. It is now the only surviving stone ropewalk in the United States. Most of the U.S. Navy rope was produced there until 1973.

FIRST STREET is the first street to be completed. This street separates the Historic Monument Area from the New Development Area.

Won't Have To Live There To Enjoy It

Under the Reagan administration this money is tied up. However, these units of housing are on the city's priority list.

Perhaps most rewarding of all is that Navy Yard residents will have the Shipyard Park for a backyard.

This park was designed in conjunction with input from the Charlestown Navy Yard Advisory Board, who thought a place with greenery, a fountain, benches and a place for children to play was an ideal park. BRA's project architect Jasenka Diminic designed the park to include all this and was later to receive a national award from Nancy Reagan for her creativity. Plantings in the park are typical of those found in a seaside environment, while the design of the fountain is reminiscent of the form of a dry dock.

The park is included in a 16-acre segment of the navy yard which also includes historically significant Dry Dock 2 and Pier 4. Pier 4 will become the town pier, a first of its kind, in which the public will be able to dock their boats on a short term basis. This will be the pier to start the process of turning the inner harbor waterways into a network of ferries and water taxis that will connect the city's five harborfront neighborhoods.

Presently, the Boys' and Girls' Club of Boston is investigating the feasibility of operating a community sailing program. According to Board of Director member Jack Whelan, there are no firm commitments on the program and he hesitated to detail the program. "I don't want to scare any possibilities," said Whelan. "But I will say there is an excellent chance that we will have a sailing program operated by the Boys' and Girls' Club of Boston." Whelan said it will take at least another year of planning before the program is implemented but already Immobiliare has shown an interest in helping the program.

Pier 4 is presently a safety hazard to visitors who might have wanted to visit the Shipyard Park. There are no railings or lighting and debris around the pier mars it. Also its sea wall is in need of repair, which is being done now and should be completed by April of 1982. $700 thousand of Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) and matching city funds will be spent on this renovation.

Piers 5 and 7 will eventually become housing and Pier 6 will become a private marina with a clubhouse. To outline the piers and the park will be a public promenade with lighted, granite capped walls for seating. With the view of the harbor, the park, and the colorful sails of boats, this section of the Navy Yard, will attract visitors from all over the country.

There remains much to be completed in the yard, especially in the Historic Monument Area where the ropewalk and Muster House are the dominating characteristics. Here street improvements and access ways are in various stages of incompletion. First Avenue, the main drive in the Navy Yard, and Eighth Street, which runs in front of Building 42, are the only streets completed with a final paving and lights. Second Avenue is mud right now but when finished will be a granite promenade for shoppers and visitors. Trees will line the promenade and Gate 4 will be the main entry into the whole shopping district. There will also be a parking garage in this area.

Buildings 149 and 199 are included in this section of the Navy Yard and will require a nationwide search on how to get the best use and biggest company for these massive structures, according to Paul Kelly, of BRA. He foresees up to four thousand jobs coming out of the eventual recycling. Building 149 was originally slated to house the Massachusetts College of Art. However budget cuts have dissolved this goal.

Perhaps by next spring more will be able to see the new Navy Yard and reap some of the benefits of its metamorphosis, helping to make it, once again, the pulse of Charlestown.

THE MUSTER HOUSE once scarred, is nearly ready for a new tenant such as a visitor's information center. The century old building is located in front of Gate 4 which will become the main entry into the yard. In the past it has stored arms and ammunition and housed the yard's switchboard.

SEAWALL REPAIRS on Pier 4 have begun (L) constituting Phase III of the improvements to be made using UDAG funds totaling $12 million. Part of this money will go toward the cleaning up of the dock area, making it safer and more enjoyable. (R) The now defunct piping will be removed and rails installed. Benches will be installed and floats will become part of the pier for public docking and water taxis. The structure to the far left will become a public concession with restrooms.

NEXT FOR RENOVATION is building 197, slated for condo conversion beginning the spring of 1982.

Open Letter To Charlestown Merchants

Dear Merchants,

The Charlestown Board of Trade and The Boston Committee are co-sponsoring a new job program for Charlestown students. This program is geared towards training students already in a school program in a job that will give them some valuable experience for the future.

We worked with members of The Boston Committee on The Charlestown Pool project and are grateful to them for approaching The Charlestown Board of Trade with a new project that is essentially an offspring of our success with the Bunker Hill Pool last summer. This program would not be at all possible without the faith and trust that The Boston Committee has in The Charlestown Board of Trade.

