Hon. Edward J. King, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, spoke on Thursday, June 17, 1982 as the Monument Orator, commemorating the 207th Anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill. Governor King followed in the footsteps of many great orators, such as Daniel Webster, who gave the oration at the laying of the Monument cornerstone in 1825.

The Annual Bunker Hill Day Exercises were sponsored by Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion. Chairman for the exercises was James W. Conway of Charlestown, Past Commander of Bunker Hill Post 26 and Past Legion State Commander.

The Monument Ceremonies followed an Ecumenical Service at St. Francis de Sales Church, atop Bunker Hill. The homily was delivered by Reverend Isaiah Sears, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Charlestown. Prayers were offered by Reverend Daniel J. Mahoney, Pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church; Reverend Leonard T. Duffy, Past Legion State Chaplain; and Reverend Thomas Conway, Pastor of St. Catherine of Siena Church. Readings were given by James W. Conway, Past State Legion Commander and H. Vincent Strout, President of the Bunker Hill Monument Association. Music was by the organist and choir of St. Francis de Sales with Tom Hickey as soloist. Also, musical selections were provided by the Colonial Pipers Bagpipe Band from Dorchester and taps was rendered by the Boston Firemen's Band, Inc.

From St. Francis, a procession led by the U.S.S. Constitution Color Guard and the U.S.A.F. Color Guard from Pease, N.H. marched to the Bunker Hill Monument under the direction of Robert Joyce, State Legion Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms.

Governor King's address, after greeting the gathering at the base of the Monument, was delivered as follows:

It is my great honor and high privilege to stand before you on this ground today.

As Governor, I have made hundreds of speeches. In this election year, I will give many more.

But today is special.

This place is special.

So let me put aside the campaign.

Today, here, I want to go beyond the candidate, beyond the Governor. Indeed, I want to look beyond our Commonwealth.

In 1863, President Lincoln at Gettysburg, and in two minutes, with words profound in their simplicity and their eloquence, offered the definitive memorial to all the American heroes who in every age have fought to preserve and protect our American liberty.

Today, we again consecrate these grounds at Bunker Hill and memorialize the founders and defenders of the American nation. As we look back upon their greatness, I

More Input Needed In Flea Market

"Some ideas work and some do not." With those words Michael Griffin, Interim Coordinator at the Kent/Charlestown, described the failure of the Community Flea Market.

"People have called and told me that the timing was wrong coming right after the holiday. Another stated that the cost of a table was too high. I am not quite sure what happened, but I am sure that we will have to rethink this idea and approach it in another way. I apologize to anyone who took the time to go to the Kent pod area last Friday expecting to find a flea market. One Charlestown resident reserved a table and that does not constitute a flea market.

If people are interested in developing this idea and using this area in the future, I would appreciate their calling me. I think that we may be able to do something like this, but we need more input from local residents to make it succeed."

Tea Party Town Meetings

Would you be a Tory or a patriot? It may be more difficult to decide than your first thoughts would indicate.

At 2 p.m. every Saturday through Labor Day, in the Boston 5¢ Bank Mall across the street from the Old South Meeting House on Washington Street, the historic town meetings of 1773 are recreated. The Town Meetings are organized by personnel, in period costume, from the Old South Meeting House and the National Park Service. Participation is readily obtained from the audience.

Following a town meeting in December 1773, a group of citizens converged on Griffin's Wharf where they boarded merchant ships and dumped tea into the harbor.

The meetings are free and open to the public. Please come and voice your opinion. No matter what it is. For additional information, please call 482-6439 or 242-5642.

Committee Formed To Preserve Boston's Archives

Mayor Kevin H. White has announced the formation of a 30-member committee to help inventory and preserve the city's irreplaceable public documents, including birth, death and marriage records.

In making the announcement, the Mayor emphasized that the committee, The Society Engaged in the Resoration of Vital Archives (SERVA), is seeking assistance from volunteers interested in working on this extensive undertaking.

