Successor To Scheme Z Christened 'Son Of Z'

Widest Bridge Structure In The World Planned For Charlestown's Backyard

After almost three years of discussions, meetings and community input, the Massachusetts Highway Department recently unveiled a proposal to replace the Central Artery/Tunnel Project's much maligned Scheme Z interchange with a Charles River crossing that will, if built, result in Boston being home to the widest bridge structure in the world. This new verson of Scheme Z, christened "Son of Z" by groups opposed to the original plan, is far different from the crossing plan put forward by the Bridge Design Review Committee (BDRC) last year.

That committee, made up of community leaders and formed by Gov. William F. Weld after the public outcry against Scheme Z, had proposed a Charles River crossing which would have consisted of a series of tunnels and a "landmark" cablestay suspension bridge at The gateway to the Charles River. Officially called 8.1D Mod 5, the proposal ensured a much-improved Charles River waterfront for generations to come. Now many associated with the project are dismayed to see that all of the time put forward for this once-in-alifetime opportunity may have been for naught.

The controversy surrounding this section of the Central/Artery Tunnel Project began in 1990 when the original Scheme Z plan was put forward by then Mass. Transportation Secretary Frederick Salvucci. Claiming it was the only viable alternative for linking the Central Artery/Tunnel with I-93, Storrow Drive and the Tobin Bridge, the Mass. Highway Department vigorously promoted the spaghetti-like series of ramps which included a 16-lane bridge over the Charles River. Despite their efforts, the project became a lightning rod for criticism from numerous organizations, including community groups from Charlestown, Beacon Hill and the North End, the Sierra Club, the Charles River Watershed and the city of Cambridge. Fearing legal action that could have led to years of delays and even killed the entire Central Artery/Tunnel project, the state eventually set aside Scheme Z and undertook development of a new, more environmentally and esthe-(continued on page 8)

MWRA To Open Personnel Ferry Along Mystic River In Charlestown

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MW-RA) has announced that as part of its water transportation system, a new personnel ferry service will begin operations starting Sept. 7 at the former Revere Sugar site on Medford Street along the Mystic River in Charlestown.

The MWRA uses ferries, buses, barges and tugboats to move workers, equipment and material for the Boston Harbor Project. The authority's water transportation system currently carries construction workers to Deer Island from two locations around the harbor -Squantum Point in Quincy and Rowes Wharf in Boston With the Boston Harbor Project now in peak construction years, the water transportation system moves more than 1,200 employees per day to Deer Island.

The new personnel ferry will leave the Mystic River site at 6:10 a.m. and return to the site at 4:10 p.m. There will be additional ferries for the overtime crews returning to the site at 5:15 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The Mystic River site is designed to hold 350 cars. However, in an effort to minimize traffic impacts in Charlestown, the MWRA has been working with the Boston Transportation Department on behalf of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and will only be transporting 150 people from this site.

Also, in an effort to minimize the impacts of this (continued on page 13)

Receive Scholarships From Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps

Three Charlestown students were among 60 who received scholarships from the Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps at a recent ceremony at Northeastern University. Acting Mayor Thomas M. Menino congratulated the 28 graduates from the Class of 1993 and 31 scholarship winners from the class of 1992, saying they represent "the thousands of unsung good kids" in every Boston neighborhood.

Ming Ngan, Christopher O'Shea and Elizabeth Golden were among those who received $1,000 college scholarships for their work with the corps' 1992 class.

An outgrowth of the city of Boston's Safe Neighborhoods Program, the Youth Leadership Corps is a public-private partnership between the city, the Boston Bar Association and Northeastern University. Its goal is to provide young leaders Any woman 21 years of age or older interested in joining this organization is more than welcome. The members are looking forward to having many of the younger generation join them. According to President Judy Burton, the membership needs new faces and new ideas. They are anticipating an enrollment of 25 to 30 new members and would welcome more.

Meetings are held on the first and third Monday of the month and many social events take place throughout the year, from September through June.

WHEN YOUR BUYER HAS A HOME TO SELL

Bu

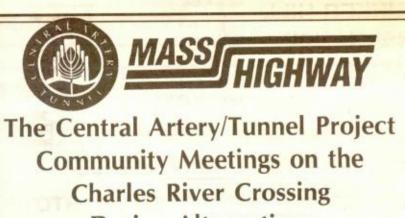

Prospective buyers often have homes they must sell in order to purchase a new home. Sellers, on the other hand, may be reluctant to accept any offer that is contingent on the sale of another property. If you receive such an offer and if it is satisfactory in all other areas, there are ways to structure the sale that can minimize the seller's risks.

First, you might put a limit on the amount of time the buyers have to accept an offer on their property. You can also keep your home on the market. If a second offer comes in, you may be able to reserve the right to withdraw the first conditional offer unless the contingencies can be removed within 48 to 72 hours.

Many sales that start out as contingent offers work well for the sellers. Your purchaser is not going to be in the best bargaining position and is less likely to ask for concessions on price or other terms. Each situation is different, however, and before you accept a contingent offer, you should go over the pros and cons of the particular situation with your realtor.

The professionals at Monument Properties can guide you through each step of the home buying or selling process. Please call us at 241-5900 or stop by our office at 85 Warren St., Charlestown

Design Alternatives

The Central Artery/Tunnel project will hold a series of community meetings to explain the three new design alternatives to the current river crossing, Scheme Z. These alternatives are fully described in the Draft Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement/Report, available at public libraries and transportation agencies. The community meetings are in preparation for a public hearing on the river crossing that will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 14, 1993, in Cahners Theater at the Museum of Science, Boston.

Dear Charlestown Neighbors:

The MWRA is pleased to announce that ferry service bringing Boston Harbor Project workers to Deer Island will begin from the Personnel Ferry Facility, formerly Revere Sugar, on Tuesday, September 7, 1993.

Please call Community Relations Coordinator Vincent Ragucci at 241-6057 to contact MWRA about activity at the ferry site. This line will be staffed during regular business hours for the life of the project. After hours, calls will be recorded and a response will be provided during the next business day.

