Tobin Bridge On-Ramp Scheduled To Be Reopend By Weekend

Traffic woes for motorists who wish to proceed northbound onto the Tobin Bridge from Charlestown, should be eased with the reopening of the on-ramp at the intersection of Lowney Way and Chelsea Street in Charlestown.

The on-ramp has been closed following an accident involving a truck striking one of the steel structural supports of the bridge on Wednesday, October 1st.

According to Joey Cuzzi, spokesperson for Massport, the repair of the bridge upright is threequarters completed and the work is to be expected to be completed and the ramp reopened this weekend. Motorists have been forced to detour through Everett or Medford, or approach the Tobin Bridge from downtown for the past three weeks while repairs were being done adjacent to the Charlestown on-ramp.

CHARLESTOWN MARKET REPORT

HOW ARE SALES?

Sales are actually up compared to 1985.

WHERE ARE PRICES GOING?

Prices are up, but not rising as fast as in 1985.

WHY DO SALES SEEM SO SLOW?

Actual closings are holding up compared to 1985, but available inventory has gone up much, much higher. Result: buyers have more selection, look longer, offer lower and negotiate harder.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE TO SELL?

Reasonably priced properties are selling fairly quickly.

Over priced properties are taking three to six months or even longer to sell, after the owners reduce the price.

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE YOUR HOUSE TO SELL?

Did you ever wonder why some houses sell so quickly and others stay on the market for months, even years, before someone buys them? Price is important, and so is the way a home is marketed. Just as important, however, is basic appeal.

Once the listing agreement is signed, your Realtor will give you some suggestions about simple ways you can help people fall in love with your house. If you follow his or her advice, you will help set the stage. It may mean sprucing up the yard, painting the exterior trim, neatening the closets, scrubbing down the kitchen and baths, or placing some pretty flowers in a vase on your dining room table. Your Realtor's job is to market your home and to make sure the buyers see it. The seller's job is to make sure that what we show our buyers looks as good as it possibly can. If you maximize the appeal of your house, you will minimize the length of time it will take us to sell it.

If you're planning a move, contact the professionals at Century 21, Silva Realty Associates. Call us at 242-7470 or stop by our offices at 142 Main Street,

Resident - Speak Out

In response to an article in the October 16th edition of the Charlestown Patriot entitled "Residents Irate On Elimination Of Bus Stops," which concerned the discontinuation of MBTA bus stops along Congress Street rear of Boston City Hall, I contacted Pat Jones of the City of Boston Traffic and Parking Department to voice my objections to the elimination of these bus stops.

As of Tuesday, Ms. Jones had only received two telephone calls opposing these cuts and relayed the information to me that unless more opposition was heard, the Traffic and Parking Department would not even consider reviewing the decision they made to eliminate those bus stops.

Please, residents, please speak out. Call Pat Jones at 725-4676 and voice your opposition to the elimination of these bus stops. If you don't do it now, you may never have the opportunity to do so in the future.

We Survived Charlestown!

October 17, 1986

Dear Ms. Conway,

As a former resident of Charlestown (born at 5 Pleasant Street Court - moved two years ago), I was a little upset at the article which appeared in People magazine this week.

My mother raised nine children in Charlestown, living on Pleasant Street for 60 years and we SURVIVED Charlestown - and all are very proud to say we are TOWNIES!! Apparently, Howie Long is ashamed of his Charlestown background.

Maybe a letter to the editor of People from the editor of the Charlestown Patriot might do some good. And, of course, don't forget a copy to Howie!!

The People magazine article, which was entitled, "Black And White And Rough All Over, Ripmaster Howie Long Is Right At Home With Those Nasty L.A. Raiders" by Jack Friedman, included several references by Howie Long to Charlestown.

In the first reference, Friedman states, "Long traces his abundance of self-doubt to his childhood. He grew up in Charlestown - a drab, working-class section of Boston where some of the country's nastiest gangsters once languished in prison.

Further on in the article, Long was quoted as saying that "His sense of self began slipping away. 'I became an introvert,' he says, 'I had no confidence.' It got so bad he even refused to play Little League ball. 'I was afraid I couldn't hack it.' No matter, there were plenty of other divertissements on the streets of Charlestown. Hanging out. Petty theft. Fighting."

Maybe the readers of the Charlestown Patriot would be interested in the article - especially these comments on Charlestown.

Sincerely. Cecilia L. Doherty

Much Incorrect Information Circulated On Question 2

I have read and heard a great deal lately about the proposed amendment to the State Constitution, Question 2, concerning private school children, which will be on the ballot November 4th.

Much of the information has been incorrect, much of it has been misleading.

For example, it has been stated that the public school will suffer the loss of funds because these monies will be diverted to private schools. This is incorrect since the U.S. Constitution has already allocated funds for both school systems public and private. The Massachusetts Constitution, however, is now unfairly depriving the students in private schools of those benefits which the U.S. Constitution allows

It has been said that two school systems will be created, one for the rich and one for the poor. Untrue. The most likely beneficiaries of a yes vote would be those children who attend the parochial schools in the state. The federal government prohibits any substantial aid in such a case and will continue to do so.

