

How to Choose Gold Jewelry for Your Piercing

Silver jewelry is the perfect material for use in pierce jewelry because it retains the shiny sheen of silver when it is tarnished. Sterling silver is perfect for jewelry use because it maintains the color, luster and vibrancy of pure silver while greatly enhancing the material's durability, which means your favorite pieces actually last longer. However, there are some disadvantages that you should be aware of before choosing sterling silver as the material for your next piece of jewelry. Sterling silver jewelry will scratch very easily due to the raised surface area, so it is recommended that you buy jewelry that uses other metals for its pierce. This is because silver will scratch quite easily and it can discolor your jewelry in the process.

When sterling silver jewelry is tarnished, it will acquire a blue or green patina which makes the piece look tarnished and antique. There are many methods for treating tarnish to get back a beautiful and bright appearance. You could try cleaning your sterling silver jewelry with lemon juice, salt, baking soda, white vinegar and white sugar all of which are known to have a positive effect on tarnishing. Unfortunately, no one piece of authentic pandora jewelry is likely to be cleaned using these methods, so you are left with the only option of waiting for the piece to be tarnished and then treating it to a new appearance with another metal.

The only way to effectively treat tarnish in your jewelry is to use a special silver cleaner that is designed specifically for jewelry containing silver. These cleaners are often available at your local jewelry retailer or online. You should never clean your jewelry with any type of household bleach as this will result in the staining or even tarnishing of your jewelry. Even jewelry containing gold will stain if you do not thoroughly rinse and dry it after every shower, swim or other wet activity.

The silver cleaner used to clean your aqauc tarnish is designed specifically for silver jewelry so it is safe to use everyday. Many people prefer to purchase a silver polishing cloth instead of a silver cleaner because they can use it for touch ups and general care. You can purchase these same items at any beauty supply store or department store. These items will work better than any contactless cleaner because unlike the contactless cleaner, they will give your jewelry a polished look after every time you wear it.

If you decide to take care of your jewelry yourself, you need to make sure you follow safe practices from the very beginning. Ottawa jewelry stores Never handle silver pieces unless you are certain that you know what you are doing. Sterling jewelry can easily be broken if you do not practice proper handling and have the proper protective equipment on hand. The most important safety tip for your earrings or any other jewelry pieces is never to allow children to play with your jewelry. It's especially important not to allow children to perform the pierce procedure on your pieces without proper instruction.

If you are looking for great deals on jewelry for your piercing, talk to your local jeweler about purchasing solid gold jewelry instead of diamond or platinum jewelry. While both jewelry types are beautiful, they are usually very different in price. While you can purchase a nice selection of diamond stud earrings for around $100, you can expect to pay double or triple the price of gold jewelry for the same design. The price difference is primarily due to the weight of the gold piece. A solid gold pierce will not damage your jewelry as quickly as a precious metal piece would.