Thank you for your support as we continue making improvements to the region's water and sewer systems.

* Neighborhood Council Meetings . . .

Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 7 at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.

Among the agenda items are an update on the programs and plans of the Charlestown Armed Services YMCA and a report of the Development Committee on plans by architect Jack French to renovate 5 Monument Square.

Public Safety Committee Meeting

The Boston Police Community Relations/Public Safety Committee Meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Community Room at Mishawum Park, 95 Dunstable St.

The council meetings are open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

* Charles River Crossing . . . The Mass. Highway Department has filed the Charles River Crossing Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Report (DSEIS/R) for the Central Artery/Tunnel Project. The document, which is available at public libraries and at the project office at One South Station for review by the public, describes three design options which the project has developed as alternatives to the approved river crossing, Scheme Z.

There will be a meeting in Charlestown at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 9 at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St. Staff members will be on hand with visuals of the four design options for the crossing. At 7:30 p.m. there will a presentation by project staff, followed by a question and answer period.

An additional ramification for the Charlestown community indicated in the three alternatives to Scheme Z is the northbound off-ramp from I-93 that would empty traffic from that roadway onto Rutherford Avenue through a signalized intersection. A portion of the Bunker Hill Community College playing field would be taken for this ramp and several A Street businesses would be impacted. Residents also fear that traffic facing a light at mid-Rutherford Avenue would find its way through to local Charlestown streets, particularly Bunker Hill and Main streets.

Comments may be made at a public hearing from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 14 at the Museum of Science. Contact Gina Park at 457-5410 to reserve a time.

For further information, call Charlestown liaison Stephen Collins at 457-5502.

* September Newspaper Recycling . . . The Boston Public Works Department is recycling newspapers every other week in Charlestown. Bundles should be placed in plain view out with your trash by 6:30 a.m.

Newspaper recycling for the month of September in Charlestown is this week and the weeks of the 13th and the 27th. Newspaper recycling takes place every other week in all weather, rain or shine.

Residents are asked to place newspapers only in brown paper bags separate from their regular trash. Please remember: plastic bags, old mail, office paper, telephone books, magazines and cardboard will not be accepted.

Do your share to help the environment by recycling. Recycling saves trees, saves water and is easy to do.

For more information on your street schedule, call John McCarthy at 635-4959.

* Tobin Bridge Traffic Advisory . . . The Everett Avenue on-ramp in Chelsea is closed to traffic through Oct. 15. The redecking project on the upper level will be moving to the right lane, prohibiting access to the upper level from the Everett Avenue on-ramp. Motorists are advised to used the 5th Street on-ramp in Chelsea as an alternative.

★ 900 Telephone Calls . . . Four residents have reported telephone bills with from $100 to $900 in 900 telephone charges on this month's bill. Two were from Harvard Street, one was from the Courtyard Condominiums and the fourth was from Tremont Street.

Rick Colon, spokesperson for New England Telephone, stated that the company has a "liberal adjustment policy" the first time such calls appear and are denied by the telephone subscriber. He said, however, in many instances such calls are made by friends or young people who will not admit making them.

Colon advised that a blocking service that prevents access to 900 telephone numbers is available to customers through the business office. He added that if a customer wanted to pursue the matter further, they should request a technician through the repair office who would check the lines, poles and connections. He did state that this was time consuming and somewhat costly.

The Massachusetts Biomedical Research Corporation, located in Cambridge, MA, has contributed $180,000 for a program called "Smart Choices for Charlestown." The program is designed to help Charlestown agencies meet the health and human service needs of the community.

The Biomedical Research Corporation has asked the Administration of Massachusetts General Hospital's (MGH) Community Health Associates to coordinate the application process. Funding up to $30,000 for a one-year period will be awarded to agencies serving the Charlestown community. Letters have been mailed to community agencies and organizations.

A simple process has been developed for agencies to apply for funding. All applications will be reviewed by an impartial committee. The application deadline has been changed from September 1, 1993 until September 17, 1993 for an award start date of October 15, 1993.

If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact the administration of the MGH-Community Health Associates at (617) 884-8300 x419.

DiLibero Speaks Out On Water & Sewer

Maria DiLibero, candidate for the District One Boston City Council seat, presented the following proposal on the Boston Water & Sewer Commission:

"The reason why Boston homeowners are being faced with outrageous bills for water and sewer service is that the Boston Water & Sewer Commission must purchase both water and charges for use of the sewer system at prices set by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MW-RA). When it comes to purchasing our supply of drinking water, the MWRA is the only game in town and these bills show that the game has become onesided.

"Every one of us wants to see a clean Boston Harbor.

Every one of us realizes what a resource the harbor is because in this district we can look out our windows and see it every day. And yet, what does it say about a government that charges homeowners, young and old alike, those retired people living on fixed incomes and young families just starting out, to pay thousands of dollars for the privilege of turning on their faucets in order to pay for this court ordered clean-up. What does it say about our government when we look to restore the harbor to the condition in which fish can return to swim, but people can no longer live in their homes?

"The answer, I am convinced, is in a scaled-down version of the project in which we simply admit we cannot afford the Cadillac of water treatment facilities and instead concentrate on one that is dependable, reliable and doesn't send us to the poor house. Why is it that only government doesnot understand when we, the voters, say we cannot afford something?

"Next, Boston Harbor, which lies literally at our doorstep, is a resource for the entire state. We need to aggressively conserve that resource and, as city councillor, I would work to ensure that the Boston Water & Sewer Commission extend its efforts to take the lead in installing water saving devices in homes and businesses across the city as part of their basic service.

'Given the fact that the federal government seems to be out of the clean water business, even though the $100 million promised by Congressman Moakley is much appreciated, it becomes appropriate for the state to step in and pay more of its fair share. After all, it was the state government that dragged its feet on the clean-up of the Boston Harbor when these federal dollars were available. As a city councillor, I would be a strong voice in lobbying the state to both increase the amount of funds it pays directly toward clean-up costs as well as making a portion of water and sewer bills deductible on state income taxes. Finally, we need to re-allocate the burden of paying for the harbor cleanup away from homeowners and require that polluters assume more of their rightful burden.'

