

Police Protection, Drug Trafficking, And 911 Main Topics At Police Meeting

by Marianne Martin
 Despite a summer vacation, many of the problems which residents reported experiencing in the spring have not diminished, as evidenced at the Tuesday, October 8th Police Community Relations meeting. The main concerns expressed focused on the lack of adequate police personnel, the increasing drug trafficking problem, and the 911 emergency system procedure. Sergeant Conboy of Area A agreed with the residents that there is a shortage of police, but stated that this did not mean that Charlestown was not receiving police protection. According to Conboy, Deputy Superintendent Ronald Conway of Area A had requested 17 of the 64 graduating cadets from the last class from the police academy, however, Area A only received four cadets. "We have another group graduating in December and Conway has asked for 12 to 16 more and he seems to think we're going to get them," affirmed Conboy. The sergeant told the residents that on the weekends, 28 patrol cars are available throughout the City, however, at any given 24 hour period in Charlestown, there

"Windfall" Opens At Charlestown Working Theater

Little Flagg Theater is justifiably renowned for being one of a handful of theaters in the nation which produces original plays that fuse relevant social issues with dynamic artistic expression. "Windfall" maintains that important tradition.

"Windfall", written by Maxine Klein with music by James Oestereich, is an ironic musical in which three unlikely heroes stumble headlong into one of the most horrific crimes of this century and then do battle for the survival of us all.

"Windfall" will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:00 p.m. at the Charlestown Working Theater, 442 Bunker Hill Street, Charlestown through October 26th. Please call 232-2666 for reservations and/or information about group sales and benefits.

Presentation On Proposed Monument Square National Register District

Monument Square property owners are cordially invited by the Boston Landmarks Commission and the Charlestown Historical Society to attend a presentation and discussion on the proposed Monument Square

National Register District on Thursday, October 24, 1985 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Leslie Dangel, 4 Monument Square.

Staff from the Boston Landmarks Commission will be making a short slide presentation on the National Register nomination process and will answer questions. This public information meeting for owners is being held prior to the consideration of the nomination by the Massachusetts Historical Commission at its November meeting. MHC staff will also be present.

The National Register is the nation's official register of historic properties and districts worthy of preservation. Listing in the National Register provides recognition of historic significance and provides certain Federal tax benefits for the renovation of historic properties that qualify as depreciable by the IRS. Listing has no effect or constraints on private homeowners within a district.

Interested Charlestown residents are welcome.

City Square is the second of eight Charlestown locations to be excavated in the North Area/Central Artery Project. The project, which is administered by the Massachusetts Department of Public Works and funded through the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the Federal Highway Administration, will continue through 1987.

On June 17, 1775, while Americans fought British troops in the Battle of Bunker Hill, Charlestown was consumed in a devastating fire. Shooting upon the town from warships in the harbor and from a battery on Copp's Hill in Boston's North End, the British reduced Charlestown to ashes, and brought its citizens exile and financial ruin. The center of Charlestown, City Square, with its 145 year old tavern, court house, and meeting house, was burned to the ground.

Archaeological excavation now shows that the fire did not destroy all the evidence of buildings in City Square. Historic archaeologists from the Public Archaeology La-

Breed's Hill

It was on the wrong hill
In the right town
A grey granite shaft to the sun
An obelisk of great renown

A battle fought long ago
Half a mile from where
It should have been
But yet do we really care?

Breed's Hill not Bunker Hill
Was what the historians said
But I would not put that question
To the brave colonial dead

So a small mistake was made
As in many other times
I have never read where historians
Were hung for written crimes

Rather we shall always remember
The great and varied colonial dead
Prescott, Warren, and all the others there
Green grass stained with British red

It will always be the right battle
Fought on the opposite hill
And like many American errors
It was the winning that stays with us still.

Voke Supports Request For EPA Super Funds

Supporting the City of Boston's Department of Health and Hospitals' request for funding through the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for immediate cleanup of lead contaminated soil in Boston, Representative Richard A. Voke recently contacted EPA Director Lee Thomas to express his concerns about the health and public welfare of Boston's children.

In speaking about the Department of Health and Hospitals report compiled after several months of analysis of Boston children lead poisoning, Representative Voke stated that Boston's children have been "exposed to an unacceptable level of lead" at early ages. "While both the state and the city have recognized the problems associated with childhood lead poisoning, and have steadily increased their budgets to combat it, the immediate need to alleviate the problem in Boston necessitates the assistance of the federal government," stressed Voke.

Charlestown's History As Discovered In Recent Archaeological Excavations Topic Of Charlestown Historical Society Meeting

PRESIDENT of the Charlestown Historical Society, Kay Whelan (left), presented a Bunker Hill plate to Barbara Thibault (right), Site Interpreter for the archaeological excavations underway in Charlestown. Thibault was the guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Society and presented a most interesting and informative slide show and narrative on the artifacts and archaeological discoveries found at the Henley Distillery site, excavated in July, and at City Square, which is currently under excavation.

