

THE EXPANDED TAU LEXICON 2018

ver. 2.0

Toward a Tau Language: A Work In Progress

<http://docdro.id/dwpTimc>

Mission Statement

This Expanded Tau lexicon is meant primarily as a tool for writers, would-be writers, and those creating background fluff for their Tau armies. And for all the hobbyists who want to know what the Tau phrase they paint on their Hammerhead or Battlesuit actually means and then to spell it correctly!

Note on the Expanded Tau Lexicon – the Most Canonical Lexicon!

As of the date of publication of the 2017 Expanded Tau Lexicon, we can say that this is the most comprehensive and concise Tau lexicon available in the English language. Yes, there are other lexicons out there, but most are static and are not updated. Often the definitions given are incorrect or incomplete. The Expanded Tau Lexicon is meant to be a living document and is updated with new canonical words and definitions; as well as corrections on a regular basis. Not something that occurs with any other lexicon. Furthermore many of these terms were laid out and defined in discussion threads on A.T.T., and we are very thankful for the work of all of those who contributed to so far to this lexicon.

Tau'Sia: An Invitation to the Whole Community to Help Create a Tau Language

We on the Expanded Lexicon team are now extending an invitation to anyone and everyone to create your own Tau neologisms! Send them to me so they can be added to the growing Tau lexicon. And if you have ideas about how Tau grammar might work, jump in as well. How about those caste dialects? Air caste neologisms? Water caste neologisms? We on the Expanded Lexicon team would like to see this as a community effort, not just our work alone. If the whole community of A.T.T., joins in the effort then this will be a far better project and of course it will serve Tau'Va or The Greater Good.

Canonical versus Non-canonical words

All terms and definitions that are not highlighted mean they are canonical, while non-canonical (new) terms and definitions are highlighted in either orange or blue. Words and definitions that are not yet 'translated' are highlighted in yellow.

Canonical words with definitions

All terms and definitions are not highlighted, and thus are canonical.

Examples:

- Doe: adj. The colour 'yellow'.
Shi: n. 'victory'
Y'eldi: [comp.] n. {honorific} 'individual wing' or 'winged one'.

Canonical words without definitions

Terms are not highlighted, but the definitions were created; and are thus shown as highlighted. They are considered canonical.

Examples:

- Jhi: n. misaligned', 'twisted', 'cracked' or 'broken'
R'varna: [comp.] n. {antique} 'burning rain' /it.
Tau'kon'seh: [comp.] {folklore} n. 'harvest', name of the traditional Tau harvest festival, /it. 'earth/soil' + field work + 'fruit' (seh is a contraction of se'hen – 'seed pod' or 'fruit of the crops').

Canonical definitions without words

Definitions are not highlighted, but the terms were created; and thus are shown highlighted. They are considered canonical.

Examples:

- Anuk'erija(ii): [comp.] 1. n. {biology} 'erija birds', a type of bird indigenous to Bork'an and which are found in the orchards of the Aun'bork'an'retha, the precincts of the Ethereal Council of Bork'an.
Ol'nan: [comp.] n. 'Bightsword', the name of the infamous fire caste commander from Tash'var; and hero of the battle of Nimbosa.
To'kak: [comp.] {phrase} 'By the Sands!'
Xusa: n. a modern variation of the traditional Tau beverage with considerably less salt and considerably more alcohol.

Non-canonical words and definitions

Both the word and definition are highlighted as they were created; and as such are not considered canonical. (But really should be!)

Examples:

- An'muk'xux'ten'grii: [comp.] n. {historical} 'Land of the Eternal Blue Sky'.
Mont'kauyon: [comp.] n. 'Patient Killer' /it. 'war + patient hunter' i.e. an 'assassin'.
Xumxa: n. {zoology} 'hare' or 'rabbit', /it. 'thumper', any species of long legged rodent inhabiting the Tau homeworld.

Canonical words with additional definitions added

Terms and definitions are not highlighted, but the additional definitions were created; and thus are shown highlighted. They are still canonical, but the additional definitions are not.

Examples:

- Fu'lasso: [comp.] 1. n. {humorous} lit. 'a cursed mind knot'; 2. n. {colloquial} 'a curious calamity' or 'a political mess'(?); 3. n. {colloquial} a bureaucratic entanglement i.e. a 'Catch 22'.
- Tinek'la: [comp.] 1. n. Name of a Farsight Enclave world; 2. n. {folklore} 'The Crystal Diamond (Being) Woman', a fairy queen of incredible beauty whose realm was deep beneath the mountains.
- Var'sin'da: [comp.] n. 'Dark People Raiders' i.e. Dark Eldar raiders. Expression for the Dark Kindred or the Dark Eldar. [See Ar'cea – T.E. And Mon'sin'var – F.E.].

Canonical words with totally snae'ta definitions

Terms and definitions that are so mangled, torturous, and nonsensical that nothing less than a total overall was necessary to even consider putting them in the lexicon. NOTE: As the 'translation' of the definition is invented, they are not canonical; but anyone with two working brain cells really should consider them conical.

Example:

- Da'lthe'vral: (original) n. 'Mirror codex' (Seriously, how did you get there from here?)
- Da'lthe'vral: (new) [comp.] n. {phrase} 'dark' + 'awareness of' + 'to undercut [lessen?] + 'all' = "greater knowledge to overcome one's enemy" lit. "The lessening/undermining of previously unknown information which gives advantage to over ones enemies". [mistranslated as 'mirror codex'].

Canonical words with no definitions whatsoever

Terms and definitions are highlighted in yellow as no one has come up with a translation yet. They are still canonical, even if we don't what they mean.

Example:

- Me'drek: [No translation available].

Final Note

Final note: You do not have to agree with any of our interpretations, translations, neologisms, folklore or mythological lore enclosed here! If it doesn't fit your view of the T'au Empire or the Farsight Enclaves, then by all means feel free to 'chuck it out the airlock'. However, but then don't be whining, complaining, or grousing about 'how canonical' any of this. You try doing a lexicon for a couple of years and see how well you do. Bet you won't be whining after that!
