Wheeler Hosts NOVA In 'Haunted Cry Of A Long Gone Bird'

On June 3 1844, two museum collectors came ashore on a remote island off Iceland and strangled the last surviving pair of a magnificent flightless bird called the great auk. They also smashed the last egg.

A cousin of the penguin, the auk was once so abundant that no one could imagine that it would ever disappear, but eventually it did - from exploitation for food, feathers and (as did that final pair) to satisfy the desire of educated people to own a stuffed specimen of an increasingly rare thing.

NOVA explores the legacy of the great auk - via a 1,500-mile journey retracing its migratory route with educator, naturalist and expert kayaker Richard Wheeler of Charlestown - in "Haunted Cry of a Long Gone Bird," airing Tuesday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. on WGBH / Channel 2. It will repeat on Sunday, Oct. 30 at 7 p.m. on WGBX / Channel 44.

After graduating from Harvard University in 1952, Richard C. Wheeler served for two years as a U. S. Navy "Frogman."

Wheeler said: "At Harvard, I majored in English Literature and minored in swimming; in the Navy, I majored in swimming and minored in kayaking."

RICHARD WHEELER of Charlestown explores the legacy of the great auk via a 1,500-mile journey retracing its migratory route. The spectacular voyage will be shown on WGBH/Channel 2 at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 25 and repeats at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 30 on WGBX/Channel 44.

Kiwanis Club Announces Recipients Of College Book Grants

In an effort to support Charlestown youth who are attending college, The Kiwanis Club of Charlestown, this fall, offered to reimburse students for the cost of their college books.

Kiwanis pledged $1,500 for the endeavor and was very pleased by the response they got. Forty-two students applied for funds, and Kiwanis sent $80 to each of the first 20 applicants.

Students who did not receive reimbursement this year will receive priority consideration if they reapply for the program next year. Kiwanis hopes that this money will, in some way, help our youth as they face the challenge of completing their college educations.

This year's recipients and their colleges are: Paul Sullivan, Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC); Shannon Murray, St. Anselm; Jason Gallagher, Merrimack; Kelly Shea, Laboure; Keith Wallace, BHCC; Francis Wallace, BHCC; Joseph DeRoeve, Stonehill; Rachel Melough, BHCC; Kerri Gillen, Salem State; Michelle Gibbons, UMass Boston / Roxbury CC; Shawn Connolly, Stonehill; Michael Tibbetts, Wentworth IT.

Also, David Burns, Virginia Military Institute; Kimberly Payton, BHCC; Linda Golden, Suffolk; Jesse Morais, UMass-Boston; Thomas Halloran, UMass-Boston; Elizabeth Golden, American University; Lisa Bilo-deau, George Washington University; and Tim O'Brien, Hamilton College.

MONITORING CASH FLOW IN YOUR BUSINESS - PART 1

Any business owner who has fended off calls from unpaid creditors or has wondered how to meet the next payroll knows the importance of cash flow - and the frustration of being distracted by a cash shortage just when sales are booming. Yet, ironically enough, business success and cash shortages often go together. If those skyrocketing sales are on credit, they create a huge accounts receivable, which your company is funding. Your income statement may show a hefty profit, but profit doesn't pay bills - cash does! Profit is just an accounting measurement. Cash is reality. That's why understanding and controlling the cash flow in your business is so important.

There are three elements to cash-flow management: collecting cash as fast as possible, paying out cash as slowly as possible, and making the best use of the cash held in your business. You should understand the way cash flows through these three stages and the timing associated with each.

In every business, the major focus of the first stage must be monitoring the collection of receivables. This includes understanding the impact of factors such as the credit terms you offer and your approach to delinquent accounts.

The two keys to managing cash outflows are controlling your accounts payable and, more important, controlling inventory levels. Remember that every item held in inventory is tying up dollars that could be used elsewhere.

Finally, monitor the cash sitting idle in your bank accounts. Put any excess to work earning interest. Your goal should be to have cash available when you need it, but not before.

(Next week - practical tips for managing all three stages of the cash flow cycle.)

HOW CAN YOU KEEP TRACK OF IT ALL?