VIEW ARTIFACTS: Members and guests of the Charlestown Historical Society had the opportunity to view artifacts gathered from the archaeological excavations on the site of the former Henley Distillery and City Square, following a recent meeting of the Society at the Bunker Hill Museum. These artifacts are being gathered at various sites in the City Square area from now through the fall of 1986 to save some of Charlestown's history, prior to the start of construction of the North Area/Central Artery Project. The artifacts gathered from these sites may be viewed by contacting Site Interpreter Barbara Thibault at 332-3290.

Lukas To Speak At Library

On Saturday, October 19, 1985 at 2:00 p.m. at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, J. Anthony Lukas will speak on his recently published book, "Common Ground", an incisive portrayal of three Boston families and how they coped during the court-ordered school desegregation crisis. The South End and Charlestown neighborhoods are the setting for tense confrontations between residents and local politicians. "This is a bittersweet book on the end of the American dream," comments David Halberstam, journalist.

Lukas is a former correspondent with the New York Times and a Pulitzer Prize recipient. He has been a Nieman, Kennedy and Guggenheim Fellow and has taught at Harvard, Yale, and Boston University. Lukas is also the author of "Nightmare: The Underside Of The Nixon Years".

The public is cordially invited to attend.

BUNKER HILL HEALTH CENTER

73 High Street * Charlestown

242-5700

The MGH Bunker Hill Health Center first opened its doors in September 1968 - the Health Center is 17 years old this month. In 1968 the MGH and the people of Charlestown identified the need for a Neighborhood Health Center and the MGH has continued to support BHHC in its mission as an important Charlestown resource for health care.

For the first time since its opening, the staff of Bunker Hill Center celebrated their Birthday. The administration decided to combine the Birthday celebration with Employee Recognition Day. The festivities included a luncheon, a few accounts of the early days of the center by senior staff and presentation of service awards. The main goal of the celebration was to recognize and thank all staff for their commitment to Bunker Hill Health Center and to the community of Charlestown. The official recognition awards were presented to staff for 3, 5, 10 and 15 plus years of service. Some of the awards were historical prints of the community to symbolize the special uniqueness of this community setting.

are three single manned patrol cars and one rapid response unit. There is also the Boston Team Police available who patrol the Bunker Hill Housing Development along with the Boston Housing Authority Police. In addition, Conboy stated, there is the Boston Police Harbor Patrol, the Boston Public School Police, and paid details at various potential "trouble" spots.

Several residents stated while there may be limited personnel, the police officers presently working in Charlestown are not giving 100%. Many commented that police seem to ignore the public nuisances of drinking, drug trafficking, double parking, and answering dispatched radio calls.

One woman referred to several incidents she witnessed at the Eden Street Park, where officers allowed youth gangs to publicly drink while kicking young mothers with their baby carriages and boys playing basketball out of the park. "One Friday night, there were kids drinking there with a cooler sitting beside them and the cops pulled up and said to them, 'You're not old enough to drink.' A girl pulled out an I.D., the cop looked at it and left."

Another complaint voiced at the meeting was the abusive language used by the police, not only to teenagers, but to young kids. "The language is terrible," said one woman, "If the police want to be respected, they should use authority, not this language."

Conboy agreed that abusive language is becoming common place not only with police officers, but in other professions as well. Conboy stated it was his belief that it is the age group, rather than the police force, since many of the older police officers, including himself, do not use such language.

Another woman told Conboy that she has a police radio and has called into 911 several times to report crimes in progress and has heard the call dispatched over the air, officers acknowledge the call, but never arrive on the scene. "I used to think the problem was with 911, but when I hear it come over the air and officers say they'll respond and don't, well..."

Not all residents were willing to dismiss the 911 system as faultless. The system, which has long been criticized by citizens throughout the city, was again under fire as many reported they experienced a great deal of difficulty with the operators. Among the frustrations vented were the lack of response to emergency calls placed to 911, being put on hold by operators or even hung up on, or talking to an operator who did not speak English.

One woman said she called 911 for emergency medical assistance for someone who was having a heart attack and was told there was only one cardiac arrest unit for the entire city. "So I called the fire department and they came right out."

Conboy told the residents that the Health and Hospitals emergency medical teams were also short handed and while they are "doing their best", he personally could sympathize with residents who experienced having to wait for emergency medical assistance. Since the police are not trained to give medical treatment, Conboy stated, "It's awfully embarrassing to be standing there waiting for an ambulance. You're tempted to take the person yourself, but once the police touch the person, they are liable."

One man told the gathering that once he was so frustrated awaiting a medical team that he had to place nine calls to 911, "so I called and said I had a cop down and boom, the place filled up with everyone."

The major problem discussed at all police community relations meetings is the drug trafficking situation, which has reportedly become a blatant occurrence along many of Charlestown's streets, especially Main Street. "Drugs are worse than the drinking," began one resident. Others blamed drugs as the reason for other crimes in the area, such as auto theft and vandalism.