"We have formed SERVA to bring order out of the woeful state of the city's centuries-old birth, death and marriage records," Mayor White said. "We do not want this detailed and important part of Boston's history to slip away through neglect."

The forms of assistance the committee is seeking includes:

- *Volunteers with archival, genealogical or library experience to help set up or supervise the inventory and preservation process.

- *Volunteers to execute the inventory and preservation plan.

- *Community leaders with archival or genealogical interest to testify to the need for this inventory and preservation.

- *Financial assistance in the form of grants from state government, federal government, or private foundations.

- *Microfilm and a microfilm reader-printer.

The committee lists members with historical or genealogical background, including representatives from the Federal Records Center, the JFK Library, the Bostonian Society, the Boston Atheneum, and the New England Historical Genealogical Society. The committee also includes professional personnel from business and government.

SERVA will hold its first meeting on Monday, June 28, at 11 a.m. in Room 801 in City Hall. City Registrar Joanne A. Prevost will chair this first committee meeting, which will focus on the project's direction and implementation process.

Anyone with information that would enable the city to obtain any of the assistance described above, or would be interested in volunteering their services, should contact Registrar Prevost or the project coordinator, Virginia Hurley, at Room 703 in City Hall at 725-3834.

by Sal Giarratani
HIT PARADE

The 1982 Bunker Hill Day Parade despite the steady rain, was the best one in years according to most accounts and the lion's share of credit goes to the Parade Committee for putting it all together.

The parade was a "real people's parade" and will set the example for other Boston neighborhoods planning parades. Hard and tireless work produced a super parade. Mothers, grandmothers, longshoremen, young people and elder folks did the work of raising some $16,000 through soliciting the Town's merchants, raffling tickets, selling chances, collecting cans and an assortment of community fundraising projects. It worked as could be seen at the parade.

Kudos to all those who were part of the 1982 Parade Committee and on to 1983!

We, the people showed the City that even in fiscally tough times, Charlestown does it like no one else!

TAKING THE FIFTH

Rumors have it that Mayor Kevin H. White is seriously considering a fifth run for the roses in the 1983 mayoral elections. It appears he has delusions of being another Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago. But the late mayor of that town provided a high quality of city services and was proud of his record of accomplishments. Our "loner in love with his city" can stake no such claims. City services are sinking faster than quicksand in an hourglass and all we hear are threats of more cutbacks in public services. Four terms is long enough...maybe too long!!!

Ceremonies Mark The Beginning Of Work On Austin Block

by Maria Girvin
 Ceremonies marking the beginning of the restoration program for the Austin Block, known to "Townies" as the Stone House, were held recently at the site, open to all residents.

Various spokesmen for Historic Boston Incorporated

(HBI), the Charlestown Preservation Society, The Boston Landmarks Commission and Massachusetts Historical Commission were present at the ceremonies as was Boston Filter President Elisha G. Pierce III who has recently designed plans for the conversion of the old Boston Filter Company (located behind the Austin Block) into condominiums.

 The Charlestown Militia Company visited the site, playing Colonial tunes and firing their muskets upon command as construction workers climbed ladders and removed the plywood covering recently installed windows typical of the time period in which the Austin Block was built.

 The concept for the Austin Block's restoration began in 1979 when a feasibility study was commissioned which showed that without some financial assistance and immediate action, the building would be lost. The real estate market in Charlestown could not support the cost per square foot for construction necessary to preserve the building. HBI approached the owners of the property, The William Ginsburg Trust, and persuaded them to allow HBI and Boston Landmarks to assemble a restoration and development plan.

 HBI is investing $135,000 in the restoration of the structure while Charlestown Preservation Society is providing a grant of $5,000 and Massachusetts Historical Commission is giving $50,000.

 The building will be adapted for commercial and retail space on the first floor and residential on the second and third. This plan will mesh with Pierce's plan to build 68 one and two bedroom condos in the grey structure, now empty that once housed Boston Filter Company

WORKERS remove the plywood guarding the newly installed windows, giving spectators a glimpse of the restoration already in process.