Looking at houses can become overwhelming for many prospective buyers. After a while, it can all run together, and you have trouble remembering which homes you liked a lot and which ones you didn't. When you're out looking, you can use a few tricks that good Realtors use to remember what we've seen.

Take a little spiral notebook and a pencil with you. Jot down the address of each house you see and make some notes on its major features. Write down one distinctive feature that will help you remember it. Maybe it had unusual moldings in the dining room, or perhaps there was a big apple tree in the back yard. If the house was of particular interest to you, put a big star on the top of the page to remind yourself that you'd like to see it again or even write an offer on it. If there are features for which you have a strong preference, or if you eliminate a house from consideration for any reason, be sure to tell the agent who is helping you. This way, the agent can show only the homes that meet your special needs, and save you a lot of time and effort in your search.

Local Contractors Encouraged To Attend Massport Workshop

In an effort to encourage local contractors to bid on Massport construction jobs, the agency is sponsoring a workshop on Massport bidding procedures and requirements on Thursday, Oct. 27 at the Logan Airport Harborside Hyatt Hotel from 9 to 11 a.m.

Citing the current residential sound insulation program as a prime example of available opportunities for local contractors, Massport Executive Director and CEO Stephen Tocco said that the seemingly complicated task of preparing bid documents should not deter local companies from bidding on Massport jobs.

As a public agency, Massport must adhere to a public bidding process and other applicable laws. "Many times, small firms which might qualify for a Massport project, don't submit a bid because they perceive the bidding process to be difficult and time consuming," Tocco continued, "and it can be, until someone shows you the ropes, which is what our team of Massport engineers and state officials intend to do."

The workshop will provide further details on the project, explain how to pre-qualify to meet bidding requirements, discuss the formation of joint ventures for a bid and other relevant information.

Because a contractor must be prequalified by the Department of Capital Planning and Operations (DC-PO), representatives from the DCPO will be present to answer questions.

For further information, call Susan Coppenrath at 973-5322.

★ "Stop Payment" Put On Check Cashing Businesses . . .

Boston's Zoning Commission voted to amend existing zoning laws to prevent future check cashing businesses from being able to open in Boston's neighborhoods without prior community review and approval by the Zoning Board of Appeal. Mayor Thomas M. Menino praised the commission's actions as he signed the amendment, which will take effect immediately.

Check cashing businesses would not be permitted in residential areas, in the smaller business districts, or in certain other areas where this use is inappropriate. In districts where new check cashing businesses may be acceptable, each business will be required to obtain a conditional use permit. Before issuing this permit, the Board of Appeal can require parking adequate to serve a high volume of customers, as well as mitigation of other impacts as appropriate to each site.

This zoning change responds to community concerns about the impacts of check cashing operations in the smaller business districts and in residential districts. Neighborhood associations indicated that check cashing businesses generally conduct a high volume of short transactions, often at late hours and with inadequate parking facilities.

★ Report Card On The Schools . . .

Wheeler Hosts NOVA In 'Haunted Cry of a Long Gone Bird'

(continued from page 1) Wheeler returned to Harvard for a Master of Arts in Teaching degree which he received in 1955 and began a 25-year career as teacher, coach and administrator at all three levels: elementary, secondary and university.

Awarded a Master Teacher Fellowship by Harvard in 1968-69, Wheeler went on to become the education and fisheries technical representative for the U. S. Peace Corps in the South Pacific. Wheeler noted: "I needed something to balance my 'War Corps' experience." He also spent a total of 15 years as headmaster of independent schools in Maine, California and Virginia.

Wheeler's most recent responsibility was a stint of over six years as director of the USS Constitution Museum in Charlestown.

Wheeler, now in his 60s, undertook a solo voyage from Newfoundland to Cape Cod that was both a tribute to the vanished bird and a campaign to increase awareness of modern-day marine species threatened with extinction. Parts of the trip are filmed as Wheeler's personal journal, recorded by a camera mounted on the kayak's bow - just behind a figurehead sculpture of the late, great auk.

His starting point was Funk Island, the scene of the auk's last stand on this side of the Atlantic. A sea-swept rock 40 miles from the northern coast of Newfoundland, Funk Island was home to the largest breeding colony of great auks in the world. There, the bird's annual cycle would start with thousands of pairs crawling out of the frigid water to lay and care for their single eggs.