While Conboy stated he was not "at liberty" to discuss specifics, he did inform residents that there is a major investigation being conducted in Charlestown by, not only local detectives, but also by federal authorities. "It's just a matter of time before they convene a Grand Jury to get warrants," stated the sergeant, adding, the operation is "very secretive".

Conboy emphasized, however, that no matter how many of "the kingpins" are arrested, there would be other dealers and suppliers to replace them. Such roundups disrupt drug operations, but do not always prevent further incidents. According to Conboy, police arrest statistics are deceiving. "The majority of drug arrests we make are accidental," stated Conboy, who added that as many as 99% of all drug related arrests were the result of another crime. For example, the operator of a speeding car stopped by police may be in possession of drugs.

As a result of the stoning attack in front of the Godfather two weekends ago, and the two stabbings this past week, residents asked if there was going to be any additional police protection in Charlestown, to which Conboy said no.

"It's like we're not a part of the City of Boston. We get enough bad publicity," said one resident, who added that public officials "should know we're on the map."

Another resident agreed and stated with the next election the politicians "will all be out". The resident continued, "The Mayor should be interceding in more things than he is doing. He should spread his sunshine over the bridge."

Archaeology Update

laboratory, Inc. have uncovered foundations that appear to be those of Governor Winthrop's Great House and the Long House, along with their walkways and out-buildings.

Located along the Boston Harbor near the junction of the Mystic and Charles Rivers, the choice of City Square and Town Hill appeared suitable for the 1629-30 establishment of Charlestown. Historical documents relate that Thomas Graves, an engineer, was selected by the Massachusetts Bay Colony's founders to lay out streets and construct a residence for the Governor of the new Colony, John Winthrop. Space for the General Court sessions and Meeting House services were also to be included in this building, called The Great House. However, the majority of the first families and Governor Winthrop relocated across the river into Boston because diseases, possibly due to the drinking water, killed many of the early Charlestown residents.

By 1635, The Great House was sold by the General Court to Robert Long with the stipulation that the remaining Charlestown families continue to use a room for their meeting house. Soon after, in 1638, a meeting house was erected opposite City Square to the north and The Great House became Long's Ordinary or Tavern, later known as the Three Cranes Tavern.

No illustrations are known of this building, but written records describe it as a two-story structure with at least six rooms. The tavern's ownership remained in the Long family for many years after Robert Long's death in 1663. An adjacent dwelling was built for Robert's widow, Elizabeth Long, by 1682. Other buildings mentioned in deeds, wills, and probate records include a stable and brew house. Possibly unrecorded additional ones, like privies, diaries, or wood sheds were also located near the tavern.

More construction occurred on the lot in the early 18th century when Mary Long, Robert and Elizabeth's daughter-in-law, sold a portion to her nephew, Henry Cookery, and gave land to her youngest son, Samuel Long. Excluded from the gift was her own dwelling, the same house that Elizabeth Long had occupied. She further specified in the deed the "right of passage for a drain...of her dwelling house..." into the tavern's cellar.

After the death of Samuel Long's widow in 1743, the ownership of the tavern, referred to as Three Cranes Tavern, changed several times. Finally in 1766, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company acquired the tavern's mortgage. All the buildings in City Square were burned in the fire started by the British bombardment during the Battle of Bunker Hill. Their foundations were filled in as Charlestown's citizens rebuilt the town. In fact, the City Square lot was preserved for future generations when the Town voted in 1788 that "the square, so called shall not in the future be encumbered with any building". Ownership of the Square once again returned to the public and has remained open space, used first as a town market place then a community park.

Once the 20th and 19th century layers of soil were removed from the Square, the archaeologists uncovered the burned 1775 surface and earlier soil layers. The lot has been altered by the installation of water and sewer lines, but sections of it remain intact. Excavations appear to be taking place in the portion of the lot built upon in the 17th century. Along with foundations that appear to be those of The Great House or Three Cranes Tavern and the Long House, several related structures and numerous artifacts have been found. A privy, a line of fence posts, a drain, and trash pits, all add to the information collected concerning the site's history. For example, the large number of clay tobacco pipes and drinking vessels, more than are usually found near early houses, suggests that this is the site of a tavern. The proximity of two house foundations and a flagstone covered drain correspond to the written records and help to identify the buildings. Eighteenth century houses built on the subdivided lot have not been found and are probably located under the road circling City Square.

Tours of this site are available by appointment and will continue through October. Call 332-3290, join the crew and walk back in time along the 1775 charred surface, upon a 1730s cobbles, cobble pavement, and into The Great House.

THE LIGHTS ARE GOING ON

AGAIN.

The lights went on for the first time in 1928, when the Schrafft Candy factory was completed. Built on the site of the old Adams Paper Box Company at the foot of historic Bunker Hill, the Schrafft building was the largest of its kind in the country and probably one of the most beautiful, with every modern facility for the manufacture of high quality chocolates and selected candies. And for more than half a century, the lights stayed on, creating a Boston landmark.