CHS Chemistry Students Tour Research Laboratory

Research laboratories can be fascinating once you understand what goes on in them. A group of 17 Charlestown High School (CHS) chemistry students recently learned this and other lessons when they visited the Liberty Mutual Research Center's Industrial Hygiene Analytical Laboratory in Hopkinton, Mass.

Along with CHS faculty members Steven Shea and Maureen White, students observed as laboratory supervisor Kenneth J. Muzal simulated a dust explosion which resembled, on a small scale, the large explosions that ignite grain elevators in the Midwest. Such explosions represent one of the many kinds of occupational hazards Liberty Mutual specialists work to control. Specialists also examine bottled air samples from various work environments for harmful dust and gas contents.

The group was later given a demonstration and explanation of the "Boston Elbow" - a battery-powered artificial limb designed for above-elbow amputees.

Attending the occupational safety class were CHS students Cherry Belmer, Ann Maria Biggins, Olivia Brown, Ramona Brown, Christine Connolly, Danny and Edward Considine, Saba Cuddus, Amal Daher, Edward Dyer, Andre Fisher, Clifton Flavins, Leah Foreman, Lisa

Gillespie, Rebecca Jackson, Eric Johnson, Annette Madrey, Natassa Mason, Brenda Mellow, Nancy McNelley, Delisa Perry, Emily Ringer, Jacqueline Rodriguez, Todashie Taylor, Christine Upton, Ancil Walcott and Kevin Woods.

Celebrates 89th Birthday

A family gathering was held at the home of Mrs. Florence Lent of 11 Salem Street in honor of her 89th birthday. She is the mother of seven, grandmother of thirty, great-grandmother of forty-three and great-great-grandmother of two. Mrs. Lent was born in Charlestown and has lived here all her life.

Announcing a New World of banking.

For over 125 years, Charlestown Savings Bank has been a household name. But now, that name is changing. Because, frankly, we've grown far beyond Charlestown. And way beyond just savings.

So now we've got a new name to reflect our new horizons: Newworld Bank. For the new world of banking in which your money making options have never been greater.

And while you'll still find our wide range of personal banking services, you'll find we can now offer you more than ever before.

A New World of Trust Services.

We're proud to be one of the first savings banks in the country to offer our customers a professional trust department. We're now able to provide personalized service and expertise to investors who require independent investment advice and management under the supervision of a bank trust department. As well as to small and medium sized corporations in the formation and administration of corporate pension and profit-sharing plans.

A New World of Convenience

To make your banking easier and more convenient, we've harnessed the world of electronics. With our Newworld Banker Card, you'll have access to all of our new Automatic Teller Machines which allow you to conduct banking transactions any time of day or night, seven days a week, at your convenience. So, when you need a bank, you'll always have one at your command.

A New World of Commercial Services.

We're strengthening our ties with the local business community through a broad range of new commercial banking services.

Our total corporate banking program includes commercial checking and investment opportunities, corporate lines of credit, equipment leasing, pension and profit-sharing plan management, payroll processing, extensive banking services for company employees and increased commercial lending activities.

And we're always prepared to lend our expert guidance and financial planning, as well as cash, to our business customers.

It's a new world of banking. A new world of finance. And we're ready for it. Charlestown Savings is now Newworld Bank.

And now, when you say "that's my bank," you'll have more reason than ever to point to us with pride.

NEWORLD BANK

Governor Edward J. King

want to ask you to pause and reflect on two issues that while very much a part of 1982, strike at the heart of the traditions and values that the founders established in 1776.

Before I go further, let me say that I make no pretense of being a worldly philosopher. I run state government. That's my job I enjoy it.