It has been erroneously stated that public school programs will be jeopardized to divert more money to programs for non-public school students. Actually, many of the programs which are presently allowed in other states and which were formerly allowed in Massachusetts for non-public school students, have been stopped. A yes vote for Question 2 would put our Massachusetts Constitution on a par with the U.S. Constitution and allow our State Legislature to consider programs of limited assistance to our non-public school students.

It is so difficult to admit that all students in Massachusetts are entitled to benefit from the freedom of the U.S. Constitution in the same way as the students of other states.

Goals For Development Of City Square Land Parcels Presented To Community

by Rebecca Nevers

The North Area Task Force and community residents met Tuesday, October 21, 1986 at the Knights of Columbus Hall to discuss goals focused toward forming building guidelines that will control development of six land parcels which will become available for use after the existing Route 1 and Route I-93 interchange over City Square is dismantled and replaced by tunnels in the North Area/Central Artery project.

Discussed were uses for the land, including some detail on three draft proposals, termed "scenarios," that were presented at earlier meetings. These scenarios focused on employment and job use, recreational use and residential use.

Peter Smith of Childs Bertman Tseckares Casendino, Inc. (CBT), the landscape and community participation consultants for the Massachusetts Department of Public Works (DPW), outlined the three proposals, indicating the particular emphasis of each, whether it be employment, recreational or residential.

Smith stated that all buildings would be designed and constructed in the same character as the existing Charlestown architecture.

As Smith explained possible uses for each parcel of land, he said the description was based on input from residents who attended previous meetings. He stressed the fact that each parcel could be very different from the use and design that currently appears on paper.

Smith outlined the proposals for the six parcels as were indicated on the schematics prepared by the firm.

Parcel One, which will be bounded by Water and Chelsea Streets and the new extended Warren Street. would have mixed use. Smith said. It included residences, offices, shopping and underground parking for 800 cars. The development could provide 440 jobs and buildings would be from three to five stories high. Also on that site will be a ventilation building for the tunnel, which would be disguised within the new construction.

Parcel Two, to be bounded by the new extension of Warren Street, Water and Chelsea Streets, would be the site of a 200 room hotel, Smith explained. "It is one of the few parcels that has guaranteed views out to the harbor," he said. "The feasibility of hotel use is dependent upon water views, so it is appropriate." A view corridor would be built into the hotel so the harbor could be seen from City Square, Smith added. He also stated that this facility would act as a "buffer" from nine lanes of traffic adjacent to the parcel, a fact that limits this parcel for residential use.

The hotel could provide some 500 jobs and would include 200 parking spaces.

Parcel three, bounded by the new extension of Warren Street, Chelsea and Henley Streets has been proposed for residential housing, stated Smith. The plan calls for 38 townhouse units with 26 parking spaces. Smith noted that this is the only parcel not entirely owned by the DPW as a portion of it is owned by the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

Parcel Four, bounded by Chelsea, Main, and Park Streets and the extension of Warren Street, would be used for office and retail space, Smith said. It could provide 200 jobs.

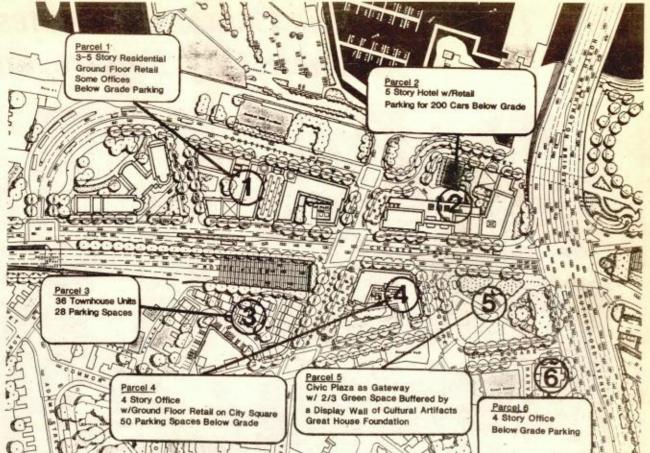

Parcel Five, the center of City Square, will be enlarged from its current one-third acre area to one acre. Possible land uses include a new civic plaza, an historic exhibit facility and/or a wall to act as a noise buffer from Rutherford Avenue, stated Smith.

The Task Force would like to retain the historic and aesthetic value of City Square by placing brick sidewalks in the new square, but although the federal government would fund brick sidewalks on the perimeter of the land, they would not fund them for the interior and thus, Smith explained, they are proposing concrete sidewalks for the entire parcel.

Smith went on to say that they proposed recycling cobblestones to be placed around the sidewalk, but these were eliminated due to a danger factor. Granite curbs were ruled out as being too expensive.

Smith told the gathering that the state has made a commitment to dig, remove, store and rebuild (but not necessarily on this site) the foundation of The Great House uncovered in 1985 during the archaeological dig on this site.