But in 1984, Schrafft ceased operations. The lights went out - and many thought they were gone for good. Until The Flatley Company, one of New England's largest real estate development and management companies, stepped in to create a future for this historic building every bit as exciting as its past.

At Orion Research, Inc., we were glad to know that Boston would not lose one of its most historic landmarks - and we were delighted to be one of the first companies to move into the newly renovated facility - renamed the Schrafft Center.

As a leading manufacturer of advanced chemical measurement instrumentation for laboratory, biomedical and industrial process use, Orion has a history of its own. For almost a quarter century, we've been leading our industry, combining our leadership in ion selective electrode technology with state-of-the-art electronics and software to create sophisticated, "user-friendly" instrumentation for fast, accurate and cost-effective chemical measurement.

Ranging from small bench-top meters to large industrial monitors, our advanced instruments have some very down to earth uses, including medical diagnostic testing, quality control in food, and environmental protection. With these sensitive electrodes, monitors and analyzers, specific chemicals can be detected in our food, blood, water and more.

When we move into The Schrafft Center, we're bringing with us a bright spark of new energy for a Boston tradition. Our new facility will offer free, secured parking, free shuttle to the Orange Line station, campus-style grounds and more - including some of the best new opportunities in the area.

As we move in and the lights go on, we invite you to make your own future quite a bit brighter by exploring exciting new careers with Orion. Together, we can keep the lights burning in The Schrafft Center for decades to come.

RECEPTION FOR FATHER CONWAY

Captain Rita Feeley and Tom Jackson represented the Post at last Friday's luncheon in honor of Father Tom Conway, newly assigned as Pastor of St. Margaret's Church in Dorchester. The luncheon was attended by friends and associates of Father Conway and was highlighted by the presentation of several awards and gifts. His honor, Mayor Raymond Flynn presented Father Conway with The Boston Bowl — the highest accolade awarded by the City for distinguished service. Following this, Rita and Tom presented Father Conway with a clock plaque specially engraved with the thanks and best wishes of the Explorer Post.

LAST MEETING

On October 3rd, the Explorers gathered at their bi-weekly meeting to view two video tapes with special meaning for Charlestown. The first was the "Evening Profiles" special by Robin Young on the Bunker Hill Development. The second tape was the recent "Hometown Heroes" award presentation where Steve DaCorta, Post Advisor, proudly accepted the designation as Hometown Hero. The tapes were enjoyed by the members. The meeting closed with the registration of new members.

NEXT MEETING

The next meeting of Post 1212-15 will be held on Thursday evening, October 17th at 7:00 p.m. at 55 Bunker Hill Street. New members are welcome.

See you there,
Steve DaCorta, Advisor

"Camelot" To Open At The Wang Performance Center

Richard Harris stars in Lerner and Loewe's legendary musical "Camelot" when it opens Tuesday, October 15 at 8:00 p.m. at the Wang Performance Center through Sunday, October 20th.

Based on T.H. White's 1958 novel, "The Once and Future King," "Camelot" warmly embraces the romantic tale of King Arthur and Lancelot to the beguiling Guenevere. "Camelot" began its celebrated career when it opened to New York audiences on December 3, 1960. Winner of four Tony Awards in 1961, the musical continued on to a successful three-year run on Broadway.

Born in Limerick, Ireland, Harris began his celebrated career playing parts on the London stage. Among his many credits are Marlowe's "Edward I," Brendan Behan's "The Hostage," "Diary of a Madman," J.P. Don Leavy's "The Ginger Man" and "Macbeth" with the famed Moscow Art Theater.

With his stage career fully established and recognized, Harris ventured into films. He won several awards for his unforgettable performances in "A Man Called Horse," "Cromwell," "The Cassandra Crossing" and "The Hero" which he also directed.

Chip Huddleston plays the handsome knight and beloved friend of Arthur. Lancelot. Martha Traverse stars as the romantic, flirtatious Guenevere with the roles of Merlyn and Pellinore expertly played by James Valentine.

Rounding out the principals are Andy McAvin as Mordred, Patrick Godfrey as Sir Dinadan, William Thomas Bookmyer as Tom of Warwick, and Marcia Brushingham as Nimue.

The lavish sets are designed by Tom Barnes, lighting by Ruth Roberts with costumes under the supervision of Shirley Bird.

For further information call the Wang Performance Center at 482-9393. For Group Sales, call 426-6444. Performances are: Tuesday through Saturday at 8:00 p.m. Matinees are Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday at 2:00 p.m. Tickets for Friday and Saturday nights: $28.00, $25.50, and $20.50; for weeknights and matinees: $25.50, $22.50, and $17.50. Price includes 50¢ per ticket restoration charge for the Wang Performance Center.

It's A Boy...