But while government is often limited, our people are not. And if our people can lift the cloud they have placed over the Vietnam experience just enough so that we as a nation can openly honor and respect the dedicated sacrifice of those veterans, that would mean more than any government commission. All veterans, from all wars, deserve our unyielding gratitude.

As a free people, we write our own destiny. We become what we do.

And if we as a people hold the Vietnam veterans in high esteem, if we help them overcome the scars they bear, then we shall as a nation rest easier with whatever judgment future historians make upon our age.

So as we pause here, on this hallowed site, let me ask you for a moment's silent reflection, so that we may pray for the heroes of the American Revolution, so that we may give thanks for the sacrifice of the brave veterans of a war who have defended our liberty.

The second question for thought this morning is one that is drawing greater and greater concern across the country; indeed, around the world...It is the threat of Armageddon...of nuclear war.

Just days ago we saw a massive demonstration of concern in New York by those calling for a nuclear freeze. That is certainly one approach.

Then again, I recall the words of President Kennedy, who said: We cannot negotiate with those who say "what's mine is mine and what's yours is negotiable."

That's another approach.

It is said that time heals all wounds. And it is often a blessing of mankind that our memories block out the pains of the past. As a nation, we have put aside much that happened in the Vietnam years. And I do not seek here to combat the bitter divisions between young and old, between hawk and dove.

As I make no pretense at being a philosopher, so too will I leave history's judgment to the historians.

But if we put the politics of the war behind us, we cannot do the same for the millions of men and women who made the sacrifice for their country, and to this day, who still bear the scars of that experience.

As Governor, many groups come to seek my help. I have always stood ready to assist veterans and to meet our nation's and our state's obligation to them. And I have been equally ready to be a friend to the Vietnam veterans. They came home from war, home to a nation that did not want to hear of their sacrifice. Instead of parades they were often met by the indifference of a nation hiding its guilt.

As Governor, I have done everything I've thought of or suggested to me to recognize these brave men and women and show them that we care.

In Massachusetts we have retained veterans preference. And we have created special scholarship loan programs. And most importantly, we have formed and funded a special commission to address their needs. A commission that is working.

What I say to you today comes not from Ed King the Governor, but from the heart of Ed King the man. I grew up in East Boston as the son of an MBTA carman. There have been frustrations, and much good fortune. The essence of America is exemplified in my own experience. By hard work and faith, I have become Governor of the Commonwealth.

It is out of my respect and concern for American tradition, a tradition which offers so much to so many, that I ask you to focus this morning on two issues. As we commemorate the valor of all veterans throughout our history, I ask you to particularly reflect on the status of Vietnam veterans and the prospect of nuclear war.

As I said, I am no philosopher. My knowledge is of business and, now, State Government. I offer you today no ready answers to the questions I ask. But I believe that the questions will only be resolved if we as a nation give them our attention. They will not solve themselves. They will not go away.

But in our collective wisdom, I believe there exists the creativity to find answers. Indeed, part of the answer lies in giving these questions our collective attention.

A long gone President (Hoover) once said: "Older men declare war, but it is youth that must fight and die. And it is youth who must inherit the tribulation, the sorrow, and the

Maria Girvin

Delivers Monument Oration

triumphs that are the aftermath of war."

Vietnam was a gut-wrenching experience for America. Its aftermath included no triumphs. But the tribulations and sorrows are legion.

Yet I hold still another image in my mind, fresh from the recent public television series about the group of scientists that created the atomic bomb in 1945. The television series depicted their jubilation when they learn that their creation worked. And then it shows their somber reaction when they see the fruit of their handiwork at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. It is clear that we in a civilized world must not speak of nuclear wars; for we can never have a nuclear war.

As I said earlier, I use this platform to raise the questions. I do not purport to have all the answers. But I believe in the American people. The debate over nuclear policy will be healthy...and it must involve all Americans, for it is too important to our futures to leave to a handful of bureaucrats and activists.

There was a time, centuries ago, when the superpowers of the world collided in the hundred years war. The next time superpowers collide, the war will barely last one hundred minutes. That is a sobering thought.