The new job program will fund approximately twenty-five jobs for students this year and will also pay for our student coordinator, Helen Myers. The program will be run on a strict business level with time cards and minimum wages.

This program begins on December 1, 1981 and will continue until June 1, 1982. The only prerequisites for this program is that the youth be currently enrolled in a school program and willing to work for a Charlestown merchant for minimum wages. Each business that applies for a student will be required to give the student a minimum of fifteen hours of work a week. For the first ten weeks of the program The Charlestown Board of Trade will pay 50% of each student's weekly wages to the merchants involved. Each merchant will be required at the beginning of the program to take full financial responsibility for the student they employ for the entire school year after the ten week period.

This is a great opportunity for the Charlestown businessmen to help a striving student. It is also a time of year when businesses need extra help in employees. We urge any and all businesses to take a student on for the year, in the hopes that we will be able to expand this program and help more than the initial twenty-five students.

At this time, we have over a hundred applications. Over a hundred youths looking for jobs for the winter. Please try to find a place in your business for a student who needs to experience a job and a direction.

Sincerely,
Joseph T. Flaherty
President

Jim Kelly Rises Above Midnight Hour Attack

To The Editor,

The attack upon the character of James M. Kelly in the recent election by Channel Five and the Boston Globe should come as no surprise to anyone who has carefully observed the methods they have used to discredit anyone who disagrees with their socialistic views. It appears those responsible for leaking the information to the media were, in all likelihood friends, or at least fellow residents of South Boston, and they knew exactly which members of the media to reveal their smear tactics to. It brings to mind another individual who some two thousand years ago sold out his friend for 30 pieces of silver, and later repented by hanging himself from the nearest tree.

For Channel Five and the Globe to stoop so low as to focus on the problems of a man's past life, for the sole purpose of discrediting him just prior to election day, because he always had the courage to stand up and speak out against them to make the truth known to the people, so infuriated their editorial staffs they lowered their respective medias to a standard one has come to expect from them over the recent past. Namely, they prostituted their entire profession in order to do political harm to a man simply because he reflects views different from theirs. In order to accomplish their twelfth hour smear, it must be pointed out they had to reach back some ten years into the past life of Jim Kelly. They intentionally failed to inform the people that Jim has led an exemplary life since his earlier problems. Jim has been a community leader in South Boston for several years, and I think most South Bostonians would agree that Jim has done a fine job for the people of South Boston.

Jim could have denied these references to his past life by declaring the accusations as being totally false in order to enhance his chances of election which seemed a certainty based on his strong showing in the preliminaries.

However, this was not the route Jim Kelly would follow. Instead, he openly admitted that he did indeed have problems in his earlier life. Jim proved to the people of Boston that he was above this campaign style. He showed for all to witness that he would confront any issue or allegation and meet it head on without regard for the political consequences. It makes a man like Jim stand even taller in the eyes of his supporters.

I would be remiss if I did not give a tip of the hat to WBZ's David Finnegan for his repudiation of the twelfth hour smear. It was clear David abhorred the tactics even though it is unlikely he agrees with Jim politically. David indicated, in his opinion, the attack clearly cost Jim the election.

As a resident of Dorchester, it is unlikely I could be accused of parochialism when I say, I have known Jim Kelly for the last several years, and been closely associated with him in our struggle against forced busing. I have come to know him well, and can personally attest to the sincerity and character of the man.

I am proud to call him friend.

The City Scene

Dangerfield show at the Cape Cod Coliseum. Each saying the sound was so bad the show was almost totally inaudible. A Forest Hills reader says she changed seats several times and still couldn't fathom what Rodney said.

Okay, since the sound system gave Rodney no respect, I'll relay some of his lines:

Rodney: "Got a watch dog last week and what do you know, he can't even tell time. I tell you I get no respect."

"I picked up a hooker last night. She said she had a headache."

"I used to date a girl that was so fat, she walked by a bus stop and three people tried to board her."

"I bought a foster child once. Sent him my picture. He send me $10 a month."

"I was in a bar and they told me to get out. They wanted to start the Happy Hour."

"Last week was a rough week for me. I saw my kid and the milkman going to a father-son breakfast."

No respect.

A new book from Delacorte Press has won my complete respect. Dennis Sanders' "The First of Everything" is the last word on firsts.