Jenkins Announces For City-Wide Council Seat

Attorney Eddie Jenkins has announced that he is a candidate for a city-wide council seat.

Jenkins, who ran for Suffolk County District Attorney in 1990, garnered 34,000 votes against longtime incumbent Newman Flanagan. Jenkins was also one of the two finalists for appointment to the Suffolk County District Attorney's office following Flanagan's decision to take another job.

An attorney in private practice with the firm of Johnson and Jenkins, he is a graduate of Holy Cross College and Suffolk Law School.

Jenkins also played professional football with the Miami Dolphins, the New England Patriots, the Buffalo Bills and the New York Giants.

As an attorney for the U.S. Department of Labor, Jenkins was co-counsel with Ken Yablonski and won a landmark decision against Consolidation Coal Co. for violation of health and safety rights of mining workers. He is also a former Middlesex County Assistant District Attorney who was active in the Priority Prosecution Unit.

Active in his community, he is a board member of the Jamaica Plain Community School, vice president of the Mass. Black Lawyers Association and co-director of 1000 Black Men, a teen mentoring group.

Jenkins said he is running for city-wide city councillor because: "I am willing to take a stand because we can no longer tolerate the devastation of racism, poverty, abuse against children, women and persons of different sexual orientation. These things wreak havoc upon our families and our communities. We need to rid ourselves of the things that divide, isolate, foster fear and oppress. It's time to embrace a new philosophy that encourages all people to work together in mutual respect and harmony." (political announcement)

The 8.1D Mod 5 tunnel/ bridge proposal put forward in 1992 by the BDRC and supported by Salvucci's successor Richard Taylor, would have resulted in expansion of the Esplanade and Cambridgeside parks through the North Station area to the entrance of the Charles River and the Charlestown Navy Yard. The focal point would have been a cable-stay suspension bridge over the Charles acting as a gateway to the cities of Boston and Cambridge.

Unfortunately, for those hoping that the state would take advantage of this opportunity to improve one of its greatest natural resources, things have changed dramatically in recent weeks. Newly appointed Transportation Secretary James J. Kerasiotes is now calling 8.1D Mod 5 too expensive and environmentally risky due to its inclusion of tunnels under and near the Charles River. He instead is promoting the adoption of an all-bridge plan that is very close in design to the universallyrejected Scheme Z.

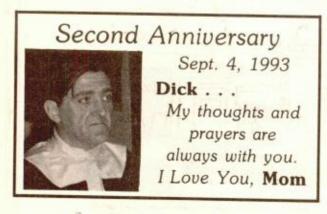

"It is really a shame to see us back to square one with this project," said Daniel T. King, a member of the BDRC and a founder of Citizens For A Liveable Charlestown, one of the numerous community groups started in opposition to Scheme Z. "Many people put a lot of effort into coming up with a plan that was both functional and greatly enhanced this area of the city. In a time when there is talk of spending $700 million on a Megaplex to bring conventions and convention dollars to Boston, it is unbelievable that we also are planning to ruin our valuable waterfront simply in an effort to save a few dollars on a multi-billion dollar bill."

This type of short-range outlook in government, which often has long-term consequences, can be traced to another project built less than a generation ago. Back in the 1950s, the elevated Central Artery was hailed as a breakthrough and the best alternative for Boston's traffic problems. Today in the 1990s, as we are planning to spend several billion dollars to correct that improper diagnosis, people are asking if we are about to make the same mistake again by putting 14 lanes of bridge, equal to the length of a football field, across the Charles River Gateway.

As part of their opposition to 8.1D Mod 5, the new leaders of the Mass. Executive Office of Transportation now claim that building tunnels will impact negatively on the environment in the North Station/Charles River Gateway area. Yet these same people are actively championing tunnels as the answer in South Boston and Downtown, saying that tunneling under the Fort Point Channel is alright for the environment while tunneling under the Charles River is environmentally hazardous.

King went on to say that these leaders also claim that since the North Station/ Charles River Gateway area is already unsightly, it should remain that way. If that same logic was used in the past, there would be no Faneuil Hall, no Rowes Wharf and no Cambridgeside Galleria. Back in the early part of this century, the Charles River Basin was a tidal cesspool; however, thanks to the efforts of several people, including James Storrow and Charles Elliott, today millions enjoy the Esplanade and Memorial Drive. With construction of the Shawmut Center/ New Boston Garden now underway, and plans for depression of the MBTA's Green Line moving ahead, many feel now is the time to completely rehabilitate the entire North Station area, including its waterfront on the Charles.

During the last decade, several areas of Boston have undergone transformations that have greatly enriched the city. For example, in the South End, Back Bay and Charlestown, the use of gas lights, brick walks, clapboard and repointed brick have returned an historic 19th century appearance to these neighborhoods. Along Boston Harbor, new parks and public space have given residents and visitors alike a chance to enjoy the natural beauty of the city's waterfront.

"Here in Charlestown,

Kverek, a local realtor and president of the Charlestown Preservation Society. "Several million dollars has been spent over the past few years to restore one of the city's most historic areas. From the beauty of the Navy Yard to the grandeur of Bunker Hill to the gas lights on Main Street, we have witnessed a renaissance of this neighborhood. It would be terrible to see that wasted for the sake of a few uncaring politicians who simply wish to build a cheaper roadway at the expense of our city's future."

The cost of the Charles River crossing has been a major stumbling block in getting final approval on a design. The 8.1D Mod 5 tunnel/bridge proposal put forward by the BDRC cost more than the all-bridge design now being promoted by Kerasiotes, although the real cost of any design has not been completely determined.

For example, Scheme Z is still talked about as a $500 million project even though that figure is several years out-of-date. Today the tunnel/bridge proposal is projected to cost $1.3 billion while an all-bridge design comes in just under $1 billion. However, since these costs will be spread over several years, the difference is indiscernible when compared to the visual and environmental impact of a 14lane, 300-foot bridge structure over the Charles River.