Policy in an age with such awesome implications is not easily developed. But in making that policy our nation would be well served to look back to the values of those who established the beachhead of our liberty on this very hill.

Their values, indeed, the fight of all veterans in all wars has been for liberty. America's love of liberty remains a beacon for all the world. And yet it remains a world where all are not committed to liberty.

If I may, let me try this small parable: The shepherd drives the wolf from the sheep's throat, for which the sheep thanks the shepherd and calls him liberator. The wolf on the other hand, denounces the shepherd for that same act as the destroyer of liberty. Clearly, the sheep and the wolf are not in agreement on the word liberty.

That same difference prevails in the world today and makes our choices so difficult.

Is America the defender of the sheep's liberty, or the destroyer of the wolf's?

And can the American shepherd put down his cane without losing sheep to the world?

That question is at the heart of the debate we must have as a nation.

The history of the world will turn on its outcome as surely as it did two centuries ago on this battleground.

The strength of America lies not in its government nor its missiles, but in the values of our people.

The world we live in is not a stable one. Nor is it a free one.

We see war between England and Argentina, between Iran and Iraq, between Israel and Syria. And we can never forget the Gulag; or the Vietnamese boat people; or the brave workers of Poland. America remains the world's great ideal.

In the debate ahead Americans must find the way that never lets us face a nuclear war.

The American experiment that began two centuries ago on battlegrounds like this has been a resounding success.

The collective values of all the American people will find the way to be strong, yet to use that strength wisely. For we must secure a world safe from nuclear annihilation.

As we commemorate our colonial forebearers, think about these two issues. For what America thinks about, Americans can resolve.

As I close, I borrow again from Lincoln, whose wisdom only grows with time: "With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan — to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace, among ourselves, and with all nations."

Gov. Edward J. King, June 17, 1982.

H. Vincent Strout, President of the Bunker Hill Monument Association was the Master of Ceremonies. Chairman of the Exercises James W. Conway welcomed the gathering and also presented a set of medals struck by the Charlestown Historical Society commemorating the Bicentennial of the Battle of Bunker Hill to Governor King in appreciation of his being the 1982 Monument Orator.

Guests present at the ceremonies included: Mrs. Edward J. (Jody) King; 1982 Bunker Hill Day Parade Chief Marshal and Mrs. Glenn W. Luce, Jr.; Representative Richard A. Voke; Boston City Council President

Father Keane - Keeping Faith

To The Editor:

UPI reported June 15, that Father John J. Keane, Pastor of St. Roger's and Mary's Church, at 95 Rockland Street, W. Roxbury, Ma., who plans to construct a chapel in R.I., was suspended by Cardinal Humberto Medeiros of Boston for celebrating the "outlawed" Mass in Latin. It should be noted that every Roman Catholic Pope, Cardinal, Bishop and Priest has taken under oath, both orally and in writing, the "Profession of the Catholic Faith" at their ordination, which upholds the Council of Trent, which upholds the Latin Mass.

The Second Vatican Council was pastoral—non-binding: whereas the Council of Trent is dogmatic—binding upon all under the pain of mortal sin, which states: "Should anyone presume to tamper with this (Latin Mass), let him know that he shall incur the wrath of God Almighty...If anyone says...that the Mass is to be celebrated only in the vernacular tongue...let him be anathema (excommunicated)."

The above-stated dogmatic facts, being the case, it is Fr. John J. Keane, who will not apostatize himself, nor let his Roman collar be molded into a millstone, for he is the one being faithful and not disobedient to his ordination vows to God, who comes first, and not to any man or ecclesiastical exhibitionist, whoever he may be. Vatican Council Two Constitution states: "Obedience to Authority is legitimate provided that it does not foster disobedience to Almighty God."