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Leeman of Charlestown wish to announce the birth of their son, Joseph Robert, on September 25th at 7:12 p.m. at Brigham & Womens Hospital. Joseph weighed six pounds five ounces and was 20 inches long.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John K. Leeman of 5 Auburn Square, Charlestown and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lovell of Dorchester.

Little Joseph was welcomed home by his 18 month old brother, Patrick Anthony.

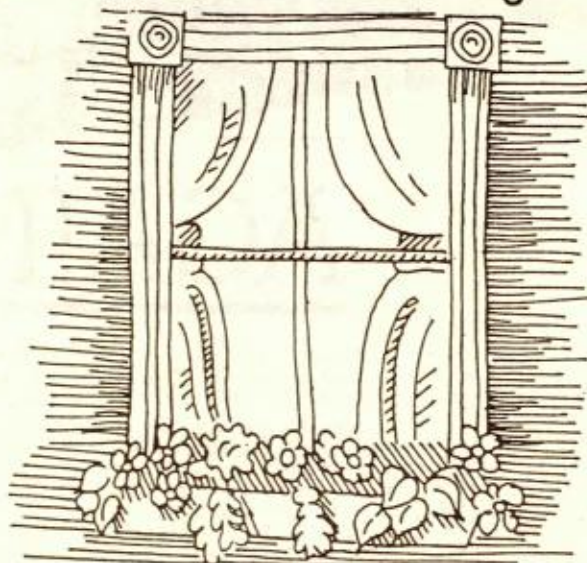

Thinking Thin At Bunker Hill

Dr. Gabe Mirkin, nationally known physician and anchor of CBS radio program "Dr. Gabe Mirkin on Health, Fitness and Nutrition", and Dr. Keith Marton, Chief of General Medicine at New England Deaconess Hospital, will moderate "Thinking Thin" on Saturday, October 12th from 9 a.m. to noon at Bunker Hill Community College.

The program, designed by Training Coordination and the Department of Dietetics at New England Deaconess Hospital, outlines a safe and effective diet and exercise program geared toward helping you lose weight and develop good eating habits. Dr. Mirkin and Dr. Marton will also discuss the important role of exercise and explain which exercises are the most effective. Questions from the audience will be welcome.

If you're interested in being fit and "Thinking Thin", call the Division of Continuing Education at Bunker Hill Community College at 241-8600 extension 444 and find out more about this information seminar.

soning Prevention Program, according to a recent study, has worked with a committee of nationally and locally prominent figures in medical research, science, and public health to identify several steps to prevent lead poisoning in areas where it constitutes a significant public health problem. The request for EPA funding is an important step in initiating these programs so as to protect the public health and welfare of those who are potentially affected.

Because lead, in paint, dust and soil, has been noted as an important toxic waste problem in terms of the seriousness and extent of human health effects, increases were placed in the Commonwealth's Fiscal Year 1986 budget to raise the appropriations for the lead poisoning program to $1.2 million. In addition, a special study commission was also established to review existing lead poisoning programs and to draft further legislation to combat the poisoning in the Commonwealth.

"Officials in all levels of government have recognized the health hazards posed by lead poisoning. By providing funds to expand existing programs, while drafting further legislation to continue to combat the poisoning, we are taking steps to ensure that the problems associated with lead poisoning are alleviated," concluded Voke.

SACRED HEART OF JESUS AND St. JUDE

Sacred Heart of Jesus and St. Jude, may the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude Miracle Worker, pray for us. St. Jude help for the hopeless, pray for us.

Say this prayer nine times a day, by the ninth day your prayer will be answered. It has never been known to fail.

Publication must be promised. My prayers have been answered.

ABCD's Fuel Assistance Program Opens October 15th

Action for Boston Community Development's Fuel Assistance Program will start accepting applications from low-income residents of Charlestown on Tuesday, October 15 at the Kennedy Center, 27 Winthrop Street.

The program is designed to assist low-income households with home heating bills. Tens of thousands of low-income households have received fuel assistance payments through the program which is funded by both the state and federal government. The program cannot cover a household's total heating expense but it can help defray a significant portion of the cost enabling needy families to keep warm during the winter. Both low-income renters and homeowners are eligible to apply.

To receive assistance under the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program, a household's total gross income may not exceed the following guidelines:

Household Size	Total Yearly Income
1	9,188
2	12,338
3	13,275
4	15,975
5	18,675
6	21,375
7	24,075
8	26,775

Add $2,700 for each additional person over 8.

Applicants may apply at any one of the 36 intake sites between October 15, 1985 and April 30, 1986. Constance Carey, ABCD Energy Director, advises all prospective applicants to provide the following information, in order to qualify for this year's program and receive assistance as soon as possible.

1. Proof of all sources of income for at least the 90 day period preceding the application for all household members aged 18 years and over. (Include letter from appropriate schools or colleges if household members are full-time students);
2. Social Security numbers for ALL household members aged 18 years and over;
3. A copy of the most recent bill for the primary source of heat. (If the heat has been shut off prior to application, a copy of the final bill will suffice);
4. Either a current mortgage statement (if home is owned), or a current rent receipt (if applicant rents their home or apartment).