Parcel Six, bounded by Harvard Street and Rutherford Avenue and originally slated as parking space, is now indicated as the site of a three-story office building with parking just adequate for a building of that size. Smith said that the state says that it does not have the responsibility to replace the parking currently used by the Court House and the Life Focus Center in City Square.

Attention then focused on the future of the National Park Service (NPS) parking lot, which was discussed at a previous meeting.

The current lot on Water Street will be relocated af-(continued on page 8)

Eighth Synod For The Archidiocese Of Boston

In preparation for the Eighth Synod of the Archdiocese of Boston in 1988, a questionnaire will be distributed in every parish, chapel and campus ministry center of the Archdiocese on the weekend of October 25-26, 1986. Copies of the questionnaire will be available at all Masses celebrated in Saint Catherine, Saint Francis de Sales and Saint Mary Parishes.

Because the responses to the questionnaire will help form the basis upon which further plans for the Synod will be developed, it is important the people with a wide range of backgrounds, experiences and relationship to the Church participate in the survey.

The revised Code of Canon Law defines a Synod as "a group of selected priests and other Christian faithful ... which offers assistance to the diocesan bishop for the good of the entire diocesan community." In calling for a Synod, Cardinal Law expressed the hope that the experience would be a source of renewed faith and that "as a result, all the activities of the Archdiocese will constitute an unambiguous, clear, explicit and powerful proclamation of the Lordship of Christ. In this way the Church in this city and other areas of our Archdiocese will be more clearly 'a lamp shining', a light to all peoples pointing them toward Christ (Pastoral letter on the Archdio-

Twenty-five communities are being established to examine such aspects of life in this Archdiocese as: family, youth, elderly, social services, ecumenism, role of women, etc. An important part of the committee's study will be the information gathered from the questionnaire which attempts to get a feeling for the priority concerns of the people of the Boston Archdiocese in eight different areas: family, parish, worship, evangelization/ communication, ecumenical and inter-religious affairs, ministries, social concerns and education. Participants will be asked to choose the two most important concerns in each area. If their priority concerns are not listed, space is provided to add them. Bunker Hill Health Center To Benefit From State Aid

Through the efforts of House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Richard A. Voke (D-Charlestown, Chelsea), the Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) and its health centers, including the Bunker Hill Health Center in Charlestown, will be receiving much needed state aid.

This year's Massachusetts state budget contains $200,000 for hospitals, such as MGH, involved in research into Alzheimer's disease.

In addition, $75,000 was appropriated to the MGH in a grant to be administered by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. According to Doctor Roger Sweet. Director of the Neighborhood Health Centers, $28,000 of the total grant was appropriated some two years ago for a program at the Revere Health Center. Of the approximately $47,000 remaining in this allocation. a portion has been earmarked specifically for Camp Bunker Hill, which services some 60 Charlestown youngsters between the ages of five and 14. Termed an outdoor recreational therapeutic day camp, the camp operates for eight weeks each summer at the Hale Reservation in Westwood.

The remainder of the allocation will be used to dereiop an outreach program-ter construction. A replacement lot must hold at least 16 buses or 72 cars, said

Anne McKinnon of CBT.
"The state can put it (the
lot) on Parcel One," she said, "But that's a waste of good land."

So the lot needs a new home. It was suggested at the last meeting that it be relocated under the Tobin Bridge, between Chelsea and Decatur Streets, north of Vine Street, McKinnon said. The spaces, although they will be made large enough for 16 buses, will be used for automobile parking, said NPS Assistant Superintendent John Debo.

"It will be used by automobiles for a very good reason," he said. "The buses will be handled within the Navy Yard, itself." McKinnon concurred, saying the space should be used for private automobiles. The tour buses can go into the Navy Yard and drop passengers off inside, she said. "But you don't want to turn away the private automobile."

Debo said that the plan is far from being fact because legal, engineering and dollar concerns between the NPS and Massport, owner of the bridge and land, must be addressed.

But Glen Sadulsky, project consultant from Howard Needles Tammen Bergendoff engineering, expressed optimism that the parking lot will be approved by the park service. "It could happen, for if there was strong community support, the Federal Highway Administration would fund the proposal," he said.

Residents expressed mixed feelings on the subject.

Steve McHugh, co-chairman of the North Area Task Force, stated that the group had met with the Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force as to the feasibility of parking under the bridge. He said that members of the Tenants Task Force pointed out some issues that had not been considered previously and he stated that any solution to parking in that area must be accomplished in conjunction with the Tenants Task Force.

Resident Peg Broderick said she would like to see the area developed for parking. "That area has been an eyesore for years," she said.

Smith said a process will be established to discuss development issues during the four-year construction period that will begin in 1987.

Deputy Secretary of Transportation, Matthew Coogan, told the gathering that he expects to be working on this project for four years. He stated that January will be the last public meeting with this set of consultants, but not the last meeting.