Knowledgeable Catholics know that all dogmatic edicts (Ecclesia Docens—Ex Cathedra) of the Roman Catholic Church, takes precedence over non-dogmatic Vatican Council Two (which, incidentally, upheld the dogmatic Council of Trent), are binding under the pain of mortal sin.

Father James F. Wathen, OSJ, stated in his book, "The Great Sacrilege" that "The 'New Mass' (Novus Ordo) is illicit (invalid). Its creation was sinful and sacrilegious for no other reason that it was against the Law of the Church—and therefore contrary to the will of God."

Has the time come, according to St. Paul, "...when they will not endure the sound doctrine (as stated above), but having itching ears...will turn away their hearing from the TRUTH and turn aside rather to fables.?"

And to this end, Father John J. Keane et al., are adhering to the words of St. Paul: "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have KEPT THE FAITH."

Sincerely,
Leo F. Kahian

Views On Dental Health

by Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D.

ADULTS AND ORTHODONTICS

Teeth-straightening braces, long associated with school-age children, are now becoming more popular with adults. The American Association of Orthodontists estimates that some 4 million Americans are undergoing orthodontic treatment. Out of this number, over 20% are over age 20.

Why are so many adults subjecting themselves to the orthodontic regimen? There are several likely explanations. The development of braces that are less noticeable; the ability of many adults to pay dental fees that their parents, perhaps, could not afford; a wider acceptance of braces by an adult generation attuned to self-improvement; concern for good health, and naturally, good looks.

Until the mid-1960's it was accepted wisdom in the field that braces were for kids. The theory was that orthodontics could be successful only if the patient was still growing. Now, it's generally agreed that, though growth is helpful, it's not always necessary for effective treatment. Today, you can produce the smile you've always wanted, as the circus announcers tout: "For kids of all ages."

Markings

On The Closet Door

by Charlie McGonagle

Most, I think, all have a door
With memories reaching from the floor,
Where children's growth is duly charted,
Where marks are spaced when first they're started.
That certain day of every year,
When marks move up, from there to here.

At my house, it is New Year's morn
When a date is newly drawn.
First I stooped to make a marking,
Knowing not I was embarking
On a trek where fleeting time
Raced up the door in rapid climb.

How brief a person's children
(Would I stop time, if d're I could?)
How quickly tiny things grow tall,
How short a time when they are small.
How precious are those early years
Filled with laughter, touched with tears.

Yes, many years have now gone by Since those marks stood three feet high.
Etched in ball point, each new line,
Duly notes the march of time.
Several inches upward yearly,
Each new date is written clearly.

But, now I see I stoop no more
To make a marking on the door.
The latest date, a sad surprise,
Is written level with my eyes.
Soon the growing stops — and then,
I shall not mark the door again.

But when my life finds its December,
And I'm prompted to remember
Those special, precious early days
Shared in little children's ways
I'll gather treasures evermore
By simply opening up my door.

Wonderland's O.K. Troy Heads For All America Honors

Is OK Troy a 1982 greyhound All America contender or pretender?

North Shore Kennel's super sprinter, who recently opened defense of his $35,000 Battle of the Ages title at Wonderland Park, sports an eye-popping 74-44-9-5 career racing record and five track records.

A year ago at Wonderland, OK Troy set track records for most wins in a single season (29), most wins over the 5/16ths course (29), most wins in a maiden season (29) and most in-money finishes in a maiden season (38, fourth-best all-time).

The son of former All American, Rooster Cogburn, captured the 1981 Battle of the Ages Stakes, reeled-off nine straight wins (fourth-best all-time) and recorded the sixth-fastest time ever over the track's 5.16ths course (30.55).

After a season like OK Troy had in 1981, it's a wonder why he didn't receive All America honors last year, although the reason is crystal clear. He didn't win the big one - beaten favorite in the $100,000 World Sprint Championship, pulled out of the Wonderland segment of the Grand Prix Series and rested in the Juvenile Championship for a disappointing performance in the Hollywood Classic.