Facts About Drugs — F.A.D.

Most of us remember the first cigarette we smoked. Remember the slight feelings of nausea and dizziness? Well, our body eventually got used to the foreign substance floating about in our lungs, to the point where we felt our bodies couldn't function without it. Once hooked, the benefits cannot be denied. The same thing could be said about heroin addicts and the "benefits" they reap from shooting up. The "feeling better" is only temporary. Not temporary are the health problems from long term use.

Pregnant women who smoke run a greater risk of smaller babies and of having babies who are hyperkinetic.

Smoking is also suspected of depleting the body of its stores of certain vitamins, especially Vitamin C.

People who smoke low tar nicotine cigarettes are not cutting down on health risks. It has been noted that most people hold smoke from these cigarettes longer in their lungs to get more satisfaction. This is damaging to lungs.

Of course all of us know about the increase in incidence of lung cancer which is linked to smoking. It is also associated with heart disease and is the most common cause of chronic bronchitis.

Fortunately, some adults are listening and cigarette use has dropped. But unfortunately it is increasing among teenagers.

How do you quit? "Cold turkey" is one way. The physical discomfort will last for a few days and people survive. There are clinics that offer a wide variety of methods to help clients quit.

Next week I will write about a four week program that can be condensed to two weeks or less.

Any questions???? Call Mimi White at the Charlestown Clubhouse, 242-1775.

Nutrition Assistance Opportunities

Nutrition assistance opportunities for Charlestown residents are available. Training of nutrition aides is not being offered by the University of Massachusetts Cooperative Extension - Suffolk County.

Persons accepted for training receive $5.10 per hour. After training, aides work 20 to 40 hours per week and receive travel reimbursement and University of Massachusetts benefits. To obtain an application, contact the Suffolk County Cooperative Extension office, 150 Causeway Street, Room 803, Boston, MA 02114 or call 727-4107.

Nutrition aides are participating in the Expanded Food & Nutrition Education program (EFNEP). EFNEP is a major outreach program of the University of Massachusetts Cooperative Extension - Suffolk County office. It services limited income families with young children. It provides the vital educational complement to food assistance programs. Since 1969 Massachusetts EFNEP has been successful in helping more than 46,000 families and 219,000 children to more effectively meet their nutritional needs. Through EFNEP, families improve nutritional status, learn to manage food resources and increase nutrition knowledge and practices.

WHICH IS THE DACROWN (day-crown)? A cast ceramic covering

You cannot tell because the new crown is Dacrown, short for Dental Associates Crown. The difference is that the ceramic material is cast and there is no metal under the restoration.

ADVANTAGES:

- Stronger than other porcelain crowns.
- Coloring and form closest to natural teeth.
- Fits better.
- No metal at edges
- Less sensitivity to hot and cold.

DISADVANTAGES: NONE

- The process requires special laboratory procedures.
- The crown is made in our own laboratory.
- Prosthodontists (specialists in restorative dentistry) prepare, fit and color these crowns at Dental Associates.

NO CHARGE FOR CONSULTATIONS
Dental Associates

89 Cambridge Street
Charlestown, MA

Ask for a brochure on Dacrown. This process is also called Cerestore

Accredited by the American Academy of Dental Group Practice

In some cases, applicants whose heat is included in their rent can receive assistance. They should provide at least 90 days worth of rent receipts or a letter from the landlord stating the monthly rent for the apartment and how long they have lived there.

Since no application can be certified without all of this information, applicants are urged to bring these records with them when they apply. Anyone with questions or problems concerning their application should contact the Kennedy Center at 241-8866 or the ABCD central office, 178 Tremont Street, Boston at 357-6012.

In the B-Team game, Charlestown lost by the score of 12-0.

In the A-Team game, Charlestown lost by a score of 26-0.

We picked up a couple of more kids to play for the A-Team and the B-Team. We could still use a few more players for these teams. Anyone interested should come down to the field or call Matt at 241-7771.

This weekend, Charlestown will travel to East Boston for a night game, which will be played on Saturday night with the C-Team starting at 5:00 p.m. We would appreciate it if we could get some rides for the kids.

I would like to thank the Family Shoe Store, the International Brotherhood of Firemen, and Oilers Local No. 3, and Boston City Councillor Michael J. McCormack for their contributions received this week.

The "Oily" On A Winter's Night

by Charlie McGonagle

In days before the indoor rinks,
When kids played hockey games,
No fancy shirts, nor pads, nor gloves,
The teams had corner names.
They played for hours under lights,
They also played for fun.
Two bags atop the ice for goals,
And no one cared who won.

Everybody played, you see,
A bench did not exist,
Seven, eight, or nine per team,
So not a kid was missed.
Their skates were sharpened once a year,
If even that at all,
Instead of stopping like a pro,
Well — they'd simply fall.