According to a recent report published by Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government, many transportation

Knights of Columbus Hall. At a similar meeting in 1991, over 500 people turned out to voice their opposition to Scheme Z. This year's meeting may well involve a rematch of community interests versus state government. As each side in the debate prepares for battle, the fate of both local communities and the Charles River Gateway hangs in the balance.

Ask Congressman Kennedy To Take Leading Role

The Hon. Joseph P. Kennedy II U.S. Congress Schraft Center 529 Main St. Charlestown, Mass. 02129 Dear Congressman Kennedy:

As you may have heard, the Central Artery/Tunnel Project is about to start public meetings on a final design for the Charles River Crossing section of the highway. Unfortunately, after almost three years of meetings and input from community leaders acting in good faith, Mass. Highway and Federal Highway are once more trying to push forward with a design that will severely impact the Charles River and the surrounding communities. Just three years ago, with your help, many concerned business and community leaders successfully rallied against the proposed "Scheme Z" crossing that was presented as the only possible solution by then Transportation Secretary Fred Salvucci. That monstrosity of ramps and bridges would have forever blighted the Charles River. Today, in 1993, we again face a similar threat with a proposed 14-lane river crossing; a bridge structure that will, if built, be the widest in the world!! Like their predecessors, current transportation officials are saying this is the only alternative that will actually work and they are promoting it by using the usual "rigged" information in hopes that this time they will prevail. What makes this situation especially distressing is the fact that a broad spectrum of people, including the Bridge Design Review Committee (BDRC) formed by Gov. Weld, put a tremendous amount of time into working toward a solution that would benefit the cities of Boston and Cambridge and make the entrance to the Charles River a "gateway" to this magnificent natural resource. Now, instead of accepting the solution that was unanimously selected by the 43-member BDRC, Mass Highway and Federal Highway are pushing the one design that most certainly will invite legal action and threaten the viability of the entire Central Artery/Tunnel Project.

we have seen what happens when people take an interest in revitalizing a neighborhood," said Rosemary

Michael Travaglini, candidate for Boston City Council At-Large, pledges to fight for continued funding of youth programs across the city.

"Having taken part in many youth programs, including Pop Warner, as a kid growing up in East Boston, I am very aware of the importance of these organizations and the role they play in the community. It is impossible to name every benefit a youngster derives from these programs but the top three in my opinion would be: 1) increased selfesteem; 2) learning to work with others; and 3) a sense of pride from having accomplished your goals," stated Travaglini. These programs provide an opportunity for teens to develop their skills and challenge themselves in a structured environment.

'The pressures placed on young people today make the Boys & Girls Club, CYO, Youth Hockey and other such programs even more important than when I was growing up. Unfortunately, given cutbacks in educational and youth program funding by the state and city, many extracurricular activities formerly supported by or housed in local schools are now only available through the hard work of a small group of dedicated individuals," noted Travaglini.

"The responsibility the city has to our young peo-

Travaglini is determined that if he is elected as one of the four at-large city councillors he will continue to support porgrams within the town and for the youth of Charlestown, and work toward giving inner-city youth the chance they need to develop into self-assured, caring adults.

Travaglini looks forward to working with community organizations and agencies throughout the city to target how the city of Boston can best serve its young people. He explained, "If city revenues are insufficient to allow us to develop programs for youngsters and teens that build a positive self-image, are educa-

Given my background as a kid who grew up in East Boston, who worked hard and ended up in a major law firm in Boston, I feel that my personal experiences and ties to the business community would open doors that have been closed to previous members of the council."

Travaglini expressed his enthusiasm for taking on issues of importance to him and the city of Boston, "I was given choices as I grew up and thanks to my family, coaches, teachers and other strong adult role models, I was able to make intelligent decisions. I want to ensure that these options are available for every child growing up in Boston, and if elected to serve as your at-large city councillor, I will do everything in my power to assist young people to take responsibility for themselves and their city." (political release)

Susi has a crew on-site working on the punchlist which is being finalized from all of the city agencies, the community liaison, the engineers and the Boston Redevelopment Authority. Inspections have been performed on almost all of the new storm drain manholes and catchbasins for the Boston Water and Sewer Commission.

There are still a few gas lights waiting for parts so they can be installed and the rest of the trees will be selected in the next week or so for the fall planting. When the trees are planted, the landscaper will finish the tree pits around the existing trees and level the new tree pits that have settled. At the same time, a few trees that have died will also have to be replaced.

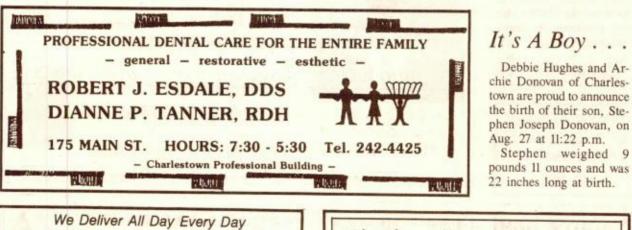

The subcontractors for the traffic signs and pavement markings are expected to begin in a week or so. The signs are presently being manufactured. Their work will take approximately two weeks.

The 40 Flights project is complete and a final inspection is expected this week or next. The last pay estimate and final paper work will then be done and the project closed out.

Healthy Charlestown Coalition

It takes a whole village to raise a child.

The Healthy Charlestown Coalition (HCC) recently kicked off an intensive six-month planning process to find innovative solutions to Charlestown's most pressing needs with a well-attended community meeting on Aug. 9. At that meeting and a subsequent committee meeting, the scope of the needs assessment to be conducted over the fall was narrowed to a workable size. Although very many issues and concerns were raised, it was felt that prioritizing them early would lead to a more focused outcome. The next steps will include: a survey in the Patriot and at community locales in late September or early October, focus groups and community meetings.

The HCC hopes to get the ideas and input of as many residents as possible through this process. There will be an opportunity on Saturday, Sept. 18 for residents to come together to share their vision of what a healthy Charlestown would look like. It makes sense to begin the planning process with shared ideas about where we'd like to be heading. Details about this important workshop will be available in the coming weeks.