The great auk was an even better swimmer than its close relatives, the murre and puffin. However, it could not fly and was awkward and vulnerable on land, and hence easy prey to early sailing ships that found it a convenient form of fast food.

After a harrowing crossing from Funk Island to Newfoundland, Wheeler did not have to paddle far to come face-to-face with a peril remarkably like that of the auk's. In village after village, he learned that the legendary fish stocks of Newfoundland's Grand Banks had never been lower.

Sailors who crossed to the banks from Europe in the 16th century were able to harvest fish by simply scooping baskets over the side. "But now," notes Wheeler, "you look down through the water and see nothing. It's beautiful, but where's the fish life?"

Gone to fiendishly effective harvesting methods, it happens. Grand Banks fishermen until recently, could earn a steady living using centuries-old methods, along with a few contemporary improvements. "Catches were good," Wheeler recalls from personal experience, since he himself fished the Grand Banks aboard a trawler in 1951.

But that was before "dragnets" - massive factory trawlers that "drag" nets 1,000 feet underwater and work areas never fished before. Cod gathering for their annual spawning had always been protected by the sea ice and the great depth, "but now they are easy targets," says Wheeler.

Fine-mesh nets used by such vessels capture young and old of all species, with little discrimination. Satellite navigation and electronic fish-finding equipment further stack the deck against the fish.

"The catches have been large and profitable, just like the harvest of auks from Funk Island - I hope we can learn from our old mistakes. That must be why the great auk keeps whispering warnings in my ear."

Wheeler states: "Celebrating the history of Old Ironsides was a great experience, but I'm far more comfortable as a kayaking naturalist than I was as a desk-bound naval historian.

"The Great Auk Project combines all of the things that make me 'tick': creative educational programming; my need for a worthwhile mission; and ocean kayaking.

"The good fortune of having Chris Knight agree to be the filmmaker for the Great Auk expedition virtually guarantees that our footage will result in an interesting and powerful documentary film."

Now celebrating its 21st season on public television, NOVA is produced for PBS by the WGBH Science Unit and is made possible by grants from Merck, Lockheed, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and public television viewers. NOVA is close-captioned for deaf and hard-of-hearing viewers by The Caption Center of WGBH.

"Haunted Cry of a Long Gone Bird" was produced for NOVA by Christopher Knight and David Conover of the New Film Company Inc., Arlington.

The director of the WGBH Science Unit and executive producer of NOVA is Paula S. Aspell.

CNC Looks From Beautification To Billboards

by Melissa Doherty
Beautification Of
Austin Street

Charlestown Preservation Society member Ivy St. John made a presentation before the Charlestown Neighborhood Council (CNC) on Oct. 4 about a plan to beautify Austin Street and the area around the Community College stop on the Orange Line.

St. John said that she received a mailing in the spring from the Mass. Historical Commission which included an article about the Interstate Transportation Enhancement Act (Ice Tea Legislation). This act includes a "significant" amount of money which will be available in 1996 and 1997 "to enhance and beautify transportation related areas". Funding can be provided for bike paths, sidewalks, historic preservation, historic signage and landscaping.

The Charlestown Preservation Society started a sub-committee, met twice with the abutters of Austin Street and submitted their plans for an estimated $500,000 in redesign to the Metro Area Planning Council. The plans include plans to forest Austin Street, widen the curbs, install gas lamps, put up signs to local historical and retail spots, install a tourist kiosk, relandscape the college plaza along with the pedestrian walkway and clean up the area around the skating rink, including New and Old Rutherford avenues.

Funding for a joint traffic study of the Gilmore Bridge to revise the timing of the lights to help with the traffic problem is also included in the proposal. A second plan also includes the building of a median strip with greenery for Austin Street. In addition, Bunker Hill

Community College is already spending $25,000 by having students and their custodial landscaping team working on the two plazas when one comes out of the subway.

St. John noted that public agencies including the Boston Parks Department, the Boston Transportation Department and the MDC have been "very responsive". She added that these agencies are needed because the Ice Tea funds do not cover planning or design. She also said that they have to spend the next year "persuading public agencies" to help out.

At the end of her presentation, St. John asked for and received a unanimous decision by the council for a letter in support of the plans. There will also be future abutters' meetings on these plans and the date will be advertised in the Patriot.