He explained that the process for selecting developers for the land parcels is a difficult one as the state's process for disposing of land is "cumbersome." He continued, "On the other hand, the Public Facilities Department and the Boston Redevelopment Authority, to name two, have much more discretion on taking in community input and disposing of the land."

"But we will share the power of development authority with Boston," Coogan stated. "And we will have to find the right agency so there is a tripartite."

"The state will in no way turn its back on you," Coogan told Charlestown residents who expressed concern about the transfer of authority from the state to a city agency. "The state will share control with the city and the community," he added

Mystery - Lovers Group Schedules Brunch

The Judas Goats, an association of devotees of Spenser, the fictional Boston detective created by Robert B. Parker, plan to hold their third annual brunch on Sunday, November 16, from noon to 3:00 p.m. at The Warren Tavern in Charlestown. Mr. Parker will be the guest of honor, and several members of the cast of the TV series have been invited to attend.

The Judas Goats was founded on April Fools Day, 1984; the name is taken from the title of one of Parker's detective novels. From the initial meeting, which was attended by nine people, the club has grown to over 300 members, representing thirty states and several foreign countries.

For more information and reservations for the brunch, call club president Bob Pollock at 965-2020 days or 893-5030 evenings. Resident Ken Stone noted that he thought the process of the community, city and state working together on the parcels was the best way to guarantee the best used of the land for Charlestown.

As the meeting was opened to questions from the gathering, resident Bob Spencer questioned the use of the word "fluid" in describing the plans. Coogan responded that the term "fluid" was used in reference to the land uses that CBT indicated previously, which will most likely change - the plans for the streets, drains and gutters are not fluid. He stated, "The purpose of this work (scenario formulation, guidelines) is to help road planners. Basically, all of their (site planners) conclusions (for land use) are fluid at this point."

One resident expressed his concern that the numbers presented for Parcel Three (38 townhouses and 26 parking spaces) didn't make sense. He also pointed out the importance of maintaining water views from Parcels One and Two instead of "all of a sudden getting a wall along the water."

Peter Smith stated that Massport controls the water's edge between the parcels and the water. He said that an agreement with (continued on page 15)

New College Information Booklet Available From Representative Voke

Representative Richard Voke currently has available the latest edition of "Handbook for College Admissions and Financial Aid," a brochure designed to introduce and inform post-secondary education students and their parents about area colleges and universities, as well as potential sources of financial aid.

The handbook, prepared by the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts (AICUM), briefly reports on 59 local colleges and universities, providing information on enrollment sizes and makeup, tuition and other associated costs, application requirements and deadlines, as well as other pertinent information published to acquaint potential students with the various educational opportunities available to them.

In addition, the handbook discusses how, when and where to apply for financial aid, and provides telephone numbers and further reference points for those who have questions or need additional information on eligibility and availability.

Voke, who was recently commended by many of the AICUM schools for his leadership in gaining a $75 million increase in state sponsored financial aid, noted how especially important it is to know the various reference points available to students who are seeking financial aid. "Deciding which school offers the right academics can be tough enough for our students without subjecting them to further worries about financial aid. It is my hope that by giving prospective students as much information as possible about financial aid, we can take some of the uncertainty out of the financing question." commented Representative Voke.

According to Voke, the most important component to receiving financial aid is the timely completion of the Massachusetts Financial Aid Form (MFAF). "Due to the limited funding of many government sponsored financial aid programs, a MFAF should be completed and submitted as soon after the first of the year as possible. By doing so, the applicant will ensure his or her eligibility for a number of state and federally sponsored programs." Voke noted. MFAF applications are available through any high school guidance department or any post-secondary school's financial aid office.

First Baptist Church Of Charlestown To Install New Pastoral Team

This Sunday morning, October 26th, will see the installation of a new pastoral team as ministers of the First Baptist Church of Charlestown.

DR. JOHN M. WILBUR

Dr. John M. Wilbur, for twenty-five years the senior minister at the First Baptist Church in Beverly, and Mark A. Crosby, a senior student at the Boston University School of Theology, will be installed at the regular morning service, which takes place at 11:00 a.m. and to which the public is cordially invited.

The guest speaker at the event will be Dr. Roscoe Robison, Executive Minister of the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts. There are 250 such churches in the Commonwealth, representing a membership of close to 60,000 constituents.

Included in the service will be a "Charge To The Ministers" given by church moderator Jack Alves, and a "Charge To The Church" given by Dr. Robison. There will also be special music for the occasion.

Immediately after the service, a light buffet luncheon will be served in Talbot Hall, adjacent to the Sanctuary. The luncheon is under the direction of Marjorie Rosenberger.

The Charlestown Baptist Church, which is now located on the southeast side of the Bunker Hill Monument, was first gathered in 1665 and was formally organized in 1801. It has been in its present location since the late 1960s.

The two new pastors come to the church as part of a major "Restart" program of the American Baptist denomination across the country. Dr. Wilbur also serves as Director of Church Relations for the Baptist Home in Massachusetts and is the Denominational Counselor to Baptist Students at the Divinity School of Harvard University.