The Coalition plans to hire two or three community residents to be trained to help conduct this needs/ resource assessment (see advertisement elsewhere in this week's Patriot). It should be an interesting and informative process for anyone interested in getting to know more about the whole community.

The HCC meets regularly and is open to all who live or work in Charlestown. The next meeting will be at noon on Monday, Sept. 13 at St. Mary's Parish Hall, 48 Winthrop St.

For more information, please call Joanne Massaro, Coalition coordinator, at 241-3756.

MAZOW INSURANCE AGENCY Two Dexter Row Charlestown, MA 02129 242-0321

French-Canadian theatrical circus, is coming to Boston for the first time and will present its new show "Saltimbanco" starting Sept. 9.

The trademark blue and yellow big top will be raised on the Fan Pier next to The World Trade Center Boston tentatively on Sept. 3. The raising of the 2500seat tent takes seven days.

The engagement marks Cirque de Soliel's first ever appearance in Boston. "Saltimbanco" features all the thrills and excitement theatre-goers have come to expect from Cirque de Soliel with diverse performances by an equally diverse international cast. The troupe includes 40 performers (the youngest of which is 7 years old) and 70 artists is the Canadian gold medalist trapeze team of Karyne and Sarah Steben, identical twins who actually catch each other by their ankles rather than their hands.

Tickets are available for all shows, Sept. 9 through 19. Performances are Tuesday through Thursday evenings at 8 p.m.; Fridays at 6 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. (Friday, Sept. 10 performance at 8 p.m.); Saturdays at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.; Sundays at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. There will be no performance on Mondays. Tickets are $12.50 to $33.50 for adults and $6 to $21.50 for children 12 and under. For tickets, call the Cirque du Soleil box office at 426-0611 or Ticketmaster at 931-2000.

James E. Costello Calls For More Federal Aid In Water-Sewer Rate Crisis

District One City Council candidate James Costello recently stated that the present water and sewer rate crisis is not only one of the most significant crises facing Boston and its neighborhoods, but illustrates the need for leadership at every level of government.

"This water rate crisis should never have been allowed to reach this point," said Costello. "It was no secret that water and sewer rates were going to skyrocket and there was little doubt as to the impact on the neighborhoods and the business climate of this city. It was clear that the cities and towns that surround the harbor were going to be unfairly taxed to support the MWRA project and it was also clear that the state would be unable to significantly reduce the burden."

Costello said the question is not whether the harbor should or should not be cleaned up. Allowing it to exist in its present state would be tantamount to allowing an open sewer to exist in one's back yard. The harbor needs help, but not on the back of a limited number of people.

"What is at issue is equity, justice and economics," said Costello. "The harbor is a state and national resource, not just a city and regional resource. It is a resource that has been abused and neglected by the federal and local governments as well as businesses well back into the past. Equity and justice demand that a significant burden for the repair of this abused resource be shared at the state and federal level.

Costello went on to say that if equity and justice were not sufficient reasons for the state and federal government to take on a greater share of the costs, then perhaps they should consider the issue from a purely economic viewpoint. Boston cannot develop in an economically unhealthy environment and, in this case, high water and sewer rates are very unhealthy because they seriously diminish the competitive edge many companies need to start and maintain their operations. Greater Boston's economy has state, regional and national implications. It impacts on the quality of life of individuals, neighborhoods and whole regions. Because metropolitan Boston is a national and international center of commerce its condition has national implications.

"So, there's no lack of reasons for real relief from the state and federal government," said Costello. "What's needed is leadership and that's what I hope to offer by my candidacy. I have said over and over again that elected public officials have a dual responsibility, the first to carry out their official role and the second to assume the nonethe-less important unofficial role as a public leader on critical social issues."

Costello said that the harbor clean-up project is too important to the economy of the city and the health of its citizens to be cut back. but added that the state and federal government must assume more of the financial responsibility.

"Our congressional delegation needs to put the pressure on for 90 percent funding of the project by the federal government. This is not unusual for a project of this size and kind," said Costello.

A practicing attorney, Costello said that the city must use every legal avenue available to protect the people from this unfair tax.

"We started a revolution in this country because of unfair taxes and the present water rate structure amounts to an unfair tax. People really don't care whether it's a king or a judge who places an unjust burden on them, and they often do something about it. People are funny like that," concluded Costello. ferry service on the neighborhood of Charlestown, police officers will be on site. One police officer will be stationed at the Medford Street entrance to the site and the other police officer will be stationed at the intersection of Bunker Hill, Medford and Main streets.

The MWRA will be providing a 24-hour telephone service for residents who wish to contact the authority regarding activities at the Mystic River site. The phone will be staffed from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the number is 241-6057. When the phone is not staffed, a recorded message will be taken and answered the following business day. The MWRA/Charlestown liaison is Vincent Ragucci.

The MWRA will continue to work cooperatively with the community, sharing information and incorporating the community's input on matters of environmental impact and mitigation.

HAPPENINGS At The Charlestown Working Theater 442 Bunker Hill St.

PIANO LESSONS

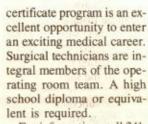

The Charlestown Working Theater is pleased to announce that it will be offering free piano lessons on Saturday mornings, starting in mid-September. Classes are offered to kids 7 through 18, and each student will have a half-hour private lesson with the teacher, Steve Lantner.

Steve received a B.M. and a M.M. from the Berklee College of Music. He has performed throughout New York and New England, at the Boston Globe Jazz Festival, the Cleveland Jazz Fest and on WGBH Radio. He has been teaching privately for five years, and is currently affiliated with the Cambridge Public School System.

Because we wish to be able to offer each student a private lesson, we are limited to six students who are seriously interested in learning the piano. Additionally, we will schedule practice times on Monday afternoons for those students who may not have access to a piano. Give us a call at 242-3285.

SUMMER AT THE CWT

This summer has been a busy time here at the CWT. We have been planning our children and young adult classes for the fall and presented the Women in Arts production of "Cinderella." "Cinderella" proved a great success, winning praise from both children and adults. We are working with the group Women in Art to bring a Halloween show to the theater, complete with a haunted house and, of course, our popular face painting.