Members Present

Gardens For Charlestown

Kevin Burke from Gardens for Charlestown spoke before the CNC regarding the land on which the garden has been located for 18 years. This land has recently been recognized as open space and the garden group is trying to obtain the deed of ownership from the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA). In addition, the land will be advertised shortly and they will have 30 days from that date to present a proposal to the BRA outlining the work they have done on the garden and projecting their plans over the next five years.

Burke pointed out that in 1986 the CNC voted to keep the garden. He asked for a "recommittal" from the council along with a letter to the BRA indicating their support of the garden in their attempt to obtain the deed.

The council voted to support the garden.

Public Safety

Stillman reported that the committee met last month in the community room at Mishawum Park with Boston Police Department Area A Community Service Officer Joe McNulty. They discussed the slowing down of house break-ins and the fact that a couple of arrests had been made.

However, there has been a new rash of car break-ins where the windows of automobiles have been smashed and property has been taken. Stillman advised people to put possessions in the trunk or house rather than leaving them in the car. McNulty said police presence will be intensified.

Stillman also reported that the police have been clearing the teenagers off of Main Street and the residents of Mishawum say that it is "terrific". The police have also been successful at clearing out Eden Street Park.

McNulty stated that the Boston Police will also be visible at all of Charlestown Pop Warner home football games.

Modica's Message

Looney reported that a letter was sent from Boston City Councillor Diane Modica's office to Police Commissioner Paul Evans calling to his attention the issues of residents of Area A.

The letter described concerns such as a police facility, increase of police presence and citizen interaction in Charlestown.

She also mentioned the staffing levels in Charlestown as one "Rapid-Response" patrol unit, two single officer units, two detectives, but noted that there are currently no motorcycles or wagons units assigned to the area. In addition, officers assigned from downtown are done so on availability. Modica called for an "ongoing in-depth relationship between police and residents in order to develop a trusting and effective approach to problem solving and community policing demands."

Basic Services

The Basic Services committee received a presentation from Diane Ford on Sept. 19, regarding her proposed "Beer of the Month" Club. The committee voted to support the retail liquor application with the proviso that no retail sales take place at the site. The council sent a letter to the licensing board stating their support.

The CNC received two letters from the YMCA stating their plans to start phasing out the transitional housing program first on the fourth floor by April 1, 1995. The YMCA will keep the council updated on the plans.

Elections

The date for the elections for the seven at-large members of the CNC will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Oct. 29 at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Mansfield

To Receive Award

Council member McDonough announced at the meeting that fellow member Jim Mansfield will receive a community service award from Action for Boston Community Development (ABCD) on Oct. 21 at the Sheraton Hotel. Mansfield was the nominee from the Kennedy Center for the award.

Update On

The McLaughlin House

CNC member Conway reported that the first two clients for the Dennis McLaughlin House will enter the program in mid-October. One of the clients is from Charlestown and there is one Charlestown resident on the waiting list.

Massport Update

Dorothy Steele, the Massport Community Liaison, will be planning a meeting with residents and council members to discuss the demolition of buildings at the Revere Sugar site on Medford Street. The date of this meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 26.

Billboard Meeting

On Oct. 5, CNC billboard committee members met with residents for a presentation from Randall Bartlett of Barlo Signs concerning two proposed billboards at 50 Brighton St.

Bartlett stated that Barlo Signs is a family business started by his parents which is trying to expand into the Boston business market. His company is renting a space in the building for storage of repair materials and a small site for a salesman. A crane would come in once in the morning, every day, to load up and go out to make repairs on their signs.

Bartlett wants to advertise his business by erecting two 186 square feet (31' x 6') signs to be on the sides of the buildings facing the north and south routes of interstate 93. This size is nearly half of the 300-square-foot signs that he had originally proposed to the zoning board.

He insisted that the signs, which would read "1-800 BARLO SIGNS," would be lit up until midnight, but would not face the neighborhood. Bartlett also offered to cleanup the sides of the building by taking down all other unnecessary signs.

