Mind Tech Pill inks will say they fit in your printer, but when you come to put them in, you'll notice it just won't fit. Why? There are many reasons, but the most common is that the retailer sold you the wrong cartridge. Since most compatible inks come from abroad, you can have a tough time arranging a refund or exchange. Return shipping alone can be more expensive than the price of the cartridge.

2. And if it does fit, the chip won't work

If you're lucky enough for your compatible ink cartridge to fit, you'll notice that it has an electric chip attached. This chip should tell your printer how much ink is left. However, many chips are damaged when the cartridge is being refilled or packaged, leaving you with an expensive paperweight. Even worse, some compatible ink cartridges come with no chip at all!