No boards around to stop the puck,
No net to catch its flight,
And after five o'clock, or so,
There'd be very little light.
The Northland Pros were taped and cracked,
The skates were hand-me-downs,
The games were played on open ice
'Midst hollow, cracking sounds.

And then there was the open spot,
Where water trickled in,
The ice around the gaping hole
Was always paper thin.
A puck 'oft times would find its way
To this frigid grave,
(Perhaps it would not happen
If the goalie made the save).

If it was the only disc
They had to score the goal,
Someone had to rescue it
From the icy hole.
No easy chore was this, you see,
For if the ice should break,
The Savior's Day was ended
In a soaking, cold mistake.

But skating on the "Oily's" Ice
Was not just a hockey game,
No, children dressed in winter clothes,
Also staked a claim.
And young adults, while hand in hand,
Carved a figure eight,
When gliding on the frozen mass,
While on their evening date.

Somewhere near the Glendale Wall,
Skaters held a hip,
And slid across the "Oily's" Ice,
In hope to snap a whip.
Then as later hours neared,
Most would leave for home,
A silent blanket draped the field,
The ice was left alone.

Stars now danced upon the glass,
A splendid, gleaming sight,
That was the "Oily" I recall,
On a winter's night.

Thank You, "Townies", For Your Hospitality

Charles and Roberta Soloman of Woodland Hills, California recently attended a seminar at the Sheraton Boston Hotel. Friends from Los Angeles, Bob and Rita Tucker, decided it was the perfect opportunity to visit Boston and the Freedom Trail before all four set sail for a vacation in the Bahamas aboard the Tucker's 49 foot boat, the Charles P. Benns.

IT'S BETTER IN THE BAHAMAS! Rita and Bob Tucker of Los Angeles and Roberta and Charles Soloman of Woodland Hills, California, shown (l. to r.) sought shelter at the Charlestown Community High School on Medford Street during Hurricane Gloria.

While docked at the Quarterdeck in the Charlestown Navy Yard to stock up on provisions for the journey, Hurricane Gloria struck. Because they were the only ones living aboard a boat in that area, the group decided to seek shelter nearby until the storm passed. An emergency number given on TV was in Charlestown and a call from the marina office brought the Tuckers and Solomans to the Charlestown Community High School on Medford Street where they enjoyed the hospitality of volunteers and others seeking a dry place.

They express their thanks to all who kept them dry, safe and well fed.

Approval Of Job Commencement

To The Charlestown Patriot:

As promised, here is a copy of the final approval letter from DEQE regarding the Annex to the High School.

Demolition is proceeding slowly and cautiously.

Jan Brodie
Graham Gund Associates

Mr. Graham Gund
12 Arrow Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02108
Attention: Mr. Graham Gund
Gentlemen:

On September 10, 1985 personnel of the Metropolitan Boston/Northeast Region of the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering inspected the annex building at 28 Cedar Street, Charlestown, Massachusetts to confirm completion of the asbestos removal operation.

The Department has determined that all visible friable asbestos has been removed from the annex building, 28 Cedar Street, Charlestown, Massachusetts in accordance with the approved plan dated May 17, 1985.

The Department hereby grants approval for the commencement of renewed construction/renovation/demolition at the annex building, 28 Cedar Street, Charlestown, Massachusetts.

The Department reserves the right to suspend the construction/renovation/demolition activities at this site if deemed necessary.

Please contact Mr. John MacAuley of my staff if you have questions concerning this matter.

Very truly your,
Richard J. Calpin

Acting Regional Environmental Engineer

Boston Latin School News

Michael G. Contompasis, Head Master of the Boston Latin School, is very pleased to announce that thirty-four members of the Class of 1986 have been designated as Commended Students by the National Merit Scholarship Association. In addition, last month the Association published the list of sixteen Boston Latin School Semifinalists. This total of fifty students is the highest number of public school students in the Common-

RESIDENTS of Mystic Street gathered for a "Hurricane Party" on Friday, September 27th, sharing each other's friendship until the storm danger was past.

See the variety and contrast that is Ireland! Discover this country through "Aspects of Ireland", an exhibit of color photographs by Margaret McCarthy on view at the Prudential Tower lobby through October 31st. Margaret McCarthy is a free-lance photographer who is renowned for her works of Ireland.

The photographs capture the landscapes from the south and west of Ireland, scenes from towns and cities, and its people and their way of life.

The exhibit is presented by the Society of Inter-Celtic Arts and Culture, and is part of "Celtic Fortnight", which is also bringing outstanding writers, scholars and artists from all parts of the Celtic world to the Boston Public Library from October 22 through October 31, for lectures and readings.

The lobby display is open to the public and is free of charge. For more information call 236-3533.

Charlestown Facility Receives Grant

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has announced four construction grants totalling $40.5 million to the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) for construction of and improvements to water pollution control facilities, including one in Charlestown.