This is a swell one consisting of 397 pages of firsts ranging from the obscure to the monumental, from the sacred to the profane. Such as, say you? Like these, say I:

Zachary Taylor was the first President who openly despised politics and who never voted in a Presidential election. Andrew Johnson was the first President who never attended school. When he was married at the age of 18 he was illiterate and his wife taught him how to read and write.

The first person to utter "let them eat cake," was NOT Marie Antoinette but philosopher Jean Jacques Rousseau.

In 1965 astronaut John Young ate the first corned beef sandwich in outer space.

"The First of Everything" by Dennis Sanders. More than one thousand facts in nine categories. Five stars!

Not long ago we carried an item warning of the potential danger of the cheese topping on onion soup, pointing out how two readers had reported almost choking on the thick cheese.

Now a Dorchester nurse has written to tell us that death by peanut butter is not unheard of. She writes:

"Never eat peanut butter lumps off a spoon. Always spread it on bread where it can be controlled by the muscles of the mouth and throat."

Peanut butter lumps cannot be manipulated by our internal tubing, particularly if lodged in the throat's tight turns and trap doors."

Who knows, maybe the high cost of peanut butter has saved some lives. We'll now add peanut butter and cheese topping to our list of no-nos.

Embarrassing is when: "You shout 'Halleluia' a full 30 seconds before anyone else at Sunday Mass."

World Premiere To Benefit Faulkner Hospital

M.G.M. Films has announced that the World Premiere of the motion picture Whose Life Is It Anyway? will be held in Boston on December 2, 1981 as a benefit event for the Faulkner Hospital, Jamaica Plain. The movie, which stars Richard Dreyfuss, was filmed in part at the Faulkner last November.

Whose Life is it Anyway? is based on the Broadway play of the same title written by Brian Clark. Dreyfuss stars as Ken Harrison, an energetic young sculptor who becomes paralyzed as a result of a tragic auto accident. The film focuses on Harrison's fight for control over his life and the resulting clash between his physicians and lawyers who have opposing philosophies about life and death.

In addition to Dreyfuss and co-stars John Cassavetes and Christine Lahti, 33 Faulkner Hospital doctors, nurses and other employees appear in the film as extras.

The World Premier showing of Whose Life is it Anyway? will be at 8 p.m. at the Sack Cheri Theater, 40 Dalton Street, Boston. Special guests for the Premiere will include Governor and Mrs. Edward J. King, celebrities from the film world, and the New England Clippers, a wheelchair basketball team which appears in the film.

Tickets for the World Premiere benefit are available now at $50 each for sponsors and $25 for patrons. For more information and reservations for the premiere activities, call the Faulkner Hospital Public Relations and Development Office at 522-5800, extension 1493.

Named Account Executive

Kelley Long of Charlestown was recently named an account executive Tradex/Boston, according to John F. Sweeney, Jr., president of the firm.

An affiliate of the Tradex International System in Canada, Tradex acts as a computerized clearing house for business owners and professionals to trade or barter a portion of their goods and services through the use of the Tradex credit card. The Tradex/Boston exchange has more than 800 members. There are additional franchises in Toronto, Hartford, Charlotte, N.C., Newport, R.I. - New London, Conn., and Calgary and Thunder Bay, Canada. A new franchise will be opening in Burlington, Vt. in January.

As a Tradex account executive, Ms. Long will be responsible for procuring new members in the Greater Boston area. There are currently more than 2,000 members throughout the Tradex system.

Ms. Long, a 1979 graduate of Northeastern University, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Long of Grand Haven, Michigan.

Christmas Show House

extension 278.

Tourgoers will be able to visit a Christmas Boutique, sponsored by Norwood Gardens, and a coffee shop in addition to viewing the apartments.

The Shriver Center is a non-profit organization with three main goals: to discover the bases of mental retardation, to prevent its causes, and to help mentally retarded people realize their full potential. Proceeds from the Show House go to support the Center's ongoing research, service, and education programs.

Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald of Needham and Mrs. James Whelan of Cohasset are co-chairmen of Christmas Show House '81.

Assisting the co-chairmen are Julie McDonald and Sally McDonald of Charlestown.

Columbus Wallops Arlington Catholic, Prepares For Savio

by Bob DeCristoforo

The Christopher Columbus High School Friars turned in their best offensive showing of the year, defeating Arlington Catholic 37-0 in their final Catholic Suburban League game of the year.