Residents of Brighton and Perkins streets expressed their concerns that this operation would cause more debris, traffic and noise in an already congested neighborhood. Therefore Bartlett agreed to not bring the crane into Charlestown, and only use the space for a one-man office. In addition, he offered to put up only one sign and reduce the size again to 155 square feet (31' x 5'). In his closing statement, Bartlett asked that he be given a chance and not looked upon as "the existing problem". He was going before the zoning board of appeal on Oct. 11.

The billboard committee and residents agreed to support the billboard with the following conditions: there be one sign; the sign be 31' x 5'; no crane or trucks; removal of signs and clean-up of building by Oct. 11; use space for office not storage; no sign above the roof; the sign can not be rented out or leased to another company; the sign remains only as long as Barlo signs is a tenant in the building; and there is a review of the site in one year.

The restrictions of the residents were approved by the Executive Committee of the CNC were put in letter form and sent to Richard Dennis of the Board of Appeal. After discussion by the board with support by the CNC, the Charlestown Preservation Society and Amy Chardavoyne from Modica's office, and a recommendation for denial from the BRA, the board deferred a decision on the matter until Nov. 28.

"Old Ironsides" Welcomes Its 400,000th Visitor

Although every person who visits USS Constitution is considered special by the crew, Jaroslaw Maj from Billerica, Mass., recently was accorded exclusive recognition. On Oct. 13, he became the 400,000th visitor to step aboard "Old Ironsides" this year. As Maj stepped aboard the wooden warship, his arrival was proclaimed across the ship's public address system to the call of "400,000th visitor, arriving."

To commemorate this auspicious occasion, Maj was presented several Constitution mementos, including a picture of the ship signed by Cmdr. Richard B. Amirault, Constitution's 63rd commanding officer. Also, Maj was treated to a special tour by one of the sailors stationed aboard "Old Ironsides." The officers and crew will do the same for every additional 100,000th visitor who arrives on board.

Visitors may tour "Old Ironsides" while it is in drydock and see more of the ship than ever every day by active duty U.S. Navy sailors between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3:50 p.m. Self-guided tours are available from 3:50 p.m. until sunset.

Dear Parents of Teenagers,

The teenage years are a tough time of change for all families. Watching the emergence of new physical, emotional and psychological abilities in a child you have known for his or her entire life can trigger strong reactions and a sense that things are out of control. Your teenager will be making many important decisions in these developing years, but may, at times, be unable to anticipate the consequences of his or her actions. He or she may be developing a need for privacy that can be disruptive to family life. And suddenly there are health needs that can be embarrassing for the teen to bring to the attention of the family or pediatrician.

The Massachusetts General Hospital Bunker Hill Health Center has developed a program to meet the special concerns of teens and their families during this critical period in their development. This specialized program of adolescent/young adult primary care focuses on monitoring the physical and psychosocial development of your adolescent while supporting healthy choices and behaviors. In order to work with your adolescent, we would prefer to meet with you and your adolescent first to hear about his or her health history and family medical history and to discuss the adolescent's need for a confidential health care relationship. If you can accommodate this need, your adolescent will have access to comprehensive pediatric and adolescent and young adult services at Bunker Hill Health Center on a confidential basis. In order to gain your adolescent's trust, we must assure this confidentiality. But we can assure you that your family's values and cultural viewpoint will be included in the discussion and we will continue to encourage your adolescent to speak to you directly. We are, of course, available to you for consultation on general issues and to help you with your concerns about your adolescent.

If your family would find such a program helpful in your teenager's development, please feel free to schedule an initial appointment by calling 617 / 724-8206. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Mariette Murphy

Team captain is Michael Melaugh and the team members are: Brian Dacey, Jack Kelly, Paul Kelly, Joe Wilkins, Cory Hollien, Paul Doherty, Andrew Brennan, Danny Devlin, Jeff Fidler, Dave Bryson and Chris McGrath.

▲ CYO Boys & Girls Basketball Sign-ups – All boys and girls 10 to 17 who would like to play CYO basketball this year are asked to sign-up at St. Catherine's Parish Hall on Monday, Oct. 24 between 6 and 8 p.m. The cost is $15, $25 for a family of two or more. The age divisions are under 13, under 15 and under 18 as of Sept. 1, 1994.

