Myomectomy (excision of the subserosal or intramural fibroids only) is preferred for women planning future pregnancies. However, if myomas are large, removal of the entire uterus (hysterectomy) may be necessary. The procedure can be done by making a large incision in the abdomen (laparotomy) or by instruments inserted through one or more small incisions near the navel (laparoscopy), which is less invasive and is associated with less intra and post-operative complications.