Most recently he served for two years as Interim Minister of the First United Baptist Church in Lowell. He has been active in the social and political life of the city of Beverly where he and his wife live. In 1983 he ran unsuccessfuly for the office of Mayor.

MARK A. CROSBY

Crosby, while at the Boston University School of Theology, has served as a student assistant minister in the Baptist Church on Block Island, Rhode Island and also in Stoneham, Massachusetts and Derry, New Hampshire. While serving the Charlestown Church, he will be living in one of the apartments connected with the church.

The church itself is housed in a typical Charlestown four-story "Brownstone" and includes a sanctuary, large fellowship hall, a church office, and several church school rooms. During week days, part of the church is used by one of the Headstart Programs associated with the Kennedy Center. It is expected that a one-day-a-week counseling center will also be located at the church. The center will be associated with the Danielson Counseling Center, which is related to Boston University.

Both ministers express enthusiasm about being located in the Charlestown community and they emphasize that new people are always warmly welcomed at the church at any of the services and events.

Life Behind The Wall

Capital improvement projects abound in the Yard. Recently street lights were erected along lower First Avenue leading to the water's edge. This area previously had been targeted for a botanical garden. Its concept was to pull the many visitors into the depth of the Yard. For many a visitor, the area of the Park Service jurisdiction began and ended their visit. As related in a earlier article, Mr. Neil St. John Raymond, who recently purchased the development from Immobiliare, is proceeding along with residential units. Paramount, for all parties, is constant activity, and I am sure Mr. Raymond's group will afford a professional mix.

Appearing this week was a cyclone fence, bordering the rear land on First Avenue and Ninth Street. Its designation at this juncture is moot. Whether the adjacent facility is preparing its maiden voyage on rehabilitation or keeping the grass greener in its own yard, remains to be seen.

In addition to illumination on Thirteenth Street, landscaping is aggressively underway. Many trees are being planted on both sides of the street that lead down to Shipway Marina on Pier 8. The circle is dotted with a diverse and colorful array of flowers which is being enjoyed by all. Enjoy the sign erected on Shipway Marina Building, done in fine taste and design.

To the south of our enclave on historic Commercial Wharf, a new and exciting restaurant has opened. Cherrystones, seafood bar and restaurant is open for lunch and dinner. Touted for its idlyic views and unique construction, it is headed for culinary success. Parking is available and reservations are suggested at 367-0300. To this new and welcome facility, full speed ahead.

Further south, an ambitious project has been recently opened and applauded by many. On the site which was once designated Commonwealth Pier, where many a "Townie" toiled working longshore, the World Trade Center has commenced its activity. Among the tenants are Baruffi's Italian Eatery, Inc., Devon at the World Trade Center, Minuteman Restaurant, Inc., and the United States Department of Commerce. When the USS Bunker Hill was commissioned, this was the festive reception area for some of the lucky "Townie" invitees. According to all accounts, the atmosphere is eclectic, the food available pleasing, and the proximity ideally situated. Take advantage of its offerings and happenings. We hope this site will be on the run of the Boston Harbor Water Taxi. Ryan Elliot and Company, Inc. is the exclusive leasing agent at 357-8220.

Pleasantly surprised to watch the Lightship Nantucket proceed from its Pier 3 berth for a cruise down the harbor. This day was made more memorable with Mary Quinn's 60th birthday anniversary at Jimmy's. A gala reception was hosted by her children, Ginger and Bobby, and son-in-law, Walter Doherty. A Gold Star Mother, it seemed like yesterday she and her late husband, Leo, received Michael Quinn's Purple Heart at the Marine Corps Barracks in 1970, adjacent to Gate 4. Tempus fugit.

All hope that the Nantucket Lightship, an historic edifice, will be maintained as a museum or in some other worthwhile endeavor.

First Annual Commemorative Sea Trials Of The USS Cassin Young

Sunday morning, October 12th marked the First Annual Commemorative Sea Trials of the USS Cassin Young (DD-793). Some 200 persons boarded the USS Cassin Young in the Charlestown Navy Yard, guests of the Cassin Young Association, the National Historical Park and the United States Navy for the first Sea Trials, which organizers hope will become an annual event.

The Sea Trials were in honor of the Cassin Young Association volunteers, National Park Service volunteers, and the Birthday of the United States Navy, celebrating 211 years of service.

Welcoming remarks were given by John Burchill, Superintendent of the Boston National Historical Park; Commander Joseph Brown, USN, Commanding Officer of USS Constitution; and Sumner Wheeler, President of the Cassin Young Association. At these ceremonies, a plaque was presented to Rear Admiral Raymond R. Couture, USN Retired, in appreciation of his service to the National Park and especially to the Cassin Young. Couture was termed "a true friend of the Cassin Young.'

Following a querie of Peter Steele, Museum Curator of the National Historical Park, that there were adequate life preservers on board. Burchill ordered the Sea Trials underway.

At this point, the gangway was lifted onto the pier and two tugs positioned themselves to guide the USS Cassin Young out into the harbor, as Cassin Young Association members on board and National Park Service personnel on shore manned the lines.