▲ All-Nighter A Success – We want to thank the 66 teenagers who took part in our All-Nighter on Oct. 14 and 15. It was a privilege to be with them and to realize the positive impression they are giving to all those they meet. We are continually looking for new places to spend a couple of hours during the night. If you have any ideas, call Father Coyne at 242-1750.

▲ CYO Ice Hockey – It looks like a go! We are making the final plans for St. Catherine's CYO to enter a team in the CYO Hockey League once again. We took last year off, but now would like to offer this opportunity to our young boys. You must be between 13 and 18 and still in high school. Varsity players are ineligible. We have about 16 boys signed up. If you are interested, call Father Coyne at 242-1750. The registration fee is $25 and $5 per practice which is one hour per week and is inexpensive for hockey. Games are played on late Saturday mornings.

▲ CYO Scavenger Hunt – We would like to hold a CYO Scavenger Hunt for all teenagers 13 to 19 on Friday, Oct. 28, beginning at 7 p.m. We are looking for teams of four teenagers who will compete during the evening looking for 100 items and return to St. Catherine's Parish Hall and compare with the other teams to determine the top prize. This night can be a lot of fun and laughs. If anyone would like to be a team captain and form a team of four, call Father Coyne at 242-1750.

▲ St. Catherine's Children's Halloween Mass – On Sunday, Oct. 30, we invite all children to wear their Halloween costumes to the 9 a.m. Mass. The church will be decorated appropriately. ▲ Adult All-Nighter – The Adult All-Nighter will be held on Friday, Nov. 4 and Saturday, Nov. 5. It promises to be as much fun as the Scavenger Hunt. An all-nighter is filled with activities. We will take a bus to various fun spots around the city. We can't tell you all of the places we will go because that would ruin the surprise. We'll leave at approximately 7 p.m. on Friday and return Saturday at approximately 6 a.m. All this for only $25! Yes, you'll be a little tired the next day, but you'll love it! # BOB D'S BEAT BY BOB DeCRISTOFORO

◆ Project Discovery Boost . . . The Bunker Hill Teen Center Project Discovery Program got a big boost from the Museum of Science over the weekend. In September, I wrote a proposal to the museum for a group membership to the museum which provides more opportunities and free admissions to the Museum of Science, much more than regular admission.

On Saturday, I received a letter which stated, in part, "I am happy to provide you with a complimentary group membership to the museum. This is funded by the Paine Fund, which has authorized the museum to support membership opportunities for institutions such as yours."

The membership means that the Bunker Hill Teen Center may take up to eight people at a time for free admissions to the museum exhibit hall through October 1995. This is a tremendous opportunity for the young people of Bunker Hill who now will have more of an opportunity to take advantage of the Museum of Science, as we move into a new century in a rapidly changing world in the field of science.

Project Discovery was one of the very first programs I began when starting my work here in Charlestown as the BHA Youth Worker at Bunker Hill and, having the Museum of Science saying this program is important, is a significant accomplishment and a plus for all of us in Charlestown.

◆ Family Fun Friday . . . The Healthy Charlestown Coalition reminds us that Family Fun Friday will be taking place at the Charlestown Community Center tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 21 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Arts and crafts with a Halloween theme and open gym activities will take place from 6 to 7 p.m., and the movie, "Nightmare Before Christmas" will be shown from 7 to 9 p.m.

All families are encouraged to take part.

◆ College Board . . . College hockey gets underway this weekend and, with the NHL lockout, you might want to take a skate over to Boston University. The Terriers will be hosting their alumni and there should definitely be some NHL-BU alumni stars in action. Walter Brown Arena will definitely be the place to be on Saturday evening.

◆ Charlestown Roots . . . Chris Breen is a member of the Boston Junior Bruins and come February, he and his teammates will be off to the Quebec International Pee Wee Tournament. Chris' mother is a Fitzgerald of Charlestown!

◆ Charlestown Highlights . . . The Charlestown High Football team shutout Latin Academy 18-0. Juan Capeles, Gabe Soto and Shawn Brown had the touchdowns. The football Townies are now 3-2. Charlestown visits Madison Park this weekend.