8600, ext. 290.

MARRY ME!

Beginning Oct. 4, Cicatrix Theater Co. will bring its brand new show "Marry Me!" to the CWT. "Marry Me!" is a spoof on film noir and, knowing this bunch, it will be filled with music, dancing and hilarity. Cicatrix presented its show "Itchin' for it" here at the theater last spring.

GIVE US A CALL

The CWT could use your advice. Since we are now planning our fall and winter classes, we need to know what the best times are to hold these classes. Kids in this town are lucky enough to have many activities available to them, and we would like to make up our schedule with this in mind.

If your child might be interested in taking acting classes and workshops, please give us a call. We'd really appreciate your input. The number at the CWT is 242-3285, and please give us a call for more information on upcoming shows and classes.

See you soon at the theater!

TOWNIE SPORTS LINE

Townies At Garvey Park . . . Congratulations to the two Charlestown teams that participated in the weekend's Garvey Park Street Hockey Tournament. The old timer's team included Peter Looney, Jim Sullivan, Kevin Tkachuk, Ed McElaney, Lance LaFrenniere, Jimmy Hingston, Joe Doherty, Billy McKillop, Mark Gorman, Billy Nolan and Paul Allen. Charlestown Pride members included Chris Russell, Todd Fisher, Anthony Matson, Mike Walsh, Jimmy Gillen, Jason MacDonald, Ronnie Poole, Dan Martell, Billy Kempton and Tommy McGrath.

The Pride Team defeated Milton 8-7 in its tournament opener, but lost to a Dorchester team in the quarter-finals. It was also great to see so many come out to support these teams. Their presence was greatly appreciated.

Sponsorship for the Charlestown Pride team was made possible through a grant given to the Andy Puopolo Club by the Mass. Water Resources Authority (MWRA).

Girls Ball Hockey . . . Playoffs are now underway. We are down to the championship series and it's a dandy. The Lancers advanced to the final two by knocking off the Cheezy Chicks and the Parkies moved on, stinging Newtowne in the semi-finals.

In the championship series, the Lancers took game one, thanks in a large part to the outstanding goaltending of Laureen Jones, who made some clutch saves in the final minutes, but the Parkies roared back in game two behind the leadership of veteran Peggy Suprey, who would like to add another trophy to her collection.

BOB D'S BEAT by

Bob DeCristoforo

Game three, the championship game, takes place this week

Project Discovery . . . Donny Kelsey, Greg McNeil and Jimmy Tallent paid a visit to the New England Pro-Am Hockey Camp at Boston University during the week and saw many of our local NHL stars prepare for their upcoming training camps. Some of the players participating were: Keith Tkachuk, Tommy Fitzgerald, Ted Donato, Steve Heinze, Kevin Stevens and Brian Noonan, who drove us to Fenway Park, our next stop.

At Fenway we had a chance to tour the park, sit in the Red Sox dugout and venture out to left field to greet the "Green Monster." Project Discovery is a part of the Bunker Hill Youth On The Rise program.

Old Colony Basketball . . . Charlestown Pride was defeated by the Brian Wallace Club 52-46. Jason Gallagher had 18 points and Steve Fabiano, in a rare guest appearance, had 15 points. This Sunday we are scheduled to play Bayside at 5:30 p.m.

College Bound . . . Many of our young Townies are either returning to college this week or beginning their college days. I'm quite excited about the fact that each and every one of them are anxious to get going and pursue their educational goals, objectives and dreams. College days are great days. To each of you, have a great year! To the "Freshmen" parents, don't fret, they'll be home before you know it, and remember, this is also your dream come true. Congratulations!

Tidbits . . .

Birthday best to Dineen Nolan and Shannon "Colleen" Murray.

Good luck to Jesse MacDonald who is off to Barry College in Florida, and to Marnie Ryan who begins her college career at North Adams State.

Robbie Murray's friends are planning to get him a "T" bus pass, and Kim Weafer's friends are also planning to get her a pass, it's much faster!

Have A Great Labor Day . . . Smile!

Sober Golf Day -A Tribute To Jimmy Donovan

Friends of Jimmy Donovan are planning the first annual Sober Golf Day on Saturday, Sept. 18 as a tribute to the memory of Jimmy who died on April 18 at the age of 23. The event, which will include nine holes of golf, volleyball, horseshoes, a barbeque and prizes, will get underway at 8 a.m. at the Lynnfield Golf

A team from Charlestown will join the fight against breast cancer on Sunday, Sept. 26 by walking in Making Strides Against Breast Cancer, a five-mile fund-raising walk in Boston to benefit the American Cancer Society.

Rose Agrippino of Charlestown, who is putting together the Mystic Valley Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Team, has set a goal of recruiting 50 people for a day of "fun raising" and fund raising for an important cause.

Center. The proceeds of the Golf Day will go toward a scholarship fund in his name for students of Charlestown Catholic Elementary School.

Jimmy was a member of the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club and was active in a variety of sports. He was considered to be a good athlete and, prior to his death, he had taken up golf as a hobby. Jimmy was a parishioner of St. Catherine's and was a student a Bunker Hill Community College.

Organizing Charlestown Team For Five-Mile Walk To Fight Breast Cancer

"Today everyone knows someone who has been touched by breast cancer," said Agrippino, noting that breast cancer has been declared an epidemic in Massachusetts. "Just being a woman is the greatest risk factor for breast cancer, so early detection is vitally important. More women can survive breast cancer if the disease is found early enough and effectively treated."

The Making Strides Against Breast Cancer

route starts and ends at the Hatch Shell on Boston's scenic Charles River Esplanade. Registration begins at 10 a.m., and the walk starts at 11 a.m. For more information about joining the group from Charlestown, call the American Cancer Society's Arlington office at 643-3010.

Agrippino said that more money for research is needed to provide a fuller understanding of the cause of the disease. "I got involved because I am a breast cancer survivor," she said.

Townies Shut Out By Ocean State

by Sean P. Smyth

For the fourth straight week, the Charlestown Townies scored less than seven points, as the Ocean State Buccaneers defeated the Townies for the second week 10-0 on Aug. 27 at the Charlestown High School Field in Eastern Football League action.