The day was slightly overcast as the ship was maneuvered out into the harbor by the tugs, escorted by a flotilla of police, Coast Guard and private boats, and saluted by a United States Navy Color Guard on the Pier, along with (continued on page 13) honors bestowed by the crew of the USS Miller, a Navy recruiting ship which was docked along side USS Constitution for the weekend. The ship proceeded out to the end of Castle Island in South Boston before making a turn back into the inner harbor.

At this point, with the sun breaking through the clouds, a fireboat took the lead in the procession of boats and with a spray high into the morning sky, escorted the USS Cassin Young back to her berth in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The USS Cassin Young (DD-793) is permanently docked at Pier Two in the Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston National Historical Park, as a museum ship. The former World War II Fletcher Class Destroyer came to the Navy Yard in 1978. This event marked the first time that the vessel has left the pier since her arrival.

Members of the Cassin Young Association, including Commander Clifton Cates, Jr., USN Retired, Commanding Officer of the USS Cassin Young from August 17, 1956 to September 14, 1958, came to Charlestown to celebrate the Commemorative Sea Trials. Cates traveled from Washington, D.C. for the occasion.

Cassin Young Association members have volunteered countless hours in restoring the ship and maintaining her as a museum. These Sea Trials honored those volunteers, as well as those who served on board the USS Cassin Young on active duty during World War II and the Korean War.

Each guest was presented a certificate noting their participation and naming each an Honorary Navigator in the service of the National Historical Park. The certificate was signed by Sumner Wheeler, President of the USS Cassin Young

by Rebecca Nevers

After a ten and a half year absence from his hometown, Dr. Charles Fittz has returned to Charlestov n to set up his own podiarry practice.

"I always wanted to come back to Boston, ' Fittz said in his office, which is at 175 Main Street, in the Charlestown Professional Building.

The office is finally open after a two-month renovation period. And Dr. Fittz and his carpenter-brother. Liam, did the renovating. "This used to be a corner supermarket," Fittz said. "We gutted the place and added walls and a ceiling."

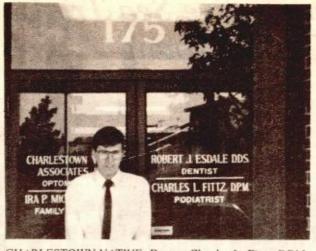

Fittz explained, "Podiatry is strictly limited to the foot. It includes the medical and surgical treatment of the foot.'

"Treatment of the foot encompasses a lot of problems," he added. "It can be a routine problem, such as corns or callouses, or it can be complex bunion correction." Although Fittz treats many patients, he says he has a particular interest in treating athletes. "I had an interest in running," he said. "That's now I got into podiatry, through running.

He said he saw a podiatrist while attending Iona College in New York because he had shin splints. During that time he became interested in podiatry.

After earning a Chemistry degree, Fittz went on to the New York College of Podiatric Medicine in Harem for four years. He then had a one-year internship with the Podiatry Group of Greater New York, which operates many clinics in New York. Fittz said.

While working in New York, Fittz treated a lot of basketball players and track runners. He said most sports' injuries occur through overuse. He examines the relationship of the foot to the log to prevent further injury. "I try to let them run to their desired limit," he said. "Athletes are tough because they want to continue training, but they want to heal their injury.

Fittz also treats children and elderly patients. Children often have gait problems, which develop in the feet, he said. And the elderly, many who are diabetic, see Fittz for circulatory and sensation problems.

He said he also commonly treats people who have ingrown toenails, arch strains and flat feet.

Fittz cited several reasons causing problem feet. "Usually a lot of foot problems have a hereditary nature to them," he said.

But other factors can also cause or contribute to foot problems, he added. "Shoes, mostly women's shoes, can cause a lot of problems. he continued. 'I think it's good that a lot of women wear running shoes to work.

Hard walking surfaces also contribute to aching and injured feet, Fittz said. Man was meant to walk on flexible surfaces such as grass or dirt. Runners can take heart, however, because the quality of running shoes has increased tremendously over the past ten years. "Today's running shoes are built better than they were ten years ago,"

view corridor is possible. Dan Jaffe, a resident, commented on the parking, noting the difficulties presently in the town.

Gloria Conway expressed concern over the lack of parking being provided in the plan for City Square, pointing out the present parking problems with the Charlestown District Court and the Life Focus Center occupying City Square sites, as well as new businesses that have just opened in the area. She told them that the need for parking would not go away just by ignoring the situation.

Smith was asked about additional land taking for the project. He replied, "As I understand, there will be some small portions of several commercial sites taken, but no residential housing.'

In response to a request by Bob Spencer that someone from DPW state that there is not going to be anymore land taking, Mario Tocce from that agency said that he understood that no residences were to be taken and unless there were

"unforseen problems," he did not anticipate any more land taking.

In other discussion, Smith said the YMCA property is still occupied and will remain standing until everyone is relocated. He said bids will not be put out for demolition for some time - probably several months.