◆ High School Notebook . . . Brian Ward looked quite surprised when he saw me along the sidelines on a beautiful Saturday morning in Braintree. The game was Arlington Catholic vs. Archbishop Williams and it was good to see Townies Ward and Mike Sullivan taking full advantage of their fine Arlington Catholic High School and its sports program. It was also good to see AC Coach Donnie Stevens still involved "for one more year." Donnie coached at Christopher Columbus High School and the Skipper helped lead the Friars to a superbowl spot in 1980.

Archbishop Williams jumped off to a quick 8-0 lead, but the Cougars cut the lead to two before the first half ended via a two-yard run by Jason O'Connell. More important, AC stopped Williams' final first half drive setting the tone for the second half.

Arlington Catholic owned the second half, both defensively and offensively. Jason O'Connell's quick 21-yard touchdown pass to Jason LeBlanc gave AC the lead. Aynsely Rosenbaum's 25-yard run put the game out of reach. The final score was Arlington Catholic 20 - Williams 8.

Zack Falconer had three touchdowns to pace Boston Latin's 20-6 victory over Westford. Undefeated Boston Latin will face undefeated Acton-Boxboro in a Dual County showdown on Friday evening.

In a defensive battle, St. John's Prep nipped BC High 7-6. High flying Matignon shocked Catholic Memorial 39-7. Dee Brown had three more touchdowns for undefeated Matignon. Old Rochester defeated Don Bosco 41-19.

St. Mary's of Lynn topped Pope John 24-8. St. Clement's was defeated by O'Bryant 12-0 and Malden Catholic picked up its first win of the season by shutting out Medford 20-0.

◆ Weekend High School Football Watch . . . The football schedule for this weekend is as follows:

Friday, Oct. 21
Boston Latin at Acton-Boxboro
Boston English at Latin Academy
Matignon at Malden Catholic

Saturday, Oct. 22
BC High at Xaverian
Catholic Memorial at St. John's Prep
Pope John at Trinity Catholic
Charlestown at Madison Park

Sunday, Oct. 23
Austin Prep at Arlington Catholic
Minuteman at St. Clement's

◆ Pro Line . . . In International League openers, Jimmy Vesey's Phoenix

team was defeated by San Diego 4-2 and Las Vegas 10-3, and many of my NHL pro buddies see a very long lockout, maybe until January. Wouldn't it be sad to see the Boston Garden close without a Bruins' season?

◆ Bunker Hill Girl Scouts . . . Our Bunker Hill Girl Scout Troop meets on Tuesday afternoon at the Bunker Hill Teen Center. This is a great after-school bi-lingual activity and there are still openings at the Brownie level (first, second and third grades), and the regular Girl Scouts. All girls who took part in the Summer Rainbow Program are especially welcome to attend!

◆ PAL Ball Hockey Openers . . . The Bunker Hill-PAL Teen Hockey League has begun, thanks to some help from the Boys & Girls Club. In Wednesday's opener, Shane Fisher broke a tie with less than two minutes to go as Tidbits defeated Any Corner 12-11. Any Corner had trailed by two goals in the final period, but roared back, thanks to the offensive work of Chris Donovan and Brendan Brennan and the fine goaltending by Mike Collins. Tidbits got an outstanding performance from Jimmy Yandle and Andrew Ray was spectacular in the nets.

In the second game of the double header, Junior JAFT shut out the Tamburello Club. Joe Tallent had seven goals for Junior JAFT.

◆ Tidbits . . .

Pop Warner Corner

The scores of last weekend's games against Braintree were: A-Team won 27-0 with touchdowns by Ricky Evers, Mark Russell and Timmy Warren; the B-Team won 13-7 with touchdowns by Eddie Kelly and Jason Souza; and the C-Team lost 7-0.

Congratulations to the B-Team on their first win of the season. The team records at this point are: C-Team 1-5; B-Team 1-4-1; and A-Team 3-3.

Thank you go out to the fans who have cooperated with our request to stay off the sidelines. We just don't understand why it is always the same group who feel they are "special" and defy our request. Even the players understand who their true fans and friends are. There is a group that only goes to games when we are playing at home and the only thing they do is cause problems. The staff, players, cheerleaders and coaches should not have to put up with it.

This week's games will be played in Needham.

Games times are:

B-Team - noon
A & C Teams - 1:30 p.m.