The Friars scored in every quarter as costly Arlington errors were turned into touchdowns.

Mike Yandle's 40 yard pass to senior Bob Charbonnier early in the first quarter put Columbus ahead to stay.

Highlighting the second quarter was another Billy Nee brilliant punt touchdown return covering 69 yards.

Senior Captain Angelo LaPaglia was the main man in the next three marks, scoring touchdowns of 40 yards, 5 yards, and 5 yards capping a 25 carries, 190 yard day. On the third LaPaglia touchdown Bobby Yetman scored the extra point on a kick. Yetman has been one of many Columbus UnSung heroes over the year. He has done a brilliant job as Columbus' kicker and deserves much credit.

Last, but by no means least, was the 10 yard touchdown run of senior Desi Healy. Desi finally got what he has been after all year and it's too bad this fine player waited till his senior year to wear the Columbus football Brown and White.

Columbus' record is now 6-2-1 overall and if Cathedral loses to Newton Catholic on Thanksgiving, the Friars will get a part of the Catholic Suburban League Crown.

Since St. Columbkille's has cancelled next's week game, the Friars will take a few days off and then begin to get ready for their Thanksgiving Day blast with Dom Savio.

Road Race Winner

Buffeted by swirling winds and threatened by storm clouds, 161 runners answered the starter's gun at the Somerville Road Race on Sunday, October 18. Larry Skinner of Somerville, formerly of Soley Street, Charlestown, beat the rain and the rest of the field to capture the 2.7 mile race in 14:23. The road race was sponsored by the Somerville Recreation Commission.

M.D.C. Rinks Scheduled To Open

The Metropolitan District Commission ice skating rinks are scheduled to open on Monday, November 16. There will be public skating sessions available at the nominal fee of 25¢ for children and 50¢ for adults. Lessons are also available for children and adults at the beginner, intermediate and advanced skill levels. Skaters can use either figure or hockey skates. The fee for the seven week semester of lessons is $30.

Afternoon classes are held for children ages four and up and evening classes are held for adults and children ages 10 and up and meet at 7 p.m.

To register for the above classes at your local M.D.C. rink call the Bay State Ice Skating School at 332-0787 to reserve a place. All classes are scheduled to begin the week of November 16 and will be on-going all season.

Wonderland Stars Clash In Two Stakes

The two brightest new stars on Wonderland's horizon, North Shore's record-setting OK Troy and Kansas Kennel's Roaring Rookie, renew their season long battle as the $150,000 Purina Grand Prix series resumed November 11, at the Revere oval.

OK Troy already has established track records for most wins in a single season, most decisions over the 5-16ths course in one meet and most victories in a maiden season with 25.

In the Grand Prix series, however, Kansas' Imaginary Lover leads after five of 12 rounds with 21 points, followed in order by Happy Stutz' Kingsford (17), Karelitz' Passage West and Roaring Rookie (16 each), Paul Discolo's Tennessee Anabel (14) and OK Troy (11).

Nine of the 13 dogs in the Purina Grand Prix series have been competing in the fourth annual 100,000 World Sprint Championship. The remainder of the Grand Prix series will be November 14, 18, 21, 28 and December 2.

The rising stars, OK Troy and Roaring Rookie, will meet again in the 28th annual Juvenile Stakes starting Saturday, November 28, and concluding Friday, December 11. This will be Wonderland's final stake event for the 1981 campaign.

Other entries include Kansas' Cannoneers Ghost and GH's Glenn, Joe LaCroix's Sonny Sones and Happy Sones, Bobby Phelps' Love Lies, Bullet Path and Energy Issue, Skinny Beckner's Sliding, Discolo's Hanika, Craigie's Craigie Melodie, Franklin Pike's Electric Dot and Charlie Rink's Zip Zotner.

Sale Day

On Saturday, November 14, 1981, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., St. Joseph's Center, located at Sullivan Square, Charlestown, will hold its annual Cake Sale and Thrift Shop Clearance. All are welcome and admission is free.

Remedial Reading

Does your child need extra help for school? If so, the Charlestown Boys' and Girls' Club is offering educational services in the form of Remedial Reading for students in grades 1 to 12. If interested call Connie MacDonald or Galen Stone at 242-1775, ext. 54.

Check your wallet. There may be a fortune in it.

Over $400,000 in winning Wonderland tickets have yet to be cashed this year—including many worth hundreds or even thousands of dollars each!