Neither team was advancing the ball well until Charlestown fumbled it over to the Bucs late in the first half, deep in their own territory. Four plays later, OSB's Anildo Goncalves kicked a 26-yard field goal with 0:03 left in the second period to give Ocean State a 3-0 halftime lead.

The Buccanneers also capitalized on the opening kickoff in the second half. Thirteen plays and 71 yards later OSB's Dana Rodriguez ran into the end zone from 13 yards out, giving OSB the 10-0 final margin of victory.

The Townies (2-5) will look to snap out of their offensive funk when they take on the cross-town rival Bos3 at the East Boston Stadium. Kickoff is at 8 p.m. This will be a big game as it is the battle for the league's last playoff spot.

Approximately 5,100 Massachusetts women will be diagnosed with breast cancer this year, and 1,300 Bay State women will die from the disease, according to the American Cancer Society. Local breast cancer programs sponsored by the society include Reach to Recovery, a one-on-one support program for women with breast cancer; breast self examination and teaching in schools and workplaces; and low-cost mammography screening.

All the dollars raised through Making Strides Against Breast Cancer will support these local American Cancer Society programs as well as scientific research into breast cancer, and advocacy work to ensure that every woman has access to high quality, affordable mammograms.

TRYOUTS

Tryouts for major league teams for the 1994 season will be held on Friday, Sept. 10 and Saturday, Sept. 11 at 5 p.m. down "The Neck." There will be no major league tryouts next April. We are attempting to avoid the cold and rain. Let's hope for good weather!

Players must be 9-years-old before Aug. 1, 1994 and not older than 13 before Aug. 1, 1994, to be eligible.

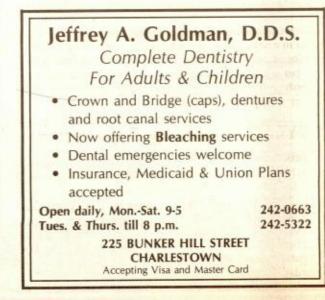

At this time, players are only required to bring a copy of their birth certificates for the league files, unless one was previously submitted.

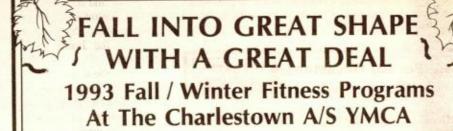

Tryouts for all 8-year-olds for the minor league will be held in the spring.

Registration for all players will take place at a later date. Players already on major league rosters do not have to try out.

BANQUET.

The annual banquet will be held at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 23 at the K. of C. upper hall, 75 West School St. There will be pizza, trophies, raffles and more excitement than Jurassic Park dinosaurs chasing the Fugitive. This year's show will be a Revue and we will need many more performers to assure its success. There will be songs, dance routines, comedy, solos, skits, speciality numbers, etc. The director of the show will be Ed Rooney.

Many Charlestown people have fond memories of their earlier days of being involved in parish shows at St. Catherine's, St. Francis and St. Mary's. We want to bring those days back for today's generation. Please entertain the thought and maybe come on down. Our first practice for teen-agers 13 to 19 and adults of all ages will be at 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 13 at St. Catherine's Hall on Tufts Street.

Singing Priests To Appear In Charlestown — The Singing Priests will be in Charlestown for a concert at 3 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 12 at Charlestown High School on Medford Street.

Tickets are $10 each and are available at St. Catherine's Rectory, 49 Vine St., telephone 242-1750. Anyone who purchased tickets for the March 14 show may use those tickets at the door.

The Singing Priests, who have been entertaining thousands of people for over 20 years, will be taking a welldeserved rest after September and will not be making any scheduled appearances for a while. Their show includes highlights from the past, show tunes, solos, humor and tributes to musical greats.

We invite people of all ages to join us in a Charlestown tribute to the priests who serve many of us. This show should be a sell out! Why not be one of the crowd? The proceeds of the show will benefit St. Catherine's Parish.

 Religious Education Classes (CCD) — All public school children in grades 1 through 8 are invited and encouraged to attend religious education classes at St. Catherine's each week.

Registration will be held from noon to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 11 in St. Catherine's lower church, and from 9 a.m. to noon on Sunday, Sept. 12 in the lower rectory. The registration fee is $15, or $25 for a family of two or more.

CCD classes begin on Sunday, Sept. 19 with the Children's Mass at 9 a.m., followed by CCD classes from 10 to 11 a.m.

• Adult Confirmation Classes — We will be offering four classes for adults 18 years and over who would like to receive their confirmation. Over the past couple of years, we have prepared over 75 Charlestown adults for the Sacrament of Confirmation.

The classes will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 21 and Wednesdays, Sept. 22, Sept. 29 and Oct. 6, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in St. Catherine's lower church. The confirmation ceremony will take place on Sunday, Oct. 17.

Classes will be given by Fathers Coyne, Mottau and Casey. Topics covered will be Sacraments, Church/Prayer, Morality and Scriptures.

Those who have requested information will receive a letter. If you would like to be confirmed, please call Father Coyne at 242-1750 and a letter will be mailed to you, or you may just come to class on Tuesday, Sept. 21 and register. You must be present for all four classes.

• Red Sox Tickets — We have 40 tickets for the Red Sox vs. Tigers game on Monday, Sept. 27 at 7:35 p.m. Tickets are $3.50 each for bleacher seats, and will go on sale Tuesday, Sept. 7 at the rectory.

• Boys Ball Hockey League — St. Catherine's will sponsor a boys ball hockey league this fall for boys 10 to 14. All games will be played in the old and new cages at 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The cost is $5 per person and registration will be held in the lower rectory on Wednesday, Sept. 15 at 3:30 p.m. Team captains will be selected and teams will be made up at this meeting. Please have the $5 registration fee with you at sign ups. Games will be Sept. 20 and continue through Nov. 5 with playoffs beginning the following week.

