

Here is a brief history scroll about the Vultures in the third age when there was vulture royalty in Aman. The vultures were as numerous as the sand grains on the beach. There were and are so many vultures in the world. Too many. Over them are Kings and Queen Vultures. Then Princes and Princesses. Then Princes and Princesses. Then great and small vultures, from all kinds of families. There are more than eight thousand vulture families. Thankfully, some have been completely wiped out! This is the history of one family in particular; Gkhl. Now the vultures do not have vowels in their language (Chrdtavsh). Gkhl family is the smallest family of the vulture kingdom. Now these are the elders of the Gkhl family;

Flghrn Gkhl (338 sons)
 Lkiskl Gkhl(339 sons)
 Skyhkl Gkhl (382 sons)
 Hvnyn Gkhl (630 sons)
 Dskrftn Gkhl (110 sons)
 Gkrlnskn Gkhl (1582 sons)
 Mhnnn Gkhl (251 sons)
 Flghrn II Gkhl (394 sons)
 Svkr Gkhl (305 sons)
 Chrdd Gkhl (322 sons)
 Bsyll Gkhl (375 sons)
 Syll Gkhl (290 sons)
 Sylr Gkhl (330 sons)
 Skylr Gkhl (891 sons)
 Sylklc Gkhl (399 sons)

Now a certain elder, Falgehon II aka Flghrn II, was husband to Mohannon (aka Mhnnn), was father to 394 sons and daughters. They were Klr, Skyvk, Skyfr, Jdrl, Nyk, Skykl, Tchst and many more! Skyfr is actually Lokoth. Now when Lokoth was a baby, in the nest of her mother, a black mass was present. Thus, the mass became the shape of a hand and shook the nest, and many eggs fell out, splatting open. Thus, Skyfr fell. As the babe was falling, it called out in a chip "Mother!" So the mother came, the mother vulture, and saved the chick. But the mass was splitting into many, to confuse the mother. So mother vulture took on the form of a winged witch and went forth to attack the mass. The mass was getting bigger, and it came to be that the mass was in fact The Black Mass. The mother vulture prevailed. She mourned for 15 days for her eggs. Then, she left the nest to seek food. As she was gone, why look! The Black mass returned to shake the nest. This time, the nest was unshakeable. This mass was getting enraged, so it manifested fire and burnt the nest. The nest became like ash, and Skyfr came to be on fire. So the chick called out 'Father!' and look, the Father came! And it attacked the Mass, and it fled into the night. 15 days later, the Black Mass returned. This time, father and mother vulture were both sleeping in the nest (it was now a re-inforced nest). By this time, Skyfr was old enough to fly. Then, the Black Mass returned to shake the nest. So it began to shake the nest, and then it was attacked by both father and mother. So the black mass went away to find other masses more evil and more black than it was, and they came, filling the nest with black masses. And the nest exploded, and the mother vulture was overwhelmed by the mass, and the father vulture came to be like the exploded carcasses that are eaten by worms on the floor. And thus, father vulture was exploded, because the mass entered his mouth and made his insides explode. So mother vulture shut her beak, and fled to seek help. The mass was multiplied, and it went to take the chick. And the chick called out: "King!" and the King of the Vultures came. And why look, the black mass was overwhelmed by the King of the Vultures. So the black mass went away, waiting for a more appropriate time to steal the chick. So instead of attacking, it became a Stealthful Mass. So it stealthily picked the chick up during its sleep, and took it over the sea to its master, who was calling for the chick. Thus, the chick came to be over the east sea when the vultures were pursuing it over the waters. And it attacked the mass over the seas near Das, and it did not escape. But the chick was already 'dead'. So the vultures flew back to mourn for 7.5 days. But incidentally, Skyfr was not dead, in fact, she was actually passed out from the black gas in its lungs. In fact, its heart beat went from 130 bpm to just 3 bpm, and it was beginning to die. But as it floated on the waters, to the shores of the sea, it was picked up by Gothmog the Goblin God. And He took the chick to the tower of Gothmog. Sadly, Gothmog perished. After that, the vulture was in the main tower under the care of The Black Granny. Now, the Black Granny was as wrinkly as a dried fig, and her face resembled a dry plum. Her eyes were small, sunken behind deep sockets and her teeth were crooked, like a city wall thrashed by a hurricane. Her fingers were like sinuous branches on an elm tree, and her feet resembled withered claws. Her walk was a hobble, a slow waddle, a contemptible shuffle along the floor. The Black Granny's other names are Nannydoom, Zahra Lot, MotherUg, Melhazkaadah, and GrannyOfDoom. She cared for the abducted children in Baraddur. Yes, she taught them how to be evil, and she put in their hearts the desire to be evil. Daily, she would read from THE BLACK BIBLE, telling them stories of the great Morgoth. Then, she would take the children for strolls around Das, in particular seeing the following sights:

- Durthand - The Castle of Torture (no longer existing, for it was sunken, it now is replaced by Myfort)
- Arathgalahand - Ancient fortress, but it no longer is existing, for it was sunken!
- The graveyard of the victims of Pythas (this graveyard is sunken now, for it was sunken!)
- The gravestones of smoke (this graveyard is still in existence!)
- The grave yard of the enemies of the Black City (this graveyard is now gone, bc it was sunken also!)
- The graveyard of Snakes and Snake King memorial tomb (this graveyard is also gone, for it was buried in the sand! maybe it be dug up one day)
- The lava bed of Udun (this lava bed is still in existence)
- Orodoom the Mountain of Doom (this mountain exists still)
- The garden of Tar-Gulguth (this garden is now buried under the sands, for it was cared for by The Black Gardener, but he is now dead and he had no sons)

Now when Lokoth was only 180 years old, and her wings were about as wide as two men standing abreast, she was in the grasp of NannyDoom. (For NannyDoom was brainwashing her against her own kind, for she was racist towards vultures and hated them). So over time, Lokoth began to feel ashamed of vulturehood, and took on the form of a human to please NannyDoom. For when she was in vulture form, NannyDoom would take pleasure and laugh at plucking the feathers out one by one. So Lokoth came to have the name 'Hildred' meaning 'Dreading My Fingers', by Nannydoom. For Nannydoom had named three of the abducted children in the nursery of doom the following names: Hildred (meaning Dreading My Fingers), Manadspuz (meaning Spy of Doom), and Uade (meaning Understanding Nothing). Now the abducted children were visited once per month by Pythas himself. And he would require perfect behaviour, or they would be burnt with an iron which was actually an iron rod heated in the furnace until it was white with heat. Now one day, Manadspuz was not behaving well (for he was looking down at his feet rather than paying attention to NannyDoom when Pythas was present for the great inspection). So Pythas interrupted NannyDoom, took the boy by the hand and dragged him down to the Pyramidon. There, Pythas lashed the boy 66 times, and put a branding iron on him and placed this curse upon him: "ASH GUZUL BAZ-HUDAL UN KIRITH ZEDUN BAZ HAZLAN", meaning "One Abominable Son Of Goblins, One Lash For Every Hair On His Head". So he had his hair shaven and a branding iron applied to his skull, so that he would never grow hair again. Thus, Manadspuz was made property of Pythas from that day on, and he served in his chambers as scribe all the days of his life until he became a teenager. Then, NannyDoom died. She was buried under the Pyramidon, deep beneath Baraddur. After that, Lokoth was hit on the head so hard, she forgot her name. Thus, she was tended to by the black doctor, but seeing she was useless at her duties that she was brought up for, she was put on the Menu. So the Urukhai Chefs prepared her body by washing it and sharpening the meat knife to cut her into fillets for the men to eat. But, incidentally, a certain Urukhai Chef called 'Gurt' was a secret admirer of the girl. So he set her free.

For this, Gurt was blinded, his eyes made into a dessert and his legs and arms became a deep fried dish. And the rest of his body was burnt on the fire, for ash to go on the mushrooms. Lokoth fled to the south, where she lives to this day!

Now here is a prophecy for the forest: "Look everyone! The cosmic seeds are actually sprouting! Guard them, and do not let a fire blaze against them. Because Aldaron is coming soon. Look up you people! See the light in the sky!

Is it not Aldaron's light getting closer? It will come down from the sky, and it will settle on the trees when they have regrown. Then, he will come to our aid."

This ends nook and Glarthir's prophecy and scroll. The next one will be about the post under the last one in my discussion I made.