And that's a shame...because you can't spend a ticket at the supermarket. (Usually, however, stores will honor cash.)

Remember, winning tickets as much as a year old are still cashable, as well as any for this year. You can redeem them here any night prior to the fifth race.

So check your wallet, your jacket pockets, the stuff buried in the back of the desk drawer...and you could just find yourself a fortune.

And if you don't...well, there's always tonight.

Play the Favorite. 12 races nightly. Monday through Saturday, post time 8 p.m. Glass-enclosed grandstand, climate controlled for your all-weather comfort. Summer Job Program Termed Successful

by Keith Westerman

The Kennedy Center Summer Job Program conducted an "extremely successful" program this year despite budget cutbacks, according to the man most responsible for it, Jack Sheehan, area coordinator.

"The summer was earmarked," said Sheehan, by "improvements, new ideas, more effective planning and an excellent staff."

Sheehan praised the work of Charlestown residents James O'Brien, coordinator of Youth Services at the Kennedy Center and the program's three counselors, Billy Fidler, a "four-year veteran" of the program and Carrie O'Connor and Kevin Gallagher, both "rookies."

Said Sheehan, "They worked as a 'team', totally dedicated to their work, (they) were respected by the youth and left no stone unturned to make this an extremely successful summer."

Added Sheehan, "The training, supervision and guidance of Tom Harrigan and his Social Service staff were invaluable."

The 1981 Summer Job Program, conducted in sponsorship with Action for Boston Community Development (ABCD), the City of Boston and the United States Department of Labor, employed 82 enrollees at 14 worksites.

On the average, each enrollee brought home in pay, before taxes, nearly $500.

Enrollees were 14 to 15 years old, except for "Special Needs" enrollees who were hired regardless of age.

Job sites such as the Visiting Nurses Association, the Library, Mail for Tots, the Bunker Hill Museum, the Charlestown Community Center, the Boys' and Girls' Club, and the CharlesNew-Town Housing Complex all provided superior work experience.

The Kennedy Center Job Site employed 24 youths in day care, receptionist and secretarial slots, inside maintenance and one large "civic pride" clean-up crew operating from the Teen Center.

Ten enrollees worked at the Doherty Pool providing a real service to the community maintaining a clean, safe recreational and leisure time facility.

A new worksite was the M.D.C. Gridely Locks (the Charles River Dam Site). Ten enrollees were assigned there.

The enrollees concluded the summer with a complete Community Clean-Up Effort. The young enrollees, volunteers, the Kennedy Center Youth Department and the Charlestown Board of Trade organized a concerted effort to end the summer on a positive note by sweeping the town clean.

Each enrollee underwent three Labor Market Orientation Workshops, lasting two hours, made up of valuable occupational information, interviewing procedures, labor market films and guest speakers.

Students Invited To Participate In Scholastic Art Awards

Talented high school art students will have an opportunity to win honors for themselves and their schools by participating in the 1982 Scholastic Art Awards, sponsored regionally by The Boston Globe in cooperation with Scholastic, Inc., and administered by The Artists Foundation, Inc. Junior and senior high school students from public and private schools throughout Massachusetts are invited to participate in the Massachusetts regional awards program - the Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards. The Scholastic Art Awards Program, now in its 55th year, provides young artists with an unusual opportunity for recognition and promotes interest and excellence in the visual arts among high school students.

Awards are offered in 15 classifications in the fields of painting, drawing, printmaking, design, sculpture, crafts, and photography.

Art entries will be accepted in early January at five college and university sites throughout Massachusetts. Each preliminary competition at these sites will feature judging and exhibition of selected works, along with an awards ceremony in January.

To receive more information on the 1982 Scholastic Art Awards Program, contact Deborah Black, Program Administrator, Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards, at the Boston Globe, 929-2605.

A Wise Approach To Winter

by Mayor Kevin H. White

Because human nature is as variable as New England weather, the various approaches we Bostonians take in preparing for one of our cold winters are virtually limitless. Look around your own neighborhood and you'll see that some families have taken every step they could think of in preparing for the ice and snow, while others have done no winterizing at all. The level of preparedness runs the gamut.

With this in mind, my Office of Housing is working more intensely than ever this fall to interest more Boston residents in programs designed to help them make their homes more liveable and weather-worthy.

The Office of Housing, which has site offices in a dozen neighborhoods, has the experts who can advise residents on low-cost or no-cost ways to be warmer in the winter, while at the same time saving energy and money.