The projects involve the construction of a new pumping station in Charlestown.

The purpose of the project is to provide adequate and reliable treatment for the existing wastewater flows in the northern metropolitan sewerage district area.

According to EPA Regional Administrator Michael R. Deland, "These improvements represent a significant step toward the cleanup of Boston Harbor. The proposed projects will improve the efficiency of the MWRA's systems by significantly reducing the by-passes and overflows from parts of the sewer system caused by the lack of adequate pumping facilities."

A $7,904,131 EPA grant will be used to construct a new Charlestown pumping station which will replace the existing 90 year old pump station. The pump station handles the wastewater flow of about 125,000 persons residing in Charlestown, Cambridge, Somerville, and Medford.

Deland explains, "The existing pump station and its equipment, originally outfitted with steam driven pumps, has undergone numerous rehabilitations and repairs and currently has structural and mechanical deficiencies. EPA's evaluation of this facility and its equipment shows that the present structure cannot be modified to meet current standards and requirements, therefore the facility will be replaced."

Construction of the project is scheduled to begin in spring, 1986 and will be completed by fall, 1989.

Charlestown Police Line

From The Desk Of

Deputy Superintendent Ronald X. Conway
Commanding Officer Area A
Downtown, Charlestown, East Boston, Beacon Hill

On September 27, 1985 at 4:40 p.m., a cab driver for Green Cab in Somerville picked up a fare at 33 McNulty Court. Shortly thereafter, the fare pulled out a large handgun and robbed the cabbie of $80 cash and a gym bag containing clothes. The suspect fled into the projects. Later that day, after the victim identified the suspect from a photograph, Area A Detectives, with assistance from the Somerville Police Department, arrested the suspect at his father's home in Somerville.

 On September 28, 1985 at 12:45 p.m., Area A Detectives broke up a lottery at 105 Main Street and seized $1,200. The suspect was placed under arrest and transported to Area A.

 On September 28, 1985, as a result of observations made, the police arrested a suspect on Eighth Street for possession of Cocaine. The suspect was transported to Area A.

 On September 28, 1985 at 8:00 p.m., an individual accompanied by a black friend stopped at the Godfather Pizza Shop to buy a sandwich. On leaving the shop, they proceeded on Old Ironside Way where a group of several males surrounded the van. A flaregun was fired in the direction of the van and a rock was thrown through the driver's window causing a two inch laceration to the victim's jaw. Racial slurs were used during the incident. The Community Disorders Unit, which investigates racially motivated incidents, has been assigned the case. At this point two arrests have been made.

 On September 30, 1985 at 11:20 p.m., police officers observed a suspect with an outstanding warrant sitting on an abandoned car at Mishawum. Upon seeing the officers, the suspect fled across the Sullivan Square Rotary and jumped onto the underpass of Rutherford Avenue. The officers gave chase and the suspect was subsequently arrested at the underpass of Rutherford Avenue. The suspect was placed under arrest and transported to Area A.

 On October 1, 1985 at 5:50 p.m., police officers received a call to 521 Main Street where the victim stated that a long time acquaintance had just produced a handgun and threatened to kill him. The information was broadcast over the radio. This led to the suspect being pulled over at the intersection of Essex Street and Rutherford Avenue. The suspect was placed under arrest and transported to Area A.

American Art: A Separate Space

The Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, is presenting a five part illustrated lecture series on American Art, starting Thursday, October 17th at 7:00 p.m.

Aileen Callahan, muralist and lecturer at Boston and Regis Colleges, is the featured speaker. This series will explore, in American painting, recurring pictorial themes unique to the American expression and experience.

The first program entitled, "A Lighted Boundary", will examine the human figure as an artistic subject in an environment of light and objects. The paintings of Winslow Homer, George Caleb Bingham, and Alex Katz will be highlighted during this session.

This program series is sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities Learning Library Program. For more information, call 242-1248. The public is encouraged to attend.

Registration For Mount Saint Joseph Academy

Mount Saint Joseph Academy, 617 Cambridge Street, Brighton, will hold an Open House for prospective students and families on Wednesday, October 23, 1985 from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. Registration for the entrance examination for Catholic Archdiocesan schools will also take place at that time. The exam is given in early December and qualifies students for application for up to five high schools of their choice from the participating group. Eighth graders who wish to apply for admission to Mount Saint Joseph Academy should come to view the school, talk with teachers and students, and register for the exam on Wednesday, October 23rd.

For further information contact the Admissions Office at 783-4747.

Republican City Committee Meeting At Knights of Columbus Hall

Chairman William F. Arigal, Jr. will hold a meeting for all Boston Republican City Committee members and their respective wards on Thursday, October 17th at 8 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 75 West School Street, Charlestown.

The agenda includes the voting in of new members, discussion on the repeal of the surtax, and the City Committee Christmas Party.

For further information

V.F.W. To Meet