OK Troy is back at home and has a sparkling 65-40-8-4 record at Revere. In a warmup prior to the Battle of the Ages, OK Troy matched the 5.16ths course record of 30.44, set by Happy Stutz' Fast Tracker in 1979.

Second-round action of the Battle of the Ages goes June 24, followed by the semifinals on June 29 and the championship final, Saturday, July 3. OK Troy is trying to become the first two-time champ in the series.

Contender or pretender? OK Troy is the uncrowned All America in dog racing.

THE CHALLENGE OF THE GENERATIONS:

It's youth vs. experience, as the old pros (three-year-olds) are out to prove they're still top dog—and the young pups (two-year-olds) are out to prove they're not.

At stake: A lot of pride, a lot of prestige... And $35,000.

Awards Night At Charlestown Boys And Girls Club

The Charlestown Boys & Girls Club held its annual awards night banquet on June 4. Fifty-three members of the Club received plaques for outstanding leadership, achievement, or sportsmanship. The award categories represented a new format to recognize the accomplishments of clubhouse participants.

Leadership plaques were given to those youths whose exemplary behavior and involvement provided a positive atmosphere at the Club and encouraged other members to participate in program activities. The achievement plaques were given to members who maximized their potential to excel in various program areas. Sportsmanship awards were given to youths who demonstrated consistent fair play and who helped recognize the achievements of others.

Parents of the award recipients were at the banquet with their children. This was the first time in recent years that the parents were present, and they helped recognize the accomplishments of their sons and daughters. From the comments of those present, the awards banquet was an enormous success.

AWARD RECIPIENTS and their parents gather for dinner at the annual awards night banquet held at the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club.

Summer Program At Kent/Charlestown Community School

The summer schedule for the Kent/Charlestown will operate Monday through Friday, 12:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. beginning June 28th. Both the Kent and Charlestown High Facilities will be used for particular recreational activities.

"The problem in developing a summer program has been money, and our desire not to duplicate anything anyone else might do," stated Michael Griffin, Interim Coordinator. "We have been forced to wait for word from private foundations and the City to see what kind of program we could put together. At this point we are waiting for two foundations to act this week. We have received a $4,000 grant to rehabilitate our weightroom equipment and add additional equipment. We will receive a $1,000 grant to underwrite street performers coming into Charlestown on Monday and Wednesday evenings to sing, dance, play musical instruments and perform magic and mime. This event will be located at the pod area of the Kent. We are still looking for performers. Anyone interested in sharing their talents should contact me at the Community School.

Afternoon activity will be centered at the Charlestown High Athletic Complex. Outdoor fields will offer track, racquetball, soccer, softball and football. "The philosophy is if it flies, do it," stated Bob McGann, Gym Director. "Three activities will be organized simultaneously. We have equipment. We want to see it used."

The Charlestown High swimming pool will offer instruction, and group use twenty-three hours each week. A pool schedule appears in this edition of the Patriot and is available at the Community School Office. Instruction for Beginners', Advanced Beginners', Toddlers, Adults, Senior Citizens and an Advanced Life Saving Course will be available.

"I realize that the Community School Program has a lot of credibility to build. We want to provide a good program this summer. Given the late funding notifications and the fact that we have less money than ever before with which to work, we have our work cut out for us. I am asking the community for support and patience as we rebuild this Program to one we can all be proud of."

Boys And Girls Club Annual Talent Show

The Boys and Girls Club Third Annual Talent Show was held Friday evening, June 11. Sixty boys and girls participated in seventeen different acts. Their performances were done to the applause of well over one hundred parents, friends, and staff.

The talent show was organized by Carole Marks, director of the junior recreation program at the Club. She was assisted by Bernadette Butler, Leslie Chiostasso, Sherry Jackson, Nancy Bean, and Patty McGrath.

Participants practiced for months, resulting in a professionally done show. Many of the routines performed were taught, but some acts were imaginatively created by the young participants. Each and every one of the children earned an enormous amount of credit for their enthusiasm, hard work, and talent. Tremendous fantastic, great were some of the comments heard in the audience at the conclusion of the talent show.