But, obviously, not all winterization methods are free or inexpensive. Some are costly and beyond the means of many low and moderate income families.

To help these families improve their houses and prepare them for the coming cold weather, the Office of Housing is sponsoring a number of programs backed by some $3.5 million in federal funds.

About $2.25 million of this money is for the city's Housing Rehabilitation Program, which the Office of Housing is calling—appropriately—the Cash Back Program.

The name is descriptive because the program gives cash rebates to income-eligible participants who participate. The Office of Housing is hoping to reach out into the neighborhood to find almost 1,000 low and moderate-income property owners who want to benefit from the program.

Under Cash Back, all kinds of repairs can be covered—structural, electrical, plumbing and others, including energy conservation and security improvements. To qualify for the rebate, participants must correct any violations of the State Housing Code and make at least one major energy conservation improvement, including storm windows, wall or attic insulation, or a new heating system.

Income eligible owners who live in one to six family houses will receive cash rebates of various amounts, depending on the kinds and costs of repairs, household income, and the number of apartments in the building.

For example, a low-income owner of a single-family house could get up to $2,000 to $2,500 back on repairs costing $5,000. A moderate-income homeowner of a three-family house could receive a rebate of up to $2,200 to $4,400 on repairs costing $11,000.

The Cash Back Program is one of four major programs being offered by the Office of Housing. Others include the Interest Reduction Program, the Homesteading Program and a new Home Loan Program.

Since 1975 the Office of Housing has been administering a variety of programs that have helped rehabilitate almost 20,000 structures throughout the city.

Because of today's inflation and high interest rates on home improvement loans, the role of the Office of Housing is especially important to those who need help as we approach this winter...and the winters ahead.

Anyone wanting more information on Cash Back or the other programs can visit or call their neighborhood branch of the Mayor's Office of Housing. The branch in Charlestown/North End is at 232 Bunker Hill Street, Charlestown, telephone 241-9110.

Answers to Drug Quiz

1. DIFFERENT FOR EACH PERSON. The time it takes for a person to become dependent on heroin varies. But repeated use will eventually cause physical dependence. Some people become hooked on heroin after using it a few times. Developing an addiction to any drug varies with the form and potency of the drug, the dosage, the frequency, the pattern of use, and the personality of the user.

2. TIME. There is no shortcuts to sober a drunk person. Once alcohol is in the bloodstream, it takes time for the body to rid itself of the alcohol. This process, called metabolism, takes about 2 hours for each drink taken.

3. SEDATIVES. (Also known as tranquilizers and sleeping pills). Most people do not realize that alcohol is a sedative drug. Combining sedatives with alcohol increases their effects. Judgment is impaired and lapses in memory can occur. In this confused state, users can unintentionally take larger or repeated amounts of these substances. This can result in comas and death. More Americans die from overdoses of barbiturates (another sedative) than from heroin addiction.

4. UNDER THE PROTECTION OF FEDERAL LAW. Under Federal law persons can seek help for drug problems. Federal law in most instances requires doctors, psychologists, and drug treatment centers to keep confidential any information received from drug patients, if the drug treatment program is federally assisted. However, it may be necessary for information to be given to other doctors to help in treating patients, or to insurance companies to help to provide benefits for patients. This can only be done with the patient's consent.

5. PREVENTION. Children are confronted with drugs and the pressure to use drugs. This occurs wherever they live. Young people are faced with alcohol and tobacco at a very young age. They should be taught how to say "no" when drugs are offered. The purpose of prevention is to provide young people healthy and attractive alternatives to drug abuse. This involves the whole community and includes helping young people to develop meaningful relationships with parents, teachers, and peers.

6. UP TO A MONTH. The major active ingredient in marijuana is tetrahydrocannabinol (THC). Scientists have discovered that THC accumulates in the fatty tissues of the cells and is eliminated slowly. It takes approximately 4 weeks for the body to rid itself of THC.

7. MAY BE HARMFUL TO THE UNBORN CHILD. Pregnant women should be extremely careful about taking any drug, even aspirin, without consulting a physician. Research has shown that heavy smoking and drinking can harm the fetus. Babies born of narcotic- and barbiturate-dependent mothers are often born drug dependent and must receive special care.