Elections for the Pop Warner Board of Directors - president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and cheerleading coordinator - will be held in November. If anyone is interested in any office, please submit your name in writing to: Jack Schievink, 65 O'Reilly Way, Charlestown, Mass. 02129, or Kevin McCusker, 20 Adams St., Charlestown, Mass. 02129. These submissions must be received by Oct. 26. As of Oct. 17, we have had no responses at all.

Carol Channing – Back Where She Belongs

In 'HELLO, DOLLY!'

Carol Channing, the original Tony Award-winning Dolly Levi, opens at Boston's Colonial Theatre for two weeks only in one of America's favorite musical comedies, Hello Dolly! from Nov. 8 through 20. This new Broadway-bound production, supervised by the show's composer/lyricist Jerry Herman, is Channing's first appearance in the legendary role in more than a decade.

Hello Dolly! won 10 Tony Awards when it opened in 1964, still a record as the most ever awarded a single. Playing nearly seven years on Broadway, Hello Dolly! set a record as the longest-running Broadway musical at that time.

Channing played 1,273 consecutive performances on Broadway and on national tour without missing a single performance or playing to an empty seat. She has since played the role well over 3,000 times, while her original Broadway cast recording is the all-time best-seller.

The 1994 production recreates all the Tony Award-winning elements. The show features new sets and costumes, based on the award-winning designs, along with Champion's inventive direction and choreography, brought to life by Lee Roy Reams and Bill Bateman, respectively. Based on Thornton Wilder's hit 1955 comedy, The Matchmaker, Hello Dolly! tells the tale of the indomitable Dolly Gallagher Levi, a matchmaker who likes to "put her hand in" arranging people's lives and loves. The show's score features the classics Before the Parade Passes By; Put on Your Sunday Clothes; and, of course, the show-stopping title song.

Channing has been a Broadway star since 1950 when Brooks Atkinson hailed her performance as the gold-digging Lorelei Lee in Gentlemen Prefer Blondes as "the most fabulous comic creation in this period of history."

Since making her Broadway debut in Lend An Ear (1948), Channing has received a Tony Award or nomination for every Broadway show in which she has appeared. In film, Channing won an Academy Award nomination and a Golden Globe Award for her work in Thoroughly Modern Millie. In addition, she is the winner of an Emmy Award and four additional nominations for her television specials.

More recently, she toured the country in the Jerry Herman revue, Jerry's Girls, and set box office records with Mary Martin in the comedy, Legends!

Performances and prices for Hello Dolly! at the Colonial Theatre are: Tuesday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m. All performances are: $65, $60, $55, $45, and $20.

For more information, write the Colonial Theatre, 106 Boylston St., Boston, Mass. 02116, or call 426-9366.

We Will Be Even Better Than Before

Dear Gloria:

Just a note to you to help straighten out some of the information about the recent fire in St. John's Parish House. It was caused, we now find out, by faulty wiring in a refrigerator, not by faulty wiring in the building. Damage was minimal. St. John's annual church fair will go on as scheduled. St. John's weekly Church School is meeting as usual, with even more kids in attendance. Once we collect on our insurance, the parish house will be repaired and will be even better than before.

Thanks for letting everybody know.

Sincerely,
Larry Henry

Candy Prize - Congratulations to eighth grader Caitlin Callahan for winning the 5-pound chocolate candy bar. Caitlin's name was picked from the names of all the students who sold 21 bars of candy and returned their money by Oct. 11. Sister Catherine and Mr. Monteith presented Caitlin her prize. Caitlin assured us that she would not eat the entire candy bar in one day!

Essay Winners - Phil Le, Kristen Golden and Jaclyn Castro were recently awarded their prize money for winning last year's Neina Memorial Scholarship Award for their essays concerning "Family."

Each of the students received a $400 check to be used toward their tuition at Charlestown Catholic. Again, congratulation to these outstanding students.

Special Visitors - On Oct. 12, Mrs. Edward Kennedy and Mrs. Thomas Menino toured the school and had an opportunity to meet many of the students. During a lengthy visit to the third grade classrooms, students had a chance to ask the guests questions. Both visitors were gracious and delighted to be at Charlestown Catholic. All were pleased to have an opportunity to meet these very special women.

Bake Sale - On Oct. 13, the eighth grade class sponsored a bake sale.