Construction on the temporary detour is slated to begin in the spring, Smith said. Utility work will begin immediately on Chelsea Street. Also, preloading, or soil compression, has already begun in the ramp construction area.

Smith said Robert Spencer, who owns the home at 15 Chestnut Street at the corner of Lowney Way, will definitely lose 50 square feet of his land to the project. Spencer recently learned he would lose this land after repeatedly being told by engineers and consultants involved with the project, he would be able to keep his land. However. Matthew Currie of the DPW said he is going to negotiate with Spencer. "It appears it could be an enhancement, rather than a

Smith also reported to the gathering that he has been told that the failure of Congress to pass the funding package for the depression of the Central Artery and the third harbor tunnel would not affect this

"Tango Argentino," one of the most extraordinary hits of any season, continuing its National Tour, opened at the Shubert Theatre, 265 Tremont Street, for two weeks only, through Sunday, November 2. "Tango Argentino," which broke box office records first in Paris and then on Broadway, returned romance and sensuality to the theatrical stage. It was conceived, directed and designed by Claudio Segovia and Hector Orezzoli with choreographic conception by Segovia, assisted by Juan Carlos Copes.

"Tango Argentino" features the world's most renowned tango artists. Each of the thirty dancers, singers and musicians of the company, all from Buenos Aires, is a star in his own right and has a unique, special style of performing tango. Segovia and Orezzoli have melded their special talents into a spectacle which conveys grace, the grandeur and the unique style that have epitomized tango during its 100-year history. Mel Howard and

"Tango Argentino"

Opens At The Shubert Theatre

The tango was born in the 1880's in Buenos Aires. a city rapidly filling with immigrants from both the Pampas (Argentinian countryside) and from Europe. The music draws on the Argentinian 'milonga.' which in turn combines Indian rhythms with the 'habanera' of the first Spanish colonists. But tango music also has African 'condombe' influences, and the word tango is probably derived as much from the Latin 'tangere,' to touch, as it is from the beat of the drums which African servants played in the slave quarters of Argentina. Tango travelled to North America and Paris in the period just after World War I. The success of "Tango Argentino" fostered a new kind of madness - "Tango-mania." The return to ballroom dancing and sensuous fashion has been credited to this show. In fact when it opened in October of 1985, fashion designers in both Paris and New York saluted the tango for its impact on fashion. And Tango parties became the rage, where even President Reagan celebrated his birthday by demanding six encores from the two members of the cast who came to Washington to entertain.

Matt O'Neil Club Takes "Cup" At Warwick, R.I. Junior A Tournament

by Bernie "Scoop" Kelly 'We'll win it all," that's what head Coach Johnny Tibbetts and General Manager Eddie "The Baron" Johnson said after the last practice session by the Matt O'Neil Club at the Walter Brown Arena just one week before the Kent County Junior "A" Tournament was to be played at the Thayer Arena in Warwick, Rhode Island on Columbus Day Weekend.

The excitement of the tournament was evident in the players after they were registered at the Suisse Chalet Motel in Warwick on Sunday afternoon, in anticipation of making it to the finals, which would evolve around them beating a fine Philadelphia team that Sunday evening, which they did by the score of 7 to 1.

The mood was cheerful and the spirits were high back at the motel on Sunday night because the victory over Philadelphia assured the O'Neil Club of a chance to will it all, so who was interested in sleeping that night!

Maybe that's how "Den Mothers" get their names . . Mrs. Johnson!

The Thayer Arena was a big complex with two rinks to handle the two division tournament, but it wasn't the showplace for tournament hockey because of the hurricane fence, which I thought was totally obsolete in this day and age especially in tournament play, in place of the plexiglass that appears in most rinks. Alas!

But the atmosphere was 'Stanley Cup' and my wife, Rita, and I were rooting for our champions, the Matt O'Neil Club, as they met every challenge for the right to play in the Champion Tournament Game.

As I weighed each period of play, my common sense was telling me . . . look out, look out . . . it appeared as if someone was making sure the local (R.I.) team was going to win the tournament, by hook or by crook (maybe the latter)!

My suspicions became more apparent as I observed blatant attempts by the referees officiating the games by the calls made and by some of drummedup protests by the tournament director, Joe Ross, to which I witnessed both the protest and the resolution.

They attempted to disqualify the O'Neil Club's 5 to I victory over the formidable Syracuse team, with a ploy that the O'Neil Club had an ineligible player, Chip Bradbury, who they claimed was overaged. When General Manager Johnson forced them to call the rules and credentials committee, they found their protest was in error and that the O'Neil Club was the winner.

General Manager, Eddie Johnson, was livid to think the tournament directors would stoop to this level to disqualify any team to make sure the local team won the tournament. This reminds me of the Berlin, New Hampshire Midget Tournament a few years back with Matt O'Neil, when the lights went out.