8. ALL OF THESE. Recent studies of teenage marijuana use show that 59 percent of high school seniors have tried it. Eight percent of the 12-to-13-year-olds report that they have smoked marijuana at least once, and half of this group were current users. Of the 14 to 15-year-olds, 32 percent have tried it, and 17 percent still use it. Many children in the 12 to 17 age group report that they first tried marijuana while they were still in grade school.

In 1975 marijuana street samples rarely exceeded 1 percent THC (tetrahydrocannabinol) content; in 1980 marijuana samples containing 5 percent were common. The amount of THC determines its psychoactive potential. The more potent marijuana increases the physical and mental effects, and the possibility of health problems to the user.

Research shows that marijuana effects can interfere with learning by impairing thinking, reading comprehension, and verbal and arithmetic skills. Young people need to learn how to make decisions, to handle success, and to cope with failures. Drug abuse can prevent them from growing up to become mature, responsible people.

Horizon For Youth Annual Dinner

Report 81, the Annual Dinner of Horizons For Youth, will take place Thursday, November 19th at Anthony's Pier 4. In making the announcement, James D. St. Clair, President of Horizons For Youth appointed, John P. Comer, National Executive Committeeman of the Massachusetts State Department of the American Legion as the Dinner Chairman.

The Annual Dinner will be a review of the past and a look at the future. Featured speaker will be Jess Cain, one of Boston's outstanding radio personalities. During the meeting plans will be unveiled for the new $200,000 Administration Complex that is scheduled to be built.

New Board members to be nominated at the Dinner include:

by Charlie McGonagle
"This could take for EVERS," said Butch, "But if we really work together, I think we can get it done."

"It really BURNS me," added Danny, "that so much effort has to go into something that should be done so automatically."

"UPTON now, I didn't realize things were so bad," said Joey, "but it has really gotten out of hand, hasn't it?"

"MOCCIA the guys don't need any prodding, they just do it," contributed John, "But in this case it's different."

The group was sitting around the Boys' Club discussing a pressing problem when a sudden breeze found its way through an open window.

"That's pretty CODAIR," shivered Eddie as he got up to find a warmer spot.

"It's not good for McGOFF," added Kevin as he popped his third Vicks of the evening.

Yes it was a pressing problem and the various suggestions as to its solution were being considered at the particular meeting.

"Maybe we should just ignore it and see if it PETERS out," offered George.

"It could GILL us first," warned Mike.

"On a SCALES of one to ten, this problem is a solid ten," reminded John, "and if we don't do something about it real soon, it could become an eleven."

"MARK my word," said SMITH, "John is right. This thing could prove to be worse than the day the candy machine ran out of M & M Peanuts."

"My MARTELLS me that problems this severe should be dealt with immediately," said Paul.

"We can't cut any CONNORS in 'Dealing with it,'" added Jimmy, "It's that urgent."

"Maybe we should take a more subtle APPROCHE to a solution," suggested John.

"That could get us out of the WOODS," agreed Kenny.

"It has to be DOENGES right, though," added Donald.

"The BORDEN'S on us to do something about it" reminded Denny. "If we don't, nobody else will, and then we will either have to learn to live with it or move away."

"MEDERIOS friend is a very wise person," said Joe, "But even he has been unable to come up with any concrete suggestions toward a solution. Personally I think the situation is hopeless."

"Let me get right to LAPOINTE," interrupted David. "A problem as difficult as this requires a great deal of thinking."

At that point the very essence of their dilemma entered the room. A blanket of silence draped itself over the gathering. He sensed they had been talking about him. His anger built until he could hold it no more. In an explosion of emotions MAHONEY cried, "The DEVIL with it. Now I'll never change my sweat sox!"

Joins Mass - Save As Auditor

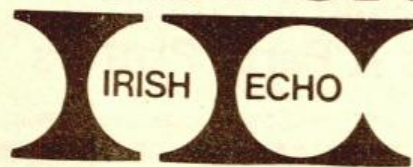

Thermodynamics, solar systems and furnace efficiency are just a few of the areas covered in the intensive auditors training course completed by ten area residents including Al Rabideau of Charlestown, who is now employed as a certified auditor for the Mass-Save energy conservation program.

Mass-Save (Save All Valuable Energy) is a non-profit corporation established by 53 of the state's gas and electric utilities with the sole purpose of running a joint program to help consumers save money and energy. The foundation of the program is a detailed energy audit of residential structures containing one to four dwelling units. Energy auditors complete a three-week training course and administer individual audits on a daily basis.