• Interparish Track Meet — Every year, St. Catherine's enters the CYO Interparish Track Meet held at St. John's Seminary in Brighton on Monday, Oct. 11, the Columbus Day holiday. There will be 15 parishes competing in relay races, sack races, 50-yard dash, softball throw, 100-yard dash and wheelbarrow races. There are six age divisions: 7-9 boys, 7-9 girls, 10-12 boys, 10-12 girls, 13-14 boys and 13-14 girls.

I'm Simply A Former Resident

Dear Friends;

Recently an acquaintance called my home to castigate me for daring to involve myself in community activities. According to this individual, I should refrain from participating in town activities since I no longer live in the community. In response to the above I would like to offer the following information as to why I will continue to involve myself in town activities:

· I truly care about Charlestown and its future and have remained active in a number of charitable, social and political causes since moving from "the town I love so well."

· I believe that all of us have a stake in the future of our urban areas, especially Charlestown.

· I continue to defend Charlestown whenever I feel the community has been assailed. On numerous occasions I have contacted the news media (TV, radio and print) to complain about negative stories concerning Charlestown and its residents.

· I have many friends and relatives still residing in town and, while I am happy in my new community, I do miss these

Thank You, Parents

This letter is to thank the parents of the boys who sprayed paint on our property.

We often hear the saying, "The parents are to blame." These parents heard through the grapevine what their boys did. They called us on the phone to apologize, then brought their children to our home to say they were sorry. The kids were here on Saturday with temperatures in the mid-90s, to scrub and clean the wall, with their parents supervising.

We all know this was a lesson well-learned. We felt bad that they had to work in all that heat. The parents said, "It was just as hot when they did it." Isn't it nice to know there are parents like this out there. We want to thank them for their consideration. Parents who back up other parents can really make a difference. We thank them, and thank the boys, the wall is as good as new. Sincerely, individuals. It wasn't easy leaving a community in which I spent the first 36 years of my life. Of those 36 years the first 23 were proudly spent in the Bunker Hill Housing Development where my family still resides. I am also proud to be a member of Charlestown High Schools' Class of '72.

In response to those who believe that involvement in Charlestown's activities should be the preserve of only residents of the town I'd like to offer the following:

If only Charlestown residents are to be allowed to participate in town activities it would logically follow that -

· All public sector employees who are non-residents should refrain from performing their service in Charlestown. As a result all fire, police, emergency personnel, public works, parks and recreation workers, teachers, etc., should be banned from the community unless they are residents.

· All restaurants, shops, bars, etc. whose owners and employees are not residents should be closed.

· All charitable and social organizations should ban nonresidents from participating in their activities.

· If non-residents are not allowed to participate in Charlestown activities then Charlestown residents should not be able to participate in activities in other communities

· All doctors, nurses, dentists and other medical and public health professionals should not be allowed to practice unless they are residents.

I could go on ad infinitum, however, the point is . . . The assumption or belief that only Charlestown residents may participate in town activities is extremely counter-productive to Charlestown's long-term interests and success. People should focus their energies on working together rather than promoting divisiveness. Your friend,

David Flanagan

P.S.: To my Townie friends who read this, remember, there is no such thing as a former Townie. I'm simply a former resident. D.F.

Adolph Resigns As Chairman Of Christmas Walk

To All Charlestown Christmas Walk Committee Members: I regret that I must give you notice of my intent to resign as Chairman of the Charlestown Christmas Walk. My decision is irrevocable and effective immediately.

During the past six years, the Christmas Walk has grown from an obscure neighborhood party to a large important citywide holiday event attended by many thousands of people.

The original intent of the walk was to bring the entire community together for a day of free fun and entertainment, to allow neighbor to meet neighbor and to raise funds for a local charity. Over the years, this objective has been basically met with few obstacles. However, although this event has been a very positive one for me and the community, I find I no longer have the time, energy and funds to devote to the many months required each year to put this event together.

I wish to thank all of the volunteers who helped this event to grow and who worked tirelessly for six to eight months each year to ensure it's success. I sincerely hope the walk will continue in the spirit in which it was started.

> Sincerely, Carol Adolph, chairman

The Charles River Crossing section of the Central Artery/ Tunnel provides us with an opportunity to correct past mistakes in urban planning and make Boston and Cambridge better cities for our children and grandchildren. When Scheme Z was a threat, your assistance in interceding on our behalf with the Federal Highway Department was enormously helpful. With this new proposal, certain questions and issues have been raised by Federal Highway and the Army Corps of Engineers without a full explanation as to their nature and in a way that muted any opportunity for public comment. As our congressman, we would ask that you take a leading role to rectify this situation and obtain clarification on this matter.

Since discussion about the various problems with this new proposal cannot be communicated in a simple letter, we would like to request a meeting with you to completely outline our concerns. Sincerely,

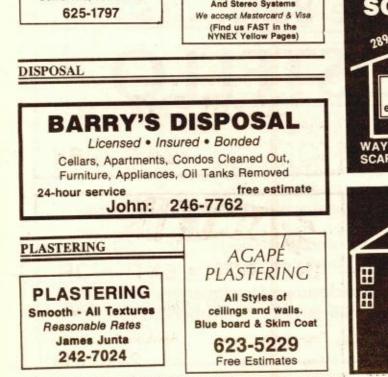

Daniel Geer, Cambridge Citizens For Liveable Neighborhoods; Carolyn Meese, Cambridge Democratic Committee; Judith Brennan, Chairman, Environmental

Committee, Charlestown Neighborhood Council; Rosemary Kverek, President, Charlestown Preservation Society;

For DISTRICT ONE BOSTON CITY COUNCIL

James E. Costello has new ideas . . . and the ability to achieve them!!!

- JAMES COSTELLO wants to ensure your sewer rates are fair and kept affordable.
- As an elected councilor, JAMES COSTELLO would demand your homes be provided with water-saving devices to be installed by the MWRA free of charge. This would conserve water and save you money.
- JAMES COSTELLO will also serve you by pushing the state to demand more federal dollars for rate relief.
- JAMES COSTELLO wants to work for a state tax credit for ratepayers who want to install more innovative water conserving plumbing systems. This would allow ratepayers to upgrade their homes through installing water-saving devices.