Act 1 was Brian Hingston, Keith Campbell, Bridget Hanlon, Steven Fabiano, Marty O'Brien, Edith Pare, Sean Fitz, Kathleen Connolly, and assisted by Swim Director, Patty McGrath. This group danced and sang to the song "We Got The Beat." The audience loved them!

Act 2 was a dance routine with Tracie Lawler, Carla Ryan, Rachel Elderado, and Kathy Kacvinsky, dressed in black and red costumes. They danced to the Song "Flamethrower."

Act 3 changed the mood with a tap routine to the song "One" from the famous musical "Chorus Line." Cassandra Krasner, Judy Evans, and Kim Garafano showed their dance talent in this act.

Act 4 was a dance routine to the song "Working That Body." This act was done by Sherry Jackson and Rachel Elderado.

Act 5 included five lovely ladies; Nancy Borden, Leslie Borden, Colleen Hanlon, Shannon Houlihan, and Nicole Campbell, dressed in red danskins with white fringe, dancing to the song, "Physical."

Act 6 was a jazz routine with Joann Ellington, Edith Pare, Julie Ryan, Andrea Norris, Siobhan Walsh, Donna Wrenn, and Melissa DeCarlo, doing a dance to "Let It Whip."

Act 7 had Rose Coulter doing a baton twirling act, and then into an acrobatics routine. She even stood on her head walking across the stage.

Act 8 was Stephanie Leslie with her lovely voice in gear, singing "You Light Up My Life."

Act 9 consisted of Leslie Borden, Nancy Borden, Ashley Doriss, Christine Burke, Carrie Greland, Nicole Campbell, and Tanya Pappas on stage with their T-Shirts reading, "Aerobic Angels." That is exactly what they did; aerobics to the song "How Deep Is Your Love."

Act 10 included Donna Wrenn, Carolyn Murray, and Lisa Connell dancing to the song "Mirror Mirror." They were dressed in aqua danskins with white sequenced belts and head bands.

Act 11 brought five adorable girls, Shannon Lawler, Kerry Blaikie, Michelle Summers, Jennifer Walsh, and Act 13 was a second appearance of Patty's Punk People, the group in Act 1. They danced and sang to the song "Our Lips Are Sealed."

Act 15 Linda Evans, Kim Garafano, and Judy Evans danced to the song, "You're The One For Me." These girls have been in the Talent Show every year, and they did a professional job of performing again this year.

Act 16 was a reappearance of Stephanie Leslie and Cassandra Krasner. They sang "Give My Regards To Broadway." Perfect timing. I hope that they both come back next year! They were fabulous!

Issues On Aging

Question: Is it true that most older people prefer to live with their children?

Answer: If you ask this question of older people themselves, most will give you an emphatic "no". Most older people wish to remain living independently in their own homes for as long as possible. This is where they have lived for perhaps 20 or 30 years; they know the neighborhood, have their friends, visit familiar shops. As people of all ages, elders cherish their privacy and their possessions which they have gained over a lifetime. They want to lead their own lives and most do not relish the thought of moving in with their children.

When an older person does make the decision to move to his/her child's home, it is usually following a crisis such as illness or death of a spouse. When such a move is undertaken, many factors must be taken into account—Is there enough space (extra bathroom, bedroom)? What items can the older person bring? Is the home safe for an older person? Consideration must be given to the role the elder parent will assume in the household - who will cook, or clean? Will guests be allowed, and what about special hobbies? All these questions should be discussed before-hand. In fact, if an older person feels he/she wants to move in with children, a trial period should be attempted with the understanding that there need not be any obligation if it does not work out.

Even though most older people do not want to move in with their children, they do wish to remain close to them and to other family members. And, contrary to the belief of many people, most adult children maintain and enjoy regular contact with their parents.