Let the record show, the Matt O'Neil Club won every game they played in the tournament and they won every game with "Class!" This talented team performed like pros and some of the credit must go to their coaches, Johnny Tibbetts and Johnny Kelly, who had set up this fine tuned machine of scoring lines and playmakers, who performed awesomely against some of the best Junior "A" teams in the New England states and the East Coast.

That's exactly what happened this past Columbus Day Weekend and despite this despicable effort on the part of the directors and rerees, the Matt O'Neil Club classily defeated all opponts, including the local Warwick, Rhode Island team, Artie Johnson's Junior "A's" by a score of 5 to 0 to win the Tournament Championship . . . in the Matt O'Neil tradition. . . with "CLASS!" Oh, how sweet it is . . . Champs!

GOOD SEATS AS LATE AS SHOWTIME

by Bob DeCristoforo

Talk is great. Pats on the back are fine. "Nice Game" is nice talk. Reality, fortunately or unfortunately, is the scoreboard. Wins, losses or ties, the team record is what counts. Everyone wants to win. Even a tie only means "try harder," and a loss means you have failed. Hard facts yes, reality yes.

Anyone who doesn't want to win, anyone who doesn't like to win, and anyone who doesn't go for the win, is wrong. Wins justify all the hard work. Wins make everyone happy and everything easier. Everyone wants to win. Parents want the wins, alumni want the wins, coaches and their staffs want the wins, fans want the wins, and most importantly the players want the wins. Athletic Directors want the wins and even sports writers want the wins.

On Sunday, Christopher Columbus High School Football won a hard fought game. The Friars came from behind to beat Cathedral 8-6. This was the team's first win of the season, and you could see the change on Monday morning. Nothing had to be said, because the satisfaction was glowing on everyone's face. The cheerleaders were smiling, the players were smiling, the coaches were smiling. The burden of four straight losses had been lifted.

The defensive unit forced Cathedral into a safety, and Jimmy Donovan raced 41 yards for winning touchdown. Michael Bevilacqua came up with a major first down, and Danny Toscano once again came up with the key plays. Shane Noone, Richy Burke and Marty Kane did their usual fine jobs. The Friars won, and they deserved it.

Giving 100 percent - all that you have, means a victory, but you need proof. and the "W", the win, is the proof. The Football Friars got their proof this weekend.

The next game will be on Sunday afternoon at Dilboy Field in Somerville, as the Friars travel to Matignon for a 1:30 p.m. game.

* OTHER NOTES

Sunday was the first football game I've missed since 1968, but I must admit spending a weekend at Shea Stadium to watch the Red Sox defeat the Mets in the first two games of the World Series was an unforgetable, and a very enjoyable experience.

* ALUMNI NOTES

Also enjoying World Series activity in New York were Fenway Groundkeepers Mike Nee, Ed Pistorino, and Brian Yanovitch. All three were fine football athletes at Columbus.

O'Neil Juniors Take Tourney Championship to cheer on the Champion O'Neil Club, while lending some advice and council to the General Manager Eddie Johnson on how to win the big ones as "Softie" claims won him his notoriety as Charlestown's most successful softball coach. which is second only to Jack "The Barber's" overwhelming football record as Hall of Fame Coach of the C-Town Town Team sorry, "Softie", Jack's record is still tops, but Eddie Johnson swears he could not have done it without you.

GENERAL MANAGER

For Eddie Johnson, there's more to being a general manager than just standing around looking important. He's a man that wears many hats and wears them well. He must be a manager first, with full knowledge of the hockey business he runs and with full awareness of all the rules and regulations that govern this sport under the A.H.A.U.S. and A.H.A.-C.M. guidelines. And more importantly, he must be confidant, advisor, diplomat, statesman and den mother, whenever the situation arises with any of his players and coaches. By the way, "Den Mother" in hockey?? COACHES

Coaches are constantly seeking Eddie's knowledge and advice about certain players.

Ed's opinion can sometimes help a youngster get a second look by a coach who may give the player a change to go to college on a full ticket.

Johnson says, "If our presence at any tournament helps just one youngster make it up the ladder to success, then it was all worth it!"

Assistant Coach for the University of New Hampshire, Jeff Coaty, valued the opinions and help that Johnson showed in the knowledge of his three players who were very much in focus as possible candidates for a full scholarship at U.N.H.

Eddie was making sure the kids were getting the best deal for their talents. Also, one scout from the Markham organization out of Ontario, Canada, named Chuck Rosart of the Tier 2 Junior "A" League, was very impressed with several players from the Matt O'Neil Club and, appealed to Johnson for a chance to meet and talk with these players about signing with his organization. That would guarantee a good salary for playing with a possibility of being picked up by the professional teams affiliated with the Markham organization.

The opportunities are unlimited for any player willing to take the challenge.

in nature, there are a lot of misconceptions about foster care. Foster care is provided by DSS as a respite for families in crisis. Often the placement is voluntary and is time-limited, allowing the parents and child the distance necessary to focus on their problems. The primary goal of Foster Care is reunification of children with their families whenever possible. Therefore, the social worker, foster parents and biological parents must work together to solve the problems that made placement necessary.
