History

This curious story begins in the most random way possible, when two guys meet in a social network, without knowing each other and begin to interact with common interests.

One of them turned out to be penguin-obsessed, drawing sketches on paper for more than 15 years and flooding the walls with graffiti.

The other guy was an animal lover, obsessed with the crypto world, this changed his life and opened his mind.

It turned out that both boys were from the same city and were born on the same day in the same month of the same year.
